A PRINCESS IS BORN — An English "bobby" stands beside the bulletin announcing the birth of a daughter to Princess Elizabeth in London. Passers-by stop to read the news, posted outside Clarence House, the London residence of the Princess and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh. The new princess is third in line to the British throne.

Tourist Travel Profit Down For 1949

OTTAWA, Aug. 17 — (CP) — Tourist expenditure boomed to new heights in 1949.

The Bureau of Statistics said today expenditures in Canada by travellers from other countries and of Canadians travelling abroad both reached peak levels in 1949, but Canadians boosted their spending in other countries over 1948 far more than did visitors to Canada.

As a result, Canada's net credit on travel account with all countries was substantially lower than in the previous year.

Spending in Canada by visitors from other countries in 1949 totalled $286,000,000 compared with $280,000,000 in the preceding year. Expenditures by Canadians abroad totalled $192,000,000, compared with $135,000,000. Canada's net credit on travel account accordingly fell by $51,000,000, from $154,000,000 in 1948 to $94,000,000.

Going Up

In travel between Canada and the United States, total receipts were $268,000,000, up $1,000,000 over the previous high of $267,000,000 in 1948, while debits resulting from Canadian travel in the United States rose from $113,000,000 to $164,000,000.

The net credit on Canada-U.S. travel was $104,000,000, down $50,000,000 from the preceding year's total of $154,000,000.

Despite currency restrictions imposed by many overseas countries, expenditures of non-immigrant overseas travellers in Canada were at a record of $18,000,000, up 39 per cent over the preceding year. Canadian travellers spent $28,000,000 in overseas countries during the year—the highest since 1927—and $6,000,000 above the preceding year.

The net debit on overseas travel account was $10,000,000, compared with $8,000,000 the year before.

Twin Sisters Meet After Parting In 1901

LINDSAY, Aug. 14—Twin sisters, who had not seen each other for more than 53 years, had a joyous reunion this year, when Mrs. Dan Hennessey, of St. Patrick St. paid a visit to the home of her sister, Mrs. Frank Mulcahy, at Crookstone, Minnesota.

The two sisters were separated when Mrs. Mulcahy left the Downeyville district with her husband and family during the general exodus of farmers from that district in 1897. The re-union was a most happy one, only marred by the thoughts of separation again after the all too brief visit.

Mrs. Hennessy arrived back in Lindsay last Saturday after an extended vacation, spending some time with her daughters, Mrs. G. Howell, of Detroit, and Mrs. H. Wells, of Windsor, as well as with her sister, and with other relatives in North Dakota and Wisconsin.

Temporary Boom In Prairies As Pipeline Advances Quickly

By NORMAN MICHIE

SOMERSET, Man. —(CP)— A mile-long magic wand is waving over the southern prairies, creating a temporary boom wherever it rests.

It is the pipeline, which will bring the oil riches of the west to buyers in the east.

Just now the head of one "leg" of the pipeline is at Somerset, normally a town of 500 persons whose chief concern is the crops and the weather. There are two other "legs" in the Gretna, Man.-Regina stretch.

But three miles south gigantic machines burrow, scrape, test, lay and bury their part of the $90,000,000 duct.

Many New Faces

The little town is crammed with new faces, strange accents, and the whirring, restless hubbub of a major engineering depot. Thirty-eight American families fill every available room and parking lot.

Dozens of Canadians also move with the pipe.

Rents have gone up, food is higher, dry-goods stores have doubled their sales in work clothes, the beer parlor is booming, and everything centres around the pipeline.

For the Americans—most of them veterans of similar jobs in Louisiana, Panama and Venezuela—it is much the same old story. They say they are overcharged, but consider themselves lucky to find any accommodation.

Monthy Move

This month it is Somerset, last month it was Morden, Man., and next month it will be somewhere farther along the line from Gretna to Regina.

They bring their children—most are under school age—and many live in trailers luxurious as a tiny bungalow. The wives hope to be "somewhere near home" when the kids are old enough to go to school.

They like Canada, on the whole. Meat is better and cheaper—the butcher can't keep up with the demand for pork chops—and the nights get cool.

The men are pleased, too. Southern Manitoba's soil is soft and easy on the equipment. Their chief abstacle is rain, which prevents wrapping the pipe units coating of fibreglass soaked in creosote.

Part of Life

They don't like paying $5 a week for trailer space in a vacant lot, and $4 monthly for electricity, but they figure it's all part of the life.

Many, like Bill Embree of Holdemville, Okla.—a bronzed, white-haired veteran of dozens of similar jobs—work on a free-lance basis. They choose their construction company with new scenery and experience in view, and leave it when something better crops up.

Embree has been on the job since 1923. Three years married, he plans someday to settle down in his own south country and raise a family.

"But," he drawled ruefully, "that's what they all say, and some have been at it for 40 years."

Meat Prices May Drop In United States

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Commercial opinion in Yorkshire anticipates a strong opening of the wool marketing season in Australia Aug. 28, says an international wool secretariat report to the Wool Bureau, Inc., Toronto

Though there is evidence of consumer resistance in some wool-consuming countries, says the report, conditions at the moment are dominated by the strong statistical position of wool — which means that more wool is being sought than is being produced.

Meantime the Canadian Woollen and Knit Goods Manufacturers' Association reports that wool cloth was shipped to Canada from Britain during the first five months of this year at a rate 28 per cent above the 1938 level.

Meat Lower

Chicago meat men expect the prices of meat to come down, says a Wall Street Journal story, and any drop in the United States is likely to cross the border. The Journal adds:

Lower livestock prices should make such essential packinghouse by-products as hides, tallow and lard a little cheaper. However:

"Meat prices are mercurial, and anticipations of lower prices could be disappointed if, for instance, the country heads into general sharp inflation."

Another Journal story says that drug stores in California, tired of fighting food supermarkets, now are seeking alliances with them. It says that in Ontario, Calif., Owl Drug Company, Rexall's west coast chain, has hitched one of its units to Lucky Star Market, a grocery outfit.

They have each invested half the capital for a new supermarket "which might best be described as a 'drugocery' where a lady can push her cart over about 21,000 feet of floor space and pile it high with everything from potatoes to patent medicine."

Returns To Birthplace After Forty-nine Years

MILLBROOK, Aug. 17 (ENS). —Mr. and Mrs. William Graham of Deep River were visitors in Millbrook Tuesday and Wednesday. Mr. Graham was born in Millbrook and lived with his family in the house on King Street now occupied by Mrs. John Thompson. He moved as a boy to Saskatchewan in 1901, and had not visited the village since. He has always wanted to come back, since he has many happy memories of his boyhood here.

Mr. Graham belonged to St. Thomas' Anglican Church, and was christened by Archdeacon Allen. His father, Bruce Graham was born in a house on Sherbrooke Street, Peterborough.

On looking through the Anglican cemetery near here, the oldest member of the Graham family whose name Mr. Graham could find was one who had died in 1835 at the age og 87.

At the time of the First World War, Mr. Graham enlisted in the West in 1914, but later transferred to an Eastern regiment and served overseas with men from Peterborough and Millbrook.

Mr. Graham now is connected with National Research Council at the Chalk River atomic energy plant, and lives in Deep River nearby, which he says is the newest town in Ontario.

Somerset Berries Aid "Thanks" Fund

LONDON (CP) — Raspberries and blackcurrants grown in Somerset helped to raise money for a British "thank you" fund.

Mrs. D. M. Eshelby, who lives near Minehead, Somerset, sent a £25 ($77.50) cheque which she said was an inadequate token of thanks "to Lady Eaton of Toronto" and other friends in Canada.

Mrs. Eshelby said part of the money came from sale of raspberries and blackcurrants.

The fund is in gratitude for Commonwealth and United States food parcels.

Bustling Brigade Commander Threshes Out Details For Outfit

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA, Aug. 17—(CP)—The one man in kilts at defence headquarters said "The B.M. must have a gin palace." The officer conferring with him seemed to think that was a reasonable assertion.

They passed on to other talk, about supply, about jeeps and Bren-gun carriers and sleeping bags, all serious, exploratory talk because this was the temporary and tiny and busy headquarters of Canada's special force.

The man in kilts was Brig. John Rockingham, the husky British Columbian who has pitched into the job of commanding the special brigade group Canada is mustering to fight in Korea or elsewhere.

Until he moves his headquarters to Petawawa, Ont., shortly, he is working in a single, green-walled room at defence headquarters, with two desks, a temporary assistant, a map of Korea, a map of Canada, an open window and an open door.

Get Instructions

People come and go constantly. Today the men named to command the brigade's units will marshal there to meet and to get instructions.

In the half-hour a reporter sat in a corner of the office Wednesday, officers phoned or came in to talk about later appointments, supply problems, the design of the brigade's shoulder patch, training, officers for the artillery regiment, and a gin palace for B.M.

A gin balace for B.M. means a certain type of mobile office-truck, that proved popular overseas in the last war with brigade majors. The brigadier said he thought that was a must for his B.M., his chief staff officer. He also wanted to be sure the carrier wasn't ignored.

Carriers were excellent for getting across bullet-swept ground, he said. There would probably be carriers, the supply officer told him. The brigadier said he wanted all the Canadian equipment he could get.

Patch Too Big

When they brought in the shoulder patch, the brigadier got up and called a staff sergeant in to try it for size and they talked about it. By this time there was a general, a colonel or two, a major and the brigadier. The brigadier liked the design of the patch but he thought it was too big and the general suggested it be made smaller.

When they took the patch out, one of the colonels stayed to talk about the artillery unit for the brigade because he was Lt.-Col. A. J. S. Bailey who will command it. The brigadier, big and easy and informal, rolled back in his chair and talked about artillery officers.

He told the colonel to look over the list of volunteers. There was one basic rule he was laying down about officers, the brigadier said. Any man who took a unit or sub-unit into combat must have commanded a force of at least the same size in the last war.

CMHC-No 50-51

Ranking high among the most popular house plans approved for National Housing Act financing is this story-and-a-half house designed along simple, straightforward lines for economy and expertly planned for maximum livability.

The living room, which is well lighted by a large window, is entered from the vestibule inside the front door. The kitchen adjoins the living room and includes a dining area for convenience in serving meals. One bedroom is located on the ground floor while two additional bedrooms can be provided by finishing the attic space. Six closets ensure plenty of space for linens and clothes.

Granite-faced blocks have been used on the exterior of the house illustrated but any other type of finish could be substituted.

Outside dimensions of the house are 24 feet eight inches by 24 feet four inches, providing an area of 942 square feet.

Complete working drawings for this plan, known as Design 50-51, are available from any office of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.

Government Sets Bread Standard For U.S. Bakeries

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A proposed national standard for bread-setting forth what the family loaf should contain and in what quantities—has been announced in the United States Federal Register.

This offical government publication presented the proposed standard as drawn up by the food and drug administration after hearings held over the last nine years. It is due to be adopted after 30 days, unless exceptions are filed in the meantime.

If adopted, it would apply only to bread shipped or sold in interstate commerce. It would, however, also provide a future working basis for uniform state standards, food and drug officials said.

The proposed new standards would permit bread containing soy flour up to 3 per cent of the weight of the flour used to be sold as white bread .

They would require that the weight of raisins in raisin bread be not less than half the weight of the flour used.

They would allow whole wheat bread also to be sold as graham bread or "entire wheat."

Identification

Bread made from white flour mixed with whole wheat flour or with cracked wheat or crushed wheat would have to be properly identified in their names as to the wheat ingredients used, and could not be sold simply as "wheat bread."

Milk bread would have to contain milk, or non-fat dry milk solids and milk fat in prescribed amounts, as the wetting ingredients instead of water.

Maximum and minmum limits on thiamine, riboflavin, niacin and iron for enriched white bread also were set forth in the proposed standards. Many states require that white bread be so enriched.

The proposed standards would not allow the use of so-called bread softeners or emulsifiers. Food and drug experts said the principal such ingredient, polyoxyehtylene monostearate, has for some years ben used in "a substantial amount" of the bread produced in the United States.

Wrinkle-Resister Won't Come Off

NEW YORK—No muss! A wrinkle-resistance that doesn't wear off, nor dry-clean off, is being applied to many spun rayon fabrics.

Developed by a dye works, this process makes rayons permanently resistant to wrinkles for the life of the garment. A blouse, so processed, can be twisted tightly for one-half hour, then hung in a humid room overnight and is fresh, smooth, and ready to wear the next morning. No ironing nor pressing is necessary.

GI Wives Give Curtain Rods As Jet Fuel Lines

UNITED STATES AIR BASE, in Japan—United States occupation housewives in Japan have thrown their curtain rods into the air war against North Korea today.

The curtain rods are playing an important part in the maintenance activities of an F-80 Shooting Star jet squadron making regular strikes against the North Koreans.

A critical shortage developed in the supply of pipes necessary to extend fuel lines to the large wing-tip tanks to give the jets extra time over the target area, and the curtain rods went to war.

The demand was met by stripping dependents' homes of tubular Japanese-manufactured rods, which happened to meet exactly the Air Force requirements.

"It cuts down a little on our privacy," one Air Force wife said. "But this isn't a private war, either."

Say North Fine For Visit But Not To Live

CHURCHILL, Man., Aug. 17—(CP)—Go north young woman—but just for a visit, not to live.

This is the advice of two Canadian Army women who recently returned to this Hudson Bay port after a trip by air to Cornwallis Island, about 1,100 miles north of here and 600 miles north of the Arctic Circle.

In making the trip Aug. 3 in an RCAF airplane, Capt. F. M. Brochman of Maryhill, Ont., matron at Fort Churchill Hospital, and Lieut. Margaret Willox of Victoria, B.C., dietitian for Prairie Command, became the first-known white women to go that far north in Canada.

The flight was made to return a man to his post at the weather station at Cornwallis. He had been in hospital at Churchill. Flying time for the round trip was 16 hours.

Capt. Brochman described Cornwallis as "a gravel pile."

"We saw no birds, no animal life except several very cute husky pups at the weather station. The men told us they had killed a polar bear up a creek just before we arrived."

The pair found a clump of golden Arctic popwies growing beside a small pool.

Survey Shows Few Women Get High Salaries in US

WASHINGTON.—The average "upper bracket woman" in government employment is past 45 years old, has a college education and earns anywhere from $4,500 to $11,000 a year.

She may be a business, labor or home economist, a lawyer, a social welfare worker, a writer librarian, statistician, doctor, or nurse.

This is the composite picture drawn by the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor in a report submitted by its director Frieda S. Miller to Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin.

The study on women in top-level government jobs follows an earlier survey dealing with women in all classifications of employment.

Two Conclusions

Two conclusions seem immediately obvious from the study. One is that women with a college education get ahead faster than those without it and the other that long-time employees are often rated lower in salary than newcomers in the same profession.

The latter trend, often seen also in private employment, shows up in the women's bureau report analyzing the status of women economists.

It finds that almost two-thirds of those with short service were in the $6,400 to $7,400 salary bracket or above, and over half in grades with salaries ranging from $7,600 to $9,800.

Contrast Grades

"This contrasts," the bureau reports, "with the 20-year employees, of whom almost two-thirds were in grade 4 ($5,400-$6,400) or below and only one above grade 5."

The explanation given is that the wartime entrants to economists jobs "had considerably more training and a fuller experience outside the government."

Analysis showed that about half the new employees had Ph.D's and the great majority had master's degrees.

Women attorneys and legal specialists are among the higher paid in the upper brackets, the survey disclosed. Two with doctor's degrees are in the $8,800 to $11,000 salary range. The majority, however, are classified in grades paying between $6,400 and $8,800.

There are comparatively few women in top administrative jobs in government. Only about three per cent of the top administration officials are women, Miss Miller reports. This percentage remained stationary from 1941 to 1947—the date used as the basis of the survey.

The proportion of all women in government, however, has increased from 20 per cent in 1941 to about 24 per cent in 1947.

RAMESES II SECRETS OF THE SPHINX

When Napoleon visited Egypt and first observed those great and ancient monuments which are the glory of the country of the Nile, he called his escort and said: "My men, thirty centuries now look down upon you."

We think of Egypt as a land of mystery, but its secrets are fast being revealed by concerted antiquarian research. The riddle of the Sphinx is no longer a riddle: we know that the head is intended to represent King Khafre. Scholars can now interpret Egyptian hieroglyphics.

But the majesty of Egyptian achievement from Khufu, greatest of pyramid makers, to Rameses II, greatest of ancient builders, still remains. The pyramids were intended as tombs. The largest, that of Khufu, was built nearly 5,000 years ago. It covers 13 acres, is 500 feet high, contains 2,300,000 blocks of limestone each weighing one and a half tons.

The miracle is that these blocks were shaped without steel, transported without railroads, lifted into space without cranes. It took 100,000 men 20 years to finish the job.

Not less impressive but more beautiful is the great Temple of Karnak, completed by Rameses II about 1200 B.C. Partly in ruins, it still stands as the greatest colonnaded hall ever erected by man.

Equivalent progress in construction can be found in no other period of history until the great development of machinery during the last hundred years. Such periods in civilization are periods dominated by men of vision. We must see before we can do. And today more than ever good vision is necessary for success in the struggle of living.

Overprotected Child Can't Misfit in Normal Social Life

DEAR MISS DIX: This is a plea from one who has not been allowed to mature socially. My parents have done much to fulfill my desire for knowledge, but have not realized my need for human relationships. I have never been permitted to do the things that other youngsters do, or to have any intimate association with boys and girls of my own age.

Dorothy Dix

I have never even had a girl friend, and as the result I lack knowledge of life and emotional control. My parents consider that I am a reincarnation of their youth and that I want to do only the things that they used to do when they were young. I am expected to fall in with this plan as if I were a baby. How can I make them understand that a girl of 19 has some right to make decisions for herself and to have her chance at life?

ANSWER: There is no problem harder to solve than that of the children who are enslaved by possessive parents, because the parents are so unalterably sure that they are right and that they are doing the very best thing possible for the children they adore.

Self-Righteous Protests

"Why, I'd give my life to save John or Mary a single pang of suffering," they cry. "Why, I have never thought of anything except Mary since the day she was born. I have watched over her every minute of her life. I have studied with her. I have played with her. I have sacrificed myself and my own pleasures and inclinations to her. I have guarded her every minute. I have never left her to shift for herself and get acquainted with strange children, as so many mothers do. I have kept her from doing the foolish things that so many young girls do. And you can see for yourself that Mary isn't like the modern girls all about us," they add self-righteously.

You do see that Mary isn't like the other girls and you want to weep. She is as much an alien in any bunch of young people as a white swan would be in a flock of blackbirds. She is a wallflower at parties, not because she lacks attractiveness, but just because she doesn't fit into the picture.

Parents make no greater mistake than when, as this girl says, they imagine their children to be reincarnations of themselves, animated by the same impulses and tastes and desires. This is not true one in a million times. Each of us has his own individuality and each of us has his right to live his life in his own way. And parents commit a cruel wrong against their children when they try to force them into their own mold.

DEAR MISS DIX: Why do men expect the "I love you's" they say before marriage to last a woman the balance of her life? I have been married ten years to a man who is good and kind and faithful to me, but since our wedding day he has never told me he loved me. One time I asked him if he did and he said: "Of course, I do. Why do you suppose I married you?" I am starved for affection and feel as if I cannot live without it. Do all men drop their courtship at the altar? And is that the price a woman pays for a home and children?

F.O.B.

ANSWER: I get thousands of letters like this from women who have good homes, lovely children, husbands who lavish upon them everything in the world they want except a little petting and a few words of appreciation and affection.

And as I read these letters I never know which I think have less intelligence—the wives who make themselves miserable over a puny imaginary wrong, or the husbands who know that they could make their wives happy by a kiss or a word and who are too dumb to give it.

For these women in their hearts know that their husbands love them even if they never mention the fact. They know that the man who spends his evenings at home does so because he finds his own fireside the pleasantest spot on earth. They know that the man who toils to keep his wife soft and warm is giving her a proof of devotion that is worth all the high-flown love talk in the world.

And why any intelligent woman can't satisfy herself with that knowledge and rest assured of her husband's love, why she needs to have him make a fuss over everything she does and tell her that she is the most beautiful creature on earth, why she can't realize that actions speak louder than words, nobody knows.

DEAR MISS DIX: My father doesn't agree with me that the $50 deposit that I must make on entering a training school for nurses and the small wages I will get are worth the work I will have to do and the training I will receive. What do you think?

GENE.

ANSWER: What other profession could you study at so small a cost? In what other occupation would you be paid at all while learning your profession? Nursing is a fine profession for women and the trained nurse has not only the satisfaction of making a good living, but of knowing that she is a ministering angel who alleviates the sickness and suffering of those with whom she comes in contact.

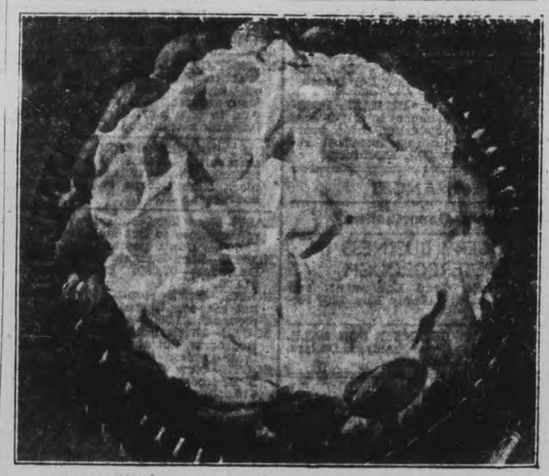
COOKBOOK of the WEEK

From the Collection of 24 of THE WORLD'S GREATEST COOKBOOKS

Sponsored by this Newspaper



FRUIT CUSTARD over cheese pie base is equally good served with apricots as trimming, or with a fluffy meringue topping edged with quarters of apricots evenly spaced around the border.

Meringue Top, Fruit Trim Add Party Touch to Pie

Here is an unusual and nutritious pie that would be especially good for a child's party but would be equally welcome to a tableful of hungry adults. It is one of the many tasty ideas that cram the Examiner's fifth Cookbook release, "250 Superb Pies and Pastries." Like the four books already released in this series of 24, it is lavishly illustrated with mouthwatering concoctions that help you plan new and different menus. The accompanying recipes are concisely given and simply planned for the new and experienced cook alike.

There are any number of chiffon pies in one chapter utilizing various fruits, coffee, chocolate, cheese, rum, nuts, whipped cream and any number of other variations. Here is a real surprise treat to hide under a fluffy meringue topping if you happen to have a couple of left-over egg whites in the icebox:

Fruity Cheese Pie

1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin, ¼ cup cold water, 1 egg separated, ¼ cup sugar, ¼ cup milk, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2-3 cup cottage cheese, ½ lemon, juice and grated rind; 1 Zwieback pie shell, canned apricot halves, 2-3 cup apricot juice, 2 teaspoons cornstarch, ⅛ teaspoon cinnamon, ⅛ teaspoon cloves.

Soften gelatin in water five minutes. Beat egg youk, add sugar, milk and salt; cook in top of double boiler until slightly thickened. Add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Add cheese, lemon juice and rind. Beat egg white until stiff, fold into mixture, pour into pie shell and chill until firm. Arrange apricots over top. Combine apricot juice, cornstarch, cinnamon and cloves and cook until thickened. Cool slightly and pour over apricots. Chill. Makes 1 (9-inch) pie.

This Pie Book as well as the four previous books, Snacks, Leftovers, Cakes, and Poultry, are yours for just 25c each plus a coupon clipped from page 2 of any issue of this newspaper at Examiner office or from your Examiner carrier, or at Braund's Food Markets. You will need one coupon for each book. If you wish to secure your books by mail send coupons and 30c for each book (5c additional for postage and handling) to Cookbook Department, Examiner, Peterborough.

WishedShe'dSome Of Grandpa'sGold

VANCOUVER —(CP)— On her way to the Yukon, where her family name is as well-known as the gold that made the territory famous, is Helen Ogilvie, of Ottawa.

She is the granddaughter of the late William Ogilvie, first governor of the Yukon—and creator of law and order in the wild days of the gold rush in 1898.

She told interviewers here the first thing she would do would be to visit "the old claim"—the claim that started the rush.

Miss Ogilvie's grandfather, commissioner of the Yukon in 1896, had the territory surveyed by engineer Dick Lowe. During the survey Lowe discovered Bonanza Creek—generally conceded one of the richest pieces of ground for its size, in the world.

Ogilvie decided the claim was Lowe's to keep and the surveyor washed more than $700,000 worth of gold dust out of the creek in six weeks.

Said Miss Ogilvie: "I wish I had some of it."

What's Right?

Your child is not old enough to take telephone messages or to handle a telephone call without getting confused.

WRONG: Let him answer the telephone, anyway, if he thinks it is fun.

RIGHT: In courtesy to your callers, answer the telephone yourself, since it is disconcerning to have a telephone answered by a child who isn't old enough to get a message straight.

HOMEMADE JAM

The best homemade jam is said to be made from whole berries and enough lemon juice to provide a jelly-like consistency.

6—In Memoriams

HENRY—In loving memory of our dear mother, Sarah, Mrs. William Henry, who passed away August 17, 1949.
God knows how much we miss her,
Never shall her memory fade,
Loving thoughts shall ever wander
To the spot where she is laid.
—Ever remembered by family.

SUTHERLAND—In memory of Jim, who passed away one year ago today, Aug. 17, 1949.
When twilight comes
And day is done
We think of you dear Jim
But not as gone.
—Lovingly remembered by Luella and family, Aldershot, Ont.

SUTHERLAND—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Jim Sutherland, who passed away Aug 17, 1949.
What would I give to clasp his hand,
His patient face to see,
To hear his voice,
To see him smile,
As in the days that used to be.
No one knows how much I miss you
No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered since we lost you,
Life has never been the same.
How well we do remember,
That sad and weary day,
You suffered much, you murmured not,
We watched you day by day,
We cried and prayed that you dear life
Would not be taken away
But some sweet day we'll meet again
Beyond the toil and strife
And clasp each other's hands once more
In heaven that happy place.
—Sadly missed by his wife Alto and children.

Cuba In Clover War-Scare Sales Aid Sugar Boom

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)— War-scare buying of sugar is keeping a boom going in Cuba.

The little island republic has been in lush days since the Second World War ended. It is the world's greatest sugar producer and now has a market for every ounce it produced this year —5,393,541 Spanish long tons of 2,271 ponuds each.

The fighting in Korea changed the sugar situation—and Cuba's economic outlook—almost overnight. Early in June, it appeared Cuba would have a 1950 surplus of 1,200,000 tons. That would have put a serious crimp in Cuba's economy.

The Korean situation, however, caused a sudden demand for sugar and Cuba remains in clover.

The 1950 crop, with its by-products, was worth about $600,000,000.

Where's Money Going?

Where is the money going? Owners of Cuba's 161 sugar mills, hundreds of cane planters, and half a million workers got the first look at it. Now it can be found everywhere.

Sleek new automobiles whizz crazily around the cities. There are so many new-car owners that several automobile drivers' schools—some with large fleets of cars—flourish in Havana.

Palaces Going Up

New palaces are going up. Families toured Europe, the United States, Mexico and Latin America this year by the hundreds. New buildings for stores, apartments, automobile agencies and theatres pop up everywhere.

The government announced a war on speculators and price rises, but despite this the essentials of the Cuban diet—rice, coffee, beans, lard, beef and fruit—are edging higher. This is a problem for the poor because living costs here already are higher than anywhere else in the Americas, except in Venezuela.

On the basis of Cuba's wealth, very little money goes into what the experts call productive investments—new industries which create jobs and products, and industries to supply raw materials.

Steady Buying Pulls Stock Leaders Up

TORONTO, Aug. 17 — (CP) — Steady buying pulled a wide list of market leaders into higher ground on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. The advance was slow but steady and key stocks showed the strongest gains in continuation of yesterday's advance. Volume for the first three hours was 715,000 shares.

Industrial stocks pushed upward after breaking index records in the three previous sessions. Several key issues in widely diverted groups showed highs for the year. Kelvinator gained $4 at $76 in the manufacturing and Massey Harris added ¾ at $30 in the agriculture. Ford A pushed $2 higher at $55.

Base Metals opened easier but later in the session began to pull ahead and some major issues chalked up impressive gains. Consolidated Smelters, Noranda, Quemont and United Keno Hill were all higher. Sherritt Gordon recovered early losses.

Golds were mixed but some seniors advanced over a broad front. Dome added ¼ at 14⅛ and Kerr-Addison gained ⅛ at 15⅝. Wright Hargreave was also up. Juniors showed gains ranging up to five cents.

Western Oils jumped ahead strongly after a slow start.

Ask Provincial Police Seek Missing Girl

CHATHAM, Aug. 17 (CP). — Provincial police have been asked to aid the search for Marion Humphrey, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Humphrey of nearby Bothwell, missing since Sunday. When she left on her bicycle Sunday she said she was going to attend the Fairfield observances near Thamesville.

The Humphreys, who have 10 children, received a telephone call late Wednesday night from a woman who refused to identify herself saying the girl had been seen near Wabash Wednesday.

The mother said today she did not suspect anything serious had happened to the girl.

5 Greek MP's Resign Cabinet Collapses

ATHENS, Aug. 17 — (AP). — Sophocles Venizelos announced today that five Liberal Party ministers will resign from the government — an action that means collapse of the Coalition Cabinet formed last April under Premier Nicholas Plastiras.

Venizelos, the Liberal Party Leader, has demanded Plastiras' resignation. Plastiras had been under fire because of his insistence that Communists convicted of treason be granted amnesty.

Navy Plans To Fly Mail To 3 Destroyers

OTTAWA, Aug. 17 (CP).—The Navy has good news for the 800 sailors Canada has sent to Korea and for their families at home.

Headquarters said today arrangements have been made with the air force to have mail flown to and from Tokyo for the three destroyers now off Korea.

Mail has been going by sea and there has been some "beefing" from the men on the ships at its slowness.

One Rainstorm Ruins Hopes Of Farmer In Manitoba

BRANDON, Man. —(CP)— One rainstorm one day last month blotted out within a few hours part of the lifetime hopes and plans of farmer Archie Kerr.

A torrential downpour deposited 10 inches of rain in 12 hours on the gentle slopes of Western Manitoba, in the Miniota area close to the Saskatchewan border.

There the headwaters of the Assiniboine gather for their usually placid eastward course across Manitoba to Winnipeg, where the Assiniboine joins the north-flowing Red River.

When last month's 10-inch rain struck, tributary creeks turned to torrents, swept away bridges and swelled the Assiniboine to flood level. Rich farmlands bordering the river were inundated.

For most farmers the losses were not heavy. When the flood-crest passed, water receded from valley fields and crops for the most part were little harmed. On the higher ground, the ramp-aging water generally followed creek beds.

But for Archie Kerr the blow was complete. Neighbors say 25 of his best acres never will a crop again.

Permanent Evidence

What happened to Archie Kerr provides permanent evidence of the destructive force which can be loosed from the clouds in the space of a few hours.

The creek that ripped Kerr's farm apart had for years trickled through a grassy, tree-lined course. Today it meanders along a wide, deep channel filled with uprooted trees and boulders.

At one point sheer banks tower 30 feet high and in many places the bed of the stream has widened to as much as 50 feet.

On Kerr's farm, a half-mile stretch 10 to 100 yards wide was stripped of topsoil and subsoil. Only a flat botton of hard-packed sand and gravel was left.

The sides of the destroyed area were cut to sheer walls in which can be seen the 18 inches of silt deposited by countless previous floods and two feet of the rich black prairie earth which makes land in the Miniota area as fertile as any in the province.

District officers say they do not expect to see rains as heavy as these again in their lifetime. They say there can be no permanent protection against such a torrent.

Greater Buying Proving Danger

LAKE COUCHICHING, Ont., Aug. 17. — (CP).— Morgan Reid, Toronto economist, said today that increased buying by Canadians in expectation of price rises and shortages as a result of defence spending may endanger the Canadian economy.

Mr. Reid, secretary of the Management Advisory Committee of The Robert Simpson Company, told the Canadian Institute on Public Affairs:

"The upward pressure exerted on prices is very considerable, and there is always the inherent danger that when some accumulation of a pricipitat charactr turns out to be unnecessary, the resulting price decline might be serious.

"The immense threat of total war has tended to change the attitude toward spending."

Such psychology is not justified, Mr. said. Canada's productive capacity has increased tremendously since the Second World War, and her labor force now is much larger than at any other time in her history, so that there is no need for inflation in Canada's approach to the Korean situation.

Pickets Let Relatives Dig Hamilton Graves

HAMILTON, Aug. 17 (CP). — Although gravediggers have not worked since Tuesday because of the strike of civic workers, the body of a Hamilton woman is being interred in Woodland Cemetery today.

The remains of Mrs. R. J. McCabe will be buried in a grave dug by members of the Lions Club, friends and business associates of her husband.

This morning several men were allowed into the cemetery without incident and started digging the grave.

Pickets on duty at the gates of the cemetery said they would hinder no relatives who wished to dig graves. But they would not allow "scabs" to dig graves, they said.

Car Upsets In Fog 1 Dead, 1 Injured

OWEN SOUND, Aug. 17 (CP). —William T. Brien, 32, was fatally injured and Mort A. Abrams 26, suffered multiple injuries when Abrams' car overturned in a heavy fog on the Shallow Lake highway Wednesday night.

Abrams, a lawyer, suffered a broken left leg, several fractured ribs, and a possible punctured lung. He required several blood transfusions and the hospital authorities reported his condition as "fair."

Harry Lumley, Detroit Red Wings goalkeeper, who has been traded to Chicago Black Hawks, was the first to arrive on the crash scene and notified police.

Nuns Forced To Work In Coal Mine–Report

ROME, Aug. 17. — (AP). — Quotidiano, newspaper of the Italian Catholic Action party, today prints a letter by a German nun saying she and 1,500 other members of her order are doing forced labor in Ukrainian coal mines.

Many have died, the letter says, adding: "We envy them. We are treated like animals. We are whipped to work."

The newspaper says the letter was taken to the nun's parents by a repatriated German war prisoner and printed in the Ukrainian language newspaper Michiohap, from which the Rome newspaper printed it.

The nun says that she and others from the order of St. Vincent were taken from Soviet East Prussia to the Ukraine.

Gale Grounds Boats Report One Drowning

VICTORIA, BC. Aug. 17 (CP). —Reports received today from remote Vancouver Island points indicated that one man had been drowned and several fishing boats driven aground in a gale striking at the Island's west coast.

The RCMP detachment at Port Alice, on the northerly west coast, reported that James Watt, a Nanaimo fisherman, was lost in the storm, which struck late Monday or early Tuesday.

The grounded vessels, possibly nine, apparently were caught off Sea Otter Cove, only a short distance from Cape Scott on the extreme tip of Vancouver Island.

There were unsubstantiated reports that a "tidal wave" also hit the ships.

Excellent Crops Across All Ontario

The weekly crop report today reads like a paean of repletion, praise and satisfaction. The only gloomy note from one side of Ontario to the other is the sprouting of considerable fall wheat before and after cutting in some of the counties.

The most frequently recurring word in this week's summary from Bruce to Lanark is "excellent". Even cattle sales are still going briskly.

As the alphabetical keynoter on the west side, Bruce says "Farmers are busy cutting wheat and oats; yields are reported excellent".

Here's a glimpse of the eastern farms: "Grenville: Many buyers from both sides of the line flocked to the first community auction held at Prescott a week ago; bidding was lively. Grenville has its best crop of spring grain in years. Harvesting is half done. Potato crop is above average."

Keen Cattle Demand

This is Glengarry: The demand for cattle for export and slaughter is keen. Quite a number of inquiries have been received regarding the possibilities of establishing beef herds in view of the low price of cheese milk and the high price of beef. About 50% of the grain has been cut, and this is very, very heavy. An excellent crop of corn is coming along."

Those are speciment counties of Ontario as they appear to the agricultural representatives.

The better wheat fields are returning 35 to 60 bus. to the acre. Halton says 20 to 45. Brant up to 50. Hastings says 40 to 45 and 60 bus. of oats.

"Remarkable Growth"

Potatoes are showing "remarkable growth" in Simcoe, but in some places there is mention of blight. Brant says: "Fall rye is an excellent croy; wheat is yielding 50 bus. to the acre on many farms but the sample is poor and only good for feed."

Perth: Up to $35,000 worth of feeder cattle change hands weekly at our local auction sales. Prince Edward also refers to the tomato crop as looking particularly promising. Second cutting of hay and pastures in Wentworth is good." The corn crop is making satisfactory progress. In Glengarry it gets an "excellent" rating.

The Scotsmen down there are beginning to think of herds of beef cattle "in view of the low prices of cheese milk and the high price of beef."

Nature and farming skill combined so effectively this year that the only vulnerable spot is on the price side. And oats dropped locally five cents a bushel today.

Man Raised To Peerage Dislikes House of Lords

LONDON, Aug. 17 — (CP) — Death of Lord Hailsham, famous British lawyer, ironically raises to the peerage a man who once called the House of Lords "a "political ghetto."

It also leaves three parliamentary by-elections pending and raises Labor's elected majority in the House of Commons to six.

Lord Hailsham, 78, twice Lord Chancellor, died yesterday. His son, Quintin Hogg, automatically succeeds to the title and thus gives up his seat as Conservative member of parliament for Oxford.

Hogg, a 42-year-old lawyer, was regarded as one of the best speakers in the House of Commons and a candidate for high office if the Conservatives came to power. Now he goes to the chamber he once described as a political ghetto reserved for the eldest sons of peers.

"For myself," he once told the Commons, "I have never believed in the hereditary principle, and it is nothing but a peculiar mockery of fate which has involved me in the absurd position of being a potential example of it.

"For 20 years I have been wondering how I might avoid sitting in the House of Lords. There is no means of achieving this . . ."

The Daily Telegraph, which said Hogg has made no secret of his high ambitions, noted he would be barred from top state jobs, including the premiership.

Besides a by-election to replace Hogg at Oxford, where his majority at the last general election was 3,606 in a four-cornered contest, by-elections are pending in Leicester northeast and in the Scotstoun division of Glasgow.

Hamilton Union Cracking Down

HAMILTON, Aug. 17. — (CP). —Union leaders moved Wednesday to plug up the last gaps in the strike of 1,000 municipal employees for higher wages and shorter hours.

As the first week of strike ended, voluntary grave diggers from union ranks were called off the job and emergency crews posted at the waterworks in case of a water break were ordered to leave. Both had been keeping the two services running while the strike was on.

Oliver Hodges, publicity director of the striking Local 5 of the Hamilton Civic Employees' Union (CCL) said the union decided on the moves because of the city's attitude towards the strike.

Meanwhile a third vital service —garbage collection — remained at a standstill. As an emergency measure, Dr. L. A. Clarke, medical officer of health, was given permission to overdraw his appropriation for extra spraying of city dumps.

The union, claiming to represent more than 1,000 workers in the three services, is asking a 40-hour week and no reduction in take-home pay from the present 44 cents an hour plus a general two-cent boost.

Officials Skeptical About 'Vision'

LA CROSSE, Wis., Aug. 17 — (AP). — The Roman Catholic Church still is highly skeptical about Mrs Mary Anna Van Hoof's claims that the blessed virgin has appeared to her at her Necedah, Wis., farm, a spokesman for the La Crosse diocese indicated Wednesday.

The spokesman, who asked that his name be withheld, was one of a party of six official diocesan observers on hand at noon, Tuesday, when the 41-year-old woman said she had seen her seventh vision of the Mother of Christ. A crowd estimated at 100,000 persons had gathered about the farm, but only Mrs. Van Hoof reported seeing the vision.

The spokesman said three things discredited the woman's story—her talk following the "vision" was a "garbled" version of one she gave in June after another purported visit from the Virgin; her words were contradictory and "unusual persons" were in the "inner sanctum" surrounding Mrs. Van Hoof.

Three of the persons close to Mrs. Van Hoof "sort of cursed at me" when the diocesan party entered the home, the spokesman related. He gave no more details.

Rumors that unusual signs were seen by some spectators were discredited by the spokesman, including a woman's story that she had seen a flash when Mrs. Van Hoof left her home to pray before a statue of the Blessed Virgin. Apparently the flash was from a photographer's bulb, the spokesman said.

Woman Tells of Relief from Heartburn, Indigestion Gas—Praises Syntona

Was Often Troubled With Sick Headaches, Nervous, Rundown. "Entire System Now Built Up, Improved," She Says.

MISS ANNIE CORBIN

Every man or woman in this city and vicinity who suffers from stomach distress after meals, or who feels tired, nervous or rundown will be interested in the recent experience of Mrs. Annie Corbin, 144 Giles Street, London, Ontario, who tells of relief from her suffering by taking a short treatment of Syntona Herbal Compound.

In thousands of cases across Canada this medicine has given equally good results, because Syntona helps tone up the impaired digestive system, aids elimination of excess acids and impurities from the system and promotes better assimilation of food for increased strength and energy.

"I was having so much pain from gas, indigestion and bloating that I felt distressed from one meal to the next," said Mrs. Corbin. "My food would ferment and sour in my stomach causing awful attacks of heartburn. I would get throbbing headaches, and was so dreadfully nervous, I couldn't even get my proper sleep I constantly felt tired and wornout.

"But all that is changed since I've been taking Syntona. The gas, sourness and heartburn is cleared up, I am free from headaches, and my nerves are calmed down allowing me to get more sound, restful sleep. As a result my entire system feels built up and improved and even my work seems easier."

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store. Find out how it can help you, too.

Primary Education By Mail For Children

When the new school year begins in the autumn, more than 100 children in Argyllshire will embark on a secondary school course in the knowledge that they will never see their teachers.

Scattered through 40 or 50 tiny schools in the lonely glens and islands of Argyll, they will be sharing in an educational experiment unique in Britain, but already proved in 11 years of testing.

Not New

Correspondence courses are nothing new in the field of education; but only in Australia and New Zealand, or in some of the bleaker tracts of Canada, is there anything like the Argyllshire system of postal tuition for children of 12 to 15.

The Argyll experiment is not likely to be copied elsewhere in Britain, for it was evolved to solve a problem that is unique to this county of vast distances and transport scarcity.

With a school age population of 9,000, Argyll's population centres, and therefore its schools, are so few and so scattered that thousands of children must be provided with special transport or lodged away from home throughout the school term.

Lodgings cost the education authority around £8,000 every year, plus free travel to and from home for lodging pupils at every holiday break. Daily transport involves more than 100 buses and cars and runs up an annual bill of over £37,000.

And even this massive organization still leaves the odd men out: the children past primary age who are too far from secondary schools for daily travel, and who for many reasons cannot live away from home.

Little Ones Too

They turn up in one's and two's at remote little one teacher schools, sitting apart from the younger children and working quietly at curricula prepared in Dunoon and posted out in fortnightly assignments.

Behind the whole thing is the county's shrewd and energetic education director, Mr T G Henderson, his office walls furnished with maps of a range and complexity equal to any campaign general's.

"There are five teachers working full-time on this scheme—started in 1939 by my predecessor, Dr. C. M. Macdonald.

"The lessons, the test papers, the drawings and the charts are all tailor-made for the course about which we make no foolish boasts. It is not the precise equivalent of a secondary school course—languages, for instance, are practically out of the question.

"But it is a good all-round form of schooling for the age-group, with English, history, geography, arithmetic, algebra, biology, geometry for boys and housekeeping for girls. Some girls actually elect to take geometry too."

Postal Pupils

Working alone, with minimum supervision from local teachers, about 90 per cent of the postal pupils succeeded in caquiring passes in a kind of private certificate examination set by the county last term.

They work with two sets of exercise books, and assignments are planned so that the second set is in the child's hands before the first set is posted to Dunoon for correction.

And occasionally the system becames useful in unexpected ways. One recent pupil in a remote district who was too ill to travel to a secondary school, enroled in the postal course for a year, working at home, and was able at the end of the year to fit into a secondary course at Dunoon with conspicuous success

And a sense of community, difficult to create among 100 scattered youngsters with hundreds of miles between schools, is being achieved in a new way. Last term the postal pupils produced their first school magazine. Next year they will probably gather for a summer camp, presumably to swap stories about the teachers they have never met.

Work On Own

There are even compensations denied to ordinary school children. Many of the postal pupils are in enthusiastic correspondence with their opposite numbers in Western Australia, and are becoming familiar with conceptions of distance and organizations unknown to well-tended city children.

But more than that: Argyllshire is turning out a group of children with several years' training in working on their own, without nagging or spoon-feeding by adults; children with an adult sense of responsibility about work; successful guinea pigs in an experiment that has proved itself.

After 4,000 Years Women Play Busy Role In War

By GAILE DUGAS

NEW YORK —(NEA)— The women of South Korea, who have something to say about their government for the first time in 4,000 years, are doing something about the war, too.

One of them is Louise Yim of Seoul, only woman in the South Korean cabinet, who is now in America in her role as adviser to President Syngman Rhee. Five hundred others are on the Korean police force, and a few even are piloting planes with supplies to the front lines.

"In the 1948 election, 50 per cent of the votes were cast by women. It was the first time they had voted in over 4,000 years of our history," Miss Yim explains. "In the second election, in May 1950, Korean women got out the vote."

Though most of them are not well educated, Korean women are eager to take part in public life.

"If necessary, they'll fight at the front or in the streets," Miss Yim says emphatically. "Meanwhile, they raise money for soap and other necessities for the soldiers at the front. They do whatever they can."

Her original purpose in coming here, just before the war, was to raise funds for Central University, the co-educational college she established at Seoul in 1932. The Japanese closed the university during World War II because Miss Yim refused to train its girls as nurses for the Japanese army. Miss Yim's name was placed on the death list and she was saved only by the end of the war a month later.

Miss Yim, who was born in Kumsan, in South Korea, got a first-hand knowledge of the inside of Japanese jails in 1919, during a national uprising. She was distributing revolutionary pamphlets when the Japanese police caught her and sent her to jail for six months.

On her release, she attended high school in Tokyo because she wanted to watch the Japanese operate. She then returned to Korea to teach at Ewha College in Seoul. Her teacher's license was taken away when she made speeches advocating Korean freedom. She finally reached California in 1924, where she studied for and got both her BA and MA at the University of Southern California.

She invested her savings in several California service stations and with the profits returned to Korea to found Central University, where students are trained for positions in government and education.

When the Korean republic became a fact after World War II, Miss Yim was in the first cabinet as minister of Commerce and In- Women's Democratic Party. But she feels that her role as president of Central University is most important because of the part education plays in the fight against Communism.

"Our people must be educated in order to resist the Communists," she says. "An ignorant people fall easy prey to Communism."

Severe Storm Hits Toronto Man Killed

Three Inches Rain, Half-Inch Hailstones Batter City Streets

TORONTO, Aug. 18—(CP)—One man was killed by lightning Thursday as torrential rain and hail raked the Toronto-Oshawa area in one of the worst storms in years.

Ernest McLean, 39, was struck by lightning as he looked for a lost ball at the west-end Lambton Golf Club. He was a nephew of J. S. McLean, president of Canada Packers Ltd.

Main force of the storm's fury appeared concentrated on Toronto, where stalled cars, flooded streets and damaged houses bore evidence of its severity. Many areas of the city were without light at the height of the storm.

Officials of the Dominion Weather Office reported from 1½ to three inches of rain fell in one hour and 20 minutes. Hailstones a half-inch in diameter fell for about 10 minutes.

Hamilton's streets, unswept since some 1,000 civic employees struck a week ago, were flushed clean by rain and hail. No damage was reported in the city itself.

Called Off Jobs

More than 2,000 night shift workers were called off their jobs at the General Motors automobile plant in Oshawa when rain swept into pits housing conveyor motors. Lights were out for abut 20 minutes at the General Hospital as surgeons were completing an operation.

The storm resulted from a cold mass of air moving down from the north, the weather office said. Temperatures, hot during the day, fell sharply as the rain struck.

Fire department officials in Toronto said the flooding was the worst they had seen. Most of the department's equipment was put to work pumping flooded cellars and fighting fires started by lightning.

Six Feet Deep

Water was past the six-foot mark in some subways, and street car and motor traffic was halted.

The city's sewage disposal plant failed at one point, and all repair crews were called from other jobs to repair the damage. Service was resumed within an hour.

Many small yachts were caught on Lake Ontario in the storm and had to be towed to shore by police launches. Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens was struck by lightning, but damage was slight.

Navy Engineer Arrested In Spy Inquiry

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP).—The United States justice department today announced the arrest of a former United States navy civilian engineer on charges of giving national defence secrets to Russia.

It said Federal Bureau of Investigation agents took Morton Sobell, 33, New York electrical engineer, into custody at Laredo, Tex., this morning.

He is the eighth person arrested in a roundup of Americans accused of channelling atom bomb data and other secret information to a Soviet spy ring.

FBI director J. Edgar Hoover said Sobell fled from the United States in June to avoid arrest.

Held At Laredo

He was arrested Laredo when deported from Mexico back to the U.S.

Sobell was employed on restricted work for the U.S. Navy at the General Electric plant at Schenectady, N. Y., from 1942 to 1947.

He is accused of having collaborated with the other Americans previously arrested in obtaining defence secrets during that period.

Since he is charged with espionage conspiracy in wartime, Sobell, like the others similarly accused—faces a possible death penalty.

The FBI said Sobell fled the United States by plane and went to Mexico City a few days after the arrest of David Greenglass of New York June 16.

Omemee Girl Convicted With Baptists In Quebec

VAL D'OR, QUE., Aug. 18—(CP)—Four Baptists, charged with a breach of municipal traffic laws, were convicted Thursday in recorder's court in this northwestern Quebec mining town. Sentence may be imposed today. The four, who pleaded not guilty, are: the Rev. Murray Heron, pastor of Noranda Baptist Church; Ernie McWilliams, Eileen Veals and Howard Killock, all of Noranda. Miss Veals is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Beals, RR 3, Omemee.

Police testimony was that all four, following arrest, had been taken to the police station, shown a by-law prohibiting street gatherings, had it explained to them and then were released. Police said they continued to hold street meetings and then were taken into custody.

Meanwhile, as Mayor Oza Tetreault returned from hospital care in Montreal, a number of "Judgment of God" telegrams were received at his home. Friends of the mayor said the telegrams threatened both the mayor and the city with the fate of Biblical cities.

No Prejudice

In connection with the situation, Mayor Tetreault issued the following statement:

"Val d'Or is a town of 8,000 people with some 20 nationalities represented. The entire population here lives in harmony and there is no question of prejudice on account of race or religion.

"As civilized people, we have traffic regulations. Local and imported evangelizers have broken our traffic by-law and defied police under pretence of evangelizing persons who have every right to regard themselves as Christians.

"We have asked the Baptists to abide by the law and hold meetings in their own church, the same as other denominations do."

U.S. Tells France To Do Her Share

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP)—Western Europe must work harder for its own military salvation before the United States agrees to send more troops to bolster spirits and security across the Atlantic.

That is the response of the U.S. defence department to insistent French pressure for an American promise to supply a supreme commander and at least five additional divisions for Western Europe defence.

This reply has been given informally, top military officials here said, because France so far has relied upon the press and unofficial conversations to press her request for specific U.S. military commitments.

"We will talk about naming an American commander in chief for Western Europe when he has a force to command," one high American officer commented.

He recalled that military leaders of the Atlantic Pact countries are generally agreed about how many divisions, combat ships and planes would be needed to stop a Russian onslaught. Offers of ground forces for the common defence have been made, but this official said the total so far falls short of over-all requirements.

St. Laurent Hints New Development

If Talks Progress Will Appoint Man Quickly PM Declares

OTTAWA, Aug. 18—(CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said today a government mediator will be appointed quickly in the railway wage dispute if it appears from today's company-union talks that he will be helpful.

Mr. St. Laurent disclosed this to newspapermen following a morning session of the Cabinet in which the rail wage-hour deadlock was discussed.

The Prime Minister said another session of the Cabinet will be held in the afternoon.

"Things are going to be done very quickly," Mr. St. Laurent said, observing that "not much time" was left before the Tuesday morning deadline set for a general all strike of 124,000 employees.

Expects Developments

He indicated that the immediate appointment of a mediator would hinge on the attitude towards this move developing in company-union discussions at Montreal today.

The Prime Minister said there might be some developments, both at Montreal and in the capital, "towards the end of this afternoon."

He noted that, in turning down Thursday the government's request for a 30-day strike postponement in return for the appointment of a mediator, the two Canadian unions engaged in the dispute had indicated they felt a mediator would be welcome if appointed immediately.

Noting that the international unions were meeting with the management in Montreal today, the Prime Minister said that "if it appears from what is going on today that it would be helpful, it will be done.'

Resume Talks

While in session, the Cabinet had been advised that the company-union talks were to resume at Montreal at 3 p.m. EDT, Mr. St. Laurent said. The ministers, who broke up at 1 p.m. after 2½ hours' discussion, were summoned back for 3 p.m.

Mr. St. Laurent said the appointment of a mediator would be undertaken by Labor Minister Gregg under the Industrial Relations and Disputes Investigation Act.

He declined to say whether a man already had been selected for the job, or even whether prospective candidates had been sounded out to see if they would accept the task.

But he added:

"It may be that there would be great utility in a mediator being appointed by the Minister of ST. LAURENT

Frost Damages Crops

KIRKLAND LAKE, Aug. 18 — (CP) — Heavy frost throughout Northern Ontario's Timiskaming district Thursday night may have caused serious damage to root crops. M. F. Cook, Ontario agriculture department representative, said most "tender crops" were hit. In other areas, farmers reported frost damage to cucumbers, pumpkins, squash, beans, tomatoes and peppers. Hardier crops such as beets, peas, turnips, spinach, cabbage and onions withstood the frost better.

500,000 Panic In Taegu's Mass Exodus

By HAL BOYLE

TAEGU, Korea, Aug. 18 (AP)—Fear that has shadowed 500,000 hearts here exploded in panic today as a mass exodus began from this besieged city.

For several hours chaos ruled the streets of this refugee-swollen provisional capital of South Korea. The civilian populace was swept by hysteria. The scene on the ground was utter confusion. From the air the exits leading south looked like clogged lanes of frightened white ants.

The story of this flight of an entire city can best be told by telling what happened to one household.

This family lives beneath the window of a mission school where foreign war correspondents have been billeted more than one month. Its home was in a jammed corridor.

Two weeks ago the young father of the family beneath our window dug a deep pit in his backyard and buried all the household's precious belongings in it. Thousands of other fathers must have been doing the same thing; they had no better place to put their simple treasure than in a hole in the ground.

"Saving Face"

The young mother each twilight lit a fire and cooked rice and vegetables for her children and the grandparents and the uncles and the cousins that swarm in most Korean homes. Each morning they took turns scrubbing each other with water hauled up by buckets from the backyard well.

Thursday night truckloads of grinning South Korean recruits rushed toward the front happily singing what Americans call "No Lose Face" song. It is a kind of singsong chant that tells how the recruits are going to drive back the invaders and free Korea.

Before dawn several enemy shells cracked into the city, killing at least four persons and hitting a locomotive tender in a railyard.

In mid-morning the provincial government ordered all non-essential civilians to leave. It was not only to clear for defence, it was a safety measure to avoid a last-minute rush such as took place during the fall of Seoul, the abandoned Republican capital.

The family below our window packed on their backs the few remaining belongings, straggled out of the walled front and disappeared in a line of refugees.

UN Troops Roll Back Reds Stave Off Attack On Taegu, Retake Pohang

Marines Chase Terror-Stricken Enemy Across Naktong In Droves
Gain Three Miles in Changnyong Sector

TOKYO, Aug. 18—(CP)—Allied forces today staved off a North Korean drive on Taegu, struck hard at a Communist bridgehead farther south and recaptured the east coast port of Pohang. American and South Korean troops trying to neutralize a Communist threat from north of Taegu were reported by Reuters News Agency to have shoved back the Communists 2½ miles. But Taegu's civilian population was being evacuated and the South Korean government moved on to a new provisional capital.

Objective of the Allied counter-attack was an important road junction 17 miles north of Taegu. Air strikes and artillery paved the way for tanks and infantry.

Twenty-three miles southwest of Changnyong U.S. Marines and infantry made such progress against the North Korean 4th division in a bridgehead west of the Naktong river that a high U.S. officer declared that the Reds had taken "a hell of a licking."

Recapture of Pohang on the east coast strengthened the northern sector of the allied defence box and took the pressure off Pohang airfield, from which aircraft had been withdrawn.

The allied counter-attack north of Taegu took them into rough hill country on either side of the Kunwi-Taegu highway, down which four Communist divisions opened as assault on the city yesterday.

The emergency South Korean capital itself was being emptied of civilians in a mass evacuation ordered to clear the city for use solely as a military base.

The South Korean government went to a new, unspecified refugee capital.

The most threatening Red approach was in steep hills 12 miles north of Taegu.

Say Army Recruiting Passes 6,000 Mark

OTTAWA, Aug. 18 (CP).—The recruited manpower for Canada's special force was near the 6,000 mark today and still going strong.

The government is expected to announce shortly that about 500 to 600 technicians and specialists will be posted to the force from the regular army. They will go with it to Korea or elsewhere.

If they had to be recruited in the streets and trained, it might delay dispatch of the force for months.

Feature of today's recruiting figures was again the race between Toronto and Montreal with the Ontario capital slipping ahead with a total of 1,198 enlistments compared to Montreal's 1,178.

All told by 5 p.m. Thursday night there were 5,218 men in the force and another 683 were in the process of going through the formalities.

Believe Toll On Cruise Ship Will Reach Seven

TADOUSSAC, Que., Aug. 18—(CP)—The possibility that the death toll in the destruction of the river cruise ship Quebec by fire last Monday would go to seven was indicated today when police said two more persons are known to be missing.

Quebec Provincial police said their information is that Gertrude and Eva Taub of Tarrytown, N.Y., have not been accounted for.

Five bodies have been recovered from the burned-out cruise vessel which was towed out of here early today for Lauzon, opposite Quebec city, where a thorough search of tons of debris in her blackened hull will be conducted by Provincial police.

Frank Findlay, Quebec manager for C.S.L., said he reported the names of the Taubs to Quebec Provincial Police during the night.

Findlay said the two lastest probable victims of the fire "may be the last but this cannot be said yet with any certainty."

On Way Up

The transport department's signal service reported that the wrecked ship, being towed up the St. Lawrence river from Tadoussac to Quebec harbor, had reach-

Waiting Birth Of Last 2 Quads

BELLINGEN, Australia, Aug. 18—(CP)—A chain-smoking expectant father, four doctors and a good part of the Australian public are nervously awaiting the birth of the last two members of the Sara quadruplets.

The first arrival—a girl—was born at Bellingen hospital Thursday night. The second—a boy—made his appearance tonight, more than 25 hours after his sister was born.

The remaining two, doctors said, should be born "in the near future".

The mother, Mrs. Betty Sara, a British war bride, is said to be in good health.

Bellingen is a small town 375 miles north of Sydney.

Canadian Ship In Action Again

TOKYO, Aug. 18 (Reuters).—A Far East naval release said today the British naval air arm is "assisting with the difficult task of maintaining the west coast blockade."

"A Canadian destroyer Thursday bombarded a troublesome battery in the Kunsan area without drawing any fire in reply," the release added. (Three Canadian destroyers — the Cayuga, Athabaskan and Sioux—are in action with United Nations naval forces off Korea).

"Elsewhere on the west coast, patrolling units report that as a result of the recent crippling carrier-plane strikes on rolling stock, horses and men instead of locomotives are being used as prime movers on the west coast railroad."

Sails 5 Hours Late

LE HAVRE, Aug. 18—(Reuters)—France's new North Atlantic passenger flagship, the 50,000-ton Liberte, sailed Thursday night—five hours late for her maiden voyage to New York. A threatened strike of the ship's officers was averted through the personal mediation of the French Merchant Marine Minister, Gaston Deferre, a passenger. The officers were seeking higher wages and an improved seniority set up.

TORONTO, Aug. 18 — (CP) — Agriculture ministers and their deputies from all Canadian provinces will gather here Monday for the first interprovincial conference on agricultural problems since 1933. Representatives will discuss marketing, farm education and extension of water conservation.

N.Z. Upper House Voted Out Of Existence

WELLINGTON, Aug. 18 (CP).—New Zealand's Upper House of Parliament, the Legislative Council, voted itself out of existence today.

After two weeks of hectic debate, it passed, 26 to 16, the Conservative government's bill providing for its abolition Jan. 1, 1951. The legislative council was set up 96 years ago.

Described by Prime Minister Holland as "useless" the council is appointed by the Governor-General.

The bill to abolish it was carried through the lower house by a comfortable majority.

Older members of the legislative council, irrespective of party affiliations, opposed it, stressing the dangers of a single-house system of government. But Holland appointed a "suicide squad" to carry the bill through.

Farm Federation Charges Consumers Being Exploited

OTTAWA, Aug. 18 (CP). — The Canadian Federation of Agriculture today charged that consumers are being "exploited" under a semi-monopoly device allegedly employed by retailers and manufacturers.

This device, said the CFA, in a brief presented to a special committee studying combines legislation with a view towards improvement, involves the practice of "resale price maintenance."

Although the Combines Investigation Act makes this practice illegal when employed by two or more persons together. It does not deal with cases where fixed resale prices are being maintained by individual persons or corporations, the CFA said.

"Practically all standard brand articles," said the CFA, "are sold under a policy of resale price maintenance.

"Consumers do not have the opportunity to seek out the most efficient distributors or get the advantage of such efficiency. To this extent consumers are exploited and the economy can no longer be called a free enterprise, or competitive system."

The CFA also recommended:

1. That the Criminal Code be amended to declare that conditional sales, such as may exist in the flour and feed industries, be declared illegal.

2. That no amendments be considered which would limit the powers of the combines commissioner to initiate investigations, restrict publication of his reports or give legal sanction to certain types of agreements to restrict or eliminate price competition.

A CFA spokesman said "conditional sales" have been found to exist in the flour and feed industries, where a buyer wanting to buy feed was forced also to buy flour in order to get the feed.

RHA Needs Horsemen Send SOS To Jockeys

LONDON, Aug. 18—(Reuters)—The Royal Horse Artillery wants horsemen.

The King's troop of the R.H.A., which fired the salute Tuesday in honor of Princess Elizabeth's new daughter, appealed today for recruits who can handle horses.

The troop commander, Maj. F. W. C. Weldon, said he had written to trainers at racing stables "and other similar establishments" telling of the need for horsemen.

He said he had promised trainers that if any jockeys offered themselves, he would see they kept their weight down while they were in uniform.

Accept Turkish Offer Of 4,500 Men For UN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP).—The United States today accepted Turkey's offer to send a combat force of 4,500 men to Korea.

The State Department in announcing the acceptance said the United States is "deeply gratified" at Turkey's offer.

The Turkish offer is the third to be formally accepted by the United States. Thailand's offer to send 4,000 officers and men was formally accepted earlier this week as was a Philippine offer to send a regimental combat team of about 5,000 men.

Making Deal For U.S. Fighters

OTTAWA, Aug. 18 (CP)—Canada is negotiating with the United States for purchase of dozens of propeller-driven Mustang fighter planes to bridge the gap in her air defences between now and when her jet planes come into large-scale production next year.

The RCAF has plans made and the pilots ready for the swift formation of a third regular fighting squadron once the planes become available. It will be based in Eastern Canada.

There are no plans at present for sending it to Korea where Australian and American Mustang pilots have done some of the best air work of the war.

Both other regular fighter squadrons are equipped with Vampire jets, to be replaced next year by F86 and CF100 jets built in Canada.

The United States offered Canada the Mustangs weeks ago—before Korea—for a financial bargain. Since Korea the government has decided they would be a good buy and negotiations were opened some time ago. The planes are part of a large group the Americans have been taking out of mothballs.

Sees World Upside Down Does Things Just As Well

NEW YORK, Aug. 18 (AP)—For 30 days, Fred Snyder has been looking at the world upside down and backward.

Tonight Fred will take off his special, binocular-like glasses. The floor will shoot up to the ceiling. The ceiling will come down to the floor. Once again Fred will see the world as other people see it. And—

"I'm not sure I'll recognize it," Fred said with an uncertain laugh. "I've got pretty used to leading this upside-down existence. Things look right to me when they're upside down and backward to everybody else."

Fred is a friendly, 25-year-old graduate student at the University of Wichita, he undertook the upside-down experiment as part of his work in psychology. His teacher, Dr. N. H. Pronko, who came along to New York, thinks it's a pretty valuable piece of work.

"We're not trying to prove anything," Pronko said. "We're trying to learn something about how people see. Apparently it's something we have to learn. In some ways Fred already has learned to see as well as, or better than, he did with 'normal' vision."

But it wasn't easy.

First Fred put on his strange, projecting glasses. A light metal headgear supports them and sponge rubber prevents a chafing.

He couldn't do anything right at first. The food on his dinner plate seemed to be suspended in air, ready to fall in his lap—except that his lap was up where his shoulders should have been. He fell over things. They were on his right when he "saw" them on his left.

"But I learned," Fred said. "I can sort playing cards and get through other laboratory tests just about as fast as I ever could, sometimes faster."

Missing Pair In U.S. Police Convinced

TORONTO, Aug. 18 (CP) — Police said today they are convinced that a missing Toronto schoolteacher and his attractive former night-school pupils are in the United States and that it will be "only a matter of time" before they are located.

Alfred P. Greene, 38-year-old father of four young children, has been missing since his abandoned automobile was found in a Toronto ravine Aug. 9. Mrs Beatrice Reason, 31, thrice-divorced Australian-born wife of a Toronto bricklayer, disappeared about the same time.

Police believe the couple are trying to make their way to Australia, where both sent money shortly before their disappearance. Airlines and steamship companies have been asked to watch for prospective passengers answering the description of the missing pair.

"We believe they are in the United States," a senior police official said today. "It will be only a matter of time before we locate them."

Emily Farmer Loses Barn, Crops In Fire

OMEMEE, Aug. 18—(ENS) — Clifford Padgett, 13th line of Emily, lost all his fall wheat and this year's hay crop, 60 bushels of last year's wheat, a quantity of last year's oats, 10 pigs, several hens, his dog and farm implements when his barn burned Thursday night. The fire, caused by a bolt of lightning, was still burning at 10 a.m. today.

Mr. Padgett was in the barn, milking his cows at 8 p.m. Thursday, when he heard a terrific crash. He rushed out to see if the house was all right and, on returning to the barn, discovered it was ablaze. He released his eight cows and one calf, which were inside, but did not have time to free 10 pigs and several hens. Six other calves were already out in a field.

Mr. Padgett's dog helped clear the barn, but he returned once too often and was trapped. He was burned to death. Mrs. Emma Padgett, the farmer's mother, also hurried to help.

This year's crop of fall wheat which was destroyed in the fire, consisted of 10 loads and there were 27 loads of this year's hay.

Implements Lost

A wagon, seeder, harnesses and other farm implements were also lost.

The barn, a wooden "L" shaped building, stood about 200 yards away from the house. The wind blew the flames in the opposite direction and the house was not threatened.

In Lauzon shipyards, on the south side of Quebec harbor, a methodical search of the wreckage, with equipment and staff not available at Tadoussac, will be undertaken.

Pressed for definite figures, Mr. Findlay said that a complete passenger list was not available and that the cabin plan—listing only passengers with cabins, not those without cabins—was destroyed in the fire.

His 450 figure was a round figure, not a precise one, and he could not say exactly how many passengers had been accounted for directly or indirectly. Most of the passengers were United States citizens, he said.

The manager's statement followed discovery of a fifth body aboard the destroyed vessel. A fourth was found Wednesday night.

Labor to assist in the negotiations."

Still Hopeful

As for the negotiations themselves, he said the government is "still hopeful that they are being resumed with a genuine desire to reach a solution."

The meeting marked the third day this week in which the Cabinet sat on the rail issue. It had met Tuesday and Wednesday, holding morning and afternoon sittings Wednesday.

Originally, the government offered to appoint a mediator if the unions would postpone their strike action for a month. But unions involved rejected the 30-day postponement, saying they would welcome a mediator at once.

The Canadian unions, representing 24,000 employees, said they would welcome a mediator before the Aug. 22 deadline. The 15 international unions, spokesman for whom was Frank Hall, contented themselves with turning down the government offer of a strike postponement. They made no mention of a mediator.

Make Radio Addresses

Spokesmen for both sides made radio addresses Thursday night as the battle reached its climax. Frank Hall, who is chairman of the negotiating committee of the 15 international unions, made an address, immediately followed by one from W. A. Mather, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Mr. Hall said that since the unions' demands were made 14 months ago, the cost of living had increased to such a point that the demands now fall far below what is needed.

Of the Unions' demand for the 40-hour week, instead of the present 48, Mr. Hall said the five-day week now was in force in most Canadian centres for industrial and other workers. The railways had promised the 40-hour week at an "appropriate time" but this was too vague.

Both railways had given the 40-hour week to their subsidiaries in the United States and they had continued to show increasing profits. They did not lose money as the railways had claimed they would.

Mr. Mather said railway acceptance of government proposals "now places it squarely up to the dissident unions," to decide whether or not the country's railways will come to a stop.

Railway management did not believe a strike "in any way is justified."

Economic Dislocation

"A railway strike would bring economic dislocation affecting everyone in the country. The dispute between management and labor would then no longer be our problem alone, but one which would be shared by every citizen," the CPR president said.

He added that the only way to meet demands of the unions "would be to ask for, and receive, no a formal increase in freight rates such as may be demanded by the changing Canadian economic scene but by an increase in freight rates of major proportions, as would be felt in every home in every part of the nation."

Mr. Mosher, in a letter delivered to the Prime Minister, said the workers he spoke for had indicated further postponement would not be acceptable to them. However, they were willing to negotiate immediately and work around the clock to get an agreement.

Latest Time

Mr. Mosher indicated that Monday afternoon was the latest time for rescinding the strike call. It would take some hours to get the word out to all employees in time to get them to report for work Tuesday morning.

A brief wire from Mr. Gordon and Mr. Mather to the unions read:

"The railways have advised the Prime Minister of their willingness to comply with his request to resume negotiations. Accordingly wish to say to you that should you desire a conference, we are prepared to meet your convenience."

Forty-five-ton Pershing tanks were used in the counter-attack led by the U.S. 17th regiment and the South Korean 1st division.

The South Korean 6th division lost contact Friday night with Red forces. It had held before Taegu.

Allied troops tasted victory on all other fronts Friday. For the first time in 13 bitter days of fighting Americans rolled back some of the 12,000 Red infantrymen who had bulged across the Naktong river south of Changnyong, 23 miles southwest of Taegu.

U.S. Marines and 24th division troops gained up to three miles in the Changnyong sector and chased terror-stricken and weapon-less Reds back across the Naktong in droves. One battalion of about 1,000 Communists broke for the western bank of the river first. They were followed by others.

Taking Licking

Maj.-Gen. John H. Church, U.S. commander in the Changnyong sector, said the North Koreans there had taken "a hell of a licking."

Some Communists voluntarily crossed over to American lines and surrendered.

Pohang and Kigye on the Korean east coast were recaptured by South Koreans.

In the deep south, at the other end of the line, the U.S. 25th Division turned back a dawn attack by the North Korean 6th Division driving eastward from ruined Chinju.

Bombed Troops Move In

The Red threat to Taegu came from troops bombed by U.S. B-29s Wednesday in the Waegwan area. They drove south on Taegu from Kunwi, 25 miles north of Taegu, and recaptured the town of Kumwha after a substantial advance.

Taegu was ordered evacuated of its 500,000 to 800,000 war-swelled population.

The capture of Pohang port on the Sea of Japan coast by the South Koreans permitted U.S. planes to resume using the airstrip six miles southeast of Pohang.

The American advances in the Changnyong bulge gave rise to optimism at U.S. Eighth Army headquarters in Korea. It had described the Red threat against Taegu as the most serious one in Korea.

Drive Into Bridgehead

The U.S. 1st Marine Brigade and the 24th Division tackled 12,000 river-crossing Reds and drove well into their bridgehead on the eastern Allied bank of the river.

AP correspondent Jack Macbeth on the Changnyong fighting front said some of the battered North Korean 4th Division's troops, about a battalion in one place and a small group in another, were pulling back across the river.

AP correspondent Leif Erickson at U.S. Eighth Army headquarters quoted on American regimental commander as saying:

"It looks like we have got them on the run. That 4th Red Division has been pounding us for 45 days. It certainly is a pleasure to see them go back. I hope we can knock all of them out."

Correspondent Erickson said other senior officers agreed the Changnyong bulge outlook was favorable for the Allies.

The Red rollback below Changnyong started Thursday when the Marines attacked a steep, rugged hill. The army attack followed. A swinging-door force, anchored on the north end of the bulge, was closing south on pocketed Red troops.

Using Everything

One mariné officer said Corsair fighter planes steadily strafed Reds trying to wade in retreat through the shallow Naktong in the southwest sector of the bulge.

Correspondent Whitehead reported the Marines were hitting the North Koreans with everything they had.

Eight North Korean tanks were destroyed in the Changnyong sector, five of them by air strikes.

American and Australian airmen flew more than 500 sorties Friday, concentrating their fire on Red ground troops and armor.

The pilots claimed destruction of 13 North Korean tanks and large amounts of Communist railroad traffic.

B-29's went out in force to strike at the North Korean communications system.

British Navy fliers now are assisting Americans in blockading the East Coast.

Canadians In Action

A Tokyo headquarters release also disclosed that a Canadian destroyer bombarded a battery in the Kunsan area on the west coast, 45 miles southwest of Redheld Taejon in South Korea.

The Allied successes at Changnyong were scored against a backdrop of tragedy — the discovery Thursday of a massacre of US prisoners by the North Koreans. Thirty-six bodies, all with hands bound and shot in the back, were found in a gully.

As the word spread on the atrocities, US soldiers went into the attack with a grim new determination.

Tentative identification of some of the North Koreans who ordered or participated in the massacre was made when some Reds themselves were captured.

The 30,000 North Koreans advancing toward Taegu jumped off Thursday night from an area heavily bombed Wednesday by U.S. B-29's. In addition to the three Red divisions on the march toward Taegu, intelligence officers searched for four more enemy divisions that have not been accounted for in the last few hours.

Wherever these divisions show up was expected to be a focal point of the push on Taegu.

Correspondent Erickson said reports of the capture of Pohang and Kigye, nine miles northwest of the port, came to Eighth Army headquarters from South Korean army headquarters.

Unified Country U.S. Demand In Korean Peace

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 18 — (AP)—The Security Council Thursday night heard a United States demand that any Korean settlement provide for a unified, independent country. Later the council adjourned until Tuesday.

Warren Austin, Chief U.S. delegate, made his country's major policy statement at Thursday's public session. The meeting was preceded by a private session at which Council members tried again in vain to break the procedural blockade imposed by their Russian president, Jakob A. Malik.

Austin said the primary U.N objective in Korea must be cessation of hostilities. But "the Korean people expect that when their Gethsemane has passed, they will all have the right to freedom and unity," he declared.

Doesn't Stipulate

Austin's statement did not stipulate whether the U.S. thinks U.N. forces should go beyond the 38th parallel to conquer the North Korean invaders of South Korea. It refrained also from knuckle blows at the Russian role in North Korea and contented itself with an appeal to the Soviet union to use its influence to end the conflict.

In a brief reply Malik made new assertions that the U.S. is trying to extend the scope of the war. He charged that proposals for a unified post-war Korea were only to hide civilian deaths from U.S. bombing.

The Soviet union, he declared, "will not use its influence in the American way, the way Secretary of State Acheson uses it with (South Korean president) Syngman Rhee."

Taegu, normally a city of about 350,000, has swelled in six weeks to 700,000 or 800,000.

Soon it appeared as though the whole city was emptying itself. Refugees swarmed out by the scores of thousands southward as military columns roared northward.

By mid-afternoon the frenzy had died down. Many refugees who had wandered about aimlessly turned around and went tiredly back to their homes.

The family below our window straggled back through their gateway.

NotHandicapped

By JACK COUTURE

OTTAWA, August 18 — This year, so far, "Execution Rock," a 2,000 - cubic - foot, almost globular boulder, located at Foran's Grove, four miles northwest of Aylmer, has moved 14 inches.

Whether the year 1950 contains significance in the legend of "Execution Rock" is not for mere mortals to know. The fact remains that in former years observers noticed the big rock inched its way towards the 100-foot cliff washed by Lake Deschenes. In 100 years it has moved 100 feet.

When the Eardley Road pierced the unbroken forest in 1815, in a widening of well-beaten Indian Trails, the rock was close to the road. Now it is some distance from the spot where it was first observed. In its progress towards the river, the movement of the rock was impeded by natural obstacles of trees and earth indentation. Today it is in a clearing a few wards from sloping ground that may heighten its velocity.

Execution Instrument

According to a spokesman for the Aylmer Historical Society, the rock was once used as an execution instrument by the Algonquins. Anyone found guilty of breaking tribal laws, or having dealings with their ancient enemies, the Iroquois, was dashed to death on the rock to satisfy the strict code of these primitive people.

The condemned were trussed, hauled up by a deerskin thong to a crude platform in a tree about 12 feet above the rock, weighted with rocks under the arms and pushed to land head down on the huge boulder.

As the place of execution was on a much used trail, the bodies of the executed were left at the scene to be picked at by crow and hawk as a warning to those who dared to break an established and sacred code.

In the 17th century the fierce onslaughts of the Iroquois from south of the border were working havoc with the northern Indians. Every defensive measure the "Brain Trusters" of the Algonquins tried, to outsmart the Iroquois at warfare, failed. The dread word "Spy" swept through the forest.

Then began what was probably the first spy hunt on the continent.

Wa-Pa (The Wise One) medicine man extraordinary had full authority to beat the Iroquois by black magic. The voice of Wa-Pa was a powerful one and his motives were twofold. He wanted to be the mightiest medicine man of all, and he wanted to get rid of young braves who were questioning his authority and criticizing his decisions.

When young braves protested that the only way to beat the enemy was with tomahawks, and not with weird incantations, they were charged with being a danger to the tribe. When Wa-Pa heard of any discontent, he had several young braves dragged before him. Pointing a bony finger at the accused the wizened Wa-Pa demanded the rock treatment to cure unrest.

One such an accused young brave was Ro-Mab (Strong Oak). He had advocated the Algonquins should muster their strength and descend upon the Iroquois in their own villages so as not to be slaughtered piecemeal. He was taken before Wa-Pa as a young upstart rebel and was condemned to the stone.

Ra-Mab's Prophecy

As Ra-Mab stood tall and straight before his judges, his sinewy arm sweeping the land, his fingers pointing at the river, he made a prophecy. With the vision that proximity of death brings to men, he was heard to say:

"You cannot fight the enemy with dead men. If this killing goes on, we will grow weaker and weaker. The Iroquois will overrun us. Then strange men with pale faces will steal both our lands. They will fight among themselves and burn the land with strange lightning. All will be still and nothing will grow. When I die, the strength of my spirit will push the death rock to the river. When it strikes the water the spirit of us murdered men will leave the mountain caves to claim once more our heritage."

Early Irish settlers in the district have left record they have seen strange visions near the rock. At times in the still of the night they have heard sorrowful laments as if someone despaired of the slowness of some mighty task.

Even today, on a calm evening, stirrings can be heard coming from the grove. But the roar of heavy traffic along the Eardley Road smothers out such unearthly sounds.

Slowly "Execution Rock" moves towards the river. Whether it ever reaches the water and all of Ra-Mab's prophecies come true is a question.

Getting Ready For Atomic Bomb War?

Last week the American Atomic Energy Commission and the Department of Defence issued a 456-page volume called The Effects of Atomic Weapon. This week Time magazine gives a precis of this book, in a two-page display. It prefaces the special article with these sentences:

Behind the low-rolling smoke of battle in Korea looms the most terrifying of all war clouds; the topless mushroom of the atomic bomb. Will the Russians make an atom-bomb attack on the U.S.? If it comes, what is the difference? Is there any defence?

All this is alarming. Not that the official report on means of defence against atomic bombs (of the present type) is as hopeless as people expected five years ago. But the facts of its being published at this time, and of a popular magazine with tremendous circulation giving it prominence, are very disturbing. People are being made atomic bomb conscious. It is being brought to their own back yards and main streets. The reason given is cogent. Russia has the bomb, and would conceivably use it. But the U.S. has the bomb, too. Is it preparing the people to accept atomic war as an endurable risk?

We are told that U.S. buildings would not stand up to the blast much better than Japanese ones; that the great majority (85 per cent. or more) of people in a half-mile radius of the burst will die because of blast, heat or radiation. Under such circumstances it is not too re-assuring to know that the mortality rate is cut down to 50 per cent. at 4,500 feet; and to 15 per cent. at 6,500, and that lingering radio-activity is not considered serious. Effective shelters can be built inside most buildings, or below ground level, we are told. Their effective use would, of course, depend on a timely warning. It may comfort some to know that if the bomb bursts a mile or more away it gives its own warning—the 100-sun glare of the fireball. But if it burst only half a mile away, without warning?

This age's overlay of propaganda and war makes our times seen pretty frightful, as well as frightening.

Fruit Stands On The Queen Elizabeth Way

Some of the fruit growers whose property adjoins the Queen Elizabeth Way have decided to defy the law which forbids them to have fruit stands on the highway. We feel a certain sympathy with them. If they want to sell their wares directly to the public, getting all the profit instead of a part of it, we think that they have a good moral case. Morality and the law, however, can be widely separated.

The law against fruit stands is supposedly to prevent motorists from being distracted by objects at the side of the road. We suspect, however, that it has another, unacknowledged reason. The government of Ontario, having built a fine highway, understandably does not want the sides of that highway cluttered with little shacks selling fruit. If it permits fruit-shacks, how long can it prevent hotdog shacks, soft drink shacks, and all the rubbishy booths which so quickly spring up beside a much-travelled road?

Recently we drove over the Queen Elizabeth Way, and were impressed by the neat and pretty appearance of the fruit stands we saw. All were attractive pleasant displays. The breakers of the law have plainly decided that if the government acts against them it will not be able to say that they are defacing the highway with cheap and nasty booths.

It is depressing to observe how, when once the traveller has passed Toronto, the roadsides are cluttered with ugly little shacks which sell all the things that motorists are supposed to desire for eating, drinking, smoking and chewing. There is no question about it, Eastern Ontario is unkempt and lacking in pride when compared with Western Ontario. Why this should be we do not know, but it is a condition which should be changed if we hope to increase our attractiveness to tourists. If the wayside booths in Eastern Ontario were as neat and pretty as the fruit stalls along the Queen Elizabeth Way, we should have little cause for complaint.

Sailors and Floozies

Yesterday we drew the attention of our readers to Professor A. R. M. Lower's advice to Canada to "pull up its cultural socks". And today news arrives of just the sort of stupidity which Professor Lower was attacking. Controller Balfour of Toronto has been protesting against the exhibition of a picture called Sailors and Floozies in the art gallery at the C.N.E.

It is a poor year when somebody does not protest against some picture which is exhibited at the C.N.E. We well recall the hullabaloo a few years ago when a national women's organization demanded that a picture be removed which showed a nude girl who had just taken a bath. This was, the organization in question asserted, an insult to Canadian womanhood. Whether the insult lay in the suggestion that Canadian women have bodies under their clothes, or in the inference that they occasionally took baths, was not explained. But this year Controller Balfour is reported as saying that the picture in question is "of an amoral nature" (meaning, we presume "immoral") and would alarm the mothers of young men who are now enlisting.

We have the highest regard for the mothers of young men now enlisting, but we do not consider them to be the best judges of pictures. And so long as a large number of Canadians insist on judging pictures and other works of art on every ground except that of artistic excellence, this country will be barbaric in artistic matters. As Professor Lower says, we must pull up our socks.

The Death of Peter Pan

The news that Mrs. Gilbert Cannan died a few days ago in Biarritz is unlikely to have caused any great stir except among people who are particularly interested in Gilbert Cannan's novels. It was not widely known that Mrs. Cannan was, from 1894 until 1910, the wife of the late Sir James Barrie, the great novelist and playwright. He met her when she was an actress, Mary Ansell, and he was a playwright first rising to eminence; they married, and it is said that it was for her that he created the role of Peter Pan.

It would be intrusive to enquire why she left Barrie for Gilbert Cannan; it is perhaps enough to say that Barrie was temperamentally ill-suited to marriage. His nature appears to have ranged between the whimsicality which is displayed in his plays and novels, and a morose and reclusive disposition. He was always a solitary man.

Divorce did not appear to impair the friendship and the special sort of affection which existed between Barrie and Mary Ansell. When he lay dying in 1937 (and not in 1917, as has been rather widely published) she hastened to his side, although very few people knew, and few remembered, that she had once been his wife. In his will he left £1,000, and an annuity of £600 a year to "my dear Mary Cannan".

The original of Peter Pan has died just at a time when that play is enjoying a remarkable success in New York. Barrie's blighted romance (if sixteen years of marriage may be so described) is now a thing of the past, but the work which it inspired lives on.

Cabinet Indiscretions

"Stabs heal, but bad words never", says the Spanish proverb; we wonder if Clement Attlee ever reflects upon this bitter truth, for surely Mr. Attlee has had more trouble as a result of indiscreet remarks by his colleagues than is the lot of most British prime ministers? We are thinking particularly of John Strachey's recent ill-starred assertion that the Schuman Plan was a "plot" to diminish Britain's importance. Surely the word "plot" was never used so unfortunately by a British politician in reference to an international move. Hugh Dalton also helped to complicate that situation by issuing a pamphlet on British policy respecting the Schuman Plan, at the very moment when it would most effectively complicate British discussion of the Plan and European negotitations regarding it.

Trouble of this sort is nothing new for Mr. Attlee. It was another member of his Cabinet, Emmanuel Shinwell, who said: "The organized workers of the country are our friends; as for the rest they don't matter a tinker's cuss". That triumphant statement of class domination still lingers in the minds of the unorganized workers of Britain, who are many. It rankles, as does Aneurin Bevan's astonishing reference to "Tory vermin". To be head of a Cabinet which expresses itself with such reckless disregard for consequences can be no light task, and we are frequently amazed by Mr. Attlee's loyalty to colleagues who so dangerously rock the Labour boat.

European Stalemate?

(A French View)
By MICHEL DEBRE

WE cannot but be struck by the gap between what European politicians profess and what they really carry out.

We are continually hearing of the necessity for defending our civilization of the advantages of abolishing customs and currency restrictions, of the danger of maintaining, in their present state and with their present policy, nations that are too small for this 20th century. We are always being told that the price of Western security is European Union.

LET us consider the expedients proposed to us. The economic organization for European cooperation has had to curb its ambitiousness, and is establishing—after a fashion—the necessary compromises to prevent American aid from becoming too flagrant a contradiction in terms. Right from its institution, the European Council has been stuck in a mire of helplessness, which was not its own doing, but from which it has not been able to free itself. The Schuman Plan would never have got past the discussion stage, had it not ignominiously lowered the tone of its primary ambitions.

Those of us who really believe in the advantage of European union must recognize this gap, and seek its explanation.

THERE seem to me to be three principal reasons.

First, Europe cannot be constituted unless we have a clear idea of what part it is to play in the world. Up till now this has never been stated. Some have the high ideal that the European economic organization is aiming at creating a self-sufficient nation out of the old continent and the territories attached to it. From a political point of view, others advance the idea of a neutral Europe holding the balance between East and West. On the other hand, some see in the European organization the necessary condition for the economic balance of the whole Western world, and, from the political point of view, a condition for ensuring the birth and development of the Atlantic community. We must take one side or the other. In my opinion, a neutral self-sufficient Europe is a chimera and a danger. Europe is the first pillar of the Atlantic community. We must repeat that and explain it.

WE have no precise information on the tasks which the European organization must carry out in the future. We hear talk of customs duties, currency restrictions, less competition between coal and steel, but this is a matter of eliminating defects which ought to be eliminated even if a united Europe were not to be set up, for they are leading each single nation to disaster, and the different nations could, by agreement, remedy them. What is now in question is European solidarity; the possibility of solving our social problems, of supporting the efforts of nations, weakened by isolation, to raise their standard of living. In another field it must help nations to maintain within their own boundaries territories so vast that today, after the trials of war, each is too weak to defend itself against outside ambitions.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS is the meaning of the sacrifices involved in European union. Finally, as the last but not the least condition, we must know what its political authority will be. There is talk of a Parliament, but it would not be a true one, for we cannot so designate a group of men who are not expressly elected. An elected delegation is a very precise mechanism; but delegations of ministers set up by other ministers have never resulted in a very sound basis for authority. There is good reason to hesitate in taking a step which would result in the creation of a sovereign international assembly. But it is difficult to understand why a large assembly should not be a principle of federation for very divided nations. In creating a political union among states that do not speak the same language and that history has often set against other, it is dangerous to proceed straight away to the political form of nations that have long been united. The examples of America and Switzerland can show us how to avoid this danger.

UNDOUBTEDLY it would be convenient to place the power of the new European policy in the hands of one man, or at least of a small group of men, for then the principle of federation would be established more easily, and political authority would not be an idle expression.

We may think that events will settle themselves. Or we may think that the stagnation of the Western powers is the decisive indication of their decadence. Those who are content to take this view of present events must learn that it is urgent to get past the discussion stage and begin to act. We must face the difficulties, and bring to them only logical in other words, natural, solutions.

Americans And Candy

(Wall Street Journal)

The per capita consumption of candy in the United States in pounds is greater than that of butter, cheese, margarine or cereals. The average family spends more for candy than for canned juices, cakes, shortenings, soups or white flour.

These figures were reported by Edwin J. Brach, Chicago candy manufacturer, after a study of sales trends in the industry.

The average person each year eats 10.2 pounds of butter, 7.2 pounds of cheese, 5.7 pounds of margarine and eight pounds of cereals, compared with 17 pounds of candy. Candy consumption is only two and a half pounds under the per capita figure for coffee consumption.

• Eighty-three per cent. of the population consumes an average of 20.5 pounds of candy each year, making 17 pounds the average for the entire nation.

THE "BUSINESS" AS USUAL

Refugee

(LONDON SUNDAY TIMES)

Before the war, Mr. N. S. Norway was well known as an aeronautical engineer. As chief mathematician he helped to design the airship R100 and flew the Atlantic in her in 1930; he founded Airspeed, the firm which built the Airspeed Oxford trainer. As a hobby he wrote novels, under the name of Nevil Shute.

In the last ten years Nevil Shute Norway has become one of the world's most successful authors; the film rights of such best sellers as "The Pied Piper," "No Highway" and "Landfall" alone have made him a wealthy man.

On Thursday Mr. Norway, with his wife and two daughters, sails from England to begin a new life in Australia.

A man in his fifties, enjoying great success, does not make such a decision lightly. But Nevil Norway is a sturdy individualist, and over dinner the other evening he gave me a striking illustration of the petty restrictions which have hampered his work here and exasperated him to the point of emigration.

The popularity of Nevil Shute's stories in America is enormous. His dollar earnings since 1939 exceed $275,000. Yet when he applied for an extra 20 gallons of petrol to carry out certain literary research vital in the preparation of a recent novel, the application was curtly refused.

"I pointed out that at a conservative estimate the book would earn in one day enough dollars to pay for three and a half years' supply at the modest rate for which I was asking, but the Ministry officials were adamant.

"Dumfounded at this I then offered to hand back 60 gallons of the petrol alrealy allocated for my aircraft if only I could be allowed the 20 gallons needed for my car. Again there was a flat refusal, this time on the grounds that such compromises were quite irregular, and far too complicated to negotiate."

The dispute dragged on and on. In desperation Nevil Norway threatened to send copies of the correspondence with the Ministry officials to the press. This stirred officialdom to make a petty compromise offer of a dozen gallons.

In the bitter end, after Norway had intimated that he had decided to emigrate to a country where he could work free from petty persecution of this kind, the Ministry informed him that they would after all, grant the full 20 gallons. But Nevil Norway had made up his mind.

GBS: Self-Portrait

Mr. George Bernard Shaw, who is 94, has sent the following message to the newly-established United States chapter of the Shaw Society:

"The list of illustrious names on the foundation committee of the American Shaw Society is so staggering that I am at a loss how to comment on it or exult in it without a gross self-complacency foreign to my very diffident nature.

"Now that I am so old that to me the Bernard Shaw of 50 years ago is as dead as the infant of 94 years ago, I can contemplate any estimate of him quite disinterestedly except for some wonder at the things he could do, and I can no more do now than I can skate or sing or walk without a stick.

"And I cannot help asking why not (for instance) an Einstein Society or a society named after many other famous persons who are much cleverer than I ever was?

"The utmost I can claim for myself in my best days is that I was one of the 100 best playwrights in the world, which is hardly a supreme distinction.

"I was one of the inventors of Fabian Socialism, now established as the policy of the USSR. I helped to set the religion of Creative Evolution with its feet on the ground because I saw that no established religion in the world is wholly credible, and that without religion men are political timeservers and cowards.

"So why not a Stalin-Nehru Society and a Butler-Bergson Society, as these pioneers are, or were, better men of action than I? For, I repeat, I was not commonly clever enough to have a good opinion of myself until I decayed into the dodderer I now am.

"Then what can I say to the attachment of my name to associations of great artists and thinkers among whom I can claim no pre-eminence?

"I can only hope that in other hands Shavianism will be carried so far that future generations will say: 'We agree with your doctrine; but who the devil was Bernard Shaw'?"

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Moreover the Lord spake again unto Ahaz, saying, Ask thee a sign of the Lord thy God; ask it either in the depth, or in the height above. But Ahaz said, I will not ask, neither will I tempt the Lord : . . Therefore the Lord himself shall give you a sign; Behold, a virgin shall conceive, and bear a son, and shall call his name Immanuel. (Isa. 7:10-12,14.)

And in the sixth month the angel Gabriel was sent from God unto a city of Galilee, named Nazareth, to a virgin espoused to a man whose name was Joseph, of the house of David; and the virgin's name was Mary . . .

And the angel said unto her, Fear not, Mary; for thou hast found favour with God. And, behold, thou shalt conceive in thy womb, and bring forth a son, and shalt call his name JESUS.

He shall be great, and shall be called the Son of the Highest: and the Lord God shall give unto him the throne of his father David: and he shall reign over the house of Jacob for ever; and of his kingdom there shall be no end. (Luke 1:26,27,30-33.)

Gloria Swanson Amazed At Comeback

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 18 (AP) —"I am sick and tired of me."

I thought I had heard everything from the mouths of movie stars, but this was something new. The speaker was Gloria Swanson. She had just returned from touring the United States, and talking 14 hours a day, mostly about herself.

She had holed up in her mountaintop home and was virtually incommunicado. But she consented to see me particularly since I promised not to make her talk about Gloria Swanson. Not much, anyway.

"The living is wonderful here," she began. "That's the trouble; it's too good. This is not the right place for the movie industry.

Treason

"That may sound like treason, but I've always believed it. I think it was a shame when the entire movie industry moved to California. . .

"The trouble with Hollywood is that everybody eats, breathes and talks movies here. You can get no different viewpoints. The living is easy and people get lazy and their creative powers suffer because of it.

"If I were a producer, I would insist that the creative workers, particularly the writers, had to spend at least six months out of every two years away from Hollywood."

The glamorous grandma is still amazed by the renaissance of her career. I remarked that it closely parallelled that of Bill (Hopalong) Boyd, who was a silent star of the same vintage.

It's Wonderful

"Isn't it wonderful about Bill?" she said. "I went up to his house not long ago and we had a nice, long chat. We were both amazed."

What about the future for La Swanson? First of all, she'll take a rest at Malibu Lodge in British Columbia. Then she'll return to consider the many scripts she has been reading.

"What can I do after 'Sunset Blvd'—retire to a monastery and quit, as some have suggested? No, I've got to keep working. And the best thing I can see is to get as much of a change as possible. Who knows—I might do a musical western.

"I can see it now 'Hopalong Swanson Sings Again'."

TLC Asks Prices Stabilized Year Ahead Like Wages

OTTAWA, Aug. 18 (CP). — Long-range price stabilization is urged by the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada in a submission to the committee studying combines legislation for the Federal Government.

The congress, with 480,000 members, declares immediate reimposition of price controls is imperative and asks for the retention and improvement of rent controls.

Declaring wages now are largely under contract and known a year in advance, the congress says "there is no sound reason why prices could not be established for as long a period."

"Nothing would do more to stabilize our economy and to safeguard it," the submission adds.

It declares wages have not been able to keep up with rising prices since controls were relaxed, and there was little doubt upward price trends would cause another round of wage demands.

The brief also suggested that savings and investment be controlled as the basis for sound and effective price control. An excess profits tax would be a simple approach.

For the protection of consumers and small merchants, the congress said, it asked that rebates, discounts or allowances available to commercial purchasers be publicized.

Report Drug Flop

Pension Worries Over For Police

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 18 (CP). —Young policemen needn't worry about pension problems, Ontario's deputy minister of municipal affairs W. A. Orr, assured delegates Thursday at the Ontario Police convention here.

He noted that the public is more pension conscious than ever before and declared that improvements in pension plans are bound to come.

While recommending purchase of government annuities for superannuation purposes, he said there is a likelihood the present $100 a month maximum payment under the system soon will be increased.

Mr. Orr said fate of older officers in pension schemes depends on steps taken by individual municipalities. One plan requires the municipality to purchase annuities at the rate of $15 a month in pension for each year of the old-timer's service prior to inception of the pension scheme and his own contributions.

Gold Injections Aid Patients With Arthritis

NEW YORK, Aug. 21 — (AP) —Gold is a good medicine for rheumatoid arthritis, especially when it is used early, a new study shows.

The gold is given by injecting gold salts. It has been used in the United States for about 15 years against the pains and the swellings of this crippling form of arthritis.

Gold stopped the disease nearly 80 per cent of the time when used early, Drs. Russell L. Cecil and Chester Adams report in the Annals of Internal Medicine. Early means within six months after the disease started. Gold was not so helpful if the arthritis had been under way longer.

They gave gold treatments to 106 men and women and compared them with 83 others who did not get gold. Both groups had the conventional treatments for arthritis, including rest, good hygiene, aspirin, exercises and orthopaedic help if needed.

Study Figures

Of all those getting gold, 66 per cent had remissions or relief from the disease within a year. Of those starting gold within six months of getting arthritis, 78.7 per cent got remissions. Of those who had had arthritis six months to a year, 48.9 per cent got relief.

But of those not getting gold, only 24.1 per cent had remissions.

Patients getting gold treatments won relief from arthritis 10 months earlier, on the average, than those not getting gold.

The hormones cortisone and acth bring dramatic relief from rheumatoid arthritis. But these recoveries usually last only as long as the hormone is given. And the hormones still are scarce and expensive.

FED BY ALCOHOL—Explosions in four giant vats of distilled alcohol kindled this four-hour, $1,000,000 blaze which destroyed the processing plant and grain storage warehouse of Calvert Distillers, Limited, at Amherstburg, Ont. The first blast, felt for five miles, blew out the top-floor walls and roof and shattered windows in the town. No one was injured.

Expect No Change In Bean Crop Price

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 18 (CP)—No change in the minimum price for the 1950 white bean crop from 1949 is anticipated following a meeting here Thursday between the negotiating committee of the Kent Bean Growers' Marketing Board and dealers.

While marketing board officials would make no statement following the day-long sessions, it was learned unofficially that the minimum price for this year's crop will be $3.50 a bushel rising in January and again in March the same as a year ago.

Last year the minimum price was increased in January to $3.55 a bushel and in April to $3.60 in accordance with a board price support plan.

The rising price plan is designed to encourage farmers to hold their beans and not sell below the floor price in order to get rid of them.

East City Rubs Out UEW To Make Softball Finals

East City said it with extra-base blows at the Bowl last night to win the City Softball League semi-final series over UEW, beating them 8-6 in the deciding game of the best-of-seven series, the sawoffs going the limit. The victory put East City into the OASA senior 'B' playdowns and also into the city finals for the Taylor Trophy against Mutuals, this four-of-seven series opening at 7.15 p.m. next Tuesday.

Threatening rain kept down the crowd last night, but those on deck saw an exciting scrap with both sides battling hard to the final out. Home runs by Scriver, Sullivan and O'Heron, plus two-baggers by O'Heron and Cornwall, was the main difference. The pitching was pretty even, and the winners were loose afield with six miscues. Terry Woods pitched neat eight-hit ball to earn the win, with shaky support. Reg Gordon went along good for eight frames for UEW, giving away then for a pinch-hitter, with Chuck Birch finishing up. They had better backing.

Jake Wade clouted three for five to lead East City, and Jaquith had one in one as a late starter, O'Heron belting out two extra-base blows. Blair Thomson was the main hitter for the losers with three in five, including his homer and double, and Taylor came through with two in five. The winners had but two more hits, but they had more long ones. Spencer fielded well in left for the East City crew, and Mackness was his usual classy self in centre on flies and once with a perfect peg to to the plate to tag a runner.

Local Cricket Ace Stars For Ontario

By C. H. IRESON.

A. V. Pope of the local cricket club distinguished himself in the recent inter-provincial championships held in the West this year. In the deciding match between Ontario and British Columbia, he scored 30 runs not out in Ontario's innings of 121, and he followed this up by taking four wickets for 20 runs. The final score was Ontario 121, British Columbia 94. He was awarded a bat for good play and a silver cup for fine bowling throughout.

Mr. Pope was a member of the Derbyshire team in England during the 1930s, and he has shown great form here the last two seasons.

The P-W club plays Dentonia at the Oval on Saturday in the last match of the District Council schedule. If the locals win, they will be tied with Toronto B for first place in their section, calling for a playoff with Toronto B to decide which club would be promoted to the first division.

On August 26 they again meet Dentonia at the Oval in the first round of the contest for the Wood Memorial Trophy, open to Toronto and district clubs. Last year they defeated Dentonia in the preliminary round, but were beaten by Yorkshire in the final. The team is still in the running for the Ontario County championship and the R. C. Matthews Trophy. Peterborough-Whitaker Club won this in 1948, but in 1949 it was taken by Carleton County. The locals put out Carleton in the first round this year and now expect to play Halton County at Oakville in the semi-finals.

Quakers Triumph

Quakers squeezed out an 11-10 fastball victory over the Woollens in a fine fray at Brinton Field. Their four-run drive in the ninth did the trick after they had counted four in the first frame and one each in the fourth, sixth and eighth. Woollens led early with five runs in the third besides single markers in the first two, the fourth, fifth and sixth heats. The winners had 15 hits to 12 but had six errors as the losers kicked the ball but once. Nolan and Shine hit homers.

Woollens—Weichorek ss, E. Leonard cf, Nokes c, G. Leonard 1b, Schell 2b, Manbeck rf, McMillan 3b, Clarke lf, Doris p, Coughlin p.

Quakers—Connelly 1b, Lomax p, Isaac c, Prescott 2b, Nolan ss, Wesenburg cf, Land 3b, Cross lf, Shine rf, Montgomery lf.

Series Tied Up

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 18 — (ENS).—The best of five series between the Campbellford ballsters and the Havelock squad is all tied up at two games apiece, following a game in Havelock on Wednesday evening.

The next game will likely be played in Campbellford on Saturday to decide the series, and promises to be an interesting affair.

B.C. Swimmers Set Pace In Competition

MONTREAL, Aug. 18. (CP) — Irene Strong and Jerry McNamee, both Vancouver swimming stars, set the pace in Canadian open swimming competition concluded Thursday night.

The Canadian Olympic team athlete and her fellow-townsman copped several individual championships and helped their Vancouver Amateur Swimming Club to win two others.

A versatile swimmer, Miss Strong won for the second consecutive year three individual senior women's events — the 100-yard free style, the 200-yard breast stroke and the 150-yard backstroke.

She also helped her club mates retain their senior women's 440-yard free style relay crown.

Young McNamee captured two junior men's titles — the 100-yard free style and the 200-yard free style. He also featured in the 300-yard medley relay when his club beat out three other squads.

One Record Broken

Only one Canadian record was broken. A Camp Chikopi, Mich., foursome bettered the Canadian mark in the senior men's 440-yard free style relay with a time of 3:40.1. Former record was not available.

Montreal's Kenny Mather came within 1-10 of a second from a Dominion record to win the Busdven's 100-yard breast stroke in 1:05.1. Present Canadian record is 1:05. Doreen Howatt of Fergus, Ont., got two junior women's titles.

Bumpy Jones of Detroit finished first in the 440-yard free style and the 150-yard backstroke. Bob Eason of Stratford, placed fourth in the first event.

Miss Howatt copped the 200-yard and the 100-yard free-style events.

Other titlists were:

Senior men: Bill Ross, Los Angeles, 100-yard free style; Louis Childs, University of Michigan, mile event after taking best times in four preliminary heats.

Senior women: Vivian King, Toronto, 440 yards free style.

Junior men: Ronald Crane, Vancouver, 100 yards breast stroke. Fred Smith, Toronto, 200 yards breast stroke.

Handicapper Picks 8 Straight Winners

BEL MAR, Calif., Aug. 18—(AP)—Paul Lowry, handicapper for the Los Angeles Times and the Associated Press, has achieved the dream of all handicappers. He picked eight straight winners on the eight-race card at the Del Mar track Thursday.

Only once before since racing was legalized in 1933 has a handicapper swept the program. Lowry had, in order, Short Thorn at $3.70, Madame Fury at $6.60, Your Came at $3.80, Competino at $7.40, Cubette at $6.80, King Rhymer at $3.80, Hidden Moon at $4.20 and Montanes at $8.50.

A parley on these, discounting the odds change, would have netted $3,033.

Civic Softball

Foresters won and lost recent games in the Civic Softball League. They were edged out by Grant and Loucks 8-7 when the winners scored two in the first and three each in the fifth and sixth, Foresters counted four in the first, one in the fourth and two in the sixth.

The other game saw Foresters edge out Post Office 8-5 with a run each in the second and third, two in the fourth and four more in the fifth. Post Office got four in their second stanza and added one in the third. Teams:

Grant and Loucks: Chenier, Craig, Dracup, Thompson, Hancock, Holland, Birchenau, Smith, O'Reilly.

Post Office: Hay, Adam, Coombs, Loucks, O'Toole, Moore, Maher, Bryan, Phillips.

Foresters: Parnell, Collins, S. Tyndall, Reid, Wailing, Hobson, C. Tyndall, Ferguson, Doughty, Deward, Reynolds.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Big news of the week for sports fans is the completion of the floodlighting of Riverside Park. With lights for lacrosse, football and softball, and artificial ice for hockey, it remained only to get arcs for baseball to bring Peterborough up to date in the athletic world. This has been done, with a fine set of lights—an improvement on the setups at Belleville and Kingston—and a big crowd no doubt will see the first Viaduct Major League ball game at 8.30 Saturday night in the park by the river. The infield needs re-seeding and watering but all in all it's a dandy diamond layout. A credit to the community.

* * * * * *

New Toronto, presently in third place and crowding the second-place Petes plenty, play the men o'Murphy at three here tomorrow aft and 8.30 at night. Two most important frays with the schedule almost over. Both games rate huge crowds as these teams are playing smart senior "A" baseball. New Toronto is but a game and a half behind the Petes, but the teams play tonight in New Toronto. Sunday sees the locals meet Aces at Toronto, while there are four straight tilts here (postponed ones) next week ere playoffs start. It's Aces Monday, Oshawa next night, New Toronto on Wednesday and Dovers Thursday. Games are 8.15 Monday and Wednesday, but 8.45 Tuesday and Thursday to cooperate with men's softball playoffs.

Bolstering For Playoffs

The lacrosse Petes are off to Owen Sound tonight and have but one more home game ere playoffs, St. Kitts here next Friday. There was a last-minute rush around the senior OLA to sign up players. The Petes got Don Crowe's name on the dotted line and Don (if he has the old fire) could be a big help. A fine gutted-stick player in his prime, though he's been sticking to football the past few years in Toronto. Certainly, nobody will out-bump him! Cheevers, Teather and Urquhart have signed with St. Catharines as Hamilton got Welch, Gair and Isaacs out in uniform. Watts, Bryans and Taylor rejoined Brampton and Jerry Johnston will be with Owen Sound. It's going to be awfully tough from here on in.

* * * * * *

In girls' softball, Ashby's play Woollens at seven tonight, with Marines meeting CGE right after in round-robin city playoffs. Then, Westclox lasses tackle Kingston at the local Bowl tomorrow aft at three in the second of their PWSU intermediate "A" playdowns. Clockers won the first and could end it after lunch tomorrow, but if the third tilt is necessary it'll be at the Bowl at 6.15 p.m., in order not to interfere with the floodlight fray in Riverside. These girls' playdowns are right interesting and Westclox appear to have a real contending club and deserving of fan support.

East City Erases UEW

Their 8-6 win at the Bowl last night by East City men softballers erased UEW from the picture for this year. It put the victors into city finals 'gainst Mutuals and also into the OASA senior "B" playdowns, around the end of the month. City finals, best-of-seven, open at 7.15 next Tuesday and should be a keen serial. Last night, the East Citizens (and it's high time they picked up a set of uniforms, huh?) came through with a neat showing on the mound by Terry Woods and at bat, their extra-base blows swinging the balance. Certainly their fielding didn't! Scriver, Sullivan and O'Heron hit homers which proved mighty timely, and that was that, though the losers fought back right to the finish. Threat of rain kept the crowd down.

Soccer and cricket action on tap here this weekend for followers of those sports. Eastern Ontario soccer fixture has Brockville playing UEW at three Saturday afternoon in King Edward Park, a loop game, with Jack Adams the referee. First floodlight game ever staged in Peterborough will be Thursday night of sports centennial week, Cobourg playing UEW at Riverside. In cricket the Peterborough-Whitaker Club meets Dentonia Saturday in the Oval, an important Toronto and District Council match. The local club has been doing well this season. There's a piece in elsewhere on the fine showing made by A. V. Pope of this club while performing recently for Ontario in inter-provincial championships.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Batting—Gill Coan, Senators, beat Yankees 2-1 with two-run triple in eighth inning.

Pitching—Steve Gromek, Indians, held St. Louis to one hit in six relief innings as Cleveland took 5-4 game.

Bob Gray Sets The Pace In Golf Open

TORONTO, Aug. 18—(CP)—St. George's Golf Club is expected to be about two strokes tougher today because of a vicious rainstorm that dumped tons of water on the Toronto area Thursday.

Many top pros and amateurs found the par-72 course tough enough Thursday. Only 15 of 117 broke or equalled par in the first 18 holes of the Ontario open.

One of them was Bob Gray. The long-hitting pro at the suburban Scarboro course fired a blazing 69 to get a clear two-stroke lead over the field.

The 60-odd survivors will shoot the final 36 holes today for the $2,000 prize money.

Right behind Gray were Bob Fair, a 20-year-old Toronto amateur and former Ontario junior champion, Bob Dean, a 21-year-old Toronto pro, and Jerry Proulz, of Montreal, Bonnie Brook. All shot 71s.

Gray, twice winner of the Ontario open, birdied three holes and parred the rest.

Biggest Surprise

But the biggest surprise of the day was 16-year-old Gerry Magee, a Toronto amateur, who's been playing golf only three years. He shot a 75.

The heavy rain missed all three last threesomes. Bob Burns, pro at the Cherry Hill course at Ridgeway, Ont., was one of those caught and got a seven on the par-five 18th. But he still came through with a 74.

Windsor's Nick Weslock, the defending champion, shot 72. Also shooting were Herb Epstein, Toronto Oakdale; Gordon Brydson, Toronto Mississauga; Dick Borthwick, Hamilton; Bill Kerr, Montreal Beaconsfield; Pat Fletcher, Saskatoon; Bill Kozak, Youngstown, O.; Gordon Delaat, Weston; Gordon McInnis, Lookout Point; Bob Lamb, Toronto Summit; and Tom Henderson, Eastbourne.

Dick Mets, of Virginia Beach, Va., top-rated United States contender, shot a 73. With him were Norman Aldridge, Noranda, Que.; Stan Leonard, Vancouver; Bill Morland, North Bay, Ont.; Bob Cunningham, the home pro; Jules Huot, Montreal Laval; G. L. Cumming, Toronto; and K. R. Kirkpatrick, London.

One-Time Ball Star Has Summer Resort

MARMORA, Aug. 18 (ENS).—Baseball fans over a wide area will be interested in hearing that Hec Boudreau, catcher for Deloro baseball team for about 10 seasons including the year 1926 when they won the intermediate championship of Ontario, has been enjoying a successful season in making his debut as a resort operator. Hec, who is a native of Farnham, Que., retired this spring on pension from the Deloro Smelting and Refining Company after being in their employ for the past 27 years. When Deloro's ball team entered the COBL in 1927, the Peterborough team furnished interesting opposition. Swanston, now Mayor of Peterborough, was the catcher for this city's team, and these two rugged catchers as their teams opposed each other, often stole the spotlight from the pitchers of the game. Hec is hoping to see some of the old boys call for a few minutes as they chance to use No. 7 Highway down his way.

Trenton Clips Cobourg In First Of Playoffs

TRENTON, Aug. 18.—Trenton Chevrolets captured the first game of their OASA Intermediate "B" playoffs here Wednesday night by edging Cobourg Orphans 13-10.

The homesters drove Platt from the mound in the second frame with an eight-run outburst with D. Ball coming in to hold them in check until the eighth, when they pushed across three tallies. Harry Farr went the route for the winners and gave up eight safeties and walked four batters while striking out six.

Farr banged out a double and three singles, while Barney McCell and Joe Scott each had two safeties.

Hamilton Teams In Semi-Finals

TORONTO, Aug. 18 (CP). — Three Hamilton teams reached the semi-finals Thursday in one of two top events of doubles competition in the Ontario Provincial Lawn Bowling tournament.

The competition, North America's largest, started Monday with 512 bowlers from Ontario, Quebec and the United States.

Going into the stretch for the Townsend-Clark trophy, main doubles event, three Hamilton entries and one from Toronto Rusholme still were in the running.

In the second of the four doubles events, the Parker Pen trophy, pairs from Brooklyn, N. Y., Cleveland, O., and Beamsville, Ont., vied with an entry from Toronto Withrow Club.

Meanwhile, play reached the third round in the Birks-Ellis-Ryrie and Rennie trophies hunt.

Finals in the doubles will be played this afternoon.

Red Wings Club Syracuse For 14-3 Win

By The Associated Press

St. Louis Cardinals have a fine-looking pitching prospect in 23-year-old Ken Wild, now toiling for Rochester in the International League.

The young righthander, a home town product signed by the Cards following his graduation from St. Louis University, is the ranking pitcher in the loop.

Beaten only once in 11 decisions Wild racked up his 10th triumph Thursday night as his league-leading Red Wing mates clubbed three Syracuse hurlers for an easy 14-3 victory. He gave up only seven hits.

Outfielder Russ Derry, former Yankee and Cardinal player, clouted his 27th homer and a single to bat in five runs. His homer came with the bases loaded his third this season.

In Second Place

Montreal Royals moved into second place by whipping Jersey City 8-3. Joe Landrum spaced eight hits for his third in a row since he was sent down by Brooklyn. Don Thompson paced the Royals' 16-hit attack with five hits in as many times.

Bill Voiselle pitched Springfield Cubs to a 7-3 triumph over Buffalo Bisons.

Bobby Rhawn's 10th inning single drove in the two runs that gave Toronto an 8-6 victory over Baltimore. Paul Stuffel was credited with the victory.

AS GRECO FELL — Johnny Greco falls head-long to the ballpark canvas after being nailed by a sizzling left hook from the flying fists of Kid Gavilan in the sixth round of their scheduled 10-round bout in Montreal. He crashed and couldn't get up. It was a knockout. Almost a year ago, in the same ring, he suffered the same defeat as he fell before the challenger to Jake Lamotta's middleweight crown. Laurent Dauthuille. Greco will most likely retire from the ring as the result of the recent Gavilan beating.

Changes In Hunting Regulations But Hunters Get Some Break

OTTAWA, Aug. 18—(CP)—One hunter, one gun, is a new regulation in the voluminous set of rules laid down for those who go after game birds this fall.

There are other changes in the order-in-council issued today by the Resources Department covering the killing of migratory birds, but the average hunter will find his season and daily bag limits about the same as last year.

The orders are so complex that no generalization of them is possible, for they vary in each province, and in each meticulously-laid-out section of each province.

The wise hunter will have to check his own district regulations before being safe from the game warden.

Generally, the supply of game fowl seems to be up to last year's level at least, and the Resources Department, fixing regulations after careful consultation with the provinces and the U.S. authorities, has few new rules.

For example, the daily bag of Woodcock to be taken in Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick is cut from eight to four, and from 100 to 50 for the season.

New Regulations

There are new regulations covering the killing of loons in Quebec, great black-backed gulls in Saguenay county and Newfoundland, American and red-breasted mergansers in Newfoundland, the Maritime provinces, Ontario and British Columbia. These birds, a menace to fish conservation, will be killed only under permit. Heretofore they have been subject to a fairly open season.

The new regulations are effective Sept. 1, 1950. Seasonal dates are only slightly changed, largely to offset the fact that Oct. 1 falls on a Sunday.

But there are many regulations in the 38-page order-in-council.

Details went out today to all provincial wild-life officials and to Fish and Game Associations so that each hunter may become familiar with the regulations.

Allow Hunting

In Ontario, at the request of organized sportsmen and with concurrence of the provincial government, the prohibition on use of boats for hunting waterfowl in Rondeau Bay has been cancelled. Hunting there will be on the same basis as in other public hunting grounds in Ontario.

Another change affects Alberta. Last year's regulations prohibited shooting geese in the vicinity of certain waters and this list has been increased to include prohibition against the shooting of geese within 100 yards of the Smoky and Little Smoky Rivers, and the shooting of migratory game birds within a half mile of Sullivan, Beaverhill and Buffalo Lakes.

Reduction of the woodcock bag in the Maritime provinces arises from the fact that a late snowstorm last april caused heavy losses to the flock arriving on their spring migration. The bag cut is expected to help restoration of the species to normal numbers.

Aids Conservation

The rule against multi-gun carriers is humanitarian and in the interests of conservation. Officials said the habit of carrying two or more loaded guns enabled hunters to fire a large number of shells in quick succession with the result that many birds were hit when nearly out of range, beyond possibility of retrieving. It caused unnecessary waste and suffering.

The one gun carried may not be loaded with more than three cartridges—no more than two in the magazine with one in the barrel.

NEXT—Having defended his National Boxing Association heavyweight championship by stopping Freddie Beshore, all Ezzard Charles has to do between workouts is sit back and wait for the big one with Joe Louis. That is scheduled for Yankee Stadium, Sept. 27.

Dodgers Cool Off Giants In Doubleheader

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Boston and Brooklyn, the preseason pennant favorites, are down but not out today—6½ games back with about six weeks to go.

A Red Sox-Dodger world series is a slim possibility, but still possible.

Surging at Fenway Park, fourth-place Boston has a five-game winning streak going in the American League. All were scored at the expense of the tattered Philadelphia A's, 10-6 victims Thursday night.

Brooklyn, cooling off New York Giants Thursday in both ends of a doubleheader, 8-6 and 5-1, regained second place in the National League from Boston. But those Phillies, idle Thursday, are showing no signs of slackening their pace, threaten to romp home. The Phils open a series in New York tonight while Brooklyn entertains Boston.

Gets 12th Victory

Home runs by Gene Hermanski, Gil Hodges and Billy Cox helped Don Newcombe struggle to his 12th victory in the opener. Still the Dodgers needed a fine relief job by preacher Roe to hold their lead against a Giant rally in the eighth inning.

The crowd of 47,148, lured by the Giants' spurt toward the first division, watched Erv Palica tame the home club with four hits in the second game. Carl Furillo ruined New York with his 14th homer, a single and fly ball to drive in three runs. Pee Wee Reese and Sam Calderone each hit inside-the-park homers. Calderone's smash ruined Palica's shutout in the fifth.

Cincinnati shaded Chicago 2-1 in the only other National League game. Kenny Raffensberger scattered six Cub hits and Connie Ryan drove in both Cincy scores with a homer and single off Bob Rush.

Rain washed out the Pittsburgh-St. Louis night game.

Philadelphia and Boston were not scheduled. Detroit clung to its three-game lead over runner-up Cleveland in the American chase. New York lost to Washington.

Detroit mauled Randy Gumpert for a 6-1 lead in the first three innings to cast home. The final score was 8-3.

Cleveland had to go 12 innings to whip the stubborn St. Louis Browns, 5-4. Early Wynn's pinch single following Ray Boone's triple did the trick. Reliefer Steve Gromex was the winner over Clif Fannin.

Pull Triple Play

St. Louis pulled a triple play in the second on Dale Mitchell's liner to Owen Friend with the bases full. It was the second in the 19-year history of the Cleveland Stadium, both within a week.

New York Yankees, only first division club to tumble, bowed to the Senators 2-1. After pitching no-hit ball for 6½ innings, Allie Reynolds finally bowed to Sid Hudson. In addition, the Yanks lost the services of outfielder Hank Bauer, hit on the head by a throw from catcher Al Evans, trying to pick him off third.

Boston ruined the debut of rookie Joe Murray, a southpaw just moved up from West Palm Beach of the Florida-International League.

Murray gave up six hits, struck out one, walked four and heaved a run-scoring wild pitch before he gave way to Carl Scheib in the third.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Everything is set for the heavyweight title bout between Ezzard Charles and Joe Louis at Yankee Stadium Sept. 27.

James D. Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, announced in New York that Louis, the challenger, will receive 35 per cent of the net receipts, while Charles, the champion, will get only 20 per cent.

Louis, who has been in preliminary training at West Baden, Ind., will move to Pompton Lakes, N. J., at the end of this month for the serious phase of his workouts.

Donald Campbell, who hopes to regain the world water-speed record for Britain, had a close call during a trial run Thursday.

Campbell said the cooling system of his boat broke down as he was entering the measured mile at well over 140 miles an hour. The 2,400 horsepower engine would have seized up, probably causing a crash, if his 50-year-old chief mechanic, Leo Villa, hadn't noticed it and brought it to his attention in time. As it was, the engine was ruined.

Good Time, from the stable of William H. Cane of Goshen, N. Y. set a world record for pacers over the mile and one-half track on Thursday night in winning the $25,000 Yonkers Derby.

The time of 3:08 flat bettered the mark of 3:09 set by Jimmy Creed at Roosevelt Raceway, Westbury, N. Y., in 1944.

Johnny Mitchell, 48, business manager of Pittsburgh Hornets, signed a two-year contract Thursday as coach and general manager of St. Louis Flyers of the American Hockey League. He will succeed Ebbie Goodfellow, who resigned to take a job as a coach with Chicago Black Hawks.

The world speed skating championships for men will be held at Davos, Switzerland, Feb. 10-11, the International Skating Union announced Thursday.

World figure skating championships for men, women and couples will be held at Milan Feb. 23-25, while European speed skating championships are scheduled for Oslo Jan. 27-28 and the European figure skating in Zurich Feb. 2-4.

Bermuda's touring cricket team ran into stiff competition Thursday before downing St. Catharines All-Stars 144-122.

The visitors started poorly and lost two wickets for only five runs. A strong stand by W. Simmins with 21 and captain Hunt with 20 sent them into a good lead. Crowley, with 38, led the St. Catharines batsmen.

The amazing progress of 44-year-old Harry Hopman of Australia, and Chicago veteran Seymour Greenberg who joined forces only four days ago, in the United States doubles tennis tournament continued in high-gear Thursday at Brookline, Mass., when they gained the semi-final round.

Those oldsters, who hit their peaks more than a decade ago, battled almost three hours under a blistering sun to subdue Mervyn Rose, 20, and George Worthington 21, of Australia, in a highly exciting quarter-finals engagements by 7-9, 15-13, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4 margine.

Joey Maxim of Cleveland world's light-heavyweight champion, will referee an amateur fight card in Hamilton Wednesday. The main bout will mate Gordon Wallace of Brantford Canadian amateur middle weight champion, with Rufus King of Windsor.

Charles Underdog In Fight Bet

NEW YORK, Aug. 18—(AP)—Ezzard Charles, the N.B.A.-recognized heavyweight king, will be the underdog Sept. 27 when he meets Joe Louis at Yankee Stadium. First odds offered were 3 to 1 that the Brown Bomber, now 36, would recapture the title he surrendered 18 months ago.

Charles, 29, never has made a hit with the public. He was too cautious the night he beat Jersey Joe Walcott to win recognition. He was dull and unimpressive Tuesday night at Buffalo when he stopped Freddie Beshore of Harrisburg, Pa., in the 14th.

Nobody knows if Louis still can fight. Walcott almost beat him in their first meeting. Many still think Jersey Joe won. But the Bomber knocked him out the second time around. He hasn't had a real fight since that second Walcott bout June 25, 1948.

Eddie Eagon, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, said the winner would be recognized as world champ in New York. Charles, champion in 47 states, never has been crowned in New York.

Severe Storm Hits Toronto Man Killed

Three Inches Rain, Half-Inch Hailstones Batter City Streets

TORONTO, Aug. 18—(CP)—One man was killed by lightning Thursday as torrential rain and hail raked the Toronto-Oshawa area in one of the worst storms in years.

Ernest McLean, 39, was struck by lightning as he looked for a lost ball at the west-end Lambton Golf Club. He was a nephew of J. S. McLean, president of Canada Packers Ltd.

Main force of the storm's fury appeared concentrated on Toronto, where stalled cars, flooded streets and damaged houses bore evidence of its severity. Many areas of the city were without light at the height of the storm.

Officials of the Dominion Weather Office reported from 1½ to three inches of rain fell in one hour and 20 minutes. Hailstones a half-inch in diameter fell for about 10 minutes.

Hamilton's streets, unswept since some 1,000 civic employees struck a week ago, were flushed clean by rain and hail. No damage was reported in the city itself.

Called Off Jobs

More than 2,000 night shift workers were called off their jobs at the General Motors automobile plant in Oshawa when rain swept into pits housing conveyor motors. Lights were out for abut 20 minutes at the General Hospital as surgeons were completing an operation.

The storm resulted from a cold mass of air moving down from the north, the weather office said. Temperatures, hot during the day, fell sharply as the rain struck.

Fire department officials in Toronto said the flooding was the worst they had seen. Most of the department's equipment was put to work pumping flooded cellars and fighting fires started by lightning.

Six Feet Deep

Water was past the six-foot mark in some subways, and street car and motor traffic was halted.

The city's sewage disposal plant failed at one point, and all repair crews were called from other jobs to repair the damage. Service was resumed within an hour.

Many small yachts were caught on Lake Ontario in the storm and had to be towed to shore by police launches. Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens was struck by lightning, but damage was slight.

Navy Engineer Arrested In Spy Inquiry

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP).—The United States justice department today announced the arrest of a former United States navy civilian engineer on charges of giving national defence secrets to Russia.

It said Federal Bureau of Investigation agents took Morton Sobell, 33, New York electrical engineer, into custody at Laredo, Tex., this morning.

He is the eighth person arrested in a roundup of Americans accused of channelling atom bomb data and other secret information to a Soviet spy ring.

FBI director J. Edgar Hoover said Sobell fled from the United States in June to avoid arrest.

Held At Laredo

He was arrested Laredo when deported from Mexico back to the U.S.

Sobell was employed on restricted work for the U.S. Navy at the General Electric plant at Schenectady, N. Y., from 1942 to 1947.

He is accused of having collaborated with the other Americans previously arrested in obtaining defence secrets during that period.

Since he is charged with espionage conspiracy in wartime, Sobell, like the others similarly accused—faces a possible death penalty.

The FBI said Sobell fled the United States by plane and went to Mexico City a few days after the arrest of David Greenglass of New York June 16.

Omemee Girl Convicted With Baptists In Quebec

VAL D'OR, QUE., Aug. 18—(CP)—Four Baptists, charged with a breach of municipal traffic laws, were convicted Thursday in recorder's court in this northwestern Quebec mining town. Sentence may be imposed today. The four, who pleaded not guilty, are: the Rev. Murray Heron, pastor of Noranda Baptist Church; Ernie McWilliams, Eileen Veals and Howard Killock, all of Noranda. Miss Veals is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Beals, RR 3, Omemee.

Police testimony was that all four, following arrest, had been taken to the police station, shown a by-law prohibiting street gatherings, had it explained to them and then were released. Police said they continued to hold street meetings and then were taken into custody.

Meanwhile, as Mayor Oza Tetreault returned from hospital care in Montreal, a number of "Judgment of God" telegrams were received at his home. Friends of the mayor said the telegrams threatened both the mayor and the city with the fate of Biblical cities.

No Prejudice

In connection with the situation, Mayor Tetreault issued the following statement:

"Val d'Or is a town of 8,000 people with some 20 nationalities represented. The entire population here lives in harmony and there is no question of prejudice on account of race or religion.

"As civilized people, we have traffic regulations. Local and imported evangelizers have broken our traffic by-law and defied police under pretence of evangelizing persons who have every right to regard themselves as Christians.

"We have asked the Baptists to abide by the law and hold meetings in their own church, the same as other denominations do."

U.S. Tells France To Do Her Share

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP)—Western Europe must work harder for its own military salvation before the United States agrees to send more troops to bolster spirits and security across the Atlantic.

That is the response of the U.S. defence department to insistent French pressure for an American promise to supply a supreme commander and at least five additional divisions for Western Europe defence.

This reply has been given informally, top military officials here said, because France so far has relied upon the press and unofficial conversations to press her request for specific U.S. military commitments.

"We will talk about naming an American commander in chief for Western Europe when he has a force to command," one high American officer commented.

He recalled that military leaders of the Atlantic Pact countries are generally agreed about how many divisions, combat ships and planes would be needed to stop a Russian onslaught. Offers of ground forces for the common defence have been made, but this official said the total so far falls short of over-all requirements.

St. Laurent Hints New Development

If Talks Progress Will Appoint Man Quickly PM Declares

OTTAWA, Aug. 18—(CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said today a government mediator will be appointed quickly in the railway wage dispute if it appears from today's company-union talks that he will be helpful.

Mr. St. Laurent disclosed this to newspapermen following a morning session of the Cabinet in which the rail wage-hour deadlock was discussed.

The Prime Minister said another session of the Cabinet will be held in the afternoon.

"Things are going to be done very quickly," Mr. St. Laurent said, observing that "not much time" was left before the Tuesday morning deadline set for a general rail strike of 124,000 employees.

Expects Developments

He indicated that the immediate appointment of a mediator would hinge on the attitude towards this move developing in company-union discussions at Montreal today.

The Prime Minister said there might be some developments, both at Montreal and in the capital, "towards the end of this afternoon."

He noted that, in turning down Thursday the government's request for a 30-day strike postponement in return for the appointment of a mediator, the two Canadian unions engaged in the dispute had indicated they felt a mediator would be welcome if appointed immediately.

Noting that the international unions were meeting with the management in Montreal today, the Prime Minister said that "if it appears from what is going on today that it would be helpful, it will be done.'

Resume Talks

While in session, the Cabinet had been advised that the company-union talks were to resume at Montreal at 3 p.m. EDT, Mr. St. Laurent said. The ministers, who broke up at 1 p.m. after 2½ hours' discussion, were summoned back for 3 p.m.

Mr. St. Laurent said the appointment of a mediator would be undertaken by Labor Minister Gregg under the Industrial Relations and Disputes Investigation Act.

He declined to say whether a man already had been selected for the job, or even whether prospective candidates had been sounded out to see if they would accept the task.

But he added:

"It may be that there would be great utility in a mediator being appointed by the Minister of

Frost Damages Crops

KIRKLAND LAKE, Aug. 18 — (CP) — Heavy frost throughout Northern Ontario's Timiskaming district Thursday night may have caused serious damage to root crops. M. F. Cook, Ontario agriculture department representative, said most "tender crops" were hit. In other areas, farmers reported frost damage to cucumbers, pumpkins, squash, beans, tomatoes and peppers. Hardier crops such as beets, peas, turnips, spinach, cabbage and onions withstood the frost better.

500,000 Panic In Taegu's Mass Exodus

By HAL BOYLE

TAEGU, Korea, Aug. 18 (AP)—Fear that has shadowed 500,000 hearts here exploded in panic today as a mass exodus began from this besieged city.

For several hours chaos ruled the streets of this refugee-swollen provisional capital of South Korea. The civilian populace was swept by hysteria. The scene on the ground was utter confusion. From the air the exits leading south looked like clogged lanes of frightened white ants.

The story of this flight of an entire city can best be told by telling what happened to one household.

This family lives beneath the window of a mission school where foreign war correspondents have been billeted more than one month. Its home was in a jammed corridor.

Two weeks ago the young father of the family beneath our window dug a deep pit in his backyard and buried all the household's precious belongings in it. Thousands of other fathers must have been doing the same thing; they had no better place to put their simple treasure than in a hole in the ground.

"Saving Face"

The young mother each twilight lit a fire and cooked rice and vegetables for her children and the grandparents and the uncles and the cousins that swarm in most Korean homes. Each morning they took turns scrubbing each other with water hauled up by buckets from the backyard well.

Thursday night truckloads of grinning South Korean recruits rushed toward the front happily singing what Americans call "No Lose Face" song. It is a kind of singsong chant that tells how the recruits are going to drive back the invaders and free Korea.

Before dawn several enemy shells cracked into the city, killing at least four persons and hitting a locomotive tender in a railyard.

In mid-morning the provincial government ordered all non-essential civilians to leave. It was not only to clear for defence, it was a safety measure to avoid a last-minute rush such as took place during the fall of Seoul, the abandoned Republican capital.

The family below our window packed on their backs the few remaining belongings, straggled out of the walled front and disappeared in a line of refugees.

UN Troops Roll Back Reds Stave Off Attack On Taegu, Retake Pohang

Marines Chase Terror-Stricken Enemy Across Naktong In Droves Gain Three Miles in Changnyong Sector

TOKYO, Aug. 18—(CP)—Allied forces today staved off a North Korean drive on Taegu, struck hard at a Communist bridgehead farther south and recaptured the east coast port of Pohang. American and South Korean troops trying to neutralize a Communist threat from north of Taegu were reported by Reuters News Agency to have shoved back the Communists 2½ miles. But Taegu's civilian population was being evacuated and the South Korean government moved on to a new provisional capital.

Objective of the Allied counter-attack was an important road junction 17 miles north of Taegu. Air strikes and artillery paved the way for tanks and infantry.

Twenty-three miles southwest of Changnyong U.S. Marines and infantry made such progress against the North Korean 4th division in a bridgehead west of the Naktong river that a high U.S. officer declared that the Reds had taken "a hell of a licking."

Recapture of Pohang on the east coast strengthened the northern sector of the allied defence box and took the pressure off Pohang airfield, from which aircraft had been withdrawn.

The allied counter-attack north of Taegu took them into rough hill country on either side of the Kunwi-Taegu highway, down which four Communist divisions opened as assault on the city yesterday.

The emergency South Korean capital itself was being emptied of civilians in a mass evacuation ordered to clear the city for use solely as a military base.

The South Korean government went to a new, unspecified refugee capital.

The most threatening Red approach was in steep hills 12 miles north of Taegu.

Believe Toll On Cruise Ship Will Reach Seven

TADOUSSAC, Que., Aug. 18—(CP)—The possibility that the death toll in the destruction of the river cruise ship Quebec by fire last Monday would go to seven was indicated today when police said two more persons are known to be missing.

Quebec Provincial police said their information is that Gertrude and Eva Taub of Tarrytown, N.Y., have not been accounted for.

Five bodies have been recovered from the burned-out cruise vessel which was towed out of here early today for Lauzon, opposite Quebec city, where a thorough search of tons of debris in her blackened hull will be conducted by Provincial police.

Frank Findlay, Quebec manager for C.S.L., said he reported the names of the Taubs to Quebec Provincial Police during the night.

Findlay said the two lastest probable victims of the fire "may be the last but this cannot be said yet with any certainty."

Say Army Recruiting Passes 6,000 Mark

OTTAWA, Aug. 18 (CP).—The recruited manpower for Canada's special force was near the 6,000 mark today and still going strong.

The government is expected to announce shortly that about 500 to 600 technicians and specialists will be posted to the force from the regular army. They will go with it to Korea or elsewhere.

If they had to be recruited in the streets and trained, it might delay dispatch of the force for months.

Feature of today's recruiting figures was again the race between Toronto and Montreal with the Ontario capital slipping ahead with a total of 1,198 enlistments compared to Montreal's 1,178.

All told by 5 p.m. Thursday night there were 5,218 men in the force and another 683 were in the process of going through the formalities.

Waiting Birth Of Last 2 Quads

BELLINGEN, Australia, Aug. 18—(CP)—A chain-smoking expectant father, four doctors and a good part of the Australian public are nervously awaiting the birth of the last two members of the Sara quadruplets.

The first arrival—a girl—was born at Bellingen hospital Thursday night. The second—a boy—made his appearance tonight, more than 25 hours after his sister was born.

The remaining two, doctors said, should be born "in the near future".

The mother, Mrs. Betty Sara, a British war bride, is said to be in good health.

Bellingen is a small town 375 miles north of Sydney.

Canadian Ship In Action Again

TOKYO, Aug. 18 (Reuters).—A Far East naval release said today the British naval air arm is "assisting with the difficult task of maintaining the west coast blockade."

"A Canadian destroyer Thursday bombarded a troublesome battery in the Kunsan area without drawing any fire in reply," the release added. (Three Canadian destroyers — the Cayuga, Athabaskan and Sioux—are in action with United Nations naval forces off Korea).

"Elsewhere on the west coast, patrolling units report that as a result of the recent crippling carrier-plane strikes on rolling stock, horses and men instead of locomotives are being used as prime movers on the west coast railroad."

Sails 5 Hours Late

LE HAVRE, Aug. 18—(Reuters)—France's new North Atlantic passenger flagship, the 50,000-ton Liberte, sailed Thursday night—five hours late for her maiden voyage to New York. A threatened strike of the ship's officers was averted through the personal mediation of the French Merchant Marine Minister, Gaston Deferre, a passenger. The officers were seeking higher wages and an improved seniority set up.

Agricultural Parley

TORONTO, Aug. 18 — (CP) — Agriculture ministers and their deputies from all Canadian provinces will gather here Monday for the first interprovincial conference on agricultural problems since 1933. Representatives will discuss marketing, farm education and extension of water conservation.

N.Z. Upper House Voted Out Of Existence

WELLINGTON, Aug. 18 (CP).—New Zealand's Upper House of Parliament, the Legislative Council, voted itself out of existence today.

After two weeks of hectic debate, it passed, 26 to 16, the Conservative government's bill providing for its abolition Jan. 1, 1951. The legislative council was set up 96 years ago.

Described by Prime Minister Holland as "useless" the council is appointed by the Governor-General.

The bill to abolish it was carried through the lower house by a comfortable majority.

Older members of the legislative council, irrespective of party affiliations, opposed it, stressing the dangers of a single-house system of government. But Holland appointed a "suicide squad" to carry the bill through.

Making Deal For U.S. Fighters

OTTAWA, Aug. 18 (CP)—Canada is negotiating with the United States for purchase of dozens of propeller-driven Mustang fighter planes to bridge the gap in her air defences between now and when her jet planes come into large-scale production next year.

The RCAF has plans made and the pilots ready for the swift formation of a third regular fighting squadron once the planes become available. It will be based in Eastern Canada.

There are no plans at present for sending it to Korea where Australian and American Mustang pilots have done some of the best air work of the war.

Both other regular fighter squadrons are equipped with Vampire jets, to be replaced next year by F86 and CF100 jets built in Canada.

The United States offered Canada the Mustangs weeks ago—before Korea—for a financial bargain. Since Korea the government has decided they would be a good buy and negotiations were opened some time ago. The planes are part of a large group the Americans have been taking out of mothballs.

Missing Pair In U.S. Police Convinced

TORONTO, Aug. 18 (CP) — Police said today they are convinced that a missing Toronto schoolteacher and his attractive former night-school pupils are in the United States and that it will be "only a matter of time" before they are located.

Alfred P. Greene, 38-year-old father of four young children, has been missing since his abandoned automobile was found in a Toronto ravine Aug. 9. Mrs Beatrice Reason, 31, thrice-divorced Australian-born wife of a Toronto bricklayer, disappeared about the same time.

Police believe the couple are trying to make their way to Australia, where both sent money shortly before their disappearance. Airlines and steamship companies have been asked to watch for prospective passengers answering the description of the missing pair.

"We believe they are in the United States," a senior police official said today. "It will be only a matter of time before we locate them."

Accept Turkish Offer Of 4,500 Men For UN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP).—The United States today accepted Turkey's offer to send a combat force of 4,500 men to Korea.

The State Department in announcing the acceptance said the United States is "deeply gratified" at Turkey's offer.

The Turkish offer is the third to be formally accepted by the United States. Thailand's offer to send 4,000 officers and men was formally accepted earlier this week as was a Philippine offer to send a regimental combat team of about 5,000 men.

Farm Federation Charges Consumers Being Exploited

OTTAWA, Aug. 18 (CP). — The Canadian Federation of Agriculture today charged that consumers are being "exploited" under a semi-monopoly device allegedly employed by retailers and manufacturers.

This device, said the CFA, in a brief presented to a special committee studying combines legislation with a view towards improvement, involves the practice of "resale price maintenance."

Although the Combines Investigation Act makes this practice illegal when employed by two or more persons together. It does not deal with cases where fixed resale prices are being maintained by individual persons or corporations, the CFA said.

"Practically all standard brand articles," said the CFA, "are sold under a policy of resale price maintenance.

"Consumers do not have the opportunity to seek out the most efficient distributors or get the advantage of such efficiency. To this extent consumers are exploited and the economy can no longer be called a free enterprise, or competitive system."

The CFA also recommended:

1. That the Criminal Code be amended to declare that conditional sales, such as may exist in the flour and feed industries, be declared illegal.

2. That no amendments be considered which would limit the powers of the combines commissioner to initiate investigations, restrict publication of his reports or give legal sanction to certain types of agreements to restrict or eliminate price competition.

A CFA spokesman said "conditional sales" have been found to exist in the flour and feed industries, where a buyer wanting to buy feed was forced also to buy flour in order to get the feed.

RHA Needs Horsemen Send SOS To Jockeys

LONDON, Aug. 18—(Reuters)—The Royal Horse Artillery wants horsemen.

The King's troop of the R.H.A., which fired the salute Tuesday in honor of Princess Elizabeth's new daughter, appealed today for recruits who can handle horses.

The troop commander, Maj. F. W. C. Weldon, said he had written to trainers at racing stables "and other similar establishments" telling of the need for horsemen.

He said he had promised trainers that if any jockeys offered themselves, he would see they kept their weight down while they were in uniform.

Sees World Upside Down Does Things Just As Well

NEW YORK, Aug. 18 (AP)—For 30 days, Fred Snyder has been looking at the world upside down and backward.

Tonight Fred will take off his special, binocular-like glasses. The floor will shoot up to the ceiling. The ceiling will come down to the floor. Once again Fred will see the world as other people see it. And—

"I'm not sure I'll recognize it," Fred said with an uncertain laugh. "I've got pretty used to leading this upside-down existence. Things look right to me when they're upside down and backward to everybody else."

Fred is a friendly, 25-year-old graduate student at the University of Wichita, he undertook the upside-down experiment as part of his work in psychology. His teacher, Dr. N. H. Pronko, who came along to New York, thinks it's a pretty valuable piece of work.

"We're not trying to prove anything," Pronko said. "We're trying to learn something about how people see. Apparently it's something we have to learn. In some ways Fred already has learned to see as well as, or better than, he did with 'normal' vision."

But it wasn't easy.

First Fred put on his strange, projecting glasses. A light metal headgear supports them and sponge rubber prevents a chafing.

He couldn't do anything right at first. The food on his dinner plate seemed to be suspended in air, ready to fall in his lap—except that his lap was up where his shoulders should have been. He fell over things. They were on his right when he "saw" them on his left.

"But I learned," Fred said. "I can sort playing cards and get through other laboratory tests just about as fast as I ever could, sometimes faster."

Emily Farmer Loses Barn, Crops In Fire

OMEMEE, Aug. 18—(ENS) — Clifford Padgett, 13th line of Emily, lost all his fall wheat and this year's hay crop, 60 bushels of last year's wheat, a quantity of last year's oats, 10 pigs, several hens, his dog and farm implements when his barn burned Thursday night. The fire, caused by a bolt of lightning, was still burning at 10 a.m. today.

Mr. Padgett was in the barn milking his cows at 8 p.m. Thursday, when he heard a terrific crash. He rushed out to see if the house was all right and, on returning to the barn, discovered it was ablaze. He released his eight cows and one calf, which were inside, but did not have time to free 10 pigs and several hens. Six other calves were already out in a field.

Mr. Padgett's dog helped clear the barn, but he returned once too often and was trapped. He was burned to death. Mrs. Emma Padgett, the farmer's mother, also hurried to help.

This year's crop of fall wheat which was destroyed in the fire, consisted of 10 loads and there were 27 loads of this year's hay.

Implements Lost

A wagon, seeder, harnesses and other farm implements were also lost.

The barn, a wooden "L" shaped building, stood about 200 yards away from the house. The wind blew the flames in the opposite direction and the house was not threatened.

ed Cap Saumon, 82 miles from Quebec, at 7.50 a.m. EDT. The distance from Tadoussac to Quebec is 130 miles.

In Lauzon shipyards, on the south side of Quebec harbor, a methodical search of the wreckage, with equipment and staff not available at Tadoussac, will be undertaken.

Pressed for definite figures, Mr. Findlay said that a complete passenger list was not available and that the cabin plan—listing only passengers with cabins, not those without cabins—was destroyed in the fire.

His 450 figure was a round figure, not a precise one, and he could not say exactly how many passengers had been accounted for directly or indirectly. Most of the passengers were United States citizens, he said.

The manager's statement followed discovery of a fifth body aboard the destroyed vessel. A fourth was found Wednesday night.

Labor to assist in the negotiations."

Still Hopeful

As for the negotiations themselves, he said the government is "still hopeful that they are being resumed with a genuine desire to reach a solution."

The meeting marked the third day this week in which the Cabinet sat on the rail issue. It had met Tuesday and Wednesday, holding morning and afternoon sittings Wednesday.

Originally, the government offered to appoint a mediator if the unions would postpone their strike action for a month. But unions involved rejected the 30-day postponement, saying they would welcome a mediator at once.

The Canadian unions, representing 24,000 employees, said they would welcome a mediator before the Aug. 22 deadline. The 15 international unions, spokesman for whom was Frank Hall, contented themselves with turning down the government offer of a strike postponement. They made no mention of a mediator.

Make Radio Addresses

Spokesmen for both sides made radio addresses Thursday night as the battle reached its climax. Frank Hall, who is chairman of the negotiating committee of the 15 international unions, made an address, immediately followed by one from W. A. Mather, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Mr. Hall said that since the unions' demands were made 14 months ago, the cost of living had increased to such a point that the demands now fall far below what is needed.

Of the Unions' demand for the 40-hour week, instead of the present 48, Mr. Hall said the five-day week now was in force in most Canadian centres for industrial and other workers. The railways had promised the 40-hour week at an "appropriate time" but this was too vague.

Both railways had given the 40-hour week to their subsidiaries in the United States and they had continued to show increasing profits. They did not lose money as the railways had claimed they would.

Mr. Mather said railway acceptance of government proposals "now places it squarely up to the dissident unions," to decide whether or not the country's railways will come to a stop.

Railway management did not believe a strike "in any way is justified."

Economic Dislocation

"A railway strike would bring economic dislocation affecting everyone in the country. The dispute between management and labor would then no longer be our problem alone, but one which would be shared by every citizen," the CPR president said.

He added that the only way to meet demands of the unions "would be to ask for, and receive, no a formal increase in freight rates such as may be demanded by the changing Canadian economic scene but by an increase in freight rates of major proportions, as would be felt in every home in every part of the nation."

Mr. Mosher, in a letter delivered to the Prime Minister, said the workers he spoke for had indicated further postponement would not be acceptable to them. However, they were willing to negotiate immediately and work around the clock to get an agreement.

Latest Time

Mr. Mosher indicated that Monday afternoon was the latest time for rescinding the strike call. It would take some hours to get the word out to all employees in time to get them to report for work Tuesday morning.

A brief wire from Mr. Gordon and Mr. Mather to the unions read:

"The railways have advised the Prime Minister of their willingness to comply with his request to resume negotiations. Accordingly wish to say to you that should you desire a conference, we are prepared to meet your convenience."

UN Troops

Forty-five-ton Pershing tanks were used in the counter-attack led by the U.S. 17th regiment and the South Korean 1st division.

The South Korean 6th division lost contact Friday night with Red forces. It had held before Taegu.

Allied troops tasted victory on all other fronts Friday. For the first time in 13 bitter days of fighting Americans rolled back some of the 12,000 Red infantrymen who had bulged across the Naktong river south of Changnyong, 23 miles southwest of Taegu.

U.S. Marines and 24th division troops gained up to three miles in the Changnyong sector and chased terror-stricken and weapon-less Reds back across the Naktong in droves. One battalion of about 1,000 Communists broke for the western bank of the river first. They were followed by others.

Taking Licking

Maj.-Gen. John H. Church, U.S. commander in the Changnyong sector, said the North Koreans there had taken "a hell of a licking."

Some Communists voluntarily crossed over to American lines and surrendered.

Pohang and Kigye on the Korean east coast were recaptured by South Koreans.

In the deep south, at the other end of the line, the U.S. 25th Division turned back a dawn attack by the North Korean 6th Division driving eastward from ruined Chinju.

Bombed Troops Move In

The Red threat to Taegu came from troops bombed by U.S. B-29s Wednesday in the Waegwan area. They drove south on Taegu from Kunwi, 25 miles north of Taegu, and recaptured the town of Kumwha after a substantial advance.

Taegu was ordered evacuated of its 500,000 to 800,000 war-swelled population.

The capture of Pohang port on the Sea of Japan coast by the South Koreans permitted U.S. planes to resume using the airstrip six miles southeast of Pohang.

The American advances in the Changnyong bulge gave rise to optimism at U.S. Eighth Army headquarters in Korea. It had described the Red threat against Taegu as the most serious one in Korea.

Drive Into Bridgehead

The U.S. 1st Marine Brigade and the 24th Division tackled 12,000 river-crossing Reds and drove well into their bridgehead on the eastern Allied bank of the river.

AP correspondent Jack Macbeth on the Changnyong fighting front said some of the battered North Korean 4th Division's troops, about a battalion in one place and a small group in another, were pulling back across the river.

AP correspondent Leif Erickson at U.S. Eighth Army headquarters quoted on American regimental commander as saying:

"It looks like we have got them on the run. That 4th Red Division has been pounding us for 45 days. It certainly is a pleasure to see them go back. I hope we can knock all of them out."

Correspondent Erickson said other senior officers agreed the Changnyong bulge outlook was favorable for the Allies.

The Red rollback below Changnyong started Thursday when the Marines attacked a steep, rugged hill. The army attack followed. A swinging-door force, anchored on the north end of the bulge, was closing south on pocketed Red troops.

Using Everything

One marine officer said Corsair fighter planes steadily strafed Reds trying to wade in retreat through the shallow Naktong in the southwest sector of the bulge.

Correspondent Whitehead reported the Marines were hitting the North Koreans with everything they had.

Eight North Korean tanks were destroyed in the Changnyong sector, five of them by air strikes.

American and Australian airmen flew more than 500 sorties Friday, concentrating their fire on Red ground troops and armor.

The pilots claimed destruction of 13 North Korean tanks and large amounts of Communist railroad traffic.

B-29's went out in force to strike at the North Korean communications system.

British Navy fliers now are assisting Americans in blockading the East Coast.

Canadians In Action

A Tokyo headquarters release also disclosed that a Canadian destroyer bombarded a battery in the Kunsan area on the west coast, 45 miles southwest of Redheld Taejon in South Korea.

The Allied successes at Changnyong were scored against a backdrop of tragedy — the discovery Thursday of a massacre of US prisoners by the North Koreans. Thirty-six bodies, all with hands bound and shot in the back, were found in a gully.

As the word spread on the atrocities, US soldiers went into the attack with a grim new determination.

Tentative identification of some of the North Koreans who ordered or participated in the massacre was made when some Reds themselves were captured.

The 30,000 North Koreans advancing toward Taegu jumped off Thursday night from an area heavily bombed Wednesday by U.S. B-29's. In addition to the three Red divisions on the march toward Taegu, intelligence officers searched for four more enemy divisions that have not been accounted for in the last few hours.

Wherever these divisions show up was expected to be a focal point of the push on Taegu.

Correspondent Erickson said reports of the capture of Pohang and Kigye, nine miles northwest of the port, came to Eighth Army headquarters from South Korean army headquarters.

Prices Lifted Quietly Over Exchange List

TORONTO, Aug. 18 (CP). — Prices were lifted quietly over a broad list of issues on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. The advance was slow compared with yesterday's strong climb. Volume for the first three hours was 551,000 shares.

Most industrial changes were held to fractions. Papers, steels, refining oils, textiles and foods climbed quietly. Manufacturing and utilities were easier. Dominion Foundries added ¼ at 35 and Dominion Steel B gained ¾ at 22½. Refining oils jumped as Imperial Oil gained ⅝ at 27⅛ and McColl-Frontenac rose ¼ at 15⅝. Massey-Harris was unchanged and Ford A dipped ¼ at 57. CPR slipped ⅛ to 20.

Base metals lost ground quietly. Quemont, Noranda and Consolidated Smelters were fractionally lower. A few issues were ahead, including Normetal, Golden Manitou, and Labrador, all gaining five cents.

Golds, after posting early gains, ost ground ater in the day. A few meniors pushed upward, whie on the secondary board the losses ranged to five cents.

Western oils jumped ahead after a slow start and showed a majority of advances.

Unified Country U.S. Demand In Korean Peace

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 18 — (AP)—The Security Council Thursday night heard a United States demand that any Korean settlement provide for a unified, independent country. Later the council adjourned until Tuesday.

Warren Austin, Chief U.S. delegate, made his country's major policy statement at Thursday's public session. The meeting was preceded by a private session at which Council members tried again in vain to break the procedural blockade imposed by their Russian president, Jakob A. Malik.

Austin said the primary U.N objective in Korea must be cessation of hostilities. But "the Korean people expect that when their Gethsemane has passed, they will all have the right to freedom and unity," he declared.

Doesn't Stipulate

Austin's statement did not stipulate whether the U.S. thinks U.N. forces should go beyond the 38th parallel to conquer the North Korean invaders of South Korea. It refrained also from knuckle blows at the Russian role in North Korea and contented itself with an appeal to the Soviet union to use its influence to end the conflict.

In a brief reply Malik made new assertions that the U.S. is trying to extend the scope of the war. He charged that proposals for a unified post-war Korea were only to hide civilian deaths from U.S. bombing.

The Soviet union, he declared, "will not use its influence in the American way, the way Secretary of State Acheson uses it with (South Korean president) Syngman Rhee."

Taegu, normally a city of about 350,000, has swelled in six weeks to 700,000 or 800,000.

Soon it appeared as though the whole city was emptying itself. Refugees swarmed out by the scores of thousands southward as military columns roared northward.

By mid-afternoon the frenzy had died down. Many refugees who had wandered about aimlessly turned around and went tiredly back to their homes.

The family below our window straggled back through their gateway.

OTTAWA, August 18 — This year, so far, "Execution Rock," a 2,000 - cubic - foot, almost globular boulder, located at Foran's Grove, four miles northwest of Aylmer, has moved 14 inches.

Whether the year 1950 contains significance in the legend of "Execution Rock" is not for mere mortals to know. The fact remains that in former years observers noticed the big rock inched its way towards the 100-foot cliff washed by Lake Deschenes. In 100 years it has moved 100 feet.

When the Eardley Road pierced the unbroken forest in 1815, in a widening of well-beaten Indian Trails, the rock was close to the road. Now it is some distance from the spot where it was first observed. In its progress towards the river, the movement of the rock was impeded by natural obstacles of trees and earth indentation. Today it is in a clearing a few wards from sloping ground that may heighten its velocity.

Execution Instrument

According to a spokesman for the Aylmer Historical Society, the rock was once used as an execution instrument by the Algonquins. Anyone found guilty of breaking tribal laws, or having dealings with their ancient enemies, the Iroquois, was dashed to death on the rock to satisfy the strict code of these primitive people.

The condemned were trussed, hauled up by a deerskin thong to a crude platform in a tree about 12 feet above the rock, weighted with rocks under the arms and pushed to land head down on the huge boulder.

As the place of execution was on a much used trail, the bodies of the executed were left at the scene to be picked at by crow and hawk as a warning to those who dared to break an established and sacred code.

In the 17th century the fierce onslaughts of the Iroquois from south of the border were working havoc with the northern Indians. Every defensive measure the "Brain Trusters" of the Algonquins tried, to outsmart the Iroquois at warfare, failed. The dread word "Spy" swept through the forest.

Then began what was probably the first spy hunt on the continent.

Wa-Pa (The Wise One) medicine man extraordinary had full authority to beat the Iroquois by black magic. The voice of Wa-Pa was a powerful one and his motives were twofold. He wanted to be the mightiest medicine man of all, and he wanted to get rid of young braves who were questioning his authority and criticizing his decisions.

When young braves protested that the only way to beat the enemy was with tomahawks, and not with weird incantations, they were charged with being a danger to the tribe. When Wa-Pa heard of any discontent, he had several young braves dragged before him. Pointing a bony finger at the accused the wizened Wa-Pa demanded the rock treatment to cure unrest.

One such an accused young brave was Ro-Mab (Strong Oak). He had advocated the Algonquins should muster their strength and descend upon the Iroquois in their own villages so as not to be slaughtered piecemeal. He was taken before Wa-Pa as a young upstart rebel and was condemned to the stone.

Ra-Mab's Prophecy

As Ra-Mab stood tall and straight before his judges, his sinewy arm sweeping the land, his fingers pointing at the river, he made a prophecy. With the vision that proximity of death brings to men, he was heard to say:

"You cannot fight the enemy with dead men. If this killing goes on, we will grow weaker and weaker. The Iroquois will overrun us. Then strange men with pale faces will steal both our lands. They will fight among themselves and burn the land with strange lightning. All will be still and nothing will grow. When I die, the strength of my spirit will push the death rock to the river. When it strikes the water the spirit of us murdered men will leave the mountain caves to claim once more our heritage."

Early Irish settlers in the district have left record they have seen strange visions near the rock. At times in the still of the night they have heard sorrowful laments as if someone despaired of the slowness of some mighty task.

Even today, on a calm evening, stirrings can be heard coming from the grove. But the roar of heavy traffic along the Eardley Road smothers out such unearthly sounds.

Slowly "Execution Rock" moves towards the river. Whether it ever reaches the water and all of Ra-Mab's prophecies come true is a question.

Plan New Road On South Shore Of Clear Lake

DOURO, Aug. 18—The Department of Highways is going to build a road stretching four and a half miles from Highway 28 easterly along the south shore of Clear Lake to the Douro-Dummer boundary. Douro Township Council, at its August meeting, authorized the reeve and clerk to sign an agreement whereby the department will build the road and the municipality will keep it in repair.

The road will begin at Lot 24, Concession four, and will extend easterly along the south shore of Clear Lake to and through Lot 28, Concession one, to the Douro-Dummer boundary.

There are approximately 100 lots on the shore, most of which are sold, and owners are ready to start building cottages.

The Council appointed F. P. O'Brien collector of taxes at a salary of $250 a year.

Lands 13-Lb. Muskie With Silver Flash Bait

After about 15 minutes play, Nick DeCarlo, 572 Murray St., landed a 13-pound one ounce muskie Thursday evening at Young's Point and two days before, his fishing companion, Ivan Whitmore, landed a four-pound bass at the same spot.

Mr. DeCarlo's muskie measures 37 inches in length with a girth of 14 inches.

He went fishing with Mr. Whitmore and M. J. Finn. Using a silver flash, he caught the muskie just in time to get to shelter before a heavy rainstorm at about 8:30 p.m.

Getting Ready For Atomic Bomb War?

Last week the American Atomic Energy Commission and the Department of Defence issued a 456-page volume called The Effects of Atomic Weapons. This week Time magazine gives a precis of this book, in a two-page display. It prefaces the special article with these sentences:

Behind the low-rolling smoke of battle in Korea looms the most terrifying of all war clouds; the topless mushroom of the atomic bomb. Will the Russians make an atom-bomb attack on the U.S.? If it comes, what is the difference? Is there any defence?

All this is alarming. Not that the official report on means of defence against atomic bombs (of the present type) is as hopeless as people expected five years ago. But the facts of its being published at this time, and of a popular magazine with tremendous circulation giving it prominence, are very disturbing. People are being made atomic bomb conscious. It is being brought to their own back yards and main streets. The reason given is cogent. Russia has the bomb, and would conceivably use it. But the U.S. has the bomb, too. Is it preparing the people to accept atomic war as an endurable risk?

• • •

We are told that U.S. buildings would not stand up to the blast much better than Japanese ones; that the great majority (85 per cent. or more) of people in a half-mile radius of the burst will die because of blast, heat or radiation. Under such circumstances it is not too re-assuring to know that the mortality rate is cut down to 50 per cent. at 4,500 feet; and to 15 per cent. at 6,500, and that lingering radio-activity is not considered serious. Effective shelters can be built inside most buildings, or below ground level, we are told. Their effective use would, of course, depend on a timely warning. It may comfort some to know that if the bomb bursts a mile or more away it gives its own warning—the 100-sun glare of the fireball. But if it burst only half a mile away, without warning?

This age's overlay of propaganda and war makes our times seen pretty frightful, as well as frightening.

Fruit Stands On The Queen Elizabeth Way

Some of the fruit growers whose property adjoins the Queen Elizabeth Way have decided to defy the law which forbids them to have fruit stands on the highway. We feel a certain sympathy with them. If they want to sell their wares directly to the public, getting all the profit instead of a part of it, we think that they have a good moral case. Morality and the law, however, can be widely separated.

The law against fruit stands is supposedly to prevent motorists from being distracted by objects at the side of the road. We suspect, however, that it has another, unacknowledged reason. The government of Ontario, having built a fine highway, understandably does not want the sides of that highway cluttered with little shacks selling fruit. If it permits fruit-shacks, how long can it prevent hotdog shacks, soft drink shacks, and all the rubbishy booths which so quickly spring up beside a much-travelled road?

Recently we drove over the Queen Elizabeth Way, and were impressed by the neat and pretty appearance of the fruit stands we saw. All were attractive pleasant displays. The breakers of the law have plainly decided that if the government acts against them it will not be able to say that they are defacing the highway with cheap and nasty booths.

It is depressing to observe how, when once the traveller has passed Toronto, the roadsides are cluttered with ugly little shacks which sell all the things that motorists are supposed to desire for eating, drinking, smoking and chewing. There is no question about it, Eastern Ontario is unkempt and lacking in pride when compared with Western Ontario. Why this should be we do not know, but it is a condition which should be changed if we hope to increase our attractiveness to tourists. If the wayside booths in Eastern Ontario were as neat and pretty as the fruit stalls along the Queen Elizabeth Way, we should have little cause for complaint.

Sailors and Floozies

Yesterday we drew the attention of our readers to Professor A. R. M. Lower's advice to Canada to "pull up its cultural socks". And today news arrives of just the sort of stupidity which Professor Lower was attacking. Controller Balfour of Toronto has been protesting against the exhibition of a picture called Sailors and Floozies in the art gallery at the C.N.E.

It is a poor year when somebody does not protest against some picture which is exhibited at the C.N.E. We well recall the hullabaloo a few years ago when a national women's organization demanded that a picture be removed which showed a nude girl who had just taken a bath. This was, the organization in question asserted, an insult to Canadian womanhood. Whether the insult lay in the suggestion that Canadian women have bodies under their clothes, or in the inference that they occasionally took baths, was not explained. But this year Controller Balfour is reported as saying that the picture in question is "of an amoral nature" (meaning, we presume "immoral") and would alarm the mothers of young men who are now enlisting.

We have the highest regard for the mothers of young men now enlisting, but we do not consider them to be the best judges of pictures. And so long as a large number of Canadians insist on judging pictures and other works of art on every ground except that of artistic excellence, this country will be barbaric in artistic matters. As Professor Lower says, we must pull up our socks.

The Death of Peter Pan

The news that Mrs. Gilbert Cannan died a few days ago in Biarritz is unlikely to have caused any great stir except among people who are particularly interested in Gilbert Cannan's novels. It was not widely known that Mrs. Cannan was, from 1894 until 1910, the wife of the late Sir James Barrie, the great novelist and playwright. He met her when she was an actress, Mary Ansell, and he was a playwright first rising to eminence; they married, and it is said that it was for her that he created the role of Peter Pan.

It would be intrusive to enquire why she left Barrie for Gilbert Cannan; it is perhaps enough to say that Barrie was temperamentally ill-suited to marriage. His nature appears to have ranged between the whimsicality which is displayed in his plays and novels, and a morose and reclusive disposition. He was always a solitary man.

Divorce did not appear to impair the friendship and the special sort of affection which existed between Barrie and Mary Ansell. When he lay dying in 1937 (and not in 1917, as has been rather widely published) she hastened to his side, although very few people knew, and few remembered, that she had once been his wife. In his will he left £1,000, and an annuity of £600 a year to "my dear Mary Cannan".

The original of Peter Pan has died just at a time when that play is enjoying a remarkable success in New York. Barrie's blighted romance (if sixteen years of marriage may be so described) is now a thing of the past, but the work which it inspired lives on.

Cabinet Indiscretions

"Stabs heal, but bad words never", says the Spanish proverb; we wonder if Clement Attlee ever reflects upon this bitter truth, for surely Mr. Attlee has had more trouble as a result of indiscreet remarks by his colleagues than is the lot of most British prime ministers? We are thinking particularly of John Strachey's recent ill-starred assertion that the Schuman Plan was a "plot" to diminish Britain's importance. Surely the word "plot" was never used so unfortunately by a British politician in reference to an international move. Hugh Dalton also helped to complicate that situation by issuing a pamphlet on British policy respecting the Schuman Plan, at the very moment when it would most effectively complicate British discussion of the Plan and European negotitations regarding it.

Trouble of this sort is nothing new for Mr. Attlee. It was another member of his Cabinet, Emmanuel Shinwell, who said: "The organized workers of the country are our friends; as for the rest they don't matter a tinker's cuss". That triumphant statement of class domination still lingers in the minds of the unorganized workers of Britain, who are many. It rankles, as does Aneurin Bevan's astonishing reference to "Tory vermin". To be head of a Cabinet which expresses itself with such reckless disregard for consequences can be no light task, and we are frequently amazed by Mr. Attlee's loyalty to colleagues who so dangerously rock the Labour boat.

European Stalemate?

(A French View)

By MICHEL DEBRE

WE cannot but be struck by the gap between what European politicians profess and what they really carry out.

We are continually hearing of the necessity for defending our civilization of the advantages of abolishing customs and currency restrictions, of the danger of maintaining, in their present state and with their present policy, nations that are too small for this 20th century. We are always being told that the price of Western security is European Union.

LET us consider the expedients proposed to us. The economic organization for European cooperation has had to curb its ambitiousness, and is establishing—after a fashion—the necessary compromises to prevent American aid from becoming too flagrant a contradiction in terms. Right from its institution, the European Council has been stuck in a mire of helplessness, which was not its own doing, but from which it has not been able to free itself. The Schuman Plan would never have got past the discussion stage, had it not ignominiously lowered the tone of its primary ambitions.

Those of us who really believe in the advantage of European union must recognize this gap, and seek its explanation.

THERE seem to me to be three principal reasons.

First, Europe cannot be constituted unless we have a clear idea of what part it is to play in the world. Up till now this has never been stated. Some have the high ideal that the European economic organization is aiming at creating a self-sufficient nation out of the old continent and the territories attached to it. From a political point of view, others advance the idea of a neutral Europe holding the balance between East and West. On the other hand, some see in the European organization the necessary condition for the economic balance of the whole Western world, and, from the political point of view, a condition for ensuring the birth and development of the Atlantic community. We must take one side or the other. In my opinion, a neutral self-sufficient Europe is a chimera and a danger. Europe is the first pillar of the Atlantic community. We must repeat that and explain it.

WE have no precise information on the tasks which the European organization must carry out in the future. We hear talk of customs duties, currency restrictions, less competition between coal and steel, but this is a matter of eliminating defects which ought to be eliminated even if a united Europe were not to be set up, for they are leading each single nation to disaster, and the different nations could, by agreement, remedy them. What is now in question is European solidarity; the possibility of solving our social problems, of supporting the efforts of nations, weakened by isolation, to raise their standard of living. In another field it must help nations to maintain within their own boundaries territories so vast that today, after the trials of war, each is too weak to defend itself against outside ambitions.

◇ ◇ ◇

THIS is the meaning of the sacrifices involved in European union. Finally, as the last but not the least condition, we must know what its political authority will be. There is talk of a Parliament, but it would not be a true one, for we cannot so designate a group of men who are not expressly elected. An elected delegation is a very precise mechanism; but delegations of ministers set up by other ministers have never resulted in a very sound basis for authority. There is good reason to hesitate in taking a step which would result in the creation of a sovereign international assembly. But it is difficult to understand why a large assembly should not be a principle of federation for very divided nations. In creating a political union among states that do not speak the same language and that history has often set against other, it is dangerous to proceed straight away to the political form of nations that have long been united. The examples of America and Switzerland can show us how to avoid this danger.

UNDOUBTEDLY it would be convenient to place the power of the new European policy in the hands of one man, or at least of a small group of men, for then the principle of federation would be established more easily, and political authority would not be an idle expression.

We may think that events will settle themselves. Or we may think that the stagnation of the Western powers is the decisive indication of their decadence. Those who are content to take this view of present events must learn that it is urgent to get past the discussion stage and begin to act. We must face the difficulties, and bring to them only logical in other words, natural, solutions.

Americans And Candy

(Wall Street Journal)

The per capita consumption of candy in the United States in pounds is greater than that of butter, cheese, margarine or cereals. The average family spends more for candy than for canned juices, cakes, shortenings, soups or white flour.

These figures were reported by Edwin J. Brach, Chicago candy manufacturer, after a study of sales trends in the industry.

The average person each year eats 10.2 pounds of butter, 7.2 pounds of cheese, 5.7 pounds of margarine and eight pounds of cereals, compared with 17 pounds of candy. Candy consumption is only two and a half pounds under the per capita figure for coffee consumption.

• Eighty-three per cent. of the population consumes an average of 20.5 pounds of candy each year, making 17 pounds the average for the entire nation.

THE "BUSINESS" AS USUAL

Refugee

(LONDON SUNDAY TIMES)

Before the war, Mr. N. S. Norway was well known as an aeronautical engineer. As chief mathematician he helped to design the airship R100 and flew the Atlantic in her in 1930; he founded Airspeed, the firm which built the Airspeed Oxford trainer. As a hobby he wrote novels, under the name of Nevil Shute.

In the last ten years Nevil Shute Norway has become one of the world's most successful authors; the film rights of such best sellers as "The Pied Piper," "No Highway" and "Landfall" alone have made him a wealthy man.

On Thursday Mr. Norway, with his wife and two daughters, sails from England to begin a new life in Australia.

A man in his fifties, enjoying great success, does not make such a decision lightly. But Nevil Norway is a sturdy individualist, and over dinner the other evening he gave me a striking illustration of the petty restrictions which have hampered his work here and exasperated him to the point of emigration.

The popularity of Nevil Shute's stories in America is enormous. His dollar earnings since 1939 exceed $275,000. Yet when he applied for an extra 20 gallons of petrol to carry out certain literary research vital in the preparation of a recent novel, the application was curtly refused.

"I pointed out that at a conservative estimate the book would earn in one day enough dollars to pay for three and a half years' supply at the modest rate for which I was asking, but the Ministry officials were adamant.

"Dumfounded at this I then offered to hand back 60 gallons of the petrol already allocated for my aircraft if only I could be allowed the 20 gallons needed for my car. Again there was a flat refusal, this time on the grounds that such compromises were quite irregular, and far too complicated to negotiate."

The dispute dragged on and on. In desperation Nevil Norway threatened to send copies of the correspondence with the Ministry officials to the press. This stirred officialdom to make a petty compromise offer of a dozen gallons.

In the bitter end, after Norway had intimated that he had decided to emigrate to a country where he could work free from petty persecution of this kind, the Ministry informed him that they would after all, grant the full 20 gallons. But Nevil Norway had made up his mind.

GBS: Self-Portrait

Mr. George Bernard Shaw, who is 94, has sent the following message to the newly-established United States chapter of the Shaw Society:

"The list of illustrious names on the foundation committee of the American Shaw Society is so staggering that I am at a loss how to comment on it or exult in it without a gross self-complacency foreign to my very diffident nature.

"Now that I am so old that to me the Bernard Shaw of 50 years ago is as dead as the infant of 94 years ago, I can contemplate any estimate of him quite disinterestedly except for some wonder at the things he could do, and I can no more do now than I can skate or sing or walk without a stick.

"And I cannot help asking why not (for instance) an Einstein Society or a society named after many other famous persons who are much cleverer than I ever was?

"The utmost I can claim for myself in my best days is that I was one of the 100 best playwrights in the world, which is hardly a supreme distinction.

"I was one of the inventors of Fabian Socialism, now established as the policy of the USSR. I helped to set the religion of Creative Evolution with its feet on the ground because I saw that no established religion in the world is wholly credible, and that without religion men are political timeservers and cowards.

"So why not a Stalin-Nehru Society and a Butler-Bergson Society, as these pioneers are, or were, better men of action than I? For, I repeat, I was not commonly clever enough to have a good opinion of myself until I decayed into the dodderer I now am.

"Then what can I say to the attachment of my name to associations of great artists and thinkers among whom I can claim no pre-eminence?

"I can only hope that in other hands Shavianism will be carried so far that future generations will say: 'We agree with your doctrine; but who the devil was Bernard Shaw'?"

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Moreover the Lord spake again unto Ahaz, saying, Ask thee a sign of the Lord thy God; ask it either in the depth, or in the height above. But Ahaz said, I will not ask, neither will I tempt the Lord . . . Therefore the Lord himself shall give you a sign; Behold, a virgin shall conceive, and bear a son, and shall call his name Immanuel. (Isa. 7:10-12,14.)

And in the sixth month the angel Gabriel was sent from God unto a city of Galilee, named Nazareth, to a virgin espoused to a man whose name was Joseph, of the house of David; and the virgin's name was Mary . . .

And the angel said unto her, Fear not, Mary; for thou hast found favour with God. And, behold, thou shalt conceive in thy womb, and bring forth a son, and shalt call his name JESUS.

He shall be great, and shall be called the Son of the Highest: and the Lord God shall give unto him the throne of his father David: and he shall reign over the house of Jacob for ever; and of his kingdom there shall be no end. (Luke 1:26,27,30-33.)

Gloria Swanson Amazed At Comeback

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 18 (AP) —"I am sick and tired of me."

I thought I had heard everything from the mouths of movie stars, but this was something new. The speaker was Gloria Swanson. She had just returned from touring the United States, and talking 14 hours a day, mostly about herself.

She had holed up in her mountaintop home and was virtually incommunicado. But she consented to see me particularly since I promised not to make her talk about Gloria Swanson. Not much, anyway.

"The living is wonderful here," she began. "That's the trouble; it's too good. This is not the right place for the movie industry.

Treason

"That may sound like treason, but I've always believed it. I think it was a shame when the entire movie industry moved to California. . .

"The trouble with Hollywood is that everybody eats, breathes and talks movies here. You can get no different viewpoints. The living is easy and people get lazy and their creative powers suffer because of it.

"If I were a producer, I would insist that the creative workers, particularly the writers, had to spend at least six months out of every two years away from Hollywood."

The glamorous grandma is still amazed by the renaissance of her career. I remarked that it closely parallelled that of Bill (Hopalong) Boyd, who was a silent star of the same vintage.

It's Wonderful

"Isn't it wonderful about Bill?" she said. "I went up to his house not long ago and we had a nice, long chat. We were both amazed."

What about the future for La Swanson? First of all, she'll take a rest at Malibu Lodge in British Columbia. Then she'll return to consider the many scripts she has been reading.

"What can I do after 'Sunset Blvd'—retire to a monastery and quit, as some have suggested? No, I've got to keep working. And the best thing I can see is to get as much of a change as possible. Who knows—I might do a musical western.

"I can see it now 'Hopalong Swanson Sings Again'."

Expect No Change In Bean Crop Price

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 18 (CP)—No change in the minimum price for the 1950 white bean crop from 1949 is anticipated following a meeting here Thursday between the negotiating committee of the Kent Bean Growers' Marketing Board and dealers.

While marketing board officials would make no statement following the day-long sessions, it was learned unofficially that the minimum price for this year's crop will be $3.50 a bushel rising in January and again in March the same as a year ago.

Last year the minimum price was increased in January to $3.55 a bushel and in April to $3.60 in accordance with a board price support plan.

The rising price plan is designed to encourage farmers to hold their beans and not sell below the floor price in order to get rid of them.

TLC Asks Prices Stabilized Year Ahead Like Wages

OTTAWA, Aug. 18 (CP). — Long-range price stabilization is urged by the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada in a submission to the committee studying combines legislation for the Federal Government.

The congress, with 480,000 members, declares immediate reimposition of price controls is imperative and asks for the retention and improvement of rent controls.

Declaring wages now are largely under contract and known a year in advance, the congress says "there is no sound reason why prices could not be established for as long a period."

"Nothing would do more to stabilize our economy and to safeguard it," the submission adds.

It declares wages have not been able to keep up with rising prices since controls were relaxed, and there was little doubt upward price trends would cause another round of wage demands.

The brief also suggested that savings and investment be controlled as the basis for sound and effective price control. An excess profits tax would be a simple approach.

For the protection of consumers and small merchants, the congress said, it asked that rebates, discounts or allowances available to commercial purchasers be publicized.

Pension Worries Over For Police

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 18 (CP). —Young policemen needn't worry about pension problems, Ontario's deputy minister of municipal affairs W. A. Orr, assured delegates Thursday at the Ontario Police convention here.

He noted that the public is more pension conscious than ever before and declared that improvements in pension plans are bound to come.

While recommending purchase of government annuities for superannuation purposes, he said there is a likelihood the present $100 a month maximum payment under the system soon will be increased.

Mr. Orr said fate of older officers in pension schemes depends on steps taken by individual municipalities. One plan requires the municipality to purchase annuities at the rate of $15 a month in pension for each year of the old-timer's service prior to inception of the pension scheme and his own contributions.

Gold Injections Aid Patients With Arthritis

NEW YORK, Aug. 21 — (AP) —Gold is a good medicine for rheumatoid arthritis, especially when it is used early, a new study shows.

The gold is given by injecting gold salts. It has been used in the United States for about 15 years against the pains and the swellings of this crippling form of arthritis.

Gold stopped the disease nearly 80 per cent of the time when used early, Drs. Russell L. Cecil and Chester Adams report in the Annals of Internal Medicine. Early means within six months after the disease started. Gold was not so helpful if the arthritis had been under way longer.

They gave gold treatments to 106 men and women and compared them with 83 others who did not get gold. Both groups had the conventional treatments for arthritis, including rest, good hygiene, aspirin, exercises and orthopaedic help if needed.

Study Figures

Of all those getting gold, 66 per cent had remissions or relief from the disease within a year. Of those starting gold within six months of getting arthritis, 78.7 per cent got remissions. Of those who had had arthritis six months to a year, 48.9 per cent got relief.

But of those not getting gold, only 24.1 per cent had remissions.

Patients getting gold treatments won relief from arthritis 10 months earlier, on the average, than those not getting gold.

The hormones cortisone and acth bring dramatic relief from rheumatoid arthritis. But these recoveries usually last only as long as the hormone is given. And the hormones still are scarce and expensive.

East City Rubs Out UEW To Make Softball Finals

East City said it with extra-base blows at the Bowl last night to win the City Softball League semi-final series over UEW, beating them 8-6 in the deciding game of the best-of-seven series, the sawoffs going the limit. The victory put East City into the OASA senior 'B" playdowns and also into the city finals for the Taylor Trophy against Mutuals, this four-of-seven series opening at 7.15 p.m. next Tuesday.

Threatening rain kept down the crowd last night, but those on deck saw an exciting scrap with both sides battling hard to the final out. Home runs by Scriver, Sullivan and O'Heron, plus two-baggers by O'Heron and Cornwall, was the main difference. The pitching was pretty even, and the winners were loose afield with six miscues. Terry Woods pitched neat eight-hit ball to earn the win, with shaky support. Reg Gordon went along good for eight frames for UEW, giving away then for a pinch-hitter, with Chuck Birch finishing up. They had better backing.

Jake Wade clouted three for five to lead East City, and Jaquith had one in one as a late starter, O'Heron belting out two extra-base blows. Blair Thomson was the main hitter for the losers with three in five, including his homer and double, and Taylor came through with two in five. The winners had but two more hits, but they had more long ones. Spencer fielded well in left for the East City crew, and Mackness was his usual classy self in centre on flies and once with a perfect peg to to the plate to tag a runner.

Local Cricket Ace Stars For Ontario

By C. H. IRESON.

A. V. Pope of the local cricket club distinguished himself in the recent inter-provincial championships held in the West this year. In the deciding match between Ontario and British Columbia, he scored 30 runs not out in Ontario's innings of 121, and he followed this up by taking four wickets for 20 runs. The final score was Ontario 121, British Columbia 94. He was awarded a bat for good play and a silver cup for fine bowling throughout.

Mr. Pope was a member of the Derbyshire team in England during the 1930s, and he has shown great form here the last two seasons.

The P-W club plays Dentonia at the Oval on Saturday in the last match of the District Council schedule. If the locals win, they will be tied with Toronto B for first place in their section, calling for a playoff with Toronto B to decide which club would be promoted to the first division.

On August 26 they again meet Dentonia at the Oval in the first round of the contest for the Wood Memorial Trophy, open to Toronto and district clubs. Last year they defeated Dentonia in the preliminary round, but were beaten by Yorkshire in the final. The team is still in the running for the Ontario County championship and the R. C. Matthews Trophy. Peterborough-Whitaker Club won this in 1948, but in 1949 it was taken by Carleton County. The locals put out Carleton in the first round this year and now expect to play Halton County at Oakville in the semi-finals.

B.C. Swimmers Set Pace In Competition

MONTREAL, Aug. 18. (CP) — Irene Strong and Jerry McNamee, both Vancouver swimming stars, set the pace in Canadian open swimming competition concluded Thursday night.

The Canadian Olympic team athlete and her fellow-townsman copped several individual championships and helped their Vancouver Amateur Swimming Club to win two others.

A versatile swimmer, Miss Strong won for the second consecutive year three individual senior women's events — the 100-yard free style, the 200-yard breast stroke and the 150-yard backstroke.

She also helped her club mates retain their senior women's 440-yard free style relay crown.

Young McNamee captured two junior men's titles — the 100-yard free style and the 200-yard free style. He also featured in the 300-yard medley relay when his club beat out three other squads.

One Record Broken

Only one Canadian record was broken. A Camp Chikopi, Mich., foursome bettered the Canadian mark in the senior men's 440-yard free style relay with a time of 3:40.1. Former record was not available.

Montreal's Kenny Mather came within 1-10 of a second from a Dominion record to win the Busdven's 100-yard breast stroke in 1:05.1. Present Canadian record is 1:05. Doreen Howatt of Fergus, Ont., got two junior women's titles.

Bumpy Jones of Detroit finished first in the 440-yard free style and the 150-yard backstroke. Bob Eason of Stratford, placed fourth in the first event.

Miss Howatt copped the 200-yard and the 100-yard free-style events.

Other titlists were:

Senior men: Bill Ross, Los Angeles, 100-yard free style; Louis Childs, University of Michigan, mile event after taking best times in four preliminary heats.

Senior women: Vivian King, Toronto, 440 yards free style.

Junior men: Ronald Crane, Vancouver, 100 yards breast stroke. Fred Smith, Toronto, 200 yards breast stroke.

Junior women: Eleanor Lacombe, Montreal, 100 yards backstroke; Barbara Mowat, Toronto, 100 yards breast stroke.

Handicapper Picks 8 Straight Winners

BEL MAR, Calif., Aug. 18—(AP)—Paul Lowry, handicapper for the Los Angeles Times and the Associated Press, has achieved the dream of all handicappers: He picked eight straight winners on the eight-race card at the Del Mar track Thursday.

Only once before since racing was legalized in 1933 has a handicapper swept the program. Lowry had, in order, Short Thorn at $3.70, Madame Fury at $6.60, Your Came at $3.80, Competino at $7.40, Cubette at $6.80, King Rhymer at $3.80, Hidden Moon at $4.20 and Montanes at $8.50.

A parley on these, discounting the odds change, would have netted $3,033.

Civic Softball

Foresters won and lost recent games in the Civic Softball League. They were edged out by Grant and Loucks 8-7 when the winners scored two in the first and three each in the fifth and sixth, Foresters counted four in the first, one in the fourth and two in the sixth.

The other game saw Foresters edge out Post Office 8-5 with a run each in the second and third, two in the fourth and four more in the fifth. Post Office got four in their second stanza and added one in the third. Teams:

Grant and Loucks: Chenier, Craig, Dracup, Thompson, Hancock, Holland, Birchenau, Smith, O'Reilly.

Post Office: Hay, Adam, Coombs, Loucks, O'Toole, Moore, Maher, Bryan, Phillips.

Foresters: Parnell, Collins, S. Tyndall, Reid, Wailing, Hobson, C. Tyndall, Ferguson, Doughty, Deward, Reynolds.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Big news of the week for sports fans is the completion of the floodlighting of Riverside Park. With lights for lacrosse, football and softball, and artificial ice for hockey, it remained only to get arcs for baseball to bring Peterborough up to date in the athletic world. This has been done, with a fine set of lights—an improvement on the setups at Belleville and Kingston—and a big crowd no doubt will see the first Viaduct Major League ball game at 8.30 Saturday night in the park by the river. The infield needs re-seeding and watering but all in all it's a dandy diamond layout. A credit to the community.

New Toronto, presently in third place and crowding the second-place Petes plenty, play the men o'Murphy at three here tomorrow aft and 8.30 at night. Two most important frays with the schedule almost over. Both games rate huge crowds as these teams are playing smart senior "A" baseball. New Toronto is but a game and a half behind the Petes, but the teams play tonight in New Toronto. Sunday sees the locals meet Aces at Toronto, while there are four straight tilts here (postponed ones) next week ere playoffs start. It's Aces Monday, Oshawa next night, New Toronto on Wednesday and Dovers Thursday. Games are 8.15 Monday and Wednesday, but 8.45 Tuesday and Thursday to cooperate with men's softball playoffs.

Bolstering For Playoffs

The lacrosse Petes are off to Owen Sound tonight and have but one more home game ere playoffs, St. Kitts here next Friday. There was a last-minute rush around the senior OLA to sign up players. The Petes got Don Crowe's name on the dotted line and Don (if he has the old fire) could be a big help. A fine gutted-stick player in his prime, though he's been sticking to football the past few years in Toronto. Certainly, nobody will out-bump him! Cheevers, Teather and Urquhart have signed with St. Catharines as Hamilton got Welch, Gair and Isaacs out in uniform. Watts, Bryans and Taylor rejoined Brampton and Jerry Johnston will be with Owen Sound. It's going to be awfully tough from here on in.

* * * * * * *

In girls' softball, Ashby's play Woollens at seven tonight, with Marines meeting CGE right after in round-robin city playoffs. Then, Westclox lasses tackle Kingston at the local Bowl tomorrow aft at three in the second of their PWSU intermediate "A" playdowns. Clockers won the first and could end it after lunch tomorrow, but if the third tilt is necessary it'll be at the Bowl at 6.15 p.m., in order not to interfere with the floodlight fray in Riverside. These girls' playdowns are right interesting and Westclox appear to have a real contending club and deserving of fan support.

East City Erases UEW

Their 8-6 win at the Bowl last night by East City men softballers erased UEW from the picture for this year. It put the victors into city finals 'gainst Mutuals and also into the OASA senior "B" playdowns, around the end of the month. City finals, best-of-seven, open at 7.15 next Tuesday and should be a keen serial. Last night, the East Citizens (and it's high time they picked up a set of uniforms, huh?) came through with a neat showing on the mound by Terry Woods and at bat, their extra-base blows swinging the balance. Certainly their fielding didn't! Scriver, Sullivan and O'Heron hit homers which proved mighty timely, and that was that, though the losers fought back right to the finish. Threat of rain kept the crowd down.

Soccer and cricket action on tap here this weekend for followers of those sports. Eastern Ontario soccer fixture has Brockville playing UEW at three Saturday afternoon in King Edward Park, a loop game, with Jack Adams the referee. First floodlight game ever staged in Peterborough will be Thursday night of sports centennial week, Cobourg playing UEW at Riverside. In cricket the Peterborough-Whitaker Club meets Dentonia Saturday in the Oval, an important Toronto and District Council match. The local club has been doing well this season. There's a piece in elsewhere on the fine showing made by A. V. Pope of this club while performing recently for Ontario in inter-provincial championships.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Batting—Gill Coan, Senators, beat Yankees 2-1 with two-run triple in eighth inning.

Pitching—Steve Gromek, Indians, held St. Louis to one hit in six relief innings as Cleveland took 5-4 game.

Bob Gray Sets The Pace In Golf Open

TORONTO, Aug. 18—(CP)—St. George's Golf Club is expected to be about two strokes tougher today because of a vicious rainstorm that dumped tons of water on the Toronto area Thursday.

Many top pros and amateurs found the par-72 course tough enough Thursday. Only 15 of 117 broke or equalled par in the first 18 holes of the Ontario open.

One of them was Bob Gray. The long-hitting pro at the suburban Scarboro course fired a blazing 69 to get a clear two-stroke lead over the field.

The 60-odd survivors will shoot the final 36 holes today for the $2,000 prize money.

Right behind Gray were Bob Fair, a 20-year-old Toronto amateur and former Ontario junior champion, Bob Dean, a 21-year-old Toronto pro, and Jerry Proulz, of Montreal, Bonnie Brook. All shot 71s.

Gray, twice winner of the Ontario open, birdied three holes and parred the rest.

Biggest Surprise

But the biggest surprise of the day was 16-year-old Gerry Magee, a Toronto amateur, who's been playing golf only three years. He shot a 75.

The heavy rain missed all three last threesomes. Bob Burns, pro at the Cherry Hill course at Ridgeway, Ont., was one of those caught and got a seven on the par-five 18th. But he still came through with a 74.

Windsor's Nick Weslock, the defending champion, shot 72. Also shooting were Herb Epstein, Toronto Oakdale; Gordon Brydson, Toronto Mississauga; Dick Borthwick, Hamilton; Bill Kerr, Montreal Beaconsfield; Pat Fletcher, Saskatoon; Bill Kozak, Youngstown, O.; Gordon Delaat, Weston; Gordon McInnis, Lookout Point; Bob Lamb, Toronto Summit; and Tom Henderson, Eastbourne.

Dick Mets, of Virginia Beach, Va., top-rated United States contender, shot a 73. With him were Norman Aldridge, Noranda, Que.; Stan Leonard, Vancouver; Bill Morland, North Bay, Ont.; Bob Cunningham, the home pro; Jules Huot, Montreal Laval; G. L. Cumming, Toronto; and K. R. Kirkpatrick, London.

One-Time Ball Star Has Summer Resort

MARMORA, Aug. 18 (ENS).—Baseball fans over a wide area will be interested in hearing that Hec Boudreau, catcher for Deloro baseball team for about 10 seasons including the year 1926 when they won the intermediate championship of Ontario, has been enjoying a successful season in making his debut as a resort operator. Hec, who is a native of Farnham, Que., retired this spring on pension from the Deloro Smelting and Refining Company after being in their employ for the past 27 years. When Deloro's ball team entered the COBL in 1927, the Peterborough team furnished interesting opposition. Swanston, now Mayor of Peterborough, was the catcher for this city's team, and these two rugged catchers as their teams opposed each other, often stole the spotlight from the pitchers of the game. Hec is hoping to see some of the old boys call for a few minutes as they chance to use No. 7 Highway down his way.

Trenton Clips Cobourg In First Of Playoffs

TRENTON, Aug. 18.—Trenton Chevrolets captured the first game of their OASA Intermediate "B" playoffs here Wednesday night by edging Cobourg Orphans 13-10.

The homesters drove Platt from the mound in the second frame with an eight-run outburst with D. Ball coming in to hold them in check until the eighth, when they pushed across three tallies. Harry Farr went the route for the winners and gave up eight safeties and walked four batters while striking out six.

Farr banged out a double and three singles, while Barney McColl and Joe Scott each had two safeties.

AS GRECO FELL — Johnny Greco falls head-long to the ballpark canvas after being nailed by a sizzling left hook from the flying fists of Kid Gavilan in the sixth round of their scheduled 10-round bout in Montreal. He crashed and couldn't get up. It was a knockout. Almost a year ago, in the same ring, he suffered the same defeat as he fell before the challenger to Jake Lamotta's middleweight crown. Laurent Dauthuille. Greco will most likely retire from the ring as the result of the recent Gavilan beating.

Changes In Hunting Regulations But Hunters Get Some Break

OTTAWA, Aug. 18—(CP)—One hunter, one gun, is a new regulation in the voluminous set of rules laid down for those who go after game birds this fall.

There are other changes in the order-in-council issued today by the Resources Department covering the killing of migratory birds, but the average hunter will find his season and daily bag limits about the same as last year.

The orders are so complex that no generalization of them is possible, for they vary in each province, and in each meticulously-laid-out section of each province.

The wise hunter will have to check his own district regulations before being safe from the game warden.

Generally, the supply of game fowl seems to be up to last year's level at least, and the Resources Department, fixing regulations after careful consultation with the provinces and the U.S. authorities, has few new rules.

For example, the daily bag of Woodcock to be taken in Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick is cut from eight to four, and from 100 to 50 for the season.

New Regulations

There are new regulations covering the killing of loons in Quebec, great black-backed gulls in Saguenay county and Newfoundland, American and red-breasted mergansers in Newfoundland. the Maritime provinces, Ontario and British Columbia. These birds, a menace to fish conservation, will be killed only under permit. Heretofore they have been subject to a fairly open season.

The new regulations are effective Sept. 1, 1950. Seasonal dates are only slightly changed, largely to offset the fact that Oct. 1 falls on a Sunday.

But there are many regulations in the 38-page order-in-council.

Details went out today to all provincial wild-life officials and to Fish and Game Associations so that each hunter may become familiar with the regulations.

Allow Hunting

In Ontario, at the request of organized sportsmen and with concurrence of the provincial government, the prohibition on use of boats for hunting waterfowl in Rondeau Bay has been cancelled. Hunting there will be on the same basis as in other public hunting grounds in Ontario

Another change affects Alberta. Last year's regulations prohibited shooting geese in the vicinity of certain waters and this list has been increased to include prohibition against the shooting of geese within 100 yards of the Smoky and Little Smoky Rivers, and the shooting of migratory game birds within a half mile of Sullivan, Beaverhill and Buffalo Lakes.

Reduction of the woodcock bag in the Maritime provinces arises from the fact that a late snowstorm last april caused heavy losses to the flock arriving on their spring migration. The bag cut is expected to help restoration of the species to normal numbers.

Aids Conservation

The rule against multi-gun carriers is humanitarian and in the interests of conservation. Officials said the habit of carrying two or more loaded guns enabled hunters to fire a large number of shells in quick succession with the result that many birds were hit when nearly out of range, beyond possibility of retrieving. It caused unnecessary waste and suffering.

The one gun carried may not be loaded with more than three cartridges—no more than two in the magazine with one in the barrel.

NEXT—Having defended his National Boxing Association heavyweight championship by stopping Freddie Beshore, all Ezzard Charles has to do between workouts is sit back and wait for the big one with Joe Louis. That is scheduled for Yankee Stadium, Sept. 27.

Dodgers Cool Off Giants In Doubleheader

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Boston and Brooklyn, the preseason pennant favorites, are down but not out today—6½ games back with about six weeks to go.

A Red Sox-Dodger world series is a slim possibility, but still possible.

Surging at Fenway Park, fourth-place Boston has a five-game winning streak going in the American League. All were scored at the expense of the tattered Philadelphia A's, 10-6 victims Thursday night.

Brooklyn, cooling off New York Giants Thursday in both ends of a doubleheader, 8-6 and 5-1, regained second place in the National League from Boston. But those Phillies, idle Thursday, are showing no signs of slackening their pace, threaten to romp home. The Phils open a series in New York tonight while Brooklyn entertains Boston.

Gets 12th Victory

Home runs by Gene Hermanski. Gil Hodges and Billy Cox helped Don Newcombe struggle to his 12th victory in the opener. Still the Dodgers needed a fine relief job by preacher Roe to hold their lead against a Giant rally in the eighth inning.

The crowd of 47,148, lured by the Giants' spurt toward the first division, watched Erv Palica tame the home club with four hits in the second game. Carl Furillo ruined New York with his 14th homer, a single and fly ball to drive in three runs. Pee Wee Reese and Sam Calderone each hit inside-the-park homers. Calderone's smash ruined Palica's shutout in the fifth.

Cincinnati shaded Chicago 2-1 in the only other National League game. Kenny Raffensberger scattered six Cub hits and Connie Ryan drove in both Cincy scores with a homer and single off Bob Rush.

Rain washed out the Pittsburgh-St. Louis night game.

Philadelphia and Boston were not scheduled. Detroit clung to its three-game lead over runner-up Cleveland in the American chase. New York lost to Washington.

Detroit mauled Randy Gumpert for a 6-1 lead in the first three innings to cast home. The final score was 8-3.

Cleveland had to go 12 innings to whip the stubborn St. Louis Browns, 5-4. Early Wynn's pinch single following Ray Boone's triple did the trick. Reliefer Steve Gromek was the winner over Clif Fannin.

Pull Triple Play

St. Louis pulled a triple play in the second on Dale Mitchell's liner to Owen Friend with the bases full. It was the second in the 19-year history of the Cleveland Stadium, both within a week.

New York Yankees, only first division club to tumble, bowed to the Senators 2-1. After pitching no-hit ball for 6½ innings, Allie Reynolds finally bowed to Sid Hudson. In addition, the Yanks lost the services of outfielder Hank Bauer, hit on the head by a throw from catcher Al Evans, trying to pick him off third.

Boston ruined the debut of rookie Joe Murray, a southpaw just moved up from West Palm Beach of the Florida-International League.

Murray gave up six hits, struck out one, walked four and heaved a run-scoring wild pitch before he gave way to Carl Scheib in the third.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Everything is set for the heavyweight title bout between Ezzard Charles and Joe Louis at Yankee Stadium Sept. 27.

James D. Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, announced in New York that Louis, the challenger, will receive 35 per cent of the net receipts, while Charles, the champion, will get only 20 per cent.

Louis, who has been in preliminary training at West Baden, Ind., will move to Pompton Lakes, N. J., at the end of this month for the serious phase of his workouts.

Donald Campbell, who hopes to regain the world water speed record for Britain, had a close call during a trial run Thursday.

Campbell said the cooling system of his boat broke down as he was entering the measured mile at well over 140 miles an hour. The 2,400 horsepower engine would have seized up, probably causing a crash, if his 50-year-old chief mechanic, Leo Villa, hadn't noticed it and brought it to his attention in time. As it was, the engine was ruined.

Good Time, from the stable of William H. Cane of Goshen, N. Y. set a world record for pacers over the mile and one-half track on Thursday night in winning the $25,000 Yonkers Derby.

The time of 3:08 flat bettered the mark of 3:09 set by Jimmy Creed at Roosevelt Raceway, Westbury, N. Y., in 1944.

Johnny Mitchell, 48, business manager of Pittsburgh Hornets, signed a two-year contract Thursday as coach and general manager of St. Louis Flyers of the American Hockey League. He will succeed Ebbie Goodfellow, who resigned to take a job as a coach with Chicago Black Hawks.

The world speed skating championships for men will be held at Davos, Switzerland, Feb. 10-11, the International Skating Union announced Thursday.

World figure skating championships for men, women and couples will be held at Milan Feb 23-25, while European speed skating championships are scheduled for Oslo Jan. 27-28 and the European figure skating in Zurich Feb. 2-4.

Bermuda's touring cricket team ran into stiff competition Thursday before downing St. Catharines 144-122.

The visitors started poorly and lost two wickets for only five runs. A strong stand by W. Simmins with 21 and captain Hunt with 20 sent them into a good lead. Crowley, with 38, led the St. Catharines batsmen.

The amazing progress of 44-year-old Harry Hopman of Australia, and Chicago veteran Seymour Greenberg who joined forces only four days ago, in the United States doubles tennis tournament continued in high-gear Thursday at Brookline, Mass., when they gained the semi-final round.

Those oldsters, who hit their peaks more than a decade ago, battled almost three hours under a blistering sun to subdue Mervyn Rose, 20, and George Worthington 21, of Australia, in a highly exciting quarter-finals engagements by 7-9, 15-13, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4 margine.

Joey Maxim of Cleveland world's light-heavyweight champion, will referee an amateur fight card in Hamilton Wednesday. The main bout will match Gordon Wallace of Brantford, Canadian amateur middle weight champion, with Rufus King of Windsor.

Charles Underdog In Fight Bet

NEW YORK, Aug. 18—(AP)—Ezzard Charles, the N.B.A.-recognized heavyweight king, will be the underdog Sept. 27 when he meets Joe Louis at Yankee Stadium. First odds offered were 3 to 1 that the Brown Bomber, now 36, would recapture the title he surrendered 18 months ago.

Charles, 29, never has made a hit with the public. He was too cautious the night he beat Jersey Joe Walcott to win recognition. He was dull and unimpressive Tuesday night at Buffalo when he stopped Freddie Beshore of Harrisburg, Pa., in the 14th.

Nobody knows if Louis still can fight. Walcott almost beat him in their first meeting. Many still think Jersey Joe won. But the Bomber knocked him out the second time around. He hasn't had a real fight since that second Walcott bout June 25, 1948.

Eddie Eagon, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, said the winner would be recognized as world champ in New York. Charles, champion in 47 states, never has been crowned in New York.

Hamilton Teams In Semi-Finals

TORONTO, Aug. 18 (CP). — Three Hamilton teams reached the semi-finals Thursday in one of two top events of doubles competition in the Ontario Provincial Lawn Bowling tournament.

The competition, North America's largest, started Monday with 512 bowlers from Ontario, Quebec and the United States.

Going into the stretch for the Townsend-Clark trophy, main doubles event, three Hamilton entries and one from Toronto Rosholme still were in the running.

In the second of the four doubles events, the Parker Pen trophy, pairs from Brooklyn, N. Y., Cleveland, O., and Beamsville, Ont., vied with an entry from Toronto Withrow Club.

Meanwhile, play reached the third round in the Birks-Ellis-Ryrie and Rennie trophies hunt.

Finals in the doubles will be played this afternoon.

Red Wings Club Syracuse For 14-3 Win

By The Associated Press

St. Louis Cardinals have a fine-looking pitching prospect in 23-year-old Ken Wild, now toiling for Rochester in the International League.

The young righthander, a home town product signed by the Cards following his graduation from St. Louis University, is the ranking pitcher in the loop.

Beaten only once in 11 decisions Wild racked up his 10th triumph Thursday night as his league-leading Red Wing mates clubbed three Syracuse hurlers for an easy 14-3 victory. He gave up only seven hits.

Outfielder Russ Derry, former Yankee and Cardinal player, clouted his 27th homer and a single to bat in five runs. His homer came with the bases loaded his third this season.

In Second Place

Montreal Royals moved into second place by whipping Jersey City 8-3. Joe Landrum spaced eight hits for his third in a row since he was sent down by Brooklyn. Don Thompson paced the Royals' 16-hit attack with five hits in as many times.

Bill Voiselle pitched Springfield Cubs to a 7-3 triumph over Buffalo Bisons.

Bobby Rhawn's 10th inning single drove in the two runs that gave Toronto an 8-6 victory over Baltimore. Paul Stuffel was credited with the victory.

Said Responsible For Man's Death

GRENVILLE, Que., Aug. 18 —(CP)—A coroner's court jury Thursday night found Rene Duval, 20, of Vankleek Hill, Ont., criminaly responsible for the death of fellow-townsman, Rodrique Dewar, 22, who died following an automobile accident near here last Sunday.

Witnesses at the inquest told the court that Dewar was a passenger in an automobile owned and driven by Duval when it went out of control and overturned on the highway a mile east of this Lower Ottawa Valley community. Dewar was thrown from the car and suffered a fatal fractured skull.

Provincial police officers testified the auto had been speeding on a dangerous curve.

Duval was taken into custody of the provincial police and was transferred to cells at nearby St. Jerome, pending trial.

BOMBAY, Aug. 18 (AP)—Police battled thousands of striking textile workers and arrested 50 strike leaders in India's largest industrial city Thursday. The Socialist-led strikers defied a police ban against holding processions and meetings in the factory area. The strike of 150,000 workers for more pay has closed down a number of Bombay's mills.

Teachers Stress Different Angle

SASKATOON, Aug. 18—(CP)—A suggestion that the Canadian Teachers' Federation is spending too much time on the "protective" side of education met opposition Thursday at the C.T.F. convention.

Ontario delegates said in a resolution that the Federation should concentrate on the "professional" rather than the "protective" angle of education. The resolution was referred to the incoming board of directors.

Main opposition came from two British Columbia delegates, H. D. Dee and J. Allan Spragge.

Mr. Dee emphasis on the "professional" side and on education research would "emasculate" the organization.

Mr. Spragge said he did not like the distinction between the two sides of education. Protective considerations such as salaries and pensions were just as much for the "good of education" as professional considerations.

The Ontario delegation had moved that the Federation set up an office for education research and "change the national policy from emphasis on provincial matters to emphasis on educational matters."

Elected President

SASKATOON, Aug. 18, (CP)—E. T. Wiggins of Didsbury, Alta., Thursday was elected president of the Canadian Teachers' Federation at its annual convention here. He succeeds Dr. Bernice MacNaughton of Moncton, NB. Re-elected vice-president was Tom Parker, Halifax.

The winning band had a total of 93 points. Second with 87 points, was Guelph band, directed by Ted Denver.

Dundas police boys' band, with 85 points, ended up third. Bandmaster Percy Hawkes and his young musicians were complimented on "good playing." The Chatham band had 81 points.

INDEPENDENT TESTS PROVE THAT

B-A 98 GASOLINE GIVES MORE POWER

Mr. Fred Ainsworth, Vice-Pres. of Ainsworth Motors in Toronto, Chevrolet-Oldsmobile Dealer, tested his own car before and after it was tuned to use B-A 98. Here is what Mr. Ainsworth discovered:

"The road horsepower (power output) of my automobile was 53 (at 2,000 R.P.M.) before being 'set up' to take full advantage of B-A 98 Gasoline.

At the completion of the tune-up, I was able to obtain 66 road horsepower (at 2,000 R.P.M.)—an increase of 24½% in power output!"

Six different cars were tested before and after. Each one showed an increase in power output of at least 15%. New B-A 98 Gasoline does give you greater power, proven by actual tests. It enables you to tune your car to greater power output than ever before. You get faster, smoother acceleration and no power-robbing knock. Drive into your neighborhood B-A dealer and fill up with new B-A 98. You can feel the difference in power and performance. On sale at the sign of the big B-A.

Only Fraction Of Suits Filed For Noronic Fire

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 18 (AP) —Eleven months after the cruise ship Noronic burned at her Toronto dock, only a fraction of the expected damage suits have been filed. Estimates of the amount to be demanded run as high as $16,500,000.

Many of the claims for death, personal injury or loss of property have not reached the filing stage because of a legal battle in federal court here on the question of whether all claims shall be centred here. The federal court for northern Ohio has ruled it has jurisdiction. Pending an appeal on that point, claimants have been given until next Jan. 2 to get their suits into court.

Last Sept. 17 the Noronic disaster took 119 lives. Fire trapped most of the victims in their staterooms. Many of the 524 passengers were on a pleasure cruise from Cleveland and Detroit.

The steamship line has filed a petition for limited liability in the federal court here. This would place a maximum amount in suits which the line could be forced to pay.

170 File Suits

About 170 persons have filed suits asking nearly $6,500,000. These suits include about one-sixth of the death claims, along with other claims for personal injury and loss of property. These persons recognize the jurisdiction of the court, but they disagree that the steamship lines' liability should be limited.

Another group, organized under the name "Noronic survivors' committee," hired five lawyers, three from Cleveland and two from Detroit, to battle the Lines' petition. This committee says it represents about 260 additional claims. The lawyers say they have no exact figure for the amount of damages to be asked, but that they may total nearly $10,000,000.

Potential claimants in Canada have filed no damage suits in Ontario as yet, but there is no time limit there for filing. Two suits against the company have been filed in Montreal, on behalf of the vessels' employees.

Can Be Limited

Under admiralty law of both countries involved, a steamship company's liability can be limited according to the vessel's size. Under Canadian law there is a formula for determining the vessel's legal tonnage, and this figure is multiplied by $72.95. In the case of the Noronic, the total liability would be $448,409. Under American law, the figure a ton is $60 and the size is figured a little differently, so that the total would be about $50,000 less. The steamship company has posted bond for the higher amount in Federal court here.

If the courts should determine that the liability is limited, any damages would have to be prorated among all the claimants.

Eastern Nations Afraid Of West -Correspondent

LAKE COUCHICHING, Ont., Aug. 1—(CP)—Harold Isaacs, Far East correspondent for Newsweek Magazine, said Thursday that the United States should have learned by now that "muscles gets us nowhere."

He told the convention of the Canadian Institute of Public Affairs that the U.S. has failed to realize what is going on in Asia.

"We've got to stop acting like a muscle-bound idiot," he said. "Somehow we've got to make sense, and I mean moral sense."

In the minds of Asiatics, the U.S. could easily become likened to European imperialist nations at their worst.

In Korea, for example, the Communists put land reforms into effect immediately in captured territory.

"Where do you think that leaves the farmers of the south?" he asked. "Where do you think their allegiance lies now in spite of the Russian officers in their country?"

Fear of western imperialism was greater in Asia than fear of Russia, he said.

No. 1 Paris Strip-Tease Girl Becomes Franciscan Novice

PARIS, Aug. 18 (Reuters) — The No. 1 strip-tease girl at the Casino de Paris in 1901 has become a Franciscan novice at the age of 77.

Turn-of-the-century playboys heaved a sigh and a gasp this week when they heard about Cecile Sorel.

Indefatigable Cecile was the girl who filled the naughties of music halls during the first two decades of the century.

Last week she drove away from the luxurious Hotel du Palais in Biarritz to be invested with the insignia of the third order of Franciscans at a nearby Capuchin convent.

The conversion of France's No. 1 gaiety girl, who once boasted that she did enough in a week to keep six gossip columists and their wives and children living for a month, had been kept a close secret.

Cecile left her hotel in her chauffeur-driven limousine dressed in a black robe, torn away at the knees in sign of humility.

Father Remy of the Capuchin convent tied round her waist the white Franciscan cord of purity and austerity, and enjoined her: "Abandon the life of the world, show proof of humility, lead at all times the simple and austere life taught to us by St. Francis of Assisi and his disciples."

Placed On Probation

Cecile was placed on probation for a year, at the end of which Father Remy will decide whether she is fit to complete her novitate in a Franciscan convent.

Cecile Sorel's ample bust and long retrousse nose were in prewar years the most cartooned features of the Parisian theatrical world.

Cecile tore up her contract with the Comedie Francaise in 1901 when the Casino de Paris offered her a fabulous salary to walk down thir newly-constructed stage staircase in the role of "Eve in the Garden of Eden." She took Paris by storm.

Delighted Paris

Noted for her caustic and biting wit and her ribald sallies, Cecile delighted Paris in 1926 when, at the age of 53, she married young actor-peer Count Segur and became a countess.

Cartoonist Andre Rouveyre decided to display his own wit in 1907 when he exhibited at the humorists' salon an unflattering portrait of Cecile.

She sent for Rouveyre "to congratulate him." When he arrived, Cecile, without a bat of an eyelid, lifted the picture neatly off its hook and rapped it smartly over the artist's head.

300 Rush To Stake Diamond Grounds

CAPE TOWN, Aug. 18. (AP)—Three hundred men and women raced Thursday to stake claims in diamond-rich ground near Bloemhof on the Vaal River in the Transvaal. A mining commissioner drew names and numbers from a box and as he announced the result diggers, held behind a barbed wire fence, ran to peg their 45-foot-square claims. Two men fainted just before their names were called.

Toronto Hotel Strike Looms

TORONTO, Aug. 18 (CP) — Union spokesmen said Thursday night a strike of the 1,200 employees of Toronto's Royal York Hotel, the largest in Canada, will be called unless an order laying off 400 employees is rescinded. The hotel is owned by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The lay-off notices were sent out because of an expected drop in business if strikes are called on Canadian railways Aug. 22. Emanuel Schofield, the union spokesman, said he had been told by hotel manager J. Johnston.

Mr. Schofield, representative of the Hotel, Restaurant and Beverage Dispensers Union (AFL-TLC) said the union regards the move as a lock-out. He said all union members—including bell boys, elevator operators, maids, office staff, chefs and waiters—would be pulled off the job unless the order is withdrawn.

The lay-off order is to take effect Tuesday—date set for the railway strike.

Didn't Play Fair

IDAR-OBERSTEIN, Germany, Aug. 18 (Reuters)—Willi Schmitz, former German prize fighter who recently went on a 50-day fast in a sealed glass cage, faced a court on charges of felony, theft, and embezzlement. Schmitz was made commissioner of the town by occupation forces for a few months in 1945. The prosecution Thursday alleged he had misused this position to his personal advantage.

India Asks Reds To Leave Tibet Alone

By STEVEN V. DAVID

NEW DELHI, Aug 18 (AP) — A foreign ministry source said today India has made overtures to Communist China in an effort to preserve the political independence of Tibet.

A Chinese Nationalist defence spokesman declared in Taipei, Formosa, that Chinese Red troops now are moving toward an invasion of Tibet from the east and north. He said the troops from east were under one-eyed Gen. Lieu-pocheng.

The foreign ministry source said India has expressed the hope to Communist China that the status of Tibet will be settled by friendly negotiations. India would be pleased, he said, if the negotiations resulted in a continuance of the status quo. For many years, Tibet has been politicall; independent, although under nominal Chinese rule.

The Chinese Communists have offered Tibet "regional autonomy" if the Tibetan ruler, the Dalai Lama, and his government join the Chinese Red regime peacefully. The Tibetans were invited to send a delegation to Peiping to work out details.

A delegation came to India several months ago, en route to China but was unable to get a British visa for Hong Kong.

The ministry source said Tibet suggested to Peiping some time ago that negotiations be held in New Delhi between the Tibetan delegation, now at Kalimpong, Sikkim, on the Indo-Tibet border, and the Communist Chinese ambassador, who is expected here shortly.

Ontario Roads Impress Delegates

TORONTO, Aug. 18.—A touring group of representatives of Britain's vast Automobile Association Thursday visited the Parliament Buildings with Highways Minister Doucett and discussed with him and others traffic problems here and in Great Britain.

Although primarily on a good will tour of Canada and the United States, the visitors also are studying road building, repair and mantenance methods on this continent, parking problems and the approach to them, and other highway matters. They also intend to encourage more people to spend more time in Britain while visiting Europe.

The delegation, Mr. Doucett reported later, spoke favorably of Ontario roads they had seen. They were impressed with the fact that Ontario was spending more on road building than the revenue it got directly from motorists. Ontario was building more and better roads than England, they told Mr. Doucett.

Heads Delegation

Heading the delegation was Sir Frank Newson-Smith, Lord Mayor of London in 1933-44, and vice-chairman of the Automobile Association.

In the group was Sir Peirson Frank, member of the A.A. executive, who was chief engineer of the London County Council during the war and in charge of such vital services as transportation, gas and electricity.

A cable received during the day by W. V. Gibson, general secretary, said the association had just signed member 1,000,001.

Mediaeval Ways On Way Out In Afghanistan

By M. SIVARAM

KABUL, Aug. 18—(Reuters)—Afghanistan, the mountain-locked kingdom of the warlike Afghans, now is in a state of transition from the mediaeval to the modern.

Twentieth century institutions are gradually making inroads in this fabled country which is still, basically, reminiscent of the Arabian nights.

In dust-swept Kabul, set amid snow-clad mountains, one still sees more camels than cars. But Kabul has no housing problem and no beggars. Under its active mayor, the city's slums have been cleared and modern-type buildings have sprung up.

Spurred by the impact of world events and stimulated by the popular urge for progress, this land of rugged hills and trigger-conscious tribesmen is making a bold bid for political, social and economic reforms.

Modern System

The time-honored benevolent autocracy of Afghanistan is steadily giving way to a modern system of constitutional monarchy. The King and members of the Royal family still hold sway but the people are coming into their own.

The Afghan parliament, which existed only in name for two decades, is now emerging from an ornamental assembly of favored yes-men to its rightful place as the forum of the common man and the highest political tribunal of the land.

Strategically located between the oil-rich Middle East, the Indian sub-continent and Russia, Afghanistan is emerging from her self-imposed isolation to take her place in resurgent Asia.

But the pace of progress is necessarily slow. The Afghans in general seem to prefer a slow process of evolution to a drastic revolution.

The first really free general elections in Afghanistan took place some months ago. It returned to power a number of "progressives" who had spent years in jail as political prisoners.

President of the Afghan parliament, Abdul Habi Davi, is an ex-political prisoner. He was in jail for 14 years for criticizing the Royal family. But Davi and his "rebel group" are today working in close co-operation with the government.

Although primarily a Moslem state, Afghanistan has no problem of religious minorities. Non-Moslems control the bulk of Kabul's trade and industry and they are treated as Afghans first and last.

The Afghans are fanatic only in one respect—in defending their national freedom and sovereignty. Afghanistan is Oriental to the core but its policy has always been to absorb the best from as many Occidental countries as possible.

Buck RCMP Dog Gets His Man

BRANDON, Man., Aug. 18 (CP) —A two-day search by army, police dog and RCAF helicopter put John Danac, no fixed address, in court Thursday.

Fifth Army men from Camp Shilo, Man., and an RCAF helicopter from Rivers, Man., helped police hunt for a man who attacked Mrs. James Ward in the Treesbank area, 40 miles southeast of here.

But it was Buck, an RCMP dog, who flushed Danac from heavy bush near the spot where Mrs. Ward had been berrypicking.

Charged with assault causing grievous bodily harm, Danac was remanded for a week.

Britons Raise Fund For Marx Memorial

LONDON (CP).—A campaign has been launched in Britain for funds to erect a monument to Karl Marx. Officials of the Marx Memorial Library, sponsoring the scheme, have proposed that "a fitting memorial" be placed over the German philosopher's grave in London's Highgate Cemetery.

The appeal for subscriptions was issued to "working class and other progressive organizations and individuals to whom the name of Karl Marx is dear."

Present plans call for a memorial simple in design and incorporating the original slab bearing the names of Marx and members of his family. The ashes of his daughter, Eleanor, are also to be placed in the monument.

Churchill Doesn't Wave Cool Meeting With Attlee

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Aug. 18— (CP) — Britain's opposiiton parties Thursday continued a pressure campaign which has the general aim of focussing attention on defense measures.

Conservative Leader Winston Churchill will be on the air Aug. 26 to explain why he thinks parliament should be recalled immediately. The Liberals issued a statement critical of the government's unwillingness to do so.

The moves followed Prime Minister Attlee's curt refusal, in a meeting Thursday with Churchill, Liberal Leader Clement Davies and deputy Conservative leader Anthony Eden, to advance the date for the recall of parliament.

Attlee stood by his decision that members should reassemble Sept. 12. Summer recess nominally was to have lasted until Oct. 17.

Churchill and Davies are understood to feel strongly that the government canot afford to wait until mid-September to discuss the dangerous international situation and outline what steps it is taking.

Political writers noted that when Churchill left 10 Downing St. Thursday after seeing Attlee, he did not even bother to wave acknowledgment to the cheering crowds.

This was widely interpreted as an indication that the exchange of views among party leaders may have been a little chilly.

Churchill recently cancelled a scheduled holiday in Biarritz, France. He is said to be dividing his time between his war memoirs and a careful study of defense matters.

Preliminary plans for Britain's new defense spending program were discussed by Economic Affairs Minister Hugh Gaitskell, industrialists and trade union leaders.

Gaitskell sought advice on the best way to swing British economy toward the new requirements.

Office Machines Do Nearly Everything Now

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor.

They say you can get a machine to do every job in an office except to tuck letters into an envelope. Apparently that has to be done by a girl, or boy, or even the boss himself.

Who says this? The makers of office machines, of course, as quoted by a release from the National Office Management Association, Toronto Branch.

The reason for the release is that NOMA is spnsoring a big display of office machines at the Canadian National Exhibition, with exhibits from 35 firms.

Some Examples

Here ore some things the release tells about:

A device which folds letters or booklets into almost any shape you can dream up. A stamping machhine which will sign the cheques.

An office communication system which has been sold, not only to office, but to dog kennels and cattle stables. Purpose: If thieves come around, the barking or the bellowing will wake you up and you can get out the shotgun.

Exhibition dates are August 25 to September 9, but there will be a two-day preview August 23-24 if you go to NOMA or the telegraph companies for complimentary tickets.

Industrial Expansion

Here is a capsule picture of the sort of industrial expansion that is going on in Canada. In the one Township of Scarboro, Toronto suburb, six companies will build plants within the next two years which will cost $12,500,000 and employ some 4,000 people. They include:

Rootes Motors (Canada) Ltd., 32-acre site on which they will start immediately a 40,000 square foot group of buildings for Rootes British cars and trucks.

Frigidaire Products of Canada, Ltd., 86-acre site for a $7,500,000 plant.

Canada Foils, Ltd., $2,000,000 plant; Canada Glazed Papers, Ltd. $800,000 head office and plant; Canada Metal Co., Ltd., 15-acre site for factory.

Continental Can Ltd. Plant Accepts Master Contract

TORONTO, Aug. 18 (CP) — Continental Can Company of Canada Ltd., agreed Thursday to lump its 450 Toronto-area employees in a master agreement that the parent company, Continental Can of the United States, has with the United Steelworkers of America (CIO).

A union spokesman said that the agreement, which ends a 37-day strike at three local plants, is "most significant." It is the first time in Canadian labor history that a Canadian subsidiary of a U.S. company has agreed to have its workers covered by such a master agreement.

The U.S. company has some 16,000 employees in 27 plants. The Canadian firm has one plant in Toronto, three in suburban New Toronto and one in Montreal. The Montreal plant and one of the New Toronto factories are not covered by Thursday's pact.

The 450 local employees will come under the master agreement at April 15, 1951.

10-Cent Boost

Meanwhile, they will receive a 10-cent hourly wage boost retroactive to last June 10, plus another five cents retroactive to various dates in June, 1949, and September, 1949. The effective dates varied because they were decided in relation to previous contractions which covered the three individual plants.

The general 10-cent raise and the five-cent hoists, which were recommended by the majority of a conciliation board which tried unsuccessfully to avert the strike, bring the hiring rate at the three plants to 95 cents an hour.

In addition, workers will receive company-paid $55 monthly pensions at age 65 after 25 years' service and lesser amounts according to length of service from 15 years upward.

The agreement provides one week's vacation after one year's service, two after five, three after 15 and four after 25. Shift differential is boosted from five to eight cents an hour. Because of the wage increases, union officials said, life-insurance and sick-benefit payments are increased.

Board Grants Summer Theatre Week Extension

Extension for one week of the Summer Theatre's stay at Queen Mary auditorium was approved Thursday by the Board of Education. The extra week will be Sept. 4-9.

Request for the extension came from the Centennial Committee, which is co-operating with the theatre for the presentation of Robertson Davies' latest play "At My Heart's Core".

Two conditions were included in the granting of approval—one, that the stage, hallways and kindergarten be cleared, and that the theatre people not move in until 7 p.m. each day of the extra week.

When the question was brought up before the supervision committee, board chairman F. H. Jobbitt suggested that the summer theatre be offered the collegiate auditorium as it will seat twice as many as Queen Mary auditorium.

Sets For Queen Mary

Dr. R. C. Honey pointed out that the sets had all been cut for the Queen Mary stage and that some difficulty might result from a transfer.

"Besides that," said Dr. Honey, "it isn't every year that a play is written for a community, covering the history and background of the city."

Mrs. Paige Rowell said the board had been asked only to decide whether to let the theatre have Queen Mary auditorium. "I don't think it's up to us to offer suggestions."

Dr. Russell Morgan moved that the theatre be allowed the extra week at Queen Mary. Mr. Jobbitt moved an amendment, that they be offered the collegiate auditorium. The amendment was defeated and the original motion passed.

This having been passed in supervision committee, it then came before the full board, when Dr. Ross Matthews moved the recommendation and Mrs. Rowell seconded.

Muskie Better 22 Lbs. Taken From Sturgeon

Lloyd Richards of Lindsay caught a 22-lb. 2-oz. maskinonge while fishing yesterday evening in Sturgeon Lake with his brother Ronald and A. E. (Bert) Hick, well-known sportsman.

The fish, one of the largest to be taken this season, battled for over one hour on light casting tackle. It was finally brought to the side of the boat exhausted, gaffed, hauled in and sat on by the proud fisherman.

"I've fished for 13 years to get such a fish," Mr. Richards said.

No Longer Need Refuse Patients Bed In Hospital

Civic Hospital had to refuse 28 patients admission during July and during June the figure was 49. The monthly average of refusals during 1949 was 45 but this situation is expected to disappear entirely, now that the new hospital is open.

This was reported by J. M. Hornal, superintendent of the hospital, at the Board of Governors meeting Thursday.

There are at present 89 adults and 24 babies in the new Civic Hospital and it will not be long before the old building will be entirely evacuated, Mr. Hornal said. When that has been accomplished, the Queen Mary branch will be evacuated, he reported.

A letter which gave great pleasure to the board was signed by Dr. W. McCutcheon of the radiology department.

"The staff of the department of radiology are so thrilled to be established in the new Peterborough Civic Hospital that we can no longer wait to extend our great appreciation," the letter states.

"You have provided the finest accommodation and equipment that can be desired and we in turn consider it our privilege and duty to provide a radiological service of the highest order to every patient who comes to this magnificent hospital."

The nurses' residence is not yet being used, Mr. Hornal said, in reply to a question from one of the board members. The first 25 beds have been promised by Tuesday and the remainder before the end of the month, he said. He thought the first nurses would move in some time next week.

Nursing Registry Community Fund Job Says Hospital

Civic Hospital Board of Governors decided Thursday that it was not in a position to make a grant to the Community Nursing Registry, which appealed last month for financial assistance from the hospital. The registry said that unless it was helped financially, it would not be able to continue.

Mayor M. J. Swanston said that when the city council was approached in the spring, it had felt that the registry should be a Community Chest project.

The Hospital Board of Governors endorsed this view and decided to recommend to the registry that it approach the Community Chest.

All members of the Hospital Board said they were sympathetic to the registry's request for funds. The hospital used the registry but there were many other bodies in the community which also used it.

Use The Service

A letter written by Sister M. Gonzaga, secretary of the nursing registry and Mrs. M. Pringle, registrar, listed the following bodies which used the registry:

Nursing homes, the Bell Telephone Company, industries and factories, Civic Arena, YMCA, Police (street accidents, drownings, criminal cases), drug stores, funeral homes, private citizens, alcoholics, tourists, doctors subscribing to the registry and members of the county medical who did not subscribe.

The letter also stated that 1949 revenue had been $2,839 and expenditure had been $2,764.63. The 1950 budget was an expenditure of $5,079 and an income of $3,714, which left a deficit of $1,365.60.

J. M. Hornal, superintendent of the hospital, reported he had written to five other Ontario hospitals to enquire whether they made grants to their local registries. Only one out of the five gave financial assistance.

Drop Murder Charge Woman In Hospital

SUDBURY, Aug. 18—(CP)—A 56-year-old woman accused of the fatal shooting of her husband left here Thursday night under escort for a mental hospital in Toronto.

A charge of murder against Mrs. Ellen McKay, whose husband, William, 56, was slain as he slept at their Manitoulin Island tourist lodge Aug. 4, was withdrawn Thursday.

Defence counsel L. A. Landreville said today the decision was taken after Mrs. McKay had been examined by psychologists. She had been treated last winter for a mental illness, Mr. Landreville said.

With No Direct Evidence Available Man Escapes Third Offender Charge

Four years ago last May, Wesley Johnston, River Rd., pleaded guilty to having liquor illegally, and was remanded for sentence to May 13, 1946. He didn't appear then and a warrant issued for his arrest.

Today, Magistrate Philp fined Johnston $10 and $2.50 costs after Johnston again pleaded guilty to the charge.

The charge in 1946 listed Johnston as a third offender, but today crown counsel Walter Howell offered no evidence on the two previous convictions, both of which were said to be in 1945.

Johnston said he didn't remember the two previous convictions, but said "I guess they are right." Magistrate Philp said the court couldn't accept a guess, and Johnston thereby escaped a three month sentence.

Ten Horse Races Planned For Exhibition

All classes in the Peterborough Exhibition racing events next week are filled, Charles Quinlan, chairman of the horse racing events has announced.

Three classes out of the 10 are over the regulation number of entries. Thirteen horses have been entered in Thursday's 2:30 trot and pace for a purse of $200 and nine in the evening's 2:24 trot and pace for $250. The 2:22 trot and pace event scheduled for Saturday afternoon for $250 has nine entrants and the fastest event of the three-day meet, the free-for-all in the evening for $300, has seven.

Lowest number of entries is in Friday evening's 2:22 trot for $300, only three horses. The 2:27 and the 2:17 events for Friday each have five horses while the opening class Friday, the 2:20, has six entries. Only four horses have been entered in the 2:15 class Thursday. Six have been entered in Saturday's 2:28 class for $200.

Coming From Thorncliffe

All the events are expected to have the full number, eight, by the time the Exhibition opens Wednesday. A number of horses are expected to arrive in the city early next week from the Thorncliffe race track when racing closes Saturday. Taking an optimistic view officials said that there may be a surplus of horses here. These will then fill any gaps in the events should any horses be scratched before race time.

To date well over 50 horses have been entered in the various classes. Aside from the large number of local entries from the Peterborough district stables, Stan Blewett, Milton Post, Hugh Davis and Charlie Quinlan, entries have been received from Gatineau, Quebec, Kingston, Arnprior, Smiths Falls, Cobourg, Oshawa and Brighton.

Officials are hoping to add another event to the exhibition's racing schedule. Wednesday night if enough horses enter, a special race will be held for local stables. The prize money has not been set as yet. If this race is held, the number of races will be 12 over the 4-day race meet, as a consolation race for Saturday night is also scheduled.

A round-the-world trip by plane to sell more Canadian flour abroad is the job James Wharry, vice-president and assistant general manager of the Quaker Oats has started on.

He left San Francisco today on the first leg of his trip, which will include visits to Honolulu, the Philippines, Hong Kong, Singapore, Bangkok, and other eastern ports.

The return trip will be made via Europe and London, England. Mr. Wharry has the rest of August and all of September to sell flour and see the world. He is expected back in Peterborough about the end of September.

Blue Cross Paid $116,051 In One Year

Blue Cross assisted patients at both Peterborough hospitals during 1949 to the extent of $116,051.51. J. M. Hornal, superintendent of the Civic Hospital, has announced that the Blue Cross plan for hospital care provided subscriber hospital benefits totalling $62,624 at the Civic Hospital during last year and Sister St John reports the figure at St. Joseph's was $53,427.51.

More than ten million dollars was provided throughout Ontario during that year and the total amount provided since the plan began in 1941, is $32,000,000.

The Blue Cross Plan for Hospital Care is the hospitals' own Plan inaugurated in Ontario on March 17, 1941, said Mr. Hornal, to bridge the gap between the cost of hospital care and the average patient's pocketbook. This plan has made it possible for thousands of residents to obtain hospital care without going into debt or becoming civic charges.

Sign Removed

An unpopular stop sign on the Bridgenorth highway at its intersection with the Chemong causeway road from Ennismore township has disappeared from its post.

Stop signs were put up some time ago commanding motorists travelling north and south on the Bridgenorth road to stop. Cars coming up the hill from the causeway were given the right of way.

Many drivers in the village and in Chemong park didn't like the signs a bit. Wednesday the sign ordering north bound traffic to stop had fallen off or been torn off.

First Donation In Aid Of Bobby Clark

The Examiner has received for the Bobbie Clark Fund a contribution of $5 from Madill & Post Garage, 224 Hunter St. west.

This fund has been sponsored by the Women's Institute of Warsaw, and is framed in full responsibility to the public.

Bobby Clark is the Warsaw boy who lost his left arm as a result of a fall from a tree. It had to be amputated at the shoulder. Background circumstances tend to accentuate the appeal on behalf of this boy.

They are known particularly by Mr. John Rogers of Ashburnham who has interested himself in the endeavor of the Warsaw women to provide financial assistance for Bobby Clark.

There are many citizens of Peterborough, and also of the county, whose kindly spirit would be practically influenced if they knew the boy's background, apart from actual reports which have been published since his operation at Civic Hospital.

The Examiner will receive local contributions which will be forwarded to the Women's Institute of Warsaw.

Wind Damages Big Neon Sign

A neon sign attached to the Williamson Bros. Motor Sales garage building, 500 George St. S., fell Thursday afternoon.

Damage estimated at $1,200 was caused when this sign, weighing approximately 400 pounds, was caught by a gust of wind, ripped away from its supports, and crashed to the ground tearing away a projection of cement blocks at the top of the garage. Damage was also caused to a plate glass window that was cracked.

Fortunately no one was near the front of the garage when the sign came down.

The Williamson Motor Sales is owned jointly by two brothers, Morris and Elmore Williamson.

Post Office and Industry In Peterborough Get Ready In Case of Railroad Strike

With a railroad strike hanging over the heads of Canadians, threatening to prostrate their economy from coast to coast, plans are already being made in Peterborough and other cities, towns and villages across the country, to cope with the emergency. The local post office has received instructions which it will announce only if it becomes certain nothing will avert the strike set for Tuesday.

Thursday post offices in Ontario stopped accepting all except first class mail for British Columbia and Newfoundland. The same ban went on for mail addressed to Alberta this afternoon. Saturday the ban will be extended to mail destined for Saskatchewan and Manitoba, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island.

The local post office will not accept anything but first class mail being sent to points in Ontario west of North Bay and west of Toronto after Saturday.

The Peterborough Post Office is working on a ban schedule drawn up for Ottawa. It stops mail being accepted Sunday for points east of North Bay and Toronto in Ontario as well as points east of Montreal in Quebec. On Monday the ban closes down on mail going to the last open section, that west of Montreal.

The only exceptions to this ban are parcels to or from doctors containing drugs, analysis samples or articles of a similar nature.

"Quaker Oats Company would probably have to shut down in 24 hours," Lewis H. Ingram, vice-president, commented to the Examiner today.

"We could maintain our distribution of feeds by truck to farmers, but outside of that we have to depend on the railway freight service."

A practical, if hypothetical question, confronting Quaker Oats was: "On eastern shipments we might not get farther than Montreal after Saturday".

No Storage Space

The company hasn't surplus storage space. The mill has been running 24 hours a day on flour and feeds. Cessation of railway haulage would almost immediately hold up flour business, and, in turn, the feed department is dependent on the flour mill.

Embargo Put On

Both railways slapped express embargos into effect late Thursday. The embargos will affect perishable goods such as livestock, live poultry, as well as silver and gold bullion and currency which could not possibly be delivered before Monday noon.

Other shipments will be accepted only subject to delay. Notice of the embargo said it was effective immediately "on account of the possible work stoppage due to the current labor dispute."

The embargos went into effect at 11.59 Thursday night, and affects all Canadian railways which could be affected by the pending strike.

Buses Will Help

The Colonial Coach Lines office said that in the event of the strike starting, buses won't be able to cope with all the increased traffic, but they would handle everything and everyone they possibly could.

They will not be able to put on more bus coaches because there are none extra available.

No word has yet come through from their Montreal head office to indicate whether they will handle mail or not.

Railway unions, Thursday turned down a government plea to postpone the strike 30 days.

Peterborough Exhibition Next Week Offers $100 Top Prize For Best Bale of Hay — Classes Open For Nine Breeds Of Cattle — Big District Wheat Crop, But Some Smut Infected Deliveries Rejected By Millers — Black and White Day May Be Held At Keene.

Feterborough Exhibition next week, Aug. 22-26, promises to be the major agricultural event of the centennial anniversary of the city as a municipality.

As planned by the directors it should attract the biggest display of livestock and other farm products in the history of the Exhibition which as a fair antedates the organization of the city of Peterborough.

Classes have been set up for eight breeds of cattle, nine of sheep and three of swine, with the usual range of horses from carriage and hackneys to heavy draft.

The management has added a class for Dual Purpose Shorthorns for the first time, and G. A. Gillespie, secretary-manager, said yesterday: "The prospect is for quite a number of entries by dual purpose breeders." The other breeds are: dairy cattle — Holsteins, Ayrshires, Jerseys, Guernseys, and beef breeds: Herefords, Shorthorns and Aberdeen-Angus.

Livestock that are of direct utility in farming form the broad background of the exhibition, and in that practical connection the directors are offering another new class, generously endowed, for the best bales of cured hay. The top prize is $100, second is $50; and there are 12 prizes of $10 each.

Another section of the exhibition which has received special attention is the Flower Show. Peterborough Horticultural Society suspended its annual summer show this season in their desire to co-operate with the Exhibition directors. The weather has been rather favorable, and although many of the season's flowers have passed blooming, there should be a grand array of floral beauty.

William C. Wilks is chairman of the flower show, and his associates are Mrs. G. K. Fraser, C. H. Bacon, John Buckley, J. M. Burns, George East, Fred Storey.

For the Junior Farmers' section of the show on Thursday, Frank C. Paterson reported yesterday registration of 265 boys and girls from the seven counties extending from Prince Edward to Ontario. That number is considerably more than last year. The girls' group of whom there are 115 competing in the home-making classes meet in the market hall, but the other section is being accommodated at the Exhibition grounds.

Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Ontario's Minister of Agriculture, will formally open the fair Thursday afternoon. Wednesday is Children's Day, and the young folks of the county and city are being provided with free tickets to the grounds.

The midway show that was here last year has been re-engaged, presumably without any omissions from their set-up. The grandstand attractions have already been published. And as for the horse races beginning Wednesday night, Mr. Gillespie said he had more than 60 entries two days ago.

Industrial displays, including farm machinery, are more numerous than ever. Actual work of building booths was begun early this week.

Hugh Stewart and his directors devoted many meetings to the organizing of this Exhibition. Its success depends for the most part on exhibitors and the supporting public, and above them the weather man.

SOME SMUT IN WHEAT

The winter wheat crop is rolling to local mills from district farms within a radius of 25 to 35 miles from Peterborough.

Grain buyers are unanimous in their easy verdict of big volume and high quality. They all report some incidence of stinking smut causing rejection of entire deliveries in, fortunately, only a comparatively few cases. Trade opinion suggests that it is more serious than last year, for instance.

Three loads, for example, that went home to scattered localities, unpalatable even for feed, so it was said, totalled around 3,000 bushels. LeRoy Brown, agricultural representative in Victoria, said he knew of similar rejections in Lindsay. Millers wouldn't accept it, because it hadn't any value to them or anybody else.

"There are only a few cases that I've heard of in our county," Mr. Brown said yesterday. "It is usually a result of neglect to treat the wheat before seeding."

A local buyer who was perhaps hit worst and was pooh-poohing treatment the most, wanted to switch some of the blame to the weather.

However, other experience and official opinion agreed that seed treatment against smut was both effective and cheap, and was the practice of good farmers. One grower whose wheat crop loss from smut is likely to exceed $2,000, said seed treatment involved extra labor, or something to that effect.

For a cost of 30 cents an acre, one man risked his wheat crop, and after all his work and the expense of seed and seeding, he trucked a worthless lot of wheat to the mill.

Some of the wheat that was turned back was out of Durham. It wasn't all Peterborough product.

65 JERSEYS BRING $15,000

Twenty of the 65 Jerseys sold at auction near St. Thomas this week were destined for Alabama and Virginia. Other U.S. buyers attended from Indiana and Michigan. High price was $360 for a 28-month heifer consigned by George H. Innes of Woodstock and bought by R. B. Bent of Birmingham, Ala. Second high was $345 paid by John M. Hart of Haymarket, Va., for a 2-month heifer from the herd of Ainley Baker, Lambeth. Twenty-six cows averaged $247.60; 26 bred heifers $256.92; four open heifers averaged $162.50.

MINISTER HERE THURSDAY

Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Ontario's Minister of Agriculture, who opens Peterborough Exhibition next Thursday afternoon, celebrated his 72nd birthday Tuesday at his farm home, Dixie, with his family, including seven grandchildren.

Only once in his political life of 50 years has he been defeated, and there is no other member of Premier Frost's cabinet who is held in higher general esteem throughout the province than Col. Kennedy.

✦ ✦ ✦

PLOWING MATCH OCT. 5

The season is advancing toward the autumn plowing matches. Peterborough directors Wednesday night decided on Thursday, Oct. 5 for their county event. Location will be in the Indian River area.

Committee to select a field was named as follows: Alex Huston, William Thompson, Lyle McMillan, Stewart Hall, Cliff Curtis, Vern Campbell, Don McFarlane.

Henry Batten offered stubble ground for coaching juniors about Sept. 27. That detail has not been settled.

MAY SHOW AT KEENE

Peterborough Holstein Breeders are planning to hold their Black and White Day at Keene. A tentative date was mentioned, but it is understood that it may be changed to avoid conflict with the achievement day program of the junior clubs. Probably it will be around the end of September.

It is a long time since Keene has had any kind of agricultural show. Their fair with Jim Drummond as secretary possessed one of the finest natural properties in the district.

Black and White Day has been held for some years as a department of Lakefield Fair. The switch to Keene, if it goes through, might be a club gain in concentrating membership interest on their own breed, and showing the best animals of their herds.

Essentially that was the purpose of the late Robert Holtby in advocating that form of county competition. It encouraged more local breeders to show their stock against selections from their neighbors' herds.

120 ON BUS TOUR

Travelling in three buses and two cars, Durham county sent the largest delegation of 120 men and women to the Empire State Potato Field Day at the farm of Maurice Phelps, Chafee, N.Y.

Ed Summers, agricultural representative reports his potato growers had an opportunity of studying variety, plots, weed spraying, irrigation systems, spraying and dusting methods and so on. There was a big machinery display.

PAY FOR WEED CUTTING

Three cents a rod will be paid to farmers who cut roadside weeds where spraying has not been done in the Atwood area, western Ont. They decided through Mornington township council that this work should be encouraged to supplement spraying for weed control.

✦ ✦ ✦

HIGH OATS SCORE

R. Brodie Ness, manager of Lemoine Point Farms, had the high score of 94 points in the Kingston district field crop competition in oats.

$275,000 ADVERTISING FUND

Dairy Farmers of Canada are opening in November their advertising campaign for butter, cheese and milk. They expect to have a fund of $275,000 which represents a levy of one cent a pound on butterfat.

✦ ✦ ✦

AYRSHIRES TO IOWA

Middlesex Ayrshire Club recently exported 43 two-year Ayrshire heifers and two bulls to Iowa. They were delivered by truck and comprised the largest group of red and white cattle sold across the border from that area including St. Thomas and Listowel.

✦ ✦ ✦

VIOLATED MARKETING ACT

When producers adopt marketing regulations they are bound by restrictions that are aimed at orderly and controlled delivery of their products.

Because he sold new potatoes illegaly as defined by the Ontario Farm Products Marketing Act, Alfred Arner, Jr., a Harrow district farmer in the western section of the province, was fined last week $275, with the option of six months in jail. He violated provisions of that act which he and his associates accepted as a protection in the marketing of their crops.

He was required to sell potatoes only to licensed dealers. The Arner offence was the selling of new potatoes on the Windsor city market in July.

The Area Marketing Board, empowered by the Marketing Act, has authority to set prices and dates on which new potatoes could be put on the market.

Other commodities are sold under similar legislation for the advantage of agricultural producers, but such co-operative effort could not stand up effectually if freebooters were allowed to do as they individually decided.

✦ ✦ ✦

NOT DISMAYED BY CHAMPS

Competing against any world champion must be a discouraging venture, even in growing oats. But, eighteen farmers in Middlesex entered the 50-bushel Wheat Club against Alex and John Stewart, father and son, of Ailsa Craig, who share the title of "World Oats King." Their field score was 91 points as determined by Clark Young, of Millbrook. Second was Fred Brown, of Strathroy, at 88 ½points.

OTHER DAYS, other champions at the Peterborough Exhibition which returns to Morrow Park next week. They change in their pedigree identity from year to year, but otherwise they are of the same continuing breeds. At the left is the Grand Champion Hereford bull of a pre-war year from the herd of W. A. Crawford Frost of Nantong, Alta. Since then, incidentally, some of the John Stuart Herefords were bought for Crawford-Frost, at the Old Orchard Farm dispersals. Centre, is the Grand Champion Clydesdale mare owned by F. Batty & Sons of Brooklin, Ontario county. And, right, the Grand Champion Jersey cow owned by D. J. Begg of St. Thomas. These animals represent the sinew and substance of the Exhibition. They are gone with the intervening war years, but 1950 Grand Champions will be decided in the Judging here next week.

ABNER B. MARTIN, WEST MONTROSE, ONT., didn't realize that his Holstein heifer Dorothy Mercedes Lee Snow (above) had made a world record until it was drawn to his attention after she had completed her test. "Dorothy" produced 635 lbs. butterfat from 16,707 lbs. milk to become the world champion Holstein for butterfat production in the senior two-year-old class of the 305-day division. She was bred by Emmanuel W. Gerber, Millbank, Ont., and made the first five months of her record in the herd of Malcolm Davidson, Newton, Ont., who sold her to Mr. Martin.

Finds Perfect Contentment At Ontario Holiday Camp

By JACK SCOTT

RUSHING RIVER, Ont.—Lay in bed last night watching a couple of fire-flies on the window screen, testing their running lights and listened to the cool northern breeze whispering through the birches and the sound of the fishermen around the camp describing their day.

Our own day had been rewarding. Three small-mouthed bass lay in the refrigerator, cleaned and ready to fulfil their destiny at breakfast.

This is the kind of place we dreamed about in crossing the hot and dusty prairies. The trailer is pulled up in a clearing by the river and there are half a dozen other families, most of them from Illinois, living in tents and existing largely on freshly-caught lake fish and the fat, succulent blueberries that grow thick around the camp.

The Rushing River does, indeed, rush below our tree-shaded bivouac, tumbling whitely down a series of steps, but above this small turmoil it is a gentle green stream. One may paddle a Peterborough easily against its current, as we did, until you are absolutely alone in a woodsy and very Canadian world.

Upstream you enter into a long, narrow lake in which the water is of such a perfect temperature that getting in is mildly painful and getting out is unthinkable.

Here, at the join of the river and the lake, we found a small rock island which we claimed as ours, flying a shirt from a small pine. And here Judy discovered that by swimming upstream you could get a fine return trip floating on your back, looking up at the blue sky and letting the current drift you along.

Lazy Fishers

Our next door neighbor, a genial gent from Chicago, overheard us discussing our plans for a fishing trip in the morning and came over to offer his advice. Like most of the other males here he is a genuine fishing nut with a drawer full of gadgets, several expensive rods and a costume that brands him as the Compleat Angler.

We had a learned discussion on the use of flies and plugs and such like, my part in the conversation being to murmur, "That's true," or "Very interesting" or merely "hmmmmm." But when we drove to a nearby resort to purchase some equipment I let Judy do the buying.

When we set out we had a length of line each with a gaily-colored spinner (if that's what you call them) and a small jar full of pickled, sad-eyed minnows. The man at the resort had recommended using "tadpoles," but his advice to "hook them through the lips" had turned Judy against this kind of lure. Which was okay with me.

We got the three bass all in a row in deep water where sheer rock drops into the lake. They measured about 12 inches from nose to tail, or the end that our Chicago friend might use for bait, but I expect they will look bigger than that in the snapshot I took of Jill holding them.

At this point the sun had moved overhead and we retreated to our island to lie on the rock and slip off, from time to time, into the soft, cold water.

"I found myself wondering if maybe this kind of thing isn't the cure for the world's ills. If we could get the men who have frightening influence on our lives, and Stalins and Trumans and the rest, and put them together under the cloudless Ontario sky on this serene lake on a small rock island the world might be a saner place.

Certainly it's an invitation, here in this place of timeless peace, to feel again that kind of contentment that we like to think our grandfathers knew.

Men At Play

One of the most pleasing sights in our camp is the way this kind of vacation sheds the years from these fish-crazy Americans. Here, in full flower, are "the great American boymen," as Hemingway once nastily described the breed.

All of these men are reasonably well-off and one, an enormous man of some 350-pounds, is in, I gather, the medium tycoon bracket. It's not hard to imagine how they must look back home in business suits in their offices. But here, in khaki pants and red shirts, there's no false dignity and while the friendship may seem excessive and the horseplay a little too robust it's pleasant to see men enjoying themselves without inhibitions.

As for the wives, that's a little harder to assess. Looking across at the tycoon's wife cleaning her husband's pickerel and making a pie from the blueberries she'd collected, we've been wondering if the Canadian woods are as soul-satisfying for her as they are for her husband.

As for us, we could stand a lot more of this and the thought of packing up again tomorrow and hitting the trail east is far from pleasant.

I suppose that explains why we wandered down to the river last night after the kids were asleep. The black sky full of stars never seemed more beautiful and when we knelt and felt the river, warm as milk, it just seemed the natural thing to do to get in for a final swim.

All this, and fireflies, too.

WARSAW, Poland, Aug. 18—(AP)—The Rev. Pawel Ilinski, a Roman Catholic priest, was sentenced to four years in jail and fined 500,000 slothy ($1,250), the Polish press agency said Thursday. Don't Believe Reds Invade Yugoslavia Yet

By ALEX SINGLETON

BELGRADE, Aug. 18. (AP)—Chances of a Russian-inspired invasion of Yugoslavia this year have been discounted by western military strategists on the basis of a survey which began soon after the Korean War started.

This information came from two responsible officials who disclosed separately results of their own investigations and conclusions by their superior officers.

Piecemeal reports leaking out from the Iron Curtain have shown little desire for war in the satellite states bordering Yugoslavia. In fact, there are some signs that a Soviet order to fight Yugoslavia might boomerang into widespread opposition and perhaps revolt.

Needed Assurance

The survey was ordered because western powers wanted to know how far they could become committed in Asia without risking such security as they now have in Europe.

Inside Yugoslavia the survey found there is plenty of preparedness, but little evidence that the country and leaders expect a Balkan war.

On top of this, there has been a marked decline in reported border incidents recently. Such incidents during the last two years have been a fairly reliable barometer of Russian Cominform feeling toward outcast Yugoslavia.

When Russia wishes to apply pressure on Marshal Tito, border incidents increase. This keeps a big part of Yugoslavia's manpower in uniform and out of vitality needed production.

Charges Reduced

TORONTO, Aug. 18. (CP) — Charges of attempted murder against Joseph Bernhardt, 48, were reduced Thursday to charges of shooting with intent to cause grievous bodily harm. Bernhardt is accused of shooting Alexander van Hezewyk last Aug. 2. Police said he was drunk at the time.

Cancer Specialist Dies

Rap 'Love' Comics

OTTAWA, Aug. 18. (CP)—The Ontario Roman Catholic Parent Teachers Association Thursday took a stand against so-called "love" comics and planned a campaign to sweep them out of the province.

TICKETS TO LIFE—Two North Korean soldiers show "safe conduct passes" that convinced them to give up to American troops. The passes, with the UN insignia, promised that they would be treated in a civilized manner. GIs are questioning the two prisoners.

Russians Balk At Establishing Real A-Control

Moscow's present "peace offensive" is directed to selling the world the Stockholm resolution, Neal Stanford writes from Washington to the Christian Science Monitor.

That resolution, the handiwork of a Communist-organized rally held in the Swedish capital last spring, would:

Condemn atomic aggression—ignoring completely the other forms of aggression now being practiced by Communists in Korea;;

Call for acceptance of the Soviet proposals for atomic energy control—which all the United Nations members, except Moscow and its Communist satellites, have agreed are unenforceable and therefore unacceptable.

Review of Impasse

In light of the Moscow peace offensive and Stockholm proposal which centre so largely on the atomic bomb and atomic control, the following review of the UN atomic impasse, that shows clearly it is of Russia's, not the west's making, may be in order:

There is a UN majority plan approved by all the non-Communist nations that calls for an international co-operative agency to run all atomic activities on behalf of signatory nations. It would: own all uranium and thorium from the moment they are mined, through their intermediate processed forms and the refined products until they are finally consumed; own, manage and operate all facilities using or producing dangerous quantities of nuclear fuel to prevent diversion of nuclear fuels from peacetime to military use; licence all non-dangerous facilities and activities which are operated nationally; carry on research in all phases of atomic energy; exercise thoroughgoing rights of inspection and survey, subject only to appropriate procedural requirements and judicial review in order to locate new ore sources, and to prevent or detect clandestine activities. Military reservations would not be exempted from inspection.

This agency would be the servant of the signatories. The principles governing the agency's policies in the production and stockpiling of production facilities would be spelled out in the agency's charter. The treaty would also provide for the prohibition of the manufacture, possession and use of atomic weapons by all nations party to the treaty and by all pearsons under their jurisdiction. The treaty would provide for the disposal of existing stocks, would prescribe the stages whereby controls would go into effect, define violations, and provide effective enforcement measures.

Two Basic Points

This plan rests on two fundamental technical facts that have nothing to do with political ideologies: the first is that atomic energy at present can be derived in significant quantities from only two metals, uranium and thorium; the second is that the production processes of nuclear fuels for warlike or peaceful purposes are identical and inseparable up to a very advanced stage of manufacture.

If these two metals are fully controled, atomic energy itself is controled. The release of atomic energy from any other substance depends in the first instance on energy derived from these two metals. Therefore the UN plan—which effectively controls atomic weapons—would apply equally well to a hydrogen bomb.

The Soviets' plan shies away from strong international authority and argues for continuance of atomic operations mainly on a national basis: atomic weapons would be "prohibited" by a simple agreement based only upon the promises of the signatories; there would be established within the framwork of the Security Council, an "international control commission" with powers limited to making recommendations to governments and to the Security Council (any action by the council could be blocked by a Soviet Veto); nations would continue to own, operate and manage dangerous atomic energy facilities and would continue to own source materials and fissionable materials; atomic plants would be subjet to "periodic" inspection, and "normally, inspectors will visit only declared plants." There could be "special investigations," but only when "suspicion of violation arises."

Permit Leaks

"Periodic" inspections no matter how often could not assure against diversion of nuclear fuel from peacetime to military use. Therefore the UN majority rejects the idea that a force of detectives can prevent diversion, and would require that energy personnel themselves operate atomic plants.

The difference between the UN plan and the Soviet proposals reflects a fundamental cleavage between the aims of the majority and the minority. The free nations put world security first, and are prepared to merge their individual sovereignties in the common interest. The Soviet Union puts its own sovereignty foremost.

Expect Canada To Emerge As Training Base For Atlantic Pact Airmen

OTTAWA, Aug. 18 — (CP). — Canada is expected to emerge as a big training base for Atlantic Pact airmen as one phase of a defence expansion program that now is shaping fundamental changes in the country's forces.

The government already has embarked on a program of training 100 Western European airmen at a time. But a marked expansion of this is anticipated authoritatively as a development that will mark one of Caanda's biggest contributions to her pact allies.

Simultaneously, she is seeking the men to fill out her regular forces for an expansion that, for the first time in peacetime, will equip all three forces, not only to be ready for immediate home defence, but to back the nation's obligations abroad.

Both the Navy and the Air Force are planning to put into service over a period of time most of the ships and planes they now have in mothballs.

Both are sharply accelerating their construction programs.

The Navy will order a lot more of the new destroyer-size anti-submarine escort vessels than the three so far announced. The air force is more than doubling its orders for new fighters. It is returning Harvard, Lancaster, and North Star planes now in storage to active service over a period.

The air force said Thursday it.

Further details of the navy's expansion program are anticipated when naval chief Rear Admiral Harold Grant makes a broadcast with Defence Minister Claxton Tuesday.

Union Disputes Majority Claim

PORT COLBORNE, Aug. 18 — (CP).—The International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (unaffiliated) Thursday repeated its claim to represent a majority of employees at the Port Colborne refinery of the International Nickey Company.

Michael Kopinak, president of Local 637 of the union, termed "false and misleading" a claim by officials of the United Steel Workers (CIO-CCL) to represent a majority of the workers.

Both unions are seeking certification as bargaining agent for the employees. The Ontario Labor Relations Board will resume hearings of the dispute in Toronto Sept. 12.

In a statement Mr. Kopinak disputed the claim of William Sefton, steel workers organizer that a report by a provincial government investigator showed the steel union had a majority of the 1,369 workers.

Hope To Continue

TORONTO, Aug. 18. (CP) — A CBC official said Thursday "we have good reason to hope to carry on network services without impairment" in event of a national strike by railway employees.

is going to stretch the resources of its existing air crew training facilities as far as they will go, but if recruits come forward as hoped, there will have to be more schools and bases opened in a year or so.

The drive is on to build the fighter arm up to a striking force well beyond five squadrons of regulars. The shortage of planes and fighter pilots is the only thing holding it back.

Some of those squadrons will be avaliable for duty anywhere the government may send them. Some may be based outside the country, officials said.

With all three services, the old primary stress on home defense still remains, but international obligations are taking their place with a new emphasis. The army's special brigade group may well remain in existence as a force for service anywhere at any time. The navy already has shown that it can go into service on short notice and its expansion will make this easier than ever.

London Bombing Uncovered Relics of Old Roman Citadel

LONDON — (CP) — Excavation in an area flattened by buzz-bombs in the Second World War have exposed another buried treasure of London's unwritten history.

The archaelogical discovery has been identified as a Roman fort or citadel, believed to date back to A. D. 70-80 Members of the London Roman and Medieval Excavation Council, directing the work, believe the find will be established as the city's earliest military bastion, with a history probably 1,000 years older than the famous Tower of London. If confirmed, they say, it would mean the rewriting of the story of the defences of Roman London.don.

Workmen, who have been probing the extensive area of devastation, came across the long-buried citadel under the present site of Moorgate in the shadows of St. Paul's cathedral.

The excavators were concentrating on tracing the course of a Roman wall and buried gravel road previously uncovered, when they suddenly came upon the fort. Covering an area of approximately 11 acres, it was found to be a rectangular construction, much along the pattern of similar military stations unearthed on the continent and in western and northern Britain

W. F. Grimes, keeper of the London museum and honorary director of the excavations, said the date of the fort could not be positively fixed pending detailed study of other finds associated with different parts of the ancient defences. An inner wall, however, has been approximately dated by an A. D. 140 coin found embedded in its mortar.

Swim Classes Present Gift To Instructress

BRIDGENORTH, Aug. 18 (ENS) —Thunder storms held off long enough to allow 150 mothers and children of the swimming classes at Bridgenorth to enjoy a picnic on the lawn at the home of Mrs. Earl Blewett.

The picnic was held to honor the swimming instructress, Mrs. Isabel Crary, one of the Peterborough ornamental swimmers.

Ninety-six children were enrolled in the class and 30 out of 35 members who tried their tests last Monday, passed with honors.

The children enjoyed an hour of swimming before the presentation of a satin quilted housecoat and contrasting pajamas to Mrs. Crary. Mrs. Charles Touchburn of Chemong Road presented the gifts to Mrs. Crary and Mrs. L. Reynolds presented remembrances to the three assistants, Mrs. Earl Blewett, Sally Hartman and Margaret Parnell, who helped with the classes throughout the summer.

An added surprise for the children who passed their tests on Monday was the presentation of their Red Cross pins to junior, intermediate and senior classes by Mrs. W. Hinds of Peterborough. These pins were not expected so early and all children were surprised and happy to receive them.

Refreshments were served. Mrs. Crary will continue her classes for the next two weeks.

Weakness of US Defences Stressed By Military Men

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP) —An enemy probably could make an aerial strike at almost any place in the United States today and get some bombs down on the target.

It is not considered within the realm of possibility that the present sparsely-spotted radar system—even though on a round-the-clock operating basis—would detect all approaching bombers or that existing fighter forces would destroy every one of them.

Competent military sources doubt if more than a quarter of an attacking bomber force coming over the polar regions could be knocked down before it crossed the northern border of the United States.

U.S. air force strategists hold that the most effective way to halt air attacks on the United Sates mainland would be destruction of the bases from which the atacks are launched and of the industrial centres supporting the attacks. It is on this theory that the retaliatory srike by long range B-36s, B-29s and B-50s are planned.

Sneak Raiders

Following his same reasoning, defence officials believe that the bases for those planes, in the continental U.S. and Alaska, would be priority enemy targets, the spots for which sneak raiders would head first. Making the bases useless for launching retaliatory strikes would be of prime importance to the enemy. Any bombers they got past the radar warning system and fighter defences could be expected to streak for air bases.

Next in importance probably would be the great industrial areas and the nerve-centre of government and military direction, Washington.

Not Satisfactory

When asked about defences against a surprise air attack, the air force's frank answer sums up to this:

The country's air defences today are not satisfactory. The present radar stations comprising the warning net are composed of Second World War equipment and are located on government sites — apparently places where the government has land on which to locate them, but not necessarily the most desirable locations.

The stations are too few to give more than a limited warning to certain industrial and military areas.

The number of fighter squadrons backing up the radar system, although growing, is still inadequate. At present, it is said by one expert, they could "afford only a token defence against even a moderate force operating against the United States.

Paris High Style Goes Ready-to-wear at $60 Up

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
NEA Staff Correspondent

PARIS—(NEA)—The revolution long brewing in the exclusive realm of high fashion has been brought to a head by five top-ranking Paris creators with their first collection of ready-to-wear models.

By September, clothes-conscious women who can't afford the astronomical prices of custom-made creations will be able to buy reproductions at prices ranging from $60 to $120—around one-third of what an exclusive model now costs.

The five who have formed the "Associated Designers" are Jacques Fath, Robert Piquet, Jean Desses, Carven and Paquin. Each has created seven models which have been made up by eight of the leading manufacturers.

So far, more than 50 stores in France and North Africa plus another 20 in Belgium, Holland, Sweden and Switzerland have signed on the dotted line. There is no word yet on plans for an American invasion.

Because these ready - made clothes might reduce the sales of seasonal collections, Paris retailers are excluded. But there is nothing to prevent a Parisienne, if she is so minded, to travel less than a hundred miles to buy herself a ready-made Parisian model.

The first collection of the Associated Designers is composed mainly of coats, ensembles, suits and cocktail dresses; there are no evening gowns. All bear the easily recognized stamp (and label) of the individual designer, plus the subtle touches which spell the Paris model.

Topcoats, for example, feature the season's thick-piled woollens. The majority are cut on loose, unfitted lines without the slightest hint of skimpiness. Suits have smart pockets and other details, are executed in the best quality flannels, tweeds and other wool fabrics. The same applies to the wearable "from dawn to eve" dresses.

It now remains to be seen whether the ultra-individualistic Frenchwoman will take to the fool-proof ready-to-wear idea. Before the war quite a large number of them could afford to buy a dress from a top-ranking house for a special occasion. Today these are accessible to the very wealthy only. This explains the fact that there are 35,000 registered individual dressmakers in France, ranging from the more exclusive to the "little dressmaker around the corner."

While the Associated Designers will place well-styled clothes within the possibilities of a greater number of Frenchwomen, the price tag is still too high for the average middle-class budget. The first attempt shows there is still a long way to go before it achieves mass production on American lines.

London Stylists Revive Fashions of 40 Years Ago

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON—(CP)—The tapered silhouette is a definite feature of the fall fashions presented by London's top 10 designers.

Cocoon-shaped jackets and overcoats with huge collars, wide shoulders and spiral or hobble skirts, revive fashions popular before the First World War.

Mid-length, seven-eighth length or 15 inches from the ground, the coats are beautifully offset by gracious dresses with definite waistlines and soft draping.

In mellow-toned wool and jerseys, in small-check tweeds or shadow blanket-checks, the dresses have a practical simplicity suited to present-day needs.

Many dress styles give the hobble look, but in day wear this is achieved without discomfort. All models are naturally waisted, shoulders are not greatly exaggerated and the hobble skirt is relieved by hidden pleated gussets from knee to hem.

Many New Designs

The little-boy look has kept its popularity and there are many fresh designs.

Naturally-waisted suits may be finished by a detachable hip-length shoulder cape. The suits are mostly mid-calf length with panel pleating at front, back, sides or all-round. This year's all-round pleating comes from the hips in flat pleating from a plain hipline and many straight skirts have all-round pleating from knees to hem.

Skirt lengths range from just below the knees to below the ball of the calf. The tighter the skirt, the shorter the length.

For those who hanker after the elegance of new look styles, there are many small-waisted, flare-skirted coats such as the mole-grey top coat by Arthur Banks. With double-breasted waist fastening, cross-over neckline and softly flared skirts, it has huge gashed bishop sleeves and a blue fox trimming encircles shoulders and bust like an epaulet.

Much waist fastening is used in both coats and jackets and the plunging neckline vies equally with huge)revers wide enough to hold decorative pockets.

THE BANKER'S GREY WOOL GABARDINE SKISUIT left, has scalloped yoke and wrap-around hood. Right is shown the latest style in three-quarter length station coats. The main features of this creation are mouton half collars with self lapels, all around belt with satin quilted lining. This coat, is made of Elkskin, gabardine and covert cloths.

Trip To P.E.I. Follows Perth Wedding

At Perth on Wednesday, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Fair, 16 Gore St. W., the marriage was solemnized of their daughter Dorothy Elizabeth and Mr. Aubrey John MacNaughton, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George MacNaughton of Warkworth.

The Rev. W. R. Alp performed the ceremony and wedding music was played by Mrs. Lloyd Foster, the bride's sister.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of pale blue brocaded organza and a matching shoulder veil caught to a band of pearls. She carried a nosegay of white sweet peas and roses.

Bridesmaid Miss Marion McInnes was frocked in blue nylon and flower girl Elva Foster wore yellow organdy. Each carried a nosegay of yellow daisies and gladioli florets.

Groomsman was Mr. Arden MacNaughton.

After the reception the couple left on a trip to Prince Edward Island. The bride was wearing a dress of blue tissue faille with a beige shortie coat and brown accessories.

On return they will live in Whitevale, Ontario.

Lorne Palmateer Weds Isabelle Chambers

In a double ring wedding ceremony which took place in Castleton on Saturday, Isabelle Livina, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Chambers of Hastings, became the bride of Mr. Lorne Neil Palmateer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clement Palmateer of Castleton.

The vows were pledged before the Rev. Mr. Griffith, minister of Castleton United Church, at the home of the groom's parents. The house was decorated with baskets of gladioli and pink and white streamers formed an arch with a white bell in the centre. The groom's sister, Miss Velma Palmateer, played Mendelssohn's wedding march and, during the signing of the register, "My Beautiful Lady."

The bride's gown and long train was of white satin, trimmed with lace and finished with a sheer yoke at the neckline. Her headdress was also of satin and lace, trimmed with orange blossom tips, and her fingertip veil was of embroidered net. She carried a handsome bouquet of deep red roses.

The groomsman was Mr. Robert Glenn of Hastings.

The reception took place at "Woodlawn," in Campbellford, where the bride's mother was receiving, dressed in grey with black accessories and wearing red and yellow roses in a corsage. Also the groom's mother whose dress was of grey nylon and was similarly complemented.

Leaving on a trip east to Halifax, N. S., with plans to visit the larger cities enroute, the bride wore a light blue suit with navy trim and had navy accessories.

On return Mr. and Mrs. Palmateer will live at Holland Landing where the groom has accepted the position of school principal.

HowCanGirlRush Boyfriend Backward in Fixing the Date

DEAR MISS DIX: A correspondent asks how she can make a man that she feels sure is in love with her propose to her. I'll tell you how I did. A very fine man, with whom I was sure loved me, virtually camped on my doorstep. He would refer vaguely to "when we are married," but never went any farther Finally one day I said to him "Give me $2, I am going to buy you something with it." He did, and I bought a marriage license. When I showed it to him, he said: "Why did you do that? You know that's a man's job" "Well, darling," I said in my sweetest tone, "I know the only reason you haven't got one is because you have been too busy, so I thought I would save you that trouble." He laughed and thought it was a good joke and we stepped around the corner to the parson's and got married and have been happy ever since

MRS JAMES K.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Evidently God helps those who help themselves, as the old proverb says. Especially when they are women and desire a husband, and I have no doubt your experience will be a lamp to guide the feet of many a sister who is afflicted with one of these dilatory suitors whose wooing drags on and on without ever reaching the altar.

Annoying Situation

The man whose attentions are without intentions is a cad but a woman can generally rid herself of him by beginning to talk about getting married and showing that she means business. But the man who really does mean to marry but who isn't in any hurry about it is an equally aggravating proposition for a woman to deal with. She knows that in God's own good time, maybe after she is so old she will have to wear an autophone to hear him, he will get to the proposing point. But she wears out her patience with his seven-year courting plan. She would like to flout him and give him the air. Only he is too good to lose.

There are a lot of men who are more in love with domesticity than they are with any woman. They want a home, good food, a chair by the fire, a wife who is a good manager and who will look after their little wants and make things bright and cheerful around the house for them. And when they find before marriage a woman who runs that kind of home and makes them welcome in it, they are content to just settle down into the role of pseudo-lover. It is all they want of marriage and costs them nothing but an occasional ticket to the theatre. They dangle a wedding ring in front of the woman's eyes, but they never get it near enough for her to grab it, unless she makes a bold leap for it as my correspondent has.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am employed as a secretary and have a good position, but I realize that I am falling in love with my employer, who is a married man, and he in turn is falling in love with me. Under the circumstances would it be wise for me to give up my job, which I need very much, and try to find work elsewhere? Does my job mean more to me than peace? I feel I can't go on working where I am under the strain of existing conditions. Please advise me what to do. V. B.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: My unhesitating advice to you is to leave at once.

Propinquity has the devilish power of drawing men and women together. It gives them common interests. It makes them depend upon each other, makes them necessary to each other. It fans a spark of fancy into a fire of passion. Men and women fall in love with each other for no other reason than that they are thrown constantly in each other's society.

So your only safety is in getting away from this man you are falling in love with Get away from the thrill of his touch. Break the bonds of association. Get away where you will not be necessary to him or he to you Go where you will have new faces about you, new interests. That is the quickest and surest way of forgetting him. The only way.

Wise is the girl who, when she finds herself falling in love with a married man with two nearly tation. Better to give up a job than to throw away one's life.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My wife is being made love to by a doctor who has been treating her. He is a married ma nwith two nearly grown children. When I have remonstrated with my wife she has grown very angry with me and says that if I will leave her alone she can work out the problem satisfactorily. So far I think she has only been indiscreet, but I fear the outcome. What can I do to save this foolish woman?

AN ANXIOUS HUSBAND

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I don't know, unless you can make her see that she is headed for certain ruin if she persists in her affair with ths man. You have evidently been very patient with her and the time has now come to take drastic measures. Tell her that you will divorce her and disgrace her unless she gives up her lover. That may wake her up to the seriousness of the situation

COOKBOOK of the WEEK

FROM THE COLLECTION OF 24 OF THE WORLD'S GREATEST COOKBOOKS
Sponsored by this Newspaper

FRESH STRAWBERRIES and cream filling, or sweetened crushed berries and whipped cream, make an ideal filling for cream puffs.

Strawberry Cream Puffs Make Hostess Popular

If you are looking for new ideas to spark up your daily or party menus, the Examiner's series of 24 cookbooks is just what you want. Five books have now been released — Snacks, Leftovers, Cakes, Poultry, and now, "250 Superb Pies and Pastries." All these cookbooks are full of mouth-watering illustrations and delicious but simple-to-follow recipes.

Here is an old standby—cream puffs — taken from the current book in the series, the Pie Book. It is extremely easy to make and is a surefire hit with family or company.

Cream Puffs

½ cup shortening, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 1 cup boiling water, 1 cup sifted flour, 3 eggs, unbeaten.

Add shortening and salt to boiling water and stir over medium heat until mixture boils. Lower heat, add flour all at once and stir vigorously until mixture leaves the side of pan. Remove from heat and add 1 egg at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Shape on an ungreased cookie sheet using 1 teaspoon or 1 tablespoon of paste for one puff (depending upon size desired.) A pastry bag may be used. Bake in hot oven (450 deg. F.) 20 minutes; reduce temperature to moderate (350 deg. F.) and bake about 20 minutes longer. Remove from oven and place on rack to cool. When cold, make slit on one side of each puff with sharp knife and fill with Whipped Cream Topping, ice cream or Cream Pie Filling. Makes 12 large or 48 small puffs.

Fresh Strawberry Puffs

Cut cream puffs and fill with fresh strawberries and cream filling or sweetened crushed berries and whipped cream.

It is easy to own this series of cookbooks, To get the Pie Book and the first four books all you have to do is clip one coupon for each book from page 2 of any issue of this newspaper and present it with 25c for each book to Examiner Office or your Examiner Carrier or at Brauna's Food Markets. If you wish to send for your copies by mail enclose one coupon and 30c for each book (5c aditional for postage and handling) to Cookbook Department, Examiner, Peterborough.

Sloping Tables To Display Women's Work

Everyone will be surprised at the great change that has been made in the Home Department Building at the Peterborough Exhibition. In this building women's work will be on display on all new sloping tables just erected. The Domestic Science department will also be much better displayed than last year. And the art exhibit in this same building has one section screened off so that it will be by itself and the pictures will be hung in such a way that the floodlights will show them to the best advantage. This really will be a building worth visiting and as there is no charge outside of the regular admission at the main gate make up your mind now to visit the Peterborough Exhibition next week, Aug. 22 to Saturday Aug. 26.

Entries for the Art and Women's work do not close until Saturday August 19.

Can Safeguard Own Health By Picking Clean Restaurant

By KAY REX

OTTAWA, Aug. 18 —(CP)— When "eating out," pick a clean-looking restaurant to begin with and chances are you'll find the food will be good and carefully prepared.

Health department experts warn that the germs which cause food poisoning, dysentery and typhoid are invisible. But their presence can usually be determined by certain danger signals given by the premises itself; the equipment and utensils used; the way the food is prepared and served; the appearance and habits of the staff.

Little signs

There should be no flies buzzing about; no chipped plates or cups or greasy dishes.

The good waitress does not handle the inside of glasses nor invert a glass over a bottle thus contaminating the rim.

The customer is served with a pair of spotless hands which pick up knives and forks by their handles, lift ice with a scoop or spoon and butter with a fork.

The customer can assume his responsibility and protect his health by patronizing safe eating places and by reporting infractions of sanitary regulations to his local health authority.

An invalid in the house? Egg noggs are excellent to help poor appetites along.

Ingredients: Three-quarters cup milk or milk and cream; one egg; one tablespoon sugar; one-half tablespoon vanilla; salt.

Beat egg, add sugar, salt, vanilla and milk and blend thoroughly. Ingredients should be well chilled before combining.

✧ ✧ ✧

During this hot weather pineappleade can be especially refreshing for the invalid.

Ingredients: One-quarter cup orange juice; one-quarter cup pineapple juice; one-half cup water; one tablespoon lemon juice; one tablespoon sugar.

Make a syrup of the sugar and water. Cool and add strained fruit juices. Serve with chipped ice.

Romance, History, Legend Found Along Banks of Rhine

BASLE, Switzerland—Some of the rivers of Europe are as much a part of its history as they are of the countrysides through which they flow. You could no more take them out of the countrysides than you could remove from the story of Europe the record of stirring historical events, the tales of adventure, the romance and the legends that have gathered about these waterways. George Edward Levy writes in The Halifax Herald.

Of all these rivers, the Rhine takes a leading place; I think, the foremost place.

Stiff Competition

The Thames, the Tiber, the Seine and the Danube all may lay claim to the title, but, despite all that be written of them, one wonders whether they can take the palm away from the Rhine.

Even before the days of Julius Caesar's legions encamped along the Rhine and did battle with untamed tribes from the north, to our own century, when, in two world wars, homesick soldiers dreamed of "winding up the last watch on the Rhine" and going home again, the story of this river with so much romance and adventure, has been part of the story of Western Europe. The late Emil Ludwig once wrote a book "The Life Story of the Nile." Maybe, some day, a gifted author will write a truly gripping and epic "Life Story of the Rhine."

Whether or not one wants, one must pay some attention to geography to see how the Rhine fits into the European story. For almost its whole length it is a boundary line between nations. Its origin is well back in the centre of Europe in the Alps not far from Italy.

Rises In Mountains

After gathering some size and force from other streams in this mountainous region, the Rhine comes to the valley on the borders of Liechtenstein which it separates from Switzerland. Then, for a way it forms the boundary between Switzerland and Austria, then between Switzerland and Germany, and from Basle to the Saar between France and Germany. Finally, it turns more northwest and flows out through Germany and Holland to the North Sea.

In all, throughout its course, it touches six countries, and in Europe, that sets the stage for a stirring and troubled history.

The countryside along the Rhine is varied, but with few exceptions, always beautiful. Here are Alpine peaks with their eternal snows and glaciers, prosperous valleys, quiet forests, old castles perched defiantly on mountainous crags, farms and vineyards, and again and again as a reminder that man's quarrels with his fellowman seem ever to have been part of the life of this continent, there are the barbed wire entanglements, the "pillboxes," and the concrete road blocks left over from the Second World War.

Historic Places

There are so many places along the Rhine of which one could write at length that it is almost with apology any are singled out for mention. At the western end of Lake Constance, or the Boden See is Stein am Rhein, one of the most thoroughly medieval towns in all Europe, with its great paintings on the outside of the town hall and the old inns; its fine, century-old cloister of St. George; its towering castle on a hill top behind the town, and the lowlands stretching away to the east where centuries ago Othman, the Irish missionary, came with the Gospel message.

Farther down the Rhine is Schaffhausen with its impressive Rhine Falls, the nearest approach in the centre of Europe to our Niagara. This lovely city with its beautiful cathedral, its Schiller bell, its mediaeval keep, is also where Albert Einstein got his first remunerative position after graduation.

Then, there is Basle, the great inland port of the Rhine from which steamers leave for ocean ports, combining evidence of a great cultural and political past with all that makes it a thoroughly modern city.

Then, one must add Strasburg with its beautiful cathedral, and Cologne, today with its havoc, yesterday with its beauty, and its monuments of art and learning. And so on to the sea.

All along the Rhine records of stirring events have easily shaded off into legends, or given rise to the purely legendary. Of all this, one story is typical. Back in the 15th century a plot had been formed to bring a company of Austrian soldiers hidden in wine vats on board a boat down the Rhine to take possession of a free city of Switzerland. They arrived at dead of night. A baker heard the boat and rushed out with his lantern. Thinking he must be the man on shore who was party to the plot, the leader asked if all was ready.

The baker suspecting that mischief was afoot replied: "Wait a while." Then he hurriedly rounded up his loyal townsmen who disposed of the invaders.

Lay 4 Charges Against Plant

KITCHENER, Aug. 18. (CP)—Four charges have been laid against the Canadian Brass Co. Ltd., Galt, and its president, P. R. Hilborn, under the Ontario Labor Relations Act, court officials said here today.

The informations were laid before a Kitchener justice of the peace by Percy Cox, Galt. E. B. Jolliffe, Toronto attorney, was present when the charges were filed, the officials said.

One of the charges alleges that the firm and its president "did unlawfully refuse to continue to employ Russell Eaton and other persons and did discriminate against such persons in regard to employment or terms and conditions of employment because such persons were members of a trade union, to wit, the United Steelworkers of America."

Mr. Hilborn and the firm also each face a charge that they "did unlawfully impose conditions in a contract of employment seeking to restrain employees of the Canadian Brass Co. Ltd., from exercising their rights" under the Labor Act.

Find Tiny Cylinder Of Radium In Mud

WINNIPEG, Aug. 18.—(CP). — A tiny plastic cylinder containing radium was found Thursday night after a 24-hour hunt throught the downtown area.

Scientists with a Geiger counter, which records radio-activity, located the vial—smaller than a cigaret—in mud.

The radium, dropped from a truck, was worth only $400; but doctors said it could cause serious burns if handled extensively.

Navy Tug Saves Two Fishermen Off West Coast

VICTORIA, BC, Aug. 18. (CP) —Two of five fishermen reported missing after a savage gale ripped the west coast of Vancouver Island fishing fleet were rescued Thursday night by the Canadian Navy tug Heatherton.

Rescued near the northern tip of Vancouver Island were Albert Hadley and Leonard Root, both of Qualicum, BC, whose 39-foot boat was lost in the Monday night storm.

The storm took probably one life when gales reaching 60 miles an hour battered the area. James Watt of Nanaimo was believed drowned when the trawler Ripside capsized.

Word of the storm at isolated Sea Otter Cove, 10 miles from the northern tip of the island, reached here only yesterday.

It struck some 100 ships, sinking two, blowing eight ashore and damaging 40 others.

One ship was discovered south of Cape Scott today by the Heatherton. It was a total loss.

Numerous vessels are searching for the missing fishermen.

Won't Abolish Canadian Senate

OTTAWA, Aug. 18 (CP). — Senator Norman Paterson said today Canada would not tolerate abolition of its Senate.

The 67-year-old Ontario Liberal was commenting on a dispatch from Wellington reporting that New Zealand's Upper House of Parliament, the Legislative Council has voted itself out of existence.

"I don't think that move will have any effect on thinking in Canada," Senator Paterson said. "The Senate in Canada has been a pretty steady influence. I think the general public will realize that."

The question of abolition or reform of Canada's Upper Chamber has been widely debated through the years. The CCF in the past has called for elimination of the 102-seat house, but has modified this stand in recent years.

In the last session of parliament George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, introduced a motion calling for investigation of means of instituting Senate reform. The motion was defeated.

In the Upper Chamber itself, Senator Wishart Robertson, government leader, said that some Senate reform was needed. If this was not done during the life of the current parliament, he said, then he would institute recommendations of his own.

Forestry Staff At Tweed Doubled In 10 Yrs

TWEED, Aug. 18—The Tweed District Office of the Department of Lands and Forests has moved into its new quarters on the second floor of the new Community Building.

The new offices on the second floor comprise about 4,000 square feet.

Two important additions have been made to the staff. With the province-wide forest resouces inventory nearing completion, the Department has been able to place timber management foresters in the various districts where data is complete or nearly so. This summer, James Scott, senior management forester, was transferred to the Bay of Quinte district. Another forester and technical assistant, who will be transfered next spring, will complete the management staff in Tweed.

The other addition to the staff was the transfer of H. G. Lumsden, wildlife biologist, from Western Ontario.

As compared with 10 yaars ago, the district office staff has more than doubled. Fish and wildlife formerly handled by the Department of Games and Fisheries is now included. As a result more clerical and stenographic assistance has been required.

The members of the staff in the Department office in Tweed are: District forester, A. W. Leman; land and recreation areas, W. W. Tweed; fish and wildlife, R. G. Sheppard, inspector; H. G. Lumsden, biologist; forest protection, M. Wilson; timber management, K. Legris, general; J. Scott, management; district accountant, A. Y. Ardron; senior clerk, C. W. Dill; stenographers, Miss M. Meraw, Miss B. Sager, Miss R. Langevin; radio operator, G. Fraser.

Anglicans Reject Doctrine Of Virgin's Assumption

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—A copyright story in the New York Times states that the archbishops of Canterbury and York of the Church of England claimed that the decision by Pope Pius XII to make the assumption of the Virgin Mary an article of faith has "gravely injured the growth of understanding between Christians."

In their criticism of this decision, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, archbishop of Canterbury and primate of all England, and Dr. Cyril Garbett, archbishop of York and second ranking prelate in England, declared that, "we must at once state publicly that the Church of England does not and cannot hold this doctrine to be a necessary part of the Catholic faith, belief in which may be required of members of the church."

This criticism of the new doctrine of the Roman faith will be proclaimed in St. Peter's on Nov. 1.

Dr. Howard Watkin-Jones, convener of the British Methodist faith and order committee, said that Methodists generally agree with the archbishops' statement.

The doctrine of the assumption is the belief long held among Roman Catholics, but never until now made an article of faith, that when Christ's apostles were bearing the body of His mother to the grave, Jesus appeared and carried it away with Him to heaven.

The feast of the assumption (from the Latin word "assumptio," meaning "a taking") has been celebrated by Catholics for 14 centuries.

"The Church of England renders honor and reverence to the mother of our Lord, Jesus Christ," the English archbishops' statement said. "But there is not the smallest evidence in the Scriptures or in the teaching of the early church of belief in the doctrine of her bodily assumption.

"The Church of England refuses to regard as requisite for a saving faith any doctrines or opinions which are not plainly contained in the Scriptures."

The belief, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica, had its origin in apochryphal sources.

The English archbishop said: "We profoundly regret that the Roman Catholic Church has chosen by this act to increas dogmatic differences in Christendom and has thereby gravely injured the growth of understanding between Christians based on a common possession of the fundamental truths of the gospel."

It tis those dogmatic differences that have been the principal obstacle to a reunion of the Anglican Church with the Church of Rome, a merger that has long been considered.

Except for dogmatic differences the so-called Anglo-Catholics in the Church of England are very near to Rome in their practices and observances, but the Anglo-Catholics are not in the majority.

Two earlier dogmas that particularly divide the Anglicans and Roman Catholics are those proclaimed in the nineteenth century: The Immaculate Conception of Mary and the infallibility of the Pope.

Junior Farmers 265 Entered

Cost of an Empress dinner for 265 or 270 junior farmers next Thursday wasn't even mentioned when Frank C. Paterson telephoned to Gordon S. Matthews the probable number of CPC guests.

When the junior division of the Exhibition was organized in conjunction with the senior fair, and was adopted elsewhere in the province, Mr. Matthews provided the wind-up event of the day in a dinner. And thereby he established a custom.

The number of junior diners last year was around 180. The number of entries the other day was 115 girls and 150 boys. And there might be a few others when the soups on.

What with the heightened cost of any cuts of beef, even to mulligatawney, Mr. Paterson was somewhat apprehensive about the continuance of the dinner next week, but Canada Packers were apparently fully agreeable to maintaining their customary good-will dinner to the young farmers of Central Ontario, who are going to be farmers of the future.

Cross-Channel T.V.

LONDON, Aug. 18—(Reuters) — The first television pictures ever sent across the English Channel were received in London Thursday night from a portable transmitter in a public square in Calais, France. The pictures showed scurrying Calais pedestrians. The transmission was a warm-up for a public cross-channel television display Aug. 27, centenary of the first cross-channel cable.

Lindsay's Mayor Favors Vote Sunday Sports

A vote on Sunday sports for Lindsay may become a reality soon. Talk of a petition for a vote on the question is becoming [illegible] in county [illegible].

Lindsay's mayor, Charles Lamb, said he was in favor of amateur sports on Sunday. However, he stated he would not favor paid admission for Sunday sport.

Recently, Lindsay police chief Art Webster said there was nothing in the law books against "pick-up" games on Sunday.

He pointed out that on the prohibited list were "games and performances of all kinds where an admission fee is charged" or where a collection is taken in place of admission.

Mayor Lamb said it was a $64 question. "As an individual, I am in favor of amateur sports for Sunday, and I can't see where baseball is any different from golf, and there is a sport that is certainly played on Sunday. The golf course is outside corporation limits, but the principle is the same.

"I think the young people of the town would be using their time to greater advantage if they took part in sports either as players or spectators on Sunday."

If canvassers are successful in getting 10 per cent of the town's voters to sign the petition declaring they are in favor of Sunday sport, the list can be filed with town council for a vote to be called.

Layng Killer Suspect Held In U.S.

FBI Gives Toronto Tip Man Named Miller Taken After Battle

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 19 — (AP)—Frank T. Miller, burglary suspect recaptured recently after a bed-sheet escape from a 13th-floor hospital ward, is wanted in Toronto for questioning in the killing of a bystander at a robbery.

Toronto authorities telephoned Los Angeles police Friday that they have reason to believe Miller is actually Stanley Buckoski, Canadian bandit.

Miller, or Buckoski, now is lodged in the Los Angeles county jail on five counts of burglary, two counts of robbery and one of escape.

Toronto police said Buckoski is wanted for the murder of a school teacher, Albert Layng, on July 30, 1949. Lang, with his wife and small daughter, was walking past a Toronto store when Buckoski emerged from within. Layng, then 25, was killed when he grappled with the bandit.

F.B.I. Gives Tip

Los Angeles Police Lieut L. T. Hale, who discussed the case with Toronto's detective bureau chief, said he was informed that the Federal Bureau of Investigation gave Toronto police their first tip that Miller and Buckoski are one and the same.

Held under $27,500 bail, Buckoski was arrested May 21 on a burglary charge in Los Angeles, police said. He was injured during his capture and escaped from the prison ward of the Los Angeles county hospital June 26 by forming a rope from his sheets and clambering to the ground.

He was recaptured Aug. 1 after a gun battle in a Los Angeles residential district. He was said to have had five revolvers in his pocket when arrested.

Police said Buckoski was being held in Los Angeles, pending deportation to Canada.

Lieut. Tony Ruez, who questioned Miller Friday night, said he admitted he had once been in Toronto, but refused further comment.

Third Of Quads Born Safely

BELLINGEN, Australia, Aug. 19 (AP)—A third baby—another girl—arrived tonight in the slow-motion birth of quadruplets to Mrs. Betty Sara, English war bride.

Doctors at Bellingen Hospital believe the fourth will arrive soon. The first baby, a girl, and the second, a boy, were christened at the hospital this afternoon but their names were not revealed.

The doctors said the first two were nearly ready for normal care, instead fo being treated as premature.

The 29-year-old mother reached the half-way mark Friday night when the second of the quads was born. The first was born 26 hours earlier.

Japan Has Decided To Back UN In Korea

TOKYO, Aug. 19 (AP). —The government today issued a 3,800-word "white paper" placing Japan squarely behind the United Nations in the Korean war as "a measure for our own self defence."

It was the Japanese government's first formal statement of policy since the outbreak of hostilities and agreed with past statements of political and industrial leaders.

Japan is the major forward staging area for the U.N. Korean effort.

The lengthy white paper did not specifically state how Japan proposed to assist but said:

"To co-operate with the democracies and assist in strengthening their unity should be considered as nothing less than a measure of our own self defence."

Ship Battered By Hurricane On Way To Port

MIAMI, Fla., Aug 19 (AP) — A hurricane-battered freighter, forward holds still smouldering from a fire at sea, wallowed through 40-foot waves toward Wilmington, N.C., today. Two coast guard cutters were escorting it to safety.

The 7,247-ton Russell R. Jones, first buffeted by 70-mile an hour winds from the fringe of a giant hurricane and then beset by fire, churned toward the mainland at a scant five knots. All crew members were safe; there were no injuries.

The United States Navy ship Kleinsmith was first to reach the burning freighter after a dramatic full speed mercy run through seas still mountainous in the aftermath of the hurricane.

It reported the stricken freighter's lifeboats were knocked awry by the waves but the Russell Jones showed no major damage from the beating it took.

The hurricane which had created havoc aboard the freighter, bound for Los Angeles from Norfolk, Va., still had lost none of its 140-mile-an-hour punch but posed no immediate threat to the mainland.

At 5.30 a.m. EDT today, the hurricane was about 400 miles east of Jacksonville, Fla

The Miami weather bureau reported at that time that the big blow had turned to a north northeast course during the night and picked up in its forward speed to about 14 miles an hour.

By late today, the weather bureau said, the storm would be a considerable distance of the North Carolina coast and would lessen the danger to the Carolina capes.

Three vessels reached the side of the stricken Russell R. Jones shortly after midnight. The freighter Tulane offered any assistance and stood by until the coast guard cutters Anroscoggin and Paw Paw arrived

A coast guard plane which answered the vessel's SOS estimated the winds at close to 80 miles an hour when it first reached the vessel. Mountainous waves were breaking over the superstructure and the Jones was barely making neadway through the wind-whipped seas.

Canada's Trade A Record In First Half of 1950

OTTAWA, Aug. 19—(CP)—Canada's international trade during the first six months of 1950 shattered all previous peace-time records. The Bureau of Statistics Friday reported peaks in both imports and exports. Most significant change was a sharper shift to the U.S. market with that country absorbing an unprecedented 63 per cent of Canada's total exports.

Gaps in trade balances with both the United States and the United Kingdom were sharply reduced.

In June the values of imports and exports both were maintained at high levels. Imports from and exports to the United States climbed. Imports from the United Kingdom reached a peak. Domestic exports moved to a lower level.

Canada's total exports during the six months to all countries climbed to $1,448,000,000 from $1,436,400,000 last year. Imports also increased from $1,409,400,000 to $1,453,100,000. This made for a total trade of $2,910,200,000 — highest in peacetime history, but leaving a small deficit balance of $4,900,000, compared with a surplus of $29,100,000 last year.

In June, imports totalled $282,500,000, against $256,500,00 last year. Domestic exports reached $269,200,00 compared with $255,100,000. Foreign exports amounted to $2,600,000 compared with $2,300,000. The overall credit balance was $9,300,000, against $6,900,000.

Imports Lower

Half-year imports from the United States were moderately lower at $1,004,500,000 against $1,008,800,000, accounting for 69 per cent of total imports, against 71 per cent last year. In June imports rose to $188,300,000 from $176,900,000.

Six-month exports to the United States rose to $904,900,000 from $690,900,000 amounting to 63 per cent of all exports—an unprecedented proportion—compared to 48.5 per cent in 1949. In June, exports to the United States advanced to $177,700,000 from $113,900,000.

The trade deficit for the half year was $87,600,000, sharply below last year's $308,300,000 and in the month was down to $8,400,000, compared with $61,300,069.

Communist Chief Slain In Belgium

LIEFE, Belgium, Aug. 19 — (AP). — Two mysterious gunmen were being hunted today as the killers of Julien Lahaut, Belgian Communist Party chief, and veteran member of Parliament, who was shot down in his home Friday night.

The 66-year-old Red leader was riddled by four bullets as he stood in the doorway of his home here. His wife was standing behind him.

Lahaut's assassination came one week after he was reported to have shouted "Vive La Republique" in a defiant gesture during the swearing-in of Crown Prince Baudouin, as King Leopold's successor, at a joint session of Parliament in Brussels.

Bitterly anti-Monarchist, Lahaut represented in the Chamber of Deputies a constituency in industrial Liege, one of the storm centres against Leopold's return from exile.

Communist followers said it was too early to know the reason for Lahaut's murder. It carried the potential seeds, however, of further repercussions within Belgium, brought recently to the verge of civil war by the reappearance in the country of the determined monarch.

The official Belgian Communist newspaper, Le Drapeau Rouge, charged that Leopold's partisans were responsible for Lahaut's assassination.

"Our dear comrade Julien Lahaut has been assassinated by Leo-Rexistes," said a Drapeau Rouge headline.

Men Dig Two Hours Save Child In Well

FAIRMONT, Minn., Aug. 19 — (AP)—Jimmie Zarling, 3, fell into a 10-foot well shaft Friday and became tightly wedged in the tapering hole.

A dozen men dug frantically for two hours to rescue the lad, trapped with his hands over his head and his nose pressed against the wall of his prison. Oxygen was pumped down to him.

The shaft was about a foot across at the top and narrowed to only a few inches at the bottom.

The rescuers dug a second hole nearby, 15 feet across and about 9½ feet deep. When they reached that depth, they tunnelled across to Jimmie. He was sent to hospital for a checkup.

Jimmie fell into the hole as he and a playmate pushed aside a box covering the opening.

Fined Drunk Riding

PEORIA, Ill., Aug. 19 (AP).— William Porter, 63, was fined $10,50 in police court Friday for drunken horseback riding.

Porter was arrested by police after riding a horse through Sunday afternoon traffic.

Patrolman Nelson Stewart and Walter Johnson said Porter became abusive when ordered to dismount. They said he had visited several taverns along the highway.

252 Million Budget Surplus Despite Defence Increase

OTTAWA, Aug. 19—(CP) — Despite a sharp increase in defence spending, the government's budget surplus amounts to $252,900,000 in the first four months of the 1950-51 fiscal year, Finance Minister Abbott announced Friday night.

This amount, exceeding many times Mr. Abbott's hope of a $20,000,000 fiscal surplus gave emphasis to possibility, official sources said, that the government this year may finance the Korean force and defence planning without going into the red.

As the months go by, however, it is likely that the surplus will be sharply cut by increasing defence and other spending. Even so, with business at highest peacetime levels, it is likely that the government's surplus will be several times greater than the $20,000,000 Mr. Abbott predicted at the beginning of the year.

The $252,900,000 surplus for April-July compared with a surplus of $254,000,000 in the same period last year.

Revenues from income and excise taxes and customs import duties put the government's four-month take at $862,000,000, down slightly from last year's $879,000,000.

In the same period expenditures were down, too. Government spending dipped to $609,000,000 from $624,000,000 last year, following an economy drive that hit almost every department with the exception of defence.

Significant was Mr. Abott's appraisal of government income and expenditures during July, when the world's democracies began stepping up the defences. During the month government revenues climbed to 227,600,000, about $23,000,000 greater than in July last year. But expenditures more than kept pace, touching $188,300,000, about $34,000,000 greater than last year.

Communists Retreat On 2 Fronts

Elite Enemy Division Falling Back Under Heavy Assault

TOKYO, Aug. 19—(AP)—A surprise Allied landing deep in Red territory was announced today as North Korean Communists retreated on two fronts—beaten back from the most serious threats to United Nations forces.

At some points the Reds avoided contact entirely with American and South Korean troops. At others their resistance was described as light or moderate.

The Reds fell back before United Nations assaults on the road north from Taegu and in the Changnyong sector to the southwest. Both were danger spots earlier in the week.

The surprise landing was the first allied action of its kind in the war. It was made by South Korean troops Friday on Tokchok Island after a brief shelling by British cruisers and destroyers. The island is 35 miles southwest of Inchon, port of Seoul on the Yellow Sea.

Full significance of the landing was not explained by the spokesman at Gen. MacArthur's headquarters who announced it.

A navy spokesman said Tokchok may have been a Red centre for waterborne communications.

The MacArthur spokesman also disclosed that South Korean guerrillas—or possibly regular army units—may be operating behind Communist lines.

Not Too Quiet

"I think the enemy's back areas are not too quiet," he remarked.

He said he lacked details on both this and the island landing.

MacArthur's communique said the amphibious force took Chinni village on Tokchok without incident. There was no hint of the size of the landing force.

MacArthur's intelligence spokesman gave these estimates of the whole Naktong battle picture are three days of the heaviest fighting of the war:

1. The threat to Taegu, abandoned this week as the provisional South Korean capital, "does not exist today as it did Thursday." But three to five Red divisions, possibly 50,000 men, still were poised north of the city.

2. U.S. Marines and infantry mauled the elite North Korean 4th division so badly in the Naktong bulge near Changnyong that "for the immediate future it can no longer be considered a fighting division."

3. The enemy lost an estimated 2,200 men Thursday along the whole perimeter — the biggest single day's bag for the allies.

Change Styles In Prison Garb

LONDON, Aug. 19—(CP)—A change in the style of the present-day convict garb and increased comforts for "trusties," are among recommendations made in the annual report of Britain's Prison Commissioners.

The special privileges, to be allowed at the discretion of prison governors to certain classes of offenders, include the hanging of pictures in cells, use of bedspreads, table-covers, floor mats, books and fountain pens. Women will be permitted to hang curtains.

Convicts with a high conduct rating also will be allowed to spend their spare time enjoying such pastimes as chess, draughts, jig-saw puzzles, painting and drawing. But playing cards, even for a game of solitaire, is forbidden.

The shapeless clothing, marked with broad arrows, for years the recognized convict garb, is going out. In future "long-term ordinaries," will be clothed in a blue jacket, with a grey ring, and grey trousers.

The fashion note for corrective institutions, such as Borstal, is given in this directive: "Bluette ties should be worn with grey or blue jackets and brown ties with brown jackets. But grey and blue ties of the old pattern will be used up before bluette ties are issued.

He's Popular Guy

The letter is fro ma cousin in Italy who says Vidoni has been ordered to report for duty with the Italian Army. When he was six months old Vidoni was brought to the United States by his immigrant parents. A few days ago his Hagerstown draft board notified him he has been classified 1A—U.S. style.

Omemee Girl Won't Pay Fine, Jailed 2 Months

VAL D'OR, Que., Aug. 19 — (CP)—Four members of the Baptist faith, convicted on a charge of violating a municipal by-law, chose Friday to serve two months in jail rather than pay a fine of $40 and costs, levied by recorder J. L. Baillargeon.

Jailed were the Rev. Murray Heron, pastor of the nearby Noranda Baptist church, Ernie McWilliams, Miss Eileen Veals of Omemee and Howard Killock of Noranda.

Police testimony at trial Thursday—all four had pleaded not guilty—was that following arrest, accused had been taken to the police station, shown a by-law prohibiting street gatherings, had it explained to them and then were released. Police said they continued to hold street meetings and then were re-arrested.

In pronouncing sentence, recorder Baillargeon said: "I come to the conclusion with the evidence submitted that the accused are guilty and I also come to the conclusion that the accused have shown a very bad spirit and are giving a bad example by their conduct and bad faith. They are citizens and as such have to obey the laws of the country.

Must Be Severe

"I have to be very severe and as a lesson I will impose the maximum sentence of $40 plus the costs. Upon default of payment, two months in jail.

"I have no other alternative if we want peace and good order in our town . . . "

This was the third such case in this northwestern Quebec mining district this month.

Last Aug. 7, four other Baptist evangelists chose two-month jail terms rather than pay $25 fines and costs when convicted on similar charges.

They were the Rev. L. T. Heron, pastor of Val d'Or's Evangel Baptist church, and three assistants—his sister, Miss Isobel Heron of Toronto, Church Deacon Malcolm Lesar of Windsor, and Deacon Malcolm Purcell of Val d'Or.

U.S. Attorney Dies

NEW YORK, Aug. 19. (AP) — Lamar Hardy, 71, former United States attorney who prosecuted and won conviction of members of a Nazi spy ring before the Second World War died Friday. He gained recognition for his prosecution of the spy machine headed by a hair dresser, Johanna Hoffman, whose conviction he obtained along with three male conspirators.

Dr. W. Mackintosh Named By Ottawa To Act As Mediator In Rail Strike

International Unions Offer Railways Leeway Up To January For Putting 40-Hour Week Into Effect

MONTREAL, Aug. 19—(CP)—A government-appointed mediator, fighting against time, today is scheduled to meet management and labor in an effort to avert an ever-nearing, country-wide railway strike, set for Aug. 22. Appointment of the mediator—Dr. W. A. Mackintosh of Queen's University, Kingston—was the latest development in a day that saw discussions between unions and companies once more drag to a stop here.

Involved in the rail-wage dispute are 124,000 non-operating employees, comprising 15 international unions with 90,000 members and two Canadian brotherhoods with 34,000 members.

The Vice-Principal of Queen's set his first meeting for 10 a.m. today.

Major developments in Friday's broken-off talks was renewal by the railways of a "'final" compromise offer they had withdrawn August 10 after the unions rejected it. The international unions offered the railways leeway up to the start of next year for putting into effect a demanded 40-hour week with unreduced take-home pay, main stumbling block to conciliation.

Meanwhile, preparations for the strike, set for 6 a.m. local time, continued on both sides.

Embargoes On

The railways already had embargoes in effect against accepting shipments of livestock and perishable goods. They also announced an embargo on all freight shipments to go into effect at midnight, local time, Monday night.

The government's decision to send a mediator came late in the week's third day of Cabinet sessions on the rail crisis.

There were no indications of further government moves in the event Dr. Mackintosh's efforts

Urges Commonwealth Division In Korea

TOKYO, Aug. 19 (Reuters).— A Commonwealth division will fight in Korea if Australian and other governments including Canada agree to plans which Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies will propose on his return to Canberra, usually reliable sources said today.

The division would be made up of one brigade each of Australian, British and Canadian troops. New Zealand would provide artillery and other supporting arms.

Australian, Canadian and British brigadiers would command these formations, possibly under a British divisional commander who, in turn, would be responsible to Lt.-Gen. Sir Horace Robertson, commander-in-chief of commonwealth forces in Japan.

The formation would wear British uniforms and use British weapons.

General Smith Appointed Intelligence Agency Chief

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP) —Walter Bedell Smith, the American general who spent three years watching the Russians from the United States Embassy in Moscow, is going to be the new chief of the Central Intelligence Agency.

The priority job of that agency is to learn what the Soviets are up to now.

Announcement was made Friday night that Smith, United States Ambassador to Russia from February, 1946, to March, 1949, would become director of the top political-military intelligence unit in September. Smith succeeds Rear-Admiral Roscoe H. Hillenkoetter.

Charles Ross, White House Secretary, took pains to declare the change does not reflect any Presidential dissatisfaction with Hillenkoetter's work as CIA director. He said the Admiral had requested months ago to be relieved so he could take sea duty with the Navy.

Ross' statement obviously was directed at offsetting speculation the change in CIA command was linked to the North Korean Communist invasion of South Korea.

Some Congressmen, aroused by what they regarded as failure of United States intelligence to warn of the attack, had demanded a shake-up in the agency headed by Hillenkoetter. The Admiral has denied CIA was caught napping.

Smith, 54, was Chief of Staff for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower at Allied Supreme Headquarters in the Second World War.

While serving as US Ambassador in Moscow he got to know Stalin. He came away with a feeling that top Russians think war with the US is inevitable.

Reach Terms In 2-Month Paper Strike

NEW YORK, Aug. 19 (AP) — Negotiators reached an agreement at 5 a.m. EDT today in the two-month strike of the American Newspaper Guild (CIO) against the New York World-Telegram and Sun.

The agreement came after nearly 15 hours of talks.

The terms, which were not made public, will be sent before the local executive board of the guild Monday and will be voted on by the membership Tuesday.

The guild walked out June 13, and the big afternoon paper suspended publication when AFL mechanical unions honored its CIO picket line.

Recommend Acceptance

Guild negotiators said they would recommend acceptance of the terms to the executive board and the 400 strikers.

"Both sides have agreed that there will be no discussion as to the details of the settlement until after the membership meeting," Walter A. Maggiolo, one of the three federal mediators, said.

In the meantime, the guild will maintain its picket lines around the World-Telegram and Sun plant, and the paper will make no new effort to resume publication.

B. O. McAnney, the managing editor, who was one of the negotiators for the Scripps-Howard paper, said that if the guild accepts the terms the paper will publish "two or three days" later

Woman Stands Trial In Crash

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 19 — (CP)—Mrs. Joan Butterfield, 19, of Exeter, Ont., Friday was committed for trial by judge and jury on a charge of manslaughter arising from the highway death of Joseph Mitocher of Port Stanley, July 14, when five cars piled up in a crash at near-by Arva.

Committal by Magistrate Wright followed completion in county magistrate's court of the preliminary hearing that bogged down July 29 when Crown witnesses failed to identify Mrs. Butterfield as driver of the car involved in the fatality.

Mrs. Butterfield was released on $2,000 bail.

The accident allegedly happened when the Butterfield car turned out on No. 4 Highway, three miles north of Arva, to pass the two girls on bicycles, sideswiping an oncoming car and throwing both cars out of control. Three other cars subsequently were involved.

Donald Wood Placed Second

Peterborough swimmers like other Canadians were downed by Americans in the junior and senior men's swimming championships at Verdun, Quebec, Wednesday and Thursday. Donald Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Wood, Court House, placed second in the preliminary back stroke heat Wednesday but failed to place in the finals Thursday.

John Boorman, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Boorman, 378 Downie St., went down in the first heat of the junior men's free style for 100 yards with a time of 1:05 minutes, his fastest ever recorded.

Wood who has one more year junior also recorded his fastest time for the 100-yards backstroke with 1:14 minutes. On the basis of this time he was one of five in the finals.

Coach Bill Lech, swimming instructor at the Lions pool, who trained the boys, said he is satisfied with their showing against the older competition. He added that he expects the swimmers to be in the honors in future events.

Doughboys In Front Lines Think Reporters Good Guys

By HAL BOYLE

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA, Aug. 19—(AP)—It is night and you are miles behind your own line. You may have gone up to the front and been scared during the day, but that was earlier.

You have come home to a shower to wash away the road dust that feels an inch deep on your skin.

You have got back in time to eat a meal. Or you may be forced to try to digest something out of a can you have stuffed under a bunk.

But bad as the food may taste or persistent as the mosquitoes are buzzing around to dagger you, you are among the fortunate ones of the Korean war. You at least generally sleep free from danger.

This is the greatest advantage a correspondent has over any one group of soldiers. They had to stay and take it—and he comes up for a visit and then gets the hell out of there.

The disadvantage of the reporter covering a war is that he has to go up each day to the place where the battle activity is the highest, or at least he does many days if he has a conscience. So he gets at least an admiring understanding of the average combat infantryman.

Feel Ashamed

He gets an extra bonus—an understanding on the part of the soldier of the job a correspondent has to do. This happens so often that it usually makes a correspondent feel ashamed. Many and many a time an infantryman will say to a reporter who goes up front:

"You're crazy. You mean you come up here when you ain't ordered to? Look. Be smart. Get the hell out of here."

But if you hang around for a while with them under mortar or artillery fire and still get the hell out of there they like you for it. They remember you as an old friend and next time you visit them—whether they are in combat or not.

For some reason this gives you a feeling of guilt at night after you have come back to what passes for a comfortable billet in wartime and have finished your writing for the day.

Better At a Distance

You go out on a small balcony and see the lights of distant guns and hear their far-off rumble. A few trigger-happy rear headquarters troops send up some red tracer fire and someone new to the front says:

"Look. Lightning bugs."

And some more experienced correspondent says:

"Yeah, .50-calibre fireflies."

It's all so beautiful when you are out of range.

Oh, it feels so good to be alive and so far away from it then. You don't think that tomorrow you will be up in that battlefront again yourself.

You just think that maybe you ought to write a letter home to someone you love—and you wonder whether the unseen and hidden hell of metal that breaks with each flash of light will kill an enemy—or touch someone you met yesterday or the day before.

Emery stopped Lyons for another eight count in the third before landing a hard right to Lyons' stomach for the knockout.

Meanwhile, North Korea was served a grim warning that 10 major cities, including the capital of Pyongyang, are about to be bombed.

Warn Civilians

The warning was made in the form of leaflets urging civilians in those cities to flee to the country to escape the mounting wrath of Allied air power.

"Act quickly. Move away from military targets," the leaflets warned.

They were dropped on Chongjin, Chinnampo, Hungnam, Songjin, Sariwon, Wosan, Hamhung, Sinanju, Haeju and Pyongyang.

The cities are sites of munition plants, key rail yards, supply depots, dock installations and communications facilities.

Ninety B-29s blasted North Korean targets with 800 tons of bombs Saturday. Their targets included Chongjin, less than 60 miles from Soviet Russian territory, and Hamhung, 130 miles north of the 38th parallel which divided North and South Korea.

In the critical area north of Taegu, American and South Korean troops continued to drive toward Kumwha Saturday. They advanced another half mile for a total of 2½ miles in their counter-attack. The Allies were just south of Kumwha, Red-held highway town 12 miles north of Taegu.

The tide of battle turned when the U.S. 27th Regiment rushed 50 miles "fire brigade" fashion to team with South Koreans who had been falling back before a Red push.

Main Mass Still There

The main mass of North Korean troops still was reported grouped in the area between Kunwi and Waegwan, 15 miles to the southwest and roughly in the centre of the United Nations line.

Three North Korean divisions—the 3rd, 15th and 13th— were located there. They are "possibly" supported by two others—the 1st and 2nd.

Nearly 35 miles south of Waegwan, some troops of the North Korean 4th division still clung to their Changnyong bulge in the Nawtong line.

But they had lost most of the high ground and the American attack has sliced in half their former salient. The Communists were thrown off strategic heights to the flat ground on the east shore of the Naktong. MacArthur's spokesman said they are about three miles from the river.

Strafe Fleeing Reds

American artillery and planes shelled and strafed the Reds as they tried to flee back across the river.

There was no indication of how many remained of the 12,000 men the Reds had massed in the bulge when the U.S. First Marine Brigade and elements of the 24th division smashed them back in a week - long counter - offensive. Some who tried to escape threw away their weapons in flight.

Marine Corsair fighters and planes of the Fifth Air Force caught some of the Reds swimming the Naktong. Others were fording the stream. Rockets, 20-millimetre cannon fire and jellied gasoline bombs were poured on the survivors of the Red 4th division.

FLIPS BREAD INTO DITCH

Southend residents along Wilson Ave. and Park St. Thursday noon had several seconds of wild confusion. A horse hauling a bread rig suddenly tore west on Wilson Ave. and in its haste forgot about Park St. and the drain. The horse did not cut the corner sharp enough and went flying into the ditch with the wagon behind. The wagon stayed there but the horse scurried back up the bank unhurt. Loaves of bread thrown out of the rig floated down the small stream. An auto wrecker finally came to the aid of the wagon to which little damage was done.

300 Miles To Port Arthur But Every Mile Real Beauty

By JACK SCOTT.

PORT ARTHUR, One. — We drove more than 300 miles today, which is pretty good going with a couple of tons dragging behind you and it was just like the travel folder said. A delight all the way.

We had quite a bit of work done on the trailer in Winnipeg, including new heavy duty truck tires and a more efficient hitch arrangement and the beast is rolling along light as a feather.

We were up at six with the dew still heavy in the grass of the clearing, had our small-mouthed bass which, of course, tasted a whole lot better than it really is, and were on the road by eight.

It was a sparkling fresh morning that helped dull the pain of leaving behind the green Shangri-la of Rushing River. Some day we hope to go back there and retrieve the part of our heart we left behind.

Our first business of the day was to change the game we've been playing for the last couple of thousand miles. Under the rules of this contest the first one to spot a white horse wins a nickel a diversion for the kids which has cost me to date just 85 cents. But now with mile after green mile of forest, we'd run out of white horses. So we substituted lakes.

If you look at a map of the country between Kenora and Lake Superior you find it splattered with thousands of blue specks. but even with this advance knowledge we were unprepared for the spectacular series of lakes on both sides of the roller-coaster highway, each a jewel glinting in the sun.

One outdoor writer has called it "the great canoe country of North America." It is an apt description. There may be more dramatic scenery in Canada, but there is none more refreshing and each of those blue specks crooked a finger at us to linger.

Total cost of the lakes game: 40 cents.

A Warning

One of the first sights we saw were two deer drinking at the edge of Fan Lake. They stood among the white-barked birch, raising their heads to watch us go by, sharply reflected in the blue water and looking almost too perfect to be believed.

We stopped for a lunch of cheese and crackers by one unnamed lake with a scallop of lily pads and a border of blueberries the size of marbles around its shore. In one of its bays was the untidy dome of a beaver's cottage, but we saw no sign of the residents.

Before pulling out Judy and I got into our swim suits and waded out through the lily pads into deep water and then swam far out into the blue into our own private world, a place of unbroken silence and vivid indigo and green. "This," announced my daughter, "must be what heaven's like."

East of here an approaching trailer with Kansas plates hailed us down and the driver, a big, ruddy-faced man, warned us not to go on. "They're putting crushed rock on the road for the next fifty miles," he said, "It'll cut your tires to ribbons."

But we were drunk with those lakes and went on. There was no choice, in any case.

It turned out that the road was under repair at intervals and indeed hard on tires and nerves, but a lead-pipe cinch for anyone who has crossed Saskatchewan.

The thought occured to me on this stretch that in the construction of the trans-Canada highway we might well consider employing an American highway expert as a kind of overlord for that project, much as we did in organizing Trans-Canada Airlines.

I suppose there's a ready explanation, but from the layman's viewpoint it seems painfully clear that roadbuilding is not one of our talents. It would be a crying shame to have anything less than the best in the road they've promised us across this blessed land.

Our first glimpse of Lake Superior was something that will remain in our minds as one of the most unforgettable sights of the trip.

We came over the crest of a hill and the grand-daddy of all lakes was before us. The fresh breeze whipped up whitecaps across Thunder Bay and the late afternoon sun was bright on the sides of the giant terminal elevators that stand along the lakefront like castles.

Port Arthur and Fort William spread out below us, facing out to the inland sea on which a white steamer was turning gracefully with the foam white behind it and . . . yes! . . . a convoy of seagulls. We felt as explorers must when they reach the last rise.

Tonight the trailer is parked in a camp on the hill above Port Arthur looking out across the floodlit mass of cylindrical elevators to the lake and within sound of ships' horns. In a strange way it's like a homecoming.

Tighten Controls On Iron Curtain Exports

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19—(AP) —The United States tightened contorls over exports to Russia and her satellites Friday, and dock workers in New York refused to unload Russian furs arriving on the British liner Mauretania.

The longshoremen were described as mostly war veterans who figured they were practically at war with Russia now.

Here in Washington, the Commerce Department clamped down controls on a list of 1,100 so-called war potential items to Russia and 13 other countries in the Soviet bloc. The order is effective immediately.

Up to now, exports of all U.S. goods have been permitted without individual licenses if the value of the shipments was small enough. The limits ranged from $1 to $1,00, depending on the type of goods.

Under the new order, shipments of the controlled items must be licensed, no matter how small.

The countries affected are Albania, Bulgaria, China, Czechoslovakia, Estonia, the Russian zone of Germany, Hungary, Latvia, Lithuania, Manchuria, North Korea, Poland (and Danzig), Romania and the U.S.S.R.

General Tightening

Officials said controlled goods were going to those countries only in small lots. They said the action would not have a particularly heavy impact, but did constitute a general tightening of export controls.

In New York, members of the International Longshoremen's Association (AFL), Local 824, shook their heads when asked to unload $138,000 worth of Russian furs from the liner Mauretania.

Commerce Department officials here said Russian furs are the most important of Russia's exports to the United States, representing about half the total for the first five months of this year.

Officials said most of the furs are non-competitive—that is, not produced in the United States—but nevertheless the sale of Russian furs in the United States means American dollars or British pounds for Moscow.

The non-competitive Soviet furs are mostly sable, marmot, marten, kolinski, Persian lamb and ermine.

Dr. Mackintosh As Mediator

The Government's appointment of Dr. W. A. Mackintosh to mediate the strike issues between the railway companies and unions is the best hope of settlement which has appeared since the dispute began. A distinguished economist, war-time advisor to the Department of Finance and the Cabinet, and now Vice-Principal of Queen's University, Dr. Mackintosh brings to the task immense knowledge of Canadian economic and social life, an acute mind trained to get to the bottom of such political and economic matters as now complicate the railway dispute, and an integrity of brain and heart which all parties involved in the railway crisis must respect.

Can Canada Demonstrate Independence of The Railways?

For eighty years the railways of Canada have been considered the nation's life-supporting arteries. Without them Canada would be paralysed. Now a strike threatens to deprive the people of railway service. If the strike does take place, some of these old beliefs about the indispensability of the railways may receive a jolt.

* * *

Already in this crisis industry, business and agriculture are gearing for other forms of transport and other means of travel. During the last two decades motor transport has made large inroads into the business of the railways. Air transport is further relieving this country of its dependence on rails. Should the strike take place, these agencies will bear some of the load which the railways carried, and perhaps such a significant amount that the railway companies and the railway workers' unions will be aghast.

* * *

Transport business lost to the railways, even for a week, will be hard to regain. If the business and industry of this country find they can get along without their former heavy dependence on the railways, they may be disinclined to revert to that dependent condition. Why should they again put themselves into such a position as they find themselves this week, whereby a railway strike threatens to disrupt them? And if the Canadian people as a whole find that they do not suffer unduly because their railway service has been taken away, they need never again stand in fear and trembling before the threat of a railway strike. If the strike takes place it may teach some most interesting lessons, and explode some old theories. The railway whip over Canada may be found to have lost its sting.

* * *

Among the most sharply instructed will be the railway companies and the unions, who have now put the Canadian people into a state of alarm because they have been unable to come to agreement with each other. If the companies and unions are so disregardful of the national welfare as to allow a strike to occur, the nation can rightly disregard the railway companies and unions, whom it has always catered to. And if, as a consequence of the strike, the railways lose a lot of business, not only temporarily but permanently, and thousands of railway workers are therefore put out of jobs, whose fault is it? Who has called the strike? Certainly a railway strike now will be harmful to the economy of this country. But it will also harm the companies, and more especially the workers who depend on the companies for their livelihood, and on the good will of the people of Canada which they are now flouting.

Quebec Instructs Its Resort Operators

Between Perce and Gaspe perched on a promontory of scrub land during the war was Fort Prevel. It guarded the port of Gaspe. After the war the usual collection of army huts and administrative buildings was empty and unused. The Quebec Government took a look at them and their situation in the very centre of one of North America's famous tourist areas. By agreement with the Department of National Defence, it leased the land, took over the buildings and set about making Fort Prevel into a hotel. There were special reasons for this move.

The Government of Quebec has a large investment in roads, and publicity in the Gaspesie. The district is one of the province's greatest tourist dollar earners. Yet tourists had been complaining that accommodation was inadequate, prices unstable, food not always up to the Canadienne cuisine, and service inept. If such a condition were allowed to worsen, the Gaspesie would lose its visitors, and the Government its big investment.

It was decided to open Fort Prevel as a tourist place to take care of the overflow from Gaspe and Perce (it is a little over 20 miles from both towns); and also to show the summer hotel keepers how a good hostelry should be run in that area. Fort Prevel is succeeding admirably in both these objectives, under the direction of the Parks and Reserves branch of the Department of Game and Fish.

The army huts are almost unrecognizable as such. They have been transformed by porches, fireplaces and windows into comfortable suites and single rooms. Over-night rates are very reasonable. The dining room serves as good meals as can be had anywhere in the Gaspesie for moderate prices. The table service is excellent and friendly, the menus attractive, the wines carefully chosen to suit pocket-books and palate at the same time. The grounds are being landscaped; tennis courts provided, and such other amenities as any first class resort offers. Fort Prevel, now designated a Provincial Park, is a haven for tourists and an example to Gaspe summer hotel operators. Although its indirect approach is effective, it also teaches directly. Last spring resort operators were invited to Fort Prevel for a week, at the Department's expense, to study menus, methods of cooking, table settings, and to learn the advantages of moderate fixed prices and consistently good service to tourists.

Fort Prevel might be an example for Ontario. This province is spending hundreds of thousands of dollars in luring tourists to it. They come, and too often find accommodation, service, and meals below standards which the glowing publicity had led them to expect. We need to provide our tourists with more than lakes in which they can fish.

Corduroy Roads of the County

Early roads are discussed in today's instalment of Progress of Peterborough, the specially-written new history of the district by Howard Pammett appearing each week on our Feature Page. How far removed are our present roads. Even the lowliest township byway is better than those provided the district's ancestors a century ago. In the 1840's the cheapest type of passable road was the corduroy road, made of split timbers laid crosswise on stringers. Here and there throughout the region—in swampy areas in Cavan and Ennismore—modern car wheels still joltingly tell of the invisible presence of corduroy surfaces of the last century. The logs sank in the bogs year by year, and were added to year by year. Plank roads seemed better, but were costlier. As Mr. Pammett tells, these planks, 3 inches by 13 inches, laid lengthwise on crossbars, lasted up to eight years. What planks they must have been—as good as those being used to floor Yonge Street, Toronto, in these days of subway building!

Our county and township roads are a pleasure at this season. Not only are their surfaces good. They penetrate lovely countryside entirely missed by the paved highways. Some city people on summer holidays spend their entire two weeks exploring these avenues. What more relaxing and quietly rewarding way can there be of vacationing? One's own table and bed at night, and each day another jaunt into near-by, placid and fruitful county niches.

A Good PCVS Class

Congratulations are due teachers and pupils of the Peterborough Collegiate for the fine showing the graduating class made in its Departmental examinations last June. More than 95 per cent. of the papers taken were passed and a third of them were passed with first class honours. This is indeed an excellent record especially by one of the largest graduating classes (Grade XIII) in the School's history. The Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School has had a consistently fine record of scholastic achievement even though it has never set itself up as a cramming school nor aimed immoderately at securing university scholarships. This year's graduating results are not only in the tradition: they add to it. Principal C. S. Browne, his excellent staff, his students and their families must all be pleased, as are fellow citizens recognizing special merit.

Independence Day In Indonesia

By O. M. GREEN

TWO days after the Japanese surrender in 1945, the independence of Indonesia was proclaimed by Dr. Soekarno and Dr. Mohammed Hatta, now respectively President and Prime Minister. Last Thursday Independence Day was celebrated throughout the Indonesian islands for the first time in real independence, with vast rejoicing and, it may fairly be said, with no little pride in what the young State has already accomplished. So easily Indonesia might have become a second Burma. But it has not, and there appears no reason why it ever should.

UNDOUBTEDLY Indonesia has been fortunate in the twin leadership of Dr. Soekarno and Dr. Hatta. They are about the same age, a year or so under 50. Both were early workers for revolution—Hatta actually took 10 years to get through college at Rotterdam owing to his activities among Indonesian students, while Soekarno was founding and building up the Indonesian Nationalist Party in Java when he was only 24. Both were in gaol when the Japanese took the Netherlands East Indies, were released by them, and collaborated with them.

That naturally gave both men a bad name after the war. But Indonesians insist that it was done deliberately. Soekarno and Hatta, with others, were to collaborate in order to learn something of the practical work of administration, while the other Nationalist leaders, Sjahir and Sjarifuddin, remained underground to work up the independence movement. And it is averred that this movement became so powerful that, if the Japanese had not surrendered, it would have broken out before the end of 1945.

IN character no two men could be more different than the President and the Prime Minister. Yet they dovetail admirably, the qualities of each supplementing or correcting those of the other.

Soekarno is a heavily built man, dignified, but approachable by all, a man of much personal charm, of high imagination and above all an impassioned speaker. No one, it is said, can do or has done so much to bring the Indonesians together by the mere magic of his voice. Incidentally, he is a really gifted architect and engineer. The supply of both is so short in Java that one almost regrets that Soekarno took to politics.

Soekarno is not constructive. He can conceive and paint a great word picture. But the details must be worked out by Hatta. With none of the president's personal attractions, in some ways cold, even repellant, Dr. Hatta has the mind of a scientist, the cool brain of a high court judge, and the planning capacity of a master of industry. He is essentially a strong man who does not hesitate to say unpleasant things. Yet can be conciliatory and clever in bringing antagonists together, as he showed more than once at the Hague Conference last December when the United States of Indonesia was born.

ANOTHER personality worth watching is the Sultan of Jogjakarta, now Minister of Defence. His responsibilities today are heavy. Too many bands of outlaws, once self-styled Republican guerrillas, are still at large; the militant Dar-Ul-Islam, a fanatical Moslem sect, is a continual cause of anxiety; and the disposal of the K.N.I.L., the native troops recruited by the Dutch, who have already shared in two rebellions, Turk Westerling's in Macassar and that still unsuppressed in Amboyna, has still to be managed.

But the Sultan's cleverness is shown by the fact that he is still alive though most other Sultans have perished in the past eight years. He has always managed to cooperate with the Republicans and his prestige in Java as hereditary ruler and spiritual chief is great. Some day he dreams of reviving the independent throne of his fathers. But certainly he has given no outward sign of it.

OF the other two men mentioned, Dr. Sjarifuddin was Premier for a short time in 1948, and was much respected by the Dutch. Dr. Sjahrir, formerly Foreign Minister, earned the high opinion of Lord Inverchapel and Lord Killearn (British diplomats), during their attempts to mediate between the Dutch and Indonesians, for his statesmanlike qualities.

Sjahrir is essentially a realist, insistent on the need for doing first things first. He has strongly opposed the "unitary State," in which the Java Republicans have induced or coerced the 16 autonomous States of the United States of Indonesia as constituted last December to be combined under the authority of a single Government at Jakarta in Java. He also attacks the passionate desire of Dr. Soekarno to attach New Guinea (still under the Dutch) to Indonesia. (This thorny question has to be settled before the end of the year).

"Why worry about New Guinea which is of no value to us?" asks Dr. Sjahrir. "Why waste time on all the complicated business of forming a unitary State? That is merely playing politics and probably making trouble. What we have to do is to put down the outlaws, clean up Java, make the people happy. Nothing else matters."

◇ ◇ ◇

AT present Dr. Sjahrir is only an adviser outside the Government, but is pretty sure to be in the next Cabinet. Strongly supported by the Socialists and by an increasing number of splinter parties, his influence is likely to be weighty.

Meanwhile, the economic picture becomes more and more encouraging. Rubber exports this year are expected to top 620,000 tons, and tea exports 75,000,000 pounds. The production of both is increasing, as is that of coffee, cocoa, oil, palm oil, cinchona and other commodities.

As production rises, employment increases, and there are fewer malcontents to listen to Communist propaganda. With the surrounding sea to guard her from the agitations of the mainland, one may hope that there will be no check in the fair beginning that Indonesia has made.

Letters To The Editor

HELP FOR TENTED FAMILY

Sir: I have enclosed two dollars which I wish you would forward to Reg. (?) in Buckhorn.

That story in Saturday's Examiner to me was a very wonderful thing and such great faith should not go unanswered. I myself am classed as a hail fellow well met type but have never lost faith in God or his good works though I don't always live a saintly life by any means. However, I hate scoffers and non-believers and I know how they will laugh at that story; that is why I would like to see every believer who read that story send in a donation large or small to help Reg and his family show these guys that God can and does help if you are just humble enough to ask.

How about it, Mr. Editor, let's get the ball rolling. It must be damn cold in a tent even now.

CORRESPONDENT.

DOWN-TOWN BEGGARS

Sir: I have noticed with surprise and distaste the appearance of beggars on the streets of Peterborough within the past few days. These men would probably object strenuously to the use of the word 'beggar,' but the very small number of pencils in their boxes indicate that one is not expected to take a pencil in exchange for the coin put in the box.

These men appear to be in excellent health except for the lack of a leg, or part of a leg, and in one case both legs. They are young, that is, not too far from thirty years of age in either direction. It seems to me that they expect the public to believe that they are veterans of this last war (1939-45) suffering the consequences of enemy action and left to fend for themselves as best they can in their handicapped condition. I hope that everyone realizes that this is certainly not the case. So far as I know, artificial limbs, medical care and pensions for life are provided for men disabled while serving in the armed forces. All that the man who has lost a leg has to provide is the will to learn to use the artificial limb and he can lead a normal life.

These, then, should not be veterans. Who are they? Where do they come from? Why is it necessary (if indeed it is necessary at all) for a man to rely on a pitying public for his livelihood?

I should like some answers to these questions, Mr. Editor.

Your puzzledly,
UNPITYING CITIZEN.

August 18th, 1950.

(Ed Note: Beggars are few and far between in Peterborough. Periodically one or two descend to George St. from outside points, stay a few days or weeks plying their trade in pencils and what-have-you, and move on. Apparently Peterborough is not too good a stamping-ground for them. Beggars may be charged as vagrants, and sometimes are. The police keep an eye on those who appear).

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Behold, God is my salvation; I will trust and not be afraid; for the Lord JEHOVAH is my strength and my song; he also is become my salvation. Therefore with joy shall ye draw water out of the wells of salvation. And in that day shall ye say, Praise the Lord, call upon his name, declare his doings among the people, make mention that his name is exalted.

Sing upon the Lord; for he hath done excellent things; this is known in all the earth. Cry out and shout, thou inhabitant of Zion; for great is the Holy One of Israel in the midst of thee. (Isa. 12:2-6.)

And the great seventh angel sounded; and there were great voices in heaven, saying, The kingdoms of this world are become the kingdoms of our Lord, and of his Christ; and he shall reign for ever and ever.

And the four and twenty elders, which sat before God on their seats, fell upon their faces, and worshipped God, saying, We give thee thanks, O Lord God Almighty, which art, and wast, and art to come; because thou hast taken to thee thy great power, and hast reigned. Rev. 11:15-17.)

"Well," said the patient, "what am I to tell my wife?"

The patient did as he was told. "What is syncopation?" asked the wife.

Progress of Peterborough: XXXII

Rebellion Troubles Passed Local Gov't, Roads To Fore

By HOWARD PAMMETT, M.A.

The troubles of 1837-1839 had important results on the Kawartha district. The Trent waterway project was indefinitely postponed. On March 1, 1837, an Act was passed "to authorize the erection of certain townships and other territory forming part of the Newcastle District into a new District by the name of Colborne, with Peterborough for the District Town." On June 2, 1838, as a result, Hon. T. Stewart chaired a Peterborough meeting of District magistrates: Need, Langton, Traill, Reid, Connin, Hutchison, Carr, Darcus, McDonell, Dennistoun, Crawford, Wallis, Hickson, Dnuffy, Moe, Madge, Hill, Sanford and Bird, to plan the erection of a courthouse and jail on lots 1 to 7, east of Water Street and north of Brock Street, seven acres which had been reserved in 1825 by Robinson and Birdsall for this purpose; the buildings were to be on lots 5, 6 and 7. The Building Committee selected Joseph Scobell's plans, and gave the carpentry contract to Edward Lee; the stone contract to M. and J. Hanlon; T. Harper and B. Bletcher provided the stone. The land title was approved by the Executive Council March 5, 1840. Before the building began, Governor Arthur laid the cornerstone August 25, 1838, but the courthouse was not finished until November, 1840, and the jail until the summer of 1842, at a total cost of £7,190 15s 7d. A penny per pound was added to the district taxrate until the balance was paid off.

On October 14, 1841, the Colborne District was established, including Belmont, Methuen, Burleigh, Dummer, Asphodel, Otonabee, Douro, North Monaghan, Smith, Ennismore, Harvey, Verulam, Emily, Ops, Fenelon, Mariposa, Eldon, Bexley, and Somerville "together with the unsurveyed lands in rear thereof and the islands lying wholly or in greater part opposite thereto" —in short, the Kawartha region.

We too often forget that not only is there "a soul of greatness in things evil," but very generally a soul of truth in things erroneous."

HERBERT SPENCER (1829-1903)

The Government set up a District Council, appointing George Hill of Dummer as Warden, and the following Township Councillors: MONAGHAN—T. Harper; SMITH —S. Nichols; DOURO—S. D. Gills. OTONABEE — T. Carr and J. Doris; ASPHODEL — R. Birdsall; EMILY—J. L. Hughes and Wm. Cottingham; OPS — F. Kelly; FENELON— John Langton; VERULAM and HARVEY— T. Need; ENNISMORE—D. Costello; MARIPOSA—S. Davidson; ELDON—A. Campbell; DUMMER—A. Kidd.

Their first meeting was February 8, 1842, in the new courthouse. Officers appointed were: Clerk, J. Darcus; Treasurer, Dr. J. Gilchrist; Auditors, J. Hall and R. Reid; Solicitor—G. B. Hall; Road Surveyors, J. Reid, T. J. Dennehey, R. Birdsall, G. Hughes, E. Caddy, J. W. Dunsford, A. Campbell, C. Britton and J. Bird. The Warden was paid $80 a year, doubled in 1844, then replaced 1847 on by an honorarium of $200, with a silk gown for meetings; Councillors received $1.25 a day while in session; the Clerk was paid $160 a year, soon raised to $300, and in 1849 to $400; the Treasurer received fees on his work, until 1849 when his salary was fixed at $400 a year; the Auditors were paid $20 each a year. One-third of the Council retired each year from 1843 on, being replaced by elected Councillors with three-year terms. The Clerk, J. Darcus, JP and news publisher, was guilty of fraud in 1844 and fled from the region; to replace him James McCarrol was appointed, but soon was superseded by Walter Sheridan. In 1846 Dr. Gilchrist resigned as Treasurer, being replaced by Frederick Ferguson. George Hill served as Warden 1842-1846, and John Langton 1847-1850.

Reformers Win

In the 1841 election, the Reformers under Baldwin and Lafontaine won a sweeping victory at the polls. In Durham County, to which the western half of Colborne was still linked for electoral purposes, John Williams, Reformer, was elected. Anne Langton called him "a most despicable character . . . little short of, if not actually a murderer"; the Langtons and other gentry campaigned for the Tory, Boulton, but according to Anne the Reformer won because "a vast number of SMALL FARMERS are in his debt and he threatens to sue them unless they give him their votes."

In Peterborough the candidates were: A. McDonell (the Tory member), F. Ferguson, and Dr J Gilchrist, Reformer. Capt. Alex Fraser was Returning Officer at the polling-place, at White's Tavern, just east of George St. south, near Day's Brewery. When it became obvious that Gilchrist was going to win, some Tories met in a tavern near the Otonabee bridge, planning to seize and destroy the pool-book, nullifying the election. For this purpose they began a fight in the polling-place, but Fraser shrewdly slipped the poll-book under his coat and took it to his room in the Tavern; during the fighting, Gilchrist was beaten over the head by Tory thugs. The same evening the gang broke into Fraser's room and cut open his luggage but he had saved the poll-book again by taking it out with him for the evening. The Tories apparently believed in "law and order" only when it benefitted them.

The Tory bitterness is reflected in the Langton letters. Some of the gentry refused to act as magistrates because the new Government had appointed some new magistrates, "men of almost the lowest degree . . utterly incompetent to perform the duties of their office" (Anne Langton, May 16, 1842). Four months later Anne wrote again "John came home (from Peterborough) very disheartened about public business and the men he had to deal with. You must expect him to become very TORYISH in his ideas." John himself in a letter of December, 1843 detailed his political views: "Nine-tenths or more are Conservatives . . .in our part of the district . . . There are such stringent regulations to prevent treating, conveying electors to the poll, and even flags and music, that it will require a few years' experience before means of evading them are devised . . As to political matters in the Province they are in the worst possible situation and must end, I think, in the separation of the Canadas or in another rebellion . . . ." He criticized the fact that "a few leading demagogues backed by a temporary majority" could dictate to the Governor, and railed against "the full democratic extent of responsibility . . . their undisguised democratic policy". Even the severe depression of 1840-43 was blamed on the Reform ministry by their opponents.

Newspaper Battles

In 1843 Sir Charles Metcalfe, formerly governor in India and Jamaica, came to Canada and quickly showed strong hostility to responsible government and to the Baldwin-Lafontaine Reformers. As in 1836, Governor Metcalfe in the 1844 election campaign led the Tory forces in a fight against "republicanism", accompanied by rioting, bribery and every means of corruption. Rev. Ryerson of the Methodist Church campaigned for Metcalfe against the Reformers, and the Governor thereupon appointed him Superintendent of Education for Canada West, to the disgust of Bishop Strachan and Dr. Bethune of Cobourg, editor of the Anglican magazine "The Church". Higginson wrote to Ryerson Sept. 18, 1844: "They complain of a great want of information in the Colborne District. I mean Dr. Gilchrist's portion of it, where they see nothing but the Peterborough 'Chronicle'. Mr. Hickson may be depended on as far as he can be of use in circulating some of your wholesome truths (i.e. Ryerson's Tory election pamphlets)."

The Tories under Metcalfe and McNab won a slim majority, as Mrs. Stewart noted: "The great excitement for some weeks is past and the elections over. Great fears prevailed for some time that the Radical party would have the most power—fortunately it has not turned out so. Almost all the members returned for the Upper Province are good Conservatives The Radicals in this country are neither more nor less than rebels." She added rather illogically: "Mr. George Hall is our member, to the satisfaction of a large number of his friends", since Hall, a Peterborough lawyer and Reformer, had defeated Colonel Baldwin (from Toronto), candidate of Metcalfe, by a narrow margin. To bolster the Tory cause, Rev. J. H. Dunsford started a two-page weekly, "The Peterborough Gazette" in 1845 which conducted a verbal battle with the "Chronicle" and its 1846 successor the "Dispatch", until the "Gazette" folded up in November, 1848.

In the election of December, 1847 the Reformers swept into power without difficulty as the people supported the drive for responsible government. B. Y. McKyes, first Colborne District Judge, had just died, and George Hall was appointed to replace him. James Hall became the Reform candidate in Colborne, opposed by Richard Birdsall and Langton, Independent and Tory respectively. Hall was elected by a majority of 81. The Tory reaction when Lord Elgin granted responsible government in 1849 has already been mentioned. The Reform victory was accompanied by gradual democratization of the administration in Colborne District also, as the "Old Guard" moved out one by one. Most of the gentry settlers had left their Kawartha "estates" before 1850, including the Langtons, Moodies, Traills and Dunsfords. Kirkpatrick left Peterborough about 1840 to return in the fifties, Robinson died in 1838, Fothergill 1840, Stewart 1847, Hutchison 1847, Morrow 1848, etc. In 1846 Peterborough people began planning incorporation of the town, and the District Council was busy improving communications in the region. Immigrants were pouring in again, and the lumbering industry developing a new prosperity.

THE INTERIOR of the first power house in Peterborough shows the first type of generators that are a far cry from the highly developed and efficient types of today. The old power house was situated beside Hazlitt dam at the foot of London St. At this stage, all the dams along the river were built of wood and the streets were illuminated by carbon arc lamps.

The Case Of The Potato Bug

By JOHN BARTLETT, in Frankfurt, Germany

The potato bug or colorado beetle, until now just a terrible pest, has become a political figure in Germany.

The East German government and the Soviet Union claim that pilots in American planes have been scattering the insects over the potato-growing areas of Eastern Germany. This, they say, has ruined the crop, and the people of Eastern Germany had better not expect many potatoes in their traditional potato soup next winter.

American officials were at first inclined to laugh off the charge. Orders were given to make the most of them in an attempt at ridicule. But when the Soviet Union sent a formal note of complaint to the United States they realized the seriousness of the comedy.

It proved that the Stalinists, just like the Nazis, thought that by telling a big lie and repeating it they might get some people to believe them. And by this time no doubt there are a lot of people in East Germany who do believe it.

After all, is not the very name "Colorado bettle" proof that this is an American bug and had to be imported?

A quick check with history books discloses that the potato bug, a neat insect with sturdy orange shields marked by two black stripes, was first seen in the foothills of the Rocky Mountains in the middle of the 19th century.

He used to eat weeds and other wild plants, but took a liking to potatoes and searched out this European vegetable for his dinner wherever he found it. There is little doubt that the Eastern countries—Poland and Czechoslovakia also have registered complaints—are plagued by the potato bug. But so are Western Germany and other western countries. The latter, however, have joined international working groups for the control of the colorado beetle.

American officials here point out that if the Communists were less intent on fighting capitalism and more intent on fighting hunger they would take measures against the colorado beetle. Western farmers, instead of searching out "saboteurs," seek out the latest chemicals and other preventative sprays to combat the beetle.

A crooning cow, a crowing hen and a whistling woman boded never luck to a house.

James Kelly: (Scottish Proverbs) 1721

Throughout all of Germany last year there was a heavy infestation of the colorado beetle. The Western occupying Powers immediately got down to the business of acquainting the farmers with the latest methods for controlling it. Presumably all the Russian occupiers found time to teach was Communism. Since the colorado beetle is un-political, the results were pre-ordained.

Like other scourges, the colorado bettle grows if not molested. This year, his numbers have increased in the Eastern territories. But in the West, where Marxist theories of the economic basis of politics are perhaps taken more seriously than in the Marxist East, the pest is under control.

Some Hints on Horticulture

CLIPPING SHRUBS

Evergreen hedges such as the Thuya or white cedar should be clipped during spring, just before growth starts. Privets the same. The latter may safely be clipped twice a year, evergreens only once. It is wrong to clip the Thuya hedge during autumn, as to do so will remove all the green and vigorous growth and the hedge will look brown and unhealthy all winter at a time it should look its best.

As in the case of flowering shrubs, those which are valued for their berries or fruits during winter, or coloured stems, should not be clipped but be lightly thinned as necessay and only the wayward growths be shortened. To clip or tear them will defect the purpose for which planted. Bushy willows are exceptions: they may be cut back severely.

There is the greatest practical benefit in making a few failures early in life.

T. H. HUXLEY (1825-1895).

It is utter folly to clip shrubs into grotesque shapes unless they are planted as foliage hedges or are included in a formal garden (topiary) scheme. Clipped shrubs are not desirable for any other purpose, neither are they natural, as usually all their beauty and grace vanishes with the removal of growths which produce flower. A well pruned shrub should appear to an artistic eye a perfect object, no sign of mutilation should be visible, the head should be perfectly symmetrical without being grotesque. Clipped shrubs are always grotesque, as the pernicious practice of mutilating these beautiful subjects results in their total failure to produce annually their abundant blossoms.

Operations other than pruning are necessary to maintain health and vigor in our shrubs, it is true. The summer practices of cultivation and of occasional spraying to control insects and effective watering during drought, must be performed. Above all, however, the operation of pruning, a practice sadly neglected, should be assiduously and annually effected in order that the shrubs of our garden may display the fulness of their beauty, some of them veritable fountains of bloom and not like the clipped and mutilated ones of which may be likened to the fountain bowl with the sparkling and irridescent water sprays long since dried to leave the imagination to conjure a memory of the beauty that once it possessed.

THE OLD BLACKSMITH SHOP which fell to make way for the J. J. Turner plant is shown here in a picture of old Peterborough. The shop was built and run originally by Joe Patten, and later by Alex Gibson. Owner of the building when it was bought by J. J. Turner was Robert Hull, who used to make awning frames for the Turners, who then operated across George St.

Locked In St. Peter's Rome, For 3 Hours With 100,000 City Musician Finds Heat Oppressive, Rites Impressive

By GEORGE C. ANSTRUTHER

The "Grand Tour" has been the finishing school of scholars from Milton's day to Browning's. In the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries this tour of France, the Rhineland, Italy and Greece was a long, leisurely affair of difficult travel. Today tourists and scholars like Donald Kennedy, B.A., Mus. Bac., pianist, organist and choirmaster of Trinity United Church, Peterborough, start from this far-off land of Canada and make a similar tour in a matter of six or seven weeks.

Mr. Kennedy has just returned from a modified Grand Tour, which included England, Scotland, Holland, Belgium, Germany, Switzerland, Italy and France. He did all this in the comfort of mighty liners like the Queen Mary, Riviera hotels such as his in Nice frequented by Lord and Lady Mountbatten, trains like the crack ones from London to Scotland, and buses such as those in Italy which have toilets, Coca Cola and beer on board (the two latter at 20 cents a bottle). And he accomplished it all in little more than seven weeks, with a sojourn in New York to boot.

When interviewed for The Examiner earlier this week, Mr. Kennedy had hardly had time to sort out his impressions. Here are some of his off-the-cuff observations:

ENGLAND

Food: the least said the better. Apparently powdered scrambled eggs still taste the way they did in the army during the war. "But the people are wonderful. Hospitable, interesting, full of enthusiasm and ideas. And I was totally unprepared for the exquisite beauty of the countryside. It is absolutely lovely, even in the so-called 'Black Country' near Birmingham." Mr. Kennedy visited in Sutton Coldfield at the family home of a modern British composer and pianist who gave a concert tour in Canada and the U.S. last year, Mantle Childe. He was greatly impressed by the spaciousness and charm of such a country house, and particularly by the gardens, an art which the English have cultivated for four centuries with gentle ardour and consummate success.

In Stratford-on-Avon Mr. Kennedy saw John Gielgud as Cassius in Shakespeare's Julius Caesar; in London, the Sadler's Wells ballet in "Sleeping Beauty," and Laurence Olivier in the much-discussed new poetic play "Venus Observed." He reports that although houses were full, there was little difficulty in getting seats at short notice, and that prices were much more reasonable for them than in Toronto. He naturally had ears open for music, and sat in on an organ recital at St. Margaret's, Westminster.

SCOTLAND

The First War memorial to the Scottish-American killed, in Princes Gardens, Edinburgh, done by the Canadian Dr. Tait MacKenzie, drew his admiration. And of course he was impressed by the Castle. Although he admits to Scottish ancestry (somewhat diluted), he was not thrilled to the core by Scotland. "It rained all the time I was there—or mist wet the spirit." He thinks his own Pigeon Lake (where he is now spending week-days at the family summer home," between Sunday services) is more beautiful than Loch Lomond. "If somebody were to write a song about Pigeon as fetching as the ballad song 'Loch Lomond,' all the Scots would be coming here.".

HOLLAND

Tourist Kennedy had only a flying visit in the Low Lands, but he saw Queen Juliana's home, thinks that wooden shoes as worn by the fisher-folk at Vollendam are much over-rated as foot-gear, and the paintings in the state museum at Amsterdam peerless.

GERMANY

Mr. Kennedy made a junket down the Rhine, chiefly in order to visit at Bonn (Western Germany's capital) a Protestant correspondent of several years' standing to whom he had been sending relief parcels. This person's father had perished in a Nazi concentration camp during the early war years. The Canadian visitor found his hosts eager, agreeable, and "putting their best foot forward" to give him the best that present Western Germany offers.

Mr. Kennedy is conversant with both the German and French language, and talked at length with several Germans whom he met, about the war, politics, and German attitudes. He found that they profess a great liking for Britain, an admiration for the U.S., and have three pronounced antipathies: for the Russians, the Poles, and Jews. They say that all the time, ever since 1939, Russia has been the real enemy of the West.

As did pre-war travellers from this country, Mr. Kennedy felt at ease in Germany. "They are very much like us—in their cleanliness, appearance and domestic life." But he was much embarrassed when he stood with his German guide in front of the debris of bombed, though still magnificent, Cologne cathedral. The ruins of the great city of Cologne he found tragic.

"The Germans tend to be a bit flippant about the war now, and to laugh it off as if it were everybody's mistake." Mr. Kennedy remarked. He observed that when confronted with questions about the atrocities of Belsen and other places (human skin being made into lamp shades), they talked about 'those other Germans,' the worst Nazis, as if elevating themselves above that sort of thing. But when it came to other, less harrowing matters, they talked of "us Germans."

SWITZERLAND

Switzerland was somewhat of a port-of-call for Mr. Kennedy. He was, so-to-speak, a bird in transit there. but here's an interesting tid-bit: "I was immediately enraptured by Lucerne and Swiss scenery and mountains. In the morning of our stay there (he was touring with a Canadian group), we went shopping for Swiss watches. Our small party spent $2,000 in an hour in one shop. After lunch five of us rented an outboard to go around lovely Lake Lucerne. To my great surprise it had a Johnson motor made in Peterborough."

ITALY

"The Italians seemed much more foreign to us than other nations. Maybe it was because I did not understand their language. The money amused us, 550 lire to a dollar.' (In war-time the Canadian soldier was paid only 100 lire to the dollar.) "My billfold got stuffed with it, and I would think I had a lot, but it really added up to very little, in good cash value.". Mr. Kennedy found all through Europe that coins were of little value or use (except in Britain and Switzerland); and that paper money was the rule of the day, because of the devaluation of currencies. "The canals in Venice stink. Little Lake in Peterborough is like Eau de Cologne in comparison."

GOOD-BYE

Goodbye to flattery's fawning face;
To grandeur with his wise grimace;
To upstart wealth's averted eye;
To supple office, low and high;
To crowded halls, to court and street;
To frozen hearts and hasting feet;
To those who go, and those who come;
Goodbye, proud world! I'm going home.

R. W. Emerson: 1839

In Italian shops, in Milan, Rome, Florence or elsewhere, unless the store had a known policy of fixed prices, everybody was expected to bargain. The Canadians were first taken for Americans and shop-keepers would always quote their lire prices in terms of the American dollar: "In your money it will cost . . ." The Canadians would then, in bartering spirit, say, "But we don't have American dollars. We are Canadian. And our dollar is worth less than the American and we do not have as much money as the Americans." So the price of a leather billfold or a mosaic or a piece of alabaster would go down.

All tourists to Rome, Catholic and Protestant alike, flock to the Vatican with its art treasures and its religious ceremonies. This is Holy Year in Rome. Twice a week the Pope gives large audiences in St. Peter's, at special services for pilgrims. Mr. Kennedy attended one, with others of his party

About 100,000 people were crowded into that great church, the largest in the world. (Mr. Kennedy notes that he has visited, on this tour, the three largest churches: St. Peter's Rome: St Paul's London and Milan Cathedral.) Before the Pope was carried in to the golden throne of St. Peter, the doors were closed. The 100,000 people stood in terrific heat, and there was no escape possible from it until the service had ended and the doors were again opened. "I thought I'd die,' Mr. Kennedy remarked. But he found the ceremony impressive. Everybody, Catholics and Protestant alike, had brought rosaries and other religious articles to be blessed. The Pope gave his blessing and good wishes in half a dozen languages. A Roman Catholic woman in the Canadian party had bought $50 worth of rosaries to be blessed.

Mr. Kennedy is still dazzled by the sun of Italy. "Not a cloud in the sky, ever. The sun blazed. The heat was insufferable. Every night, in Rome, Florence, the Italian Riviera, one would lie unclothed and sweating like an acolyte of Hades. It was a relief to get to Paris, where the weather was more like England's."

FRANCE

Mr. Kennedy travelled by bus from Rome to Florence and along the Italian Riviera to France: Monte Carlo and Nice.

He dropped in to the gambling Casino at Monte Carlo. "It's a rummy place, as I saw it. Of course, it's the off-season. Not at all like the posh Casino filmed in the Somerset Maugham movie 'Quartet.' Messy-looking people gambling. I noticed particularly one old harridan with a string of pearls the size of robin's eggs. She was shooting craps." (It is only recently that craps have been introduced and allowed at Monte Carlo.) "She looked dowdy and dissipated, like an old streetwalker. Scrawny dirty neck, and hands like the claws of a vulture. God preserve me from a place and crew like Monte Carlo. One woman in our party made fifty francs. I don't gamble, and was too disgusted with that place to gamble there, even if I did."

The heat apparently let up in Paris. In Paris there were, besides the usual historic sights, the Folies Bergeres, and the night clubs. Every tourist knows that he must attend the celebrated Folies Bergeres, so Mr. Kennedy escorted a grandmother who was on his party. He was surprised by the elegance and decency of the show, "Ave Maria" and the beheading of Mary Queen of Scots were sandwiched in between less sumptuous and more risque bits. And these bits did not turn a hair on the head of the grandmother, says Mr. Kennedy She even wanted to go on to a much-touted night club and a bottle of champagne afterwards.

NEW YORK

Despite the increased post-Korean war prices in New York, Peterborough's travelling musician met the Statue of Liberty last week, on board the Queen Elizabeth, with relief All customs, language and food problems were then behind him. "A wonderful tour," he said, "but I was glad to be back on this continent. It was educative and interesting, but, as always, there is no easy way to learning, even if there are no university examinations to pass. Travel is as strenuous as a university course." And Mr. Kennedy ought to know what he is talking about, having taken the Grand Tour, and, before that, before coming to Peterborough as music teacher and organist, two or three degrees (New York was his seventh "capital" city of the tour: London, Edinburgh, Amsterdam, Bonhn, Rome and Paris.)

Mr. Kennedy touched on all manner of things in his conversation, particularly the music he had heard. A wonderful concordance of tone in famed St. Mark's cathedral in Venice. He drew up to the choir of the cathedral only to find he was in the midst of a funeral service! Near Rome's ancient Coliseum he heard in the moonlight of an outdoor concert, Beethoven's Choral Symphony. In Bonn, Beethoven's birthplace he was enraptured. There he saw the organ the Master had used. A three-manual instrument with the stops so high above the console that the player would have to stand up to adjust them.

PETERBOROUGH

"Its good to be back. And much of the countryside I saw in England, Germany and France, was like, and no more lovely than, what we have right here. As a matter of fact, the view from Armour Hill reminds me a lot of England. The farms up Highway 28 are like the acres of Germany and France."

When this interviewer asked the traveller for a succinct general impression of his European travels, the answer was this: "I was continually astonished how much alike people all are, here and abroad; in our homes, our thoughts, our feelings and our ways of life. There is a one-ness which defies national barriers."

Owen Sound Trims Petes In Rough Lacrosse Game

By DON GRANT

All loyal Petes' lacrosse fans should bow their heads today and have one minute's silence for the senior A Petes. At first like lions then like lambs they were led to a 23-7 slaughter Friday night by the Owen Sound Crescents in the Scenic City.

They were like lions snapping, roaring lions, in the first period as they tore into the Crescents pushing the league-leaders well into their end of the arena. Then two hunters dressed in white started to cage them in what is known as the sinbin and the slaughter began.

Led by Nolan the Petes took the lead four times in the first, mad session. Each time the Crescents pounded their way back to tie the score as the squads bounced each other around and tempers flew away into the blue. Finally on screen shots the Crescents took the lead near the end of the period to go up two, 6-4. This lead they never relinquished.

A Rough Heat

Referees Gus Madsen and Doug Cove, of St. Catharines, had their hands full in the second again as the teams tore into each other as though the Mann Cup was at stake. They slashed, elbowed and bumped their way through the 15 minutes. The Petes took the penalties four out of six (Bob Thorpe a five-minute misconduct for talking back to the referee and a two-minute to Thorpe for arguing). The Crescents took the scoring lead adding four more to make the half count 10-4.

The Petes seemed to be a disheartened group as they started the third quarter, most of them disgusted with the refereeing. Madsen and Cove showed both squads they meant to end the rough brand of lacrosse by handing out two quick penalties. Despite the stellar work of Ralph Speck in the Petes net, the Crescents again outscored the Petes, this time 6-2. Several times Speck earned applause from the 1,200 fans as he brushed the Owen Sounders aside. Wooton for Owen Sound played his usual game which was just a bit sharper than the Petes' marksmen.

In a listless fourth the Crescents sailed through the dazed Petes, this time to outscore them 7-1. Boiling inside from the treatment they were receiving the Petes had few thoughts on the game.

Led The Way

Don McWhirter led the way for the Crescents with four goals and three assists for seven points. Harry Kazarian whipped in two goals and assisted on four others while Russ Slater, and Curly Mason each had four goals. Don Campbell had the hat trick and doubles were scored by Jack Foote and Arn Smith. Doug Gillespie picked up four assists.

Arn Dugan stayed close to Archie Browning in the OLA scoring race by assisting on three goals and Don Ashbee crept further up in the Big Seven with a goal and two assists. Em Creighton and Joe Nolan each had two counters.

Murray Tucker Captures Ontario Open

TORONTO, Aug. 19 (CP). — A six foot putt that missed gave Murray Tucker, a pro for only two years, the Ontario Open Golf title Friday and $1,000 prize money.

The 26-year-old professional at the London, Ont., Sunningdale Club fired two par breaking rounds for a 54 hole total of 215 over the par 72 St. George's Club.

His opening day score was 75, six strokes off the leader's pace. But he came back Friday with a 71 and 69 to wind up one-blow par over the 54 holes.

The man who taught him to play golf, Gordon Brydson of Toronto Mississauga, missed a six-foot putt on the 18th green and finished with 216.

Inches From Pin

Tied with Brydson was Dick Metz of Virginia Beach, Va. He missed on the 18th with a beautiful blast from a trap that left him inches from the pin.

Most of the 68 who teed off Friday—the qualifiers from the starting field of 117 head for Quebec next week for the Canadian open and professional championships.

Last year's winner, Windsor amateur Nick Weslock, was third with 217.

Phil Farley, Toronto amateur and two-time winner, almost blew himself out of the race with a 78 on opening day. But a 70 and 73 Friday gave him 221, second score in the amateurs.

After a scorching first round of 69, Bob Gray of Scarboro, a former winner, faded into a 75 and 74 to wind up with 218 in a three-way tie in fourth place.

With him were Stan Leonard of Vancouver Marine Drive and Jules Huot of Montreal Laval. Leonard had two 73s and a 74; Huot shot 73, 71, 74.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

As this is being written early, we don't know what the weather will be like this evening. But, if it's anyway fair, all sports' roads will lead to Riverside Park along about 8.15 to see organized baseball make its floodlight debut in this city. New Toronto plays the Petes twice today, at three this aft, and at 8.30 tonight under the arcs. The teams are fighting it out fiercely this week for second place in the Viaduct Major League and these two games should be hot scraps before big crowds. A dream of years has come true here with the installation of lights for night ball, so what more could fans ask for?

* * * * * *

Ed Murph's baseballic Petes have been going swell most of this season. Recently had an 11-game wining streak in stiff competition. And right now they're in a grind of eight games in seven days, which is as busy a schedule as the big leaguers have. This is plenty tough on the players, including a lot of long trips and late bedtime touches, as these fellows are amateurs and work for a living same as the rest of us. It's particularly tough on the twirlers, and we don't know which ones will get the starting assignments today. Anyway, two frays expected and they hope for plenty of support now as the schedule nears the end. Four games here next week ere playoffs commence.

* * * * * *

They Hit Into Finals

The shouting and the tumult of the men's softball semi-finals has died down, with East City the victors and UEW out of it now. 'Twas a swell series, going the full seven games with East City winning the final 8-6. That puts 'em into the OASA senior "B" playdowns—as Mutuals go intermediate "A"—and into the city finals against Mutuals for the Wm. Taylor Trophy. For finishing in first place in the schedule, Mutuals took the Geo. Dormer Trophy, and they plan to enter the CNE softball tourney. Orphans go into junior OASA playdowns. First of the best-of-seven city finals is Tuesday eve at 7.15 in the Bowl.

* * * * * *

Just a reminder to the executive of the Petes' puck club (amazing how the seasons overlap, huh?) that there'll be a meeting tomorrow morn at 11 in Red Creighton's home on George St. A lot of pre-season wrinkles to iron out and plans to be discussed before the anual re-organization meeting shortly. The Petes will be back in OHA senior "B" competition again, but at the moment we're not too sure of the ex-Legionnaires' plans. A bunch of classy puckists without a sponsor, and it might be that the two squads would amalgamate this season to make one really potent entry. Ah, well, one can but wait and see.

In the Girls' Realm

Westclox girls are playing Kingston lasses at three this afternoon at the Bowl and the third game of their PWSU series, if necessary, is there at 6.15 tonight. The Clockers won the first of their two-in-three PWSU intermediate "A" series and may well mop it up this aft. At the Bowl last night, Ashby's rolled breezily over the junior Woollens, whilst Marines yanked out a close one-o'er CGE damsels. It was a tidy tilt and should have had a much larger crowd on deck. CGE, Marines and Ashby's are all tied in this round-robin serial and it'll be tight going the rest of the way. Ashby's play CGE at 7.30 p.m. Monday.

* * * * * *

Lacrosse Petes got a bad one out of their systems last night in Owen Sound, taking the sour side of a 23-7 score at the hands of the leading Crescents. A flock of rather cheap penalties hurt them in a bruising battle, and the homesters rolled up the count in the late stages. It leaves the Creighton crew in fourth spot in the OLA senior "A" standing, though they're just two points back of the third-place Brampton Excelsiors. Four games on tap next week to wind up the heavy schedule. Locals go to Hamilton on Monday and to Oshawa on Wednesday, playing Toronto there. Friday sees St. Kitts here and the next night the Petes go to St. Catharines. Playoffs start the following week.

Hither and Yawning

Brockville plays UEW in a soccer fixture at three this aft in King Edward Park. . . A cricket match today, too, at the Oval. . . . Junior OLA team drills at 10 a.m. on Aug. 20 and all players should attend; juvenile all-stars practice at seven p.m. Monday. . . . PMLA weekly schedule is in. . . . Southend peewees won a PMBA game 11-8 o'er East City; minor ball playoffs begin next week. . . . Westclox fastballers romped to a victory over Woollens last night, and we're fresh out of schedule. . . . In the civic loop Monday, Foresters play Police at King Edward. . . . Toronto Aces tackle the Petes at 8.15 under the lights Monday in Riverside. . . . The locals and New Toronto—today's opposition here if the rain keeps up—are in a virtual second-place tie now in the Viaduct Loop standing, following that 5-1 win for New Toronto over the men o' Murphy last gloaming . . . It's a real scramble down the stretch now with the top four clubs clawing each other plenty ere playoffs begin . . . St. Kitts beat Brampton 13-8, and Hamilton took Toronto 8-7 in OLA senior scraps last e'en. . . . Weather may still clear up okay for the two ball games here, though at this writing it doesn't look good . . . S'long.

Southenders Win

Southend peewees defeated East City 11-8 in a minor ball fixture yesterday. They shoved over four runs in the first frame, with one each scoring in the next two, then two in the fourth and three in the fifth. The losers got three in the second, one in the fourth and four in the fifth, the game being called for darkness. The southenders had 10 hits to nine but just one error to five.

New Toronto Wins 5-1 Over The Petes

NEW TORONTO, Aug. 19—In an abbreviated Viaduct Major Baseball League fixture here last night, New Toronto climbed up on practically even terms in the standing with the second place Petes by defeating the Liftlock City squad 5-1 before a fair-sized crowd of fans. It was a snappy tussle and the same teams are slated to meet twice today in Peterborough.

The Petes weren't hitting in the clutches, and they let in two unearned runs, while New Toronto got off some dinkly little hits in the right spots to keep scoring. The Peterborough bunch missed a good chance in the last inning with the bases loaded and the tying run aboard, but Whitehill popped out to second.

The pitching was pretty even in the short duel. Kitchen and Phelan each had two safe blows for the winners, while Edger came through with two bingles in two tries to lead the Petes at the plate.

Hamilton Tigers Edge Riverdale Squad 8-7

By The Canadian Press.

Ontario Lacrosse Association squads ran true to form Friday night as league leading Owen Sound Mercuries extended their edge and Toronto Riverdales sank deeper in the cellar. St. Catharines Athletics scored a 13-8 victory over Brampton Excelsiors in a third game.

Owen Sound, sparked by defenceman Don McWhirter put down Peterborough Petes 23-7 in Owen Sound and Hamilton Tigers, paced by Red Grainger took an 8-7 victory from the Toronto squad in Hamilton.

Riverdale led 3-1 at the first quarter before Tabbies caught their stride. The Hamilton game was called after the third quarter because of rain and the St. Catharines fixture was rained out with three minutes to play.

Mrs. L. Bearne Captures Trebles Play

By HERB MARTIN

Notwithstanding the inclement weather of early Friday afternoon, the ladies went ahead with their open trebles tournament as advertised. True the games were held up for an hour or so, but from then on it was all tournament.

And the honor of winning this tournament goes to Mrs. L. Bearne, of the local club, who skipped her rink to three wins with the greatest aggregate points; Mrs. C. Renaud, also of Peterborough, a close second; Mrs. W Elliott, of Stirling, was the other 3 game winner.

Although rinks came from Port Hope, Stirling and Carleton Place, the attendance was not as large as usual, maybe the uncertain weather had something to do with it.

Between the first and second games a "pot-luck" supper was enjoyed by the players. This is the first time that this idea has been tried here and from all accounts it went over big.

The tournament was over in good time and all seemed to enjoy the day's outing.

Tonight the "Family Hour" tournament, 7.30 p.m.

Winners:

Peterborough 1st—Mrs. E. Jeffrey, Mrs. H. Helson, Mrs. L. Bearne, sk.

Peterborough 2nd — Mrs. J. Adams, Mrs. F Hall, Mrs. C. Renaud, sk.

Stirling 3rd—Mrs. E. Fox, Mrs. R. Burgess, Mrs. W. Elliott, sk.

Peterborough 4th—Mrs. P. McArthur, Miss E. Murphy, Mrs. H. Beatty, sk.

Peterborough 5th—Mrs. J. Read, Miss B. Dawe, Mrs. H. Northrop, sk.

Peterborough 6th — Mrs. J. Smith, Mrs. W. Killingbeck, Mrs. W. Hepburn, sk.

Has Tough Assignment In Bid For Title

QUEBEC, Aug. 19 (CP). — Brendan Macken took on a tough assignment today in his third bid for the Canadian men's singles tennis championships when he faced No. 1 ranked Henri Rochon.

The all-Montreal final didn't materialize in any easy fashion.

Macken had to come from behind an opening-set loss and play at top form Friday to beat Robert Abdesselam of France in the semi-finals.

Rochon had a less arduous task against Bill Tully of Bronxville, N. Y., but dropped the third set against the game youngster who won the title in 1948. Scores were 6-2, 6-3, 8-6, 6-2.

Westclox Triumphs

Westclox rolled to a 19-4 decision over Woollens in their fastball fixture last night, scoring two runs each in the first two and the fifth frames, four in the third, then three, and six in the sixth. The losers got two in the first and one each in the second and sixth. Gosselin hit three for four, and White and Morin belted homers. Teams:

Westclox: Gosselin, p; Shearer, c; Watson, 3b; White, cf; Parsons, 1b; Morin, lf; McMasters, 2b; Wyatt, ss; Weir, rf; Evans.

Woollens: Wiechorek, cf; Anderson, p; Nokes, c; Manbeck, 2b; Revoy, ss; McMillan, 3b; Doris, 1b; Clark, lf; Armstrong, rf; Berry.

Ashbys-Marines Winners In Girls' Games

Ashby's knocked off Woollens 15-2 and Marines yanked out a 13-11 win over C.G.E. last night at the Bowl in a round-robin girls' softball playoff twin bill before a meagre crowd. Cold weather and a competing carnival cut down on the crowd, but those who stayed saw an interesting tilt in the nightcap of the twin bill. Even the first one, though one-sided, lasted only an hour. Just one playoff is listed for Monday, Ashby's vs. CGE at 7:30.

The victorious Ashby team played errorless ball behind the three-hit pitching by Doris McFadden, who fanned five, and they hit L. Derry hard, the latter not having good support. M. Freeman, J. Dunk, R. Naylor, and D. Dunk fielded well. E. Simmonds and L. Jordan hit homers and singles for Ashby's, while J. McIlwain got two hits in four tries for Woollens, and L. Derry hit a triple. The junior Woollens were outclassed in this one. The teams:

Ashby's—E. McFadden 2b, J. Reynolds c, L. Jordan ss, M. Freeman 1b, E. Simmonds 3b, D. Callan cf, J. Dunk rf, G. Dracup lf, D. McFadden p.

Woollens — J. McIlwain cf, R. McInroy 2b, J. Walling rf, C. Ferguson lf, M. Laing 3b, D. Dunk ss, L. Derry p, J. Lawson c, R. Naylor 1b.

Ashby's . . . 011 401 107—15 12 0
Woollens . . 100 010 000— 2 3 4

Keen Contest

The nightcap was a keen contest with CGE piling up an early lead, but losing out in the ninth when Marines rallied for five runs. Some of those late runs were cheap ones on CGE errors. Each side got 11 hits and both sides were sloppy at times in the field, particularly on their throwing to bases. E. Whittaker took over on the slab for the winners in the fourth from P. Williams, and did a fine job, while Mary Hodson toiled hard on the mound for the Electrics. There was a near "rhubarb" once at third in a collision, when the fielder objected to being bumped on an ordinary play, but it did not build up to anything. M. Owen, E. Boyce, M. Carr, and E. Whittaker were good defensively, C. Rowan of Marines hit a homer, triple and single, and L. Rowan had two doubles and a single. M. Batley led CGE with three hits as E. McMahon got a triple and single in three. Teams:

Marines — M. Carr lf, V. Page 3b, S. Wakeford c, M. Behan ss, L. Rowan 1b, E. Mantle 2b, M. Hill cf, C. Rowan rf, P. Williams p, E. Whittaker p.

CGE — M. Batley cf, T. DeCarlo 2b, M. Boyce lf, E. Boyce ss, M. Hodson p, J. Hart c, C. Perrin rf, M. Owen 3b, G. Atkins rf c, B. McMahon 1b.

Marines . . 400 100 305—13 11 5
CGE . . . . 233 000 021—11 11 3

Umpires — Richardson and Smith.

DiMaggio's Homer In 9th Shades Philadelphia 3-2

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Can Joe DiMaggio do it again?

The Yankee Clipper's dramatic ninth inning home run in Philadelphia Friday night recalls his stirring deeds of 1949. How he came off the bench, plagued by injuries, to loosen a home run flurry that spurred the New York team to the American League pennant.

So far DiMaggio has been a bitter disappointment in 1950. So much of a flop that Manager Casey Stengel benched him last week for a "rest." They whispered Joe was washed up; that he never again could demand $100,000 a year salary. Maybe they were wrong.

Restored to his old No. 4 clean-up spot in the batting order Friday night, DiMaggio responded with a home run that shaded Philadelphia, 3-2. It was his first homer and first run batted in since July 30.

Suddenly Connects

DiMaggio went hitless until the ninth of a tight battle between the Yanks' Vic Raschi and the A's Lou Brissie. With one out and nobody on base, he hit Brissie's first pitch some 400 feet into the upper left field stands at Shibe Park.

It was an important win for the Yankees because both Detroit and Cleveland were rained out. As a result New York gained a half game on each and now trails the league-leading Tigers by four games.

Detroit was to have played St. Louis. Cleveland was scheduled to play Chicago.

Boston reeled off its sixth straight at Fenway Park 7-6, after a 10-inning struggle with Washington. Bobby Doerr's 21st homer off Elmer Singleton, leading off the 10th, broke up the ball game. The Red Sox also gained on the Tigers and Indians. They are six games out of first place.

Whip Boston

Brooklyn cut a gameoff the Phillies' lead in the National League as that race also tightened. By whipping Boston, 8-3, while New York dumped the Phils, 7-4, the Dodgers moved to within 5½ games of first place.

Big Jim Hearn, the $10,000 bonus bargain, beat the Phils for the second time within a week. The ex-St. Louis Cardinals right-hander, allowed only five hits including homers by Andy Seminick and Willie Jones.

Hank Thompson's three-run homer and Whitey Lockman's long drive into the stands with nobody on both cameoff Starter Russ Meyer, the Phils' loser.

Carl Erskine almost lasted the route for the Dodgers. The rookie had a no-hitter until Sam Jethroe beat out an infield hit with two out in the sixth. After the Braves got to him for three in the eighth, Ralph Branca came in to relieve him in a ninth-inning jam.

Red Schoendienst's 11th inning single shoved St. Louis home in front of Cincinnati, 2-1. A throwing error by Grady Hatton set the stage for the winning single.

Pittsburgh staged a four-run first inning to flatten Chicago's Walt Dubiel, 9-3. Cliff Chambers allowed nine hits in winning his 10th game. Roy Smalley hit his 17th homer in the ninth inning.

Wings Sweep Twin Bill From Springfield

By The Associated Press.

Rochester Red Wings are a virtual cinch to win their first International League pennant in 10 years. With only 23 games to go, Johnny Keane's leaders hold a 6½ game advantage on runner-up Baltimore.

What's more, the schedule favors Rochester. More than half of their remaining contests are at Red Wing stadium.

The Wings edged two steps closer Friday night by sweeping a doubleheader from Springfield, 9-0 and 6-4.

Baltimore also won two games, shading Montreal Royals 4-3 and 2-0. It gave the Orioles second place over Montreal.

Toronto Wins

Other league action saw Buffalo, behind Lynn Lovenguth's six-hit pitching, down Syracuse 9-3, and Toronto trim Jersey City 5-3.

Mike Schultz went the route for Rochester in the opener, spacing six hits. Steve Bilko's 400-foot double in the seventh inning of the second game sent in the tie-breaking run and gave Johnny Wittig the nod over Bill Moisan.

At Baltimore, Ray Poat and Karl Drews held Montreal to 11 hits during the two games. Drews hurled two-hit ball to blank Turk Lown and Ronnie Lee. Poat, pitching the opener, gave the Royals seven hits, while his mates smacked nine off loser Tom Lasorda and Al Epperly.

BUILT IN 1836 this is the first Presbyterian Church in Peterborough and occupied the site of the present St. Andrew's United Church. The building was used until 1885 when the present church was built.

Peterborough Churches in Review

All Saints' Anglican

No heralding of trumpets opened All Saints' Anglican Church in 1882. It was inaugurated by a few Christian women and has grown into a large congregation with a church situated at Rubidge and Sherbrooke streets.

To meet the needs of Anglicans in then the southern section of the city a Sunday School was started in 1875 and a building erected. The Rev. J. W. Beck, rector of St. John's Church, assisted by his curate, the Rev. W. C. Allen, later rector at Millbrook, were in charge of the school.

In 1882 a mission was founded and under the leadership of Canon J. C. Davidson good progress was made. The advent of the Rev. W. M. Loucks of Holy Trinity of Toronto, gave a fresh impetus to the work and on January 22, 1891, the first building was opened. The church was 85 feet in length with a meeting room, the basement serving as a Sunday School room.

Additions were found necessary to accommodate the growing congregation and the building was enlarged, making room for a new organ which was installed with the addition of a vestry. In 1900 a new pipe organ was installed.

A movement was started in 1908 to provide a larger church. Subscriptions were received to such an extent the church wardens were encouraged to proceed with the plans. On July 13, 1908, the cornerstone was laid with Masonic observance by His Honor Judge Hardy of Lindsay, a past grandmaster.

A little over a year later the church was opened for worship during ceremonies conducted by Bishop Sweeney of Toronto, Canon J. C. Davidson and the pastor the Rev. H. R. Trumpour.

Mr. Trumpour served until 1913 when the Rev. R. B. Grobb was named rector. He served for 12 years. Then followed: the Rev. J. Douglas Paterson until 1942 when the Rev. William A. Filer came to the church. Mr. Filer left to accept a call to Hamilton and the present minister, the Rev. William Kibblewhite came January, 1948.

St. Paul's Presbyterian

St. Paul's Presbyterian Church owes its founding to the disruption of the Church of Scotland in 1843. At that time a number of ministers and elders of the old kirk in Canada made the decision to untie the knot holding them to the mother church in the old country. They organized a Canadian church under the name of the Presbyterian Church of Canada.

Among the elders and ministers making the change was the Rev. John Maurice Roger of St. Andrew's Church in Peterborough. By a joint vote of the congregation and officers of the old church the move was taken.

As at that time there was no representative of the Presbyterian Church or Free Church in Peterborough, the congregation continued to use St. Andrew's Church until the Church of Scotland by formal demand asked them to leave. Only six of the congregation stayed at St. Andrew's. The Methodist Sunday school was first occupied until further plans could be made.

Immediate steps were taken to provide a site, and the plans for the building made. The present building was erected, adjacent to Victoria Park at the corner of Murray-Water Streets, at the cost of $20,000.

The congregation grew so much that by 1883 the building was enlarged by adding sidewalls and extending an addition to the rear. This work was completed by May, 1885.

An organ was given the church by the Ladies' Aid Society as a gift in 1886. The organ was further enlarged at the cost of $3,000, the gift of the Nicholls estate, given by the trustees. In 1927 a new organ, three-manual with echo, was installed.

Rev. Roger continued as pastor of the church until his health failed in 1878. He was succeeded by the Rev. Dr. E. F. Torrance, who was inducted on July 28, 1878. He remained until 1907 when he resigned.

Call was extended to the Rev. Robert Pogue, who was assistant pastor of the Bethany Tabernacle in Philadelphia, and on December 10, 1908, the first induction service was held in the church in 31 years.

Rev. Pogue was with the congregation until the time when St. Paul's decided not to enter the United Church of Canada in June, 1925. He resigned his charge. Rev. Wiliam Allan who was then in the United States was called. Since then the pastors have been the Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr, the Rev. Dr. J. D. Smart, the Rev. Samuel Johnston, and at present the Rev. Charles Boyd.

Church of the Open Bible

The outcome of the work of an independent group of worshippers in 1892 was the erection of the Bethany Tabernacle, now the Church of the Open Bible.

The first meetings took place under Pastor R. Zimmerman, who conducted the meetings in a house on Woodbine Avenue, in Ashburnham. The congregation later moved into the market building, and then to a large room on Water Street opposite the Bank of Montreal.

The present Church of the Open Bible was erected in 1898 and was dedicated that year with the remarkable feat of being free from debt. During the late twenties the Young People's Society was so active that besides the Sunday School they cared for two other organizations, a Sunday School on Orpington Road and another on Barnardo Avenue.

Up to 1924 the group operated independently. Then the congregation became affiliated with the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church. In 1946 the congregation revoked the affiliation and became independent again. The name was then changed from the Bethany Tabernacle to the Church of the Open Bible.

Ministers of the church have been: R. Zimmerman, G. S. Shaw, A. E. Stenoagal, J. Free, E. E. Johnson, A. A. Doner, Michael Billister, R. K. Mills, Gilbert Johnson, William McArthur, and in 1943 the Rev. W. S. Crone joined the church.

Salvation Army

Captain Esther Mills introduced the Salvation Army to Peterborough in the spring of 1885. The first building used was the old Baptist church on Aylmer St. between Hunter and Simcoe streets on the east side. The barracks were erected and in 1888 the Temple was erected on the present Simcoe St. site.

In 1917 the Salvation Army decided to purchase the houses upon the land at 348 and 350 Aylmer St. to make room for the expansion of the young people's section. This was during the leadership of Adjt. John McElhiney. Financial assistance from Toronto with aid from R. C. Braund saw the erection of the young people's temple in 1922 on Aylmer St.

On January 10, 1923, at 3 a.m. a fire destroyed the Senior Temple on Simcoe St. and damaged the young people's building. By the aid of citizens the headquarters was rebuilt under the guidance of W. J. Braund. Temporary meetings were held in the Great War Veterans hall and the junior temple. The senior temple was reopened December 1923.

Jesus' Tribute To John Defines Prophet's Greatness

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

If there were any doubt concerning the greatness of John the Baptist the forerunner of Jesus, that was settled for all time by Jesus' tribute to John. His words were clear, decisive, and in the very height of praise:

"Among those that are born of women," said Jesus, "there is not a greater prophet than John the Baptist." It is as if Jesus was answering the thoughts of those who did not think so highly of John—those who judged by outward appearances and failed to see anything great or prophetic in so ill-clad ascetic preaching a stern gospel of repentance.

"What went ye out for to see?" said Jesus. "A reed shaken with the wind? A man clothed in soft raiment?" Mocking their thoughts, He continued, "Behold, they which are gorgeously appareled and live delicately, are in kings' courts."

It is always necessary to remember that greatness in men, and truth in religion, are not always associated with outward forms and trappings no matter how gorgeous they may be. In my boyhood I used to hear itinerant Canadian Methodist ministers sing a hymn descriptive of themselves:

"No foot of land do I possess,
No cottage in the wilderness,
A poor wayfaring man."

That is not necessarily characteristic of the true preacher and prophet. The laborer is worthy of his hire. But in so far as it represented a self-denial and devotion in voluntary service, there was something noble about it; just as there is something ignoble about a professed servant of God being too engrossed with worldly ambitions.

Suppose a figure like John appeared in modern society. Remember, he was rough and ill-clad, ascetic in manner and habit. If he denounced the sins of our time and asked men to repent; how would he be received? Would he be called a prophet, or a crank?

The question is provocative, but I turn from it to the remarkable saying of Jesus, that followed His tribute to John as the greatest of those born of women; Jesus said, "But he that is least in the kingdom of God is greater than he."

What did Jesus mean by these words? I think the usual interpretation is that Jesus was stressing the nature of the dispensation of the gospel, the dispensation of love as greater than the dispensation of law; the New Testament, or Covenant, as built upon the Old. It was a dispensation of love, a fulfilment rather than a denial of the love.

Expression, not repression, is the dominant note of the true citizen of the kingdom of God, the kingdom which John said was "at hand," and which Jesus said is "within you."

World-Famous Theologian Explains Economic Theology

Dr. Toyohiko Kagawa, world famous theologian and lecturer will speak in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church on Monday evening, August 28.

Prominent as an author and for his work in the labor movement in Japan, Dr. Kagawa has travelled and lectured in most of the countries of the world expounding his ideas of what he calls "economic theology" and Christian-co-operative principles.

He was a member of the Japanese delegation that came to the United States to try and bring peace before the war started. During the war he stayed in Japan and was arrested three times for statements he made that were not acceptable to the war leaders of Japan.

At the close of the war, Dr. Kagawa became one of the prominent leaders for the rehabilitation of Japan. Since that time he has made extensive tours o[illegible] the countires of Europe where crowds flocked to hear his inspiring message.

His visit to Peterborough is a part of a six-month tour of [illegible]h America. The arrang[illegible] necessary to bring this renown[illegible] speaker to Peterborough were made by the Ministerial Association of this city.

PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER

VOL. CI. No. 41 — SATURDAY, AUGUST 19, 1950

Removal of some parking meters adjacent to down town street intersections was not a casual order of the city council. It was a recommendation by Inspector Vernon H. Page of the traffic division of the Toronto Police Department.

The text of Inspector Page's proposal was: "On your main thoroughfare, parking should be prohibited 80 feet from the corner of your main streets, and 50 feet from the corner on side streets.

"At present, cars are parked right up to the intersection on both streets, thereby forcing vehicles making a right hand turn to do so from the centre of the road, and also causing congestion at all intersections. It is also a hazard to pedestrians, in that their vision is obscured when crossing the street until they are out in the roadway six or seven feet."

Reduce Accident Hazard

"Our main accident hazard to children is when they cross the road from between parked vehicles. Therefore, in passing this legislation you would free the throats of the intersections and allow the vehicles making right hand turn to get in the proper lane close to the curb; also through traffic would be given room to proceed, and vehicles making a left hand turn would have the centre of the road."

City council adopted that suggestion as set out in the report of Inspector Page, dated Aug. 30, 1949. Removal of parking posts is now being completed. It was not an official whim to reduce the number of parking spaces. It was for the purpose of widening vision at central street intersections.

Peterborough had two traffic officers a year ago. In the meantime Officer Gordon Trennum has been transferred to the traffic department.

Inspector Page commented that two were definitely inadequate. The International Association of Chiefs of Police standards state that a city should have four traffic men for each 10,000 of population.

"This means Peterborough should have approximately 15 traffic officers. I would recommend that you have five men assigned to traffic under the supervision of a patrol sergeant. In Elkhart, Ind. (population 40,000, which I visited prior to going to Peterborough) they have nine men assigned to traffic, under the supervision of a Captain."

Special accommodation for unloading trucks has been provided downtown as proposed by Inspector Page.

That clause in his report was as follows: "Another problem seems to be 'double parking' on your main thoroughfares. This creates a serious obstruction for through traffic, and I would recommend that in each block a 30-foot loading zone be established for commercial vehicles, making deliveries only. I would suggest that such zones be staggered in the block, and not directly opposite one another."

40 Herds Of Cattle Entered At 'Ex'

Forty herds of cattle are expected in competition at the Exhibition here next week, G. A. Gillespie told the Examiner, today.

"Probably that figure would include the Guernseys. Their entries are being looked after by the Guernsey Breeders Association, Mr. Gillespie said.

The indications are for forty exhibitors of cattle "and that's extra good," Mr. Gillespie said.

New Coin Boxes Placed In Meters

Nickels and pennies jamming in parking meters downtown should be a thing of the past when police complete replacing some of the meters' mechanism with a new coin receiver.

Police and motorists alike have had considerable trouble in the past with coins jamming just inside the meter slot.

The reason, said Constable Ernie Beatty, was that when the coins were being inserted it was possible to wiggle them from side to side. If the coin was pushed in at the wrong angle, it bent oven a small metal lug jamming the passage.

The new part, will guide the coin in at the proper angle and should be trouble free.

Constable Beatty was busy Friday afternoon replacing the outmoded part in all of the more than 500 meters which now stretch over four and one tenth miles along Peterborough's downtown streets.

Golf Pro Lost 21 Clubs

Twenty-nine golf clubs, two golf bags and about 200 balls were stolen from the pro shop at the Kawartha Golf Club in the early hours of Friday morning. The equipment all belongs to Lex Robson, the Kawartha pro and he values it at approximately $250.

Mr. Robson noticed the clubs missing from their stand as soon as he went into the shop Friday morning. Then he found a broken window, through which the intruder had apparently gained entry.

The clubs were new, but some of the bails had been used.

Mr. Robson called in the provincial police and Constables F. M. Russell and Lorne Stinson are investigating.

THE LUXURY CRUISING HOUSEBOAT "Stranger II" owned by J. N. Breitenbach of Alexandria Bay, New York, is tied up at Lock 19. It arrived in Peterborough on Friday and will remain here until today when it will go over the liftlock and then proceed on into the Kawartha Lakes—(Parks Studio Photo)

Luxury Cruiser Best Of Year Ties Up At Lock

One hundred per cent luxury plus is the best description of the cruising houseboat, "Stranger II" that is tied up at Lock 19.

"It is the biggest boat that has passed through the lock this summer," commented Lockmaster E. A. Kimball.

This cruising houseboat which arrived in Peterborough Friday, is owned by J. N. Breitenbach of Alexandria Bay, New York. This is just one of many pleasure cruises that Mr. Breitenbach has made to the Kawartha district, but it is the first one in this boat. Previous to this year, he travelled the waterways with "Stranger I". With Mr. Breitenbach is his wife, three guests and three crew members. The party left Maple Island, one of the Thousand Islands in the St. Lawrence River, last Monday.

Efforts to secure tires for the English motorcycle bought here on a previous trip were made today by Charles Pilon, Rotary club member. The motorcycle is part of the cruiser's luxuries and is used for quick trips when the boat is in port. Mr. Breitenbach has been unable to buy tires for it.

It would be almost impossible to mention any necessity or luxury of water travel that the "Stranger II" lacks. It is equipped with two, 225 horsepower deisel engines, radio communication system, radio automatic pilot, radar and a fathometre which estimates the depth of the water through which the boat is passing.

The boat has a housing capacity for 13 people. Besides the spacious living-room that is equipped with a lounge, easy chairs, television, radio, and with a refrigerator and deep freeze. A hot water heating system insures hot water at all times. Three of the five bedrooms are situated in the rear and two in the front of the boat. The bedrooms would put to shame accomodations in many high priced hotels. More than adequate closet and drawer space is provided.

Four bathrooms are the last word in modern conveniences. They are complete with three showers and one full size bathtub.

One of the many wonders of "Stranger II" is a filtration plant that allows the water through which the boat is passing to be used for drinking. As well as the filtration plant the boat is equipped with water storage tanks that have a total capacity of 1,000 gallons.

To save steps the boat is equipped with a loudspeaker and intercommunication phone system. Electric lights are installed in every part.

The "Stranger II" was designed by its owner, Mr. Breitenbach and built in Montreal.

While coming up the Otonabee the cruiser hit a dead-head and it is believed some damage may have been done to the ship. After talking with Trent Canal officials they think the log was mistaken for a river buoy. Today the cruiser was taken down to Rye's below the locks bridge where a government diver made an inspection of the bottom.

PCVS Students of Grade XIII Pass In 95.47% of Papers

Peterborough collegiate students who wrote their senior matriculation departmental examinations Grade XIII in June made the best showing any Peterborough large graduating class made in years.

Of the 615 examinations written 95.47 per cent of them were successful.

"It was a very fine class," said C. S. Browne, PCVS principal.

The class also wrote the highest number, 202, of first class honor papers (over 75 per cent marks) that any graduating class has ever had here.

The previous best showing in many years was made in 1948 when 94 per cent of the examinations papers written passed.

Last year 91 per cent of the examination written were passes. But only 89 were first class honor papers.

In this year's results there were 132 second class papers (66 to 74 marks); 97 third class papers (60 to 65 marks); and 156 credits (50 to 59 marks). Only 28 of the papers were failures.

Following is a table showing examination results for the past seven years:

The Weathervane on The Post Office

But None Ever Heard How It Got There

By JIM ENGLISH

A weathervane perches on the roof of the post office. It can be seen only from Water St., and it is not particularly impressive as weathervanes go.

We discovered, with a good deal of surprise, that that weathervane is part of the history of Peterborough and is almost the Canadian equivalent of the Victoria Cross.

At least, that's what we were told by an amiable old party who puffs a black cigar and wears a grimy straw hat. He says it's really a medal, and a darned good one into the bargain.

We met him this week as he poked idly along Water St. with a bottle of inexpensive red wine stuck in his jacket pocket. He stopped at the northeast corner of Water and Hunter to wait for the light, and looked about him as he stood.

His eye brightened and he pointed a wiggly finger at the weathervane.

"See that there?" he cried. "That's a medal, that is. Come along down by the river and I'll tell you the story." We said okay and followed him peacefully.

When the approved spot on the river bank was reached, we sat down and he opened his bottle, took a snort, and started to talk.

"Well, sir, you wouldn't believe it but that there weathervane is an honest to goodness medal. The whole business come about because a pack of rebels, back in 1837, lost their way north of Toronto.

"They took the wrong turn—I guess they come out 7A instead of down Yonge St., and anyhow they come right for Peterborough.

"Well, a farmer out Cavan way saw 'em, and he come h— bent for election into town on his horse and warned the city. He said there was like to two thousand of 'em out there. All had guns and pitchforks and hay knives and whatnot.

"It just happened that day some fella threw a big picnic up by where Lock 23 is now. There was free likker and everything, even food. So there wasn't too many left in the town to fight.

"One fella was runnin' his mill that day and he said he could lick 'em. He rounded up all the flat bed wagons he could find and enough horses to haul 'em and then he got the drivers to take 'em all down to the mill.

"When they got down to the mill he put three bags of flour in every wagon and cut holes in all the bags. Then the whole kit 'n caboodle drove out to meet them rebels. I guess they were shakin' in their shoes, but I wouldn't know. I was up at that picnic, me bein' thirsty and it bein' a dry summer.

"Fella told me after it was all over they got out to a big field west of town and they saw the rebels just comin' through the gate on the west side of the field.

"'Okay,' the miller hollered, 'drive them horses for all they're worth!' Wel, sir, off went the horses lickety-spit and there was dust and flour flyin' for thirty feet above the ground.

"The rebels seed all that dust and thought they was a army come after them. They got right down on their knees and give up.

"The miller and his men collared 'em all and took 'em back into town and talked 'em into bein' Tories and Whigs like they was before they got wrought up.

"Next session of parliament, the member for Peterborough gets up and he recommends this here miller for some sort of medal. Well, of course, there wasn't even a proper army in Upper Canada then, let alone medals for 'em so the best they could do was melt down a old piece of cannon from the war of 1812 and make it into a weathervane.

"That miller, he lived right where the post office is and he stuck that weathervane up top of his house. And when they dug up the ground to make an addition onto the post office, back about 40 years ago, there was this here weathervane."

The old fellow tilted the bottle again.

"So they stuck it on top of the post office and there it is, that same weathervane, today. Now look, buster, ain't gonna be anybody believe this, so you better be careful with it. Don't make it too flowery, eh?"

On Train To Ottawa Elderly Man Lost

An elderly man who had got off the train at Peterborough by mistake instead of continuing his journey to Ottawa, was found wandering in the city Friday evening by Constable Dennis Traynor.

The man seemed unable to figure out where he was, but during a discussion at the city police station, it transpired he was on his way from New York to Ottawa.

At 1 a.m. this morning, the constable put him on the train for Ottawa.

Claire H. Stuart Assistant To Postmaster

Appointment of Claire H. Stuart of the post office staff to the position of assistant to Postmaster H. E. White was annouced from Ottawa Friday afternoon.

In the deputy capacity, Mr. Stuart succeeds Wr. White, who was advanced to the postmastership that became vacant by the death of Charles Lacheur. Mr. Stuart joined the postal staff in 1913, and served three years and a half in the First World War. He enlisted as a Gunner in the Canadian Field Artillery, and was with the 27th Battery of the 2nd, and subsequently, the 4th Divisions overseas.

Previous to the war of 1914-18, Mr. Stuart had joined the 57th Regiment, an indication of his military interest as a youth, switched to the 3rd Prince of Wales Dragoons, early in the war, and then went into active service.

With the return of peace and the reorganization of the Dragoons, Mr. Stuart became associated with that unit as a lieutenant, and gradually rose to the rank of lieutenant-colonel.

In the Second World War, Lt. Col. Stuart was attached to headquarters staff of Military District No. 3 at Kingston, in an administrative capacity, for more than three years.

His chief interests outside his postal duties have been athletics and military affairs. He played on baseball, football and basketball teams, and has the satisfaction of helping win one championship being on the YMCA basketball team which captured the Intermediate Ontario title in the season of 1920-21.

The dual appointments of Mr. White and Mr. Stuart are of deep satisfaction to their many friends. Both came up through the ranks and qualified in the established procedure of the Civil Service Commission whose recommendations have been confirmed by the Postmaster General's Department at Ottawa.

Expect Steady Employment But No Increases In Fall, Industry Reports

Rumors in the city that employment is increasing by leaps and bounds were unfounded, in a survey of industrial establishments Friday. There is no more than the usual turnover of help in the factories but outlook for fall work of present employees is most satisfactory. Several local factories reported a slight increase in employment during the past several weeks but are now at full staff. The Quaker Oats announced that they have full staff at the present time, a few workers hired in the last few weeks.

L. H. Ingram, vice-president of the company, said that the company at present is "pretty busy" Some of the departments, he added, are working six days a week. 24 hours a day. No increase in employment there is anticipated

A spokesman for the Dominion Woollens and Worsteds Limited said that the company was advertising for female part-time help recently but is now filled for the time being. The situation at the present was described as "very good" but warned that the industry "fluctuated quite a bit," Spinners, twisters and winders were among those hired.

Normal Production

Ian McRae, CGE works manager, reported the plant is working at normal production. The company, he said, is looking for certain skilled tradesmen such as mechanics and machinists. Other positions are filled as the help turns over.

At the Western Clock Company the outlook is brighter than it has been for the past two months. J. H. Vernor, general manager, reported there has been no short time work at the plant since the holidays and that the company did not expect any more for the remainder of the year. Those laid off in recent months have been given the opportunity to return if they so wished. Otherwise the company doesn't need any help at present.

Mr. Vernor explained that the company is busier in the fall months than in the summer and added that he believed it would continue for the rest of the year.

The foreign trade for the company is still spotty, he said. Controls by other countries hinder proper marketing of the Canadian goods as well as the stiff competition by the European manufacturers.

Production at the Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Company of Canada is normal, Reginald Reid, personnel manager, said. This condition will remain the same for the rest of the year and there will be no abnormal increase or decrease in staff. He added there may be a little fluctuation either way depending upon the circumstances.

Says Red Heads One Step Ahead Of Rest

By A RED HEAD

Red heads, just because they are red heads, are always one step ahead of other women in the sex line up. They may not win out in the long run but they've got a good start.

A sexy blonde or brunette will get as many whistles as she could wish for but with the red heads, it's different. They get them anyway, without cultivating the sex lure.

Perhaps the women who outdo all others, are the brunettes who dye their hair red. There's probably more sex in a bottle of hair dye than in any natural red head. And that counts for a lot when you think of Rhonda Fleming, Susan Hayward and Ann Sheridan. They have the real thing . . . and they're gorgeous.

Take Rita Hayworth; what man isn't left feeling he has a new lease on life after seeing her, even if it is only in a picture. She got her's out of a bottle, but in her case it would be difficult to say whether she does more for the dye or whether they dye does more for her.

Frank, of the Frank and Joseph Beauty Salons, is the man who dyes movie queens' hair in Hollywood. And he knows all about it. Red curls, green eyes and creamy skin, he says, is a triple whammy no man can resist. And the girls know it.

Ninety per cent of the women in the world secretly long to be red heads, Frank says. And the other ten per cent make up for it by thinking red head thoughts.

There's something about a carrot-topped cutie, Frank says, that makes every other dame in the room look drab and washed out.

Take a look at some of the night clubs. In those dim lights blondes and brunettes just sort of disappear.

Frank is happy in his work. There's nothing makes him happier than when a customer begs for something to make her "irresistible."

Then I dive for the red dye and use twice as much of that as any other color, he says.

School Attendance Jumps; Education Boards Struggle To Balance Space, Pupils

TORONTO, Aug. 19 —(CP)— Empty, with doors locked and blinds drawn, Ontario's schools look roomy enough to house all the youngsters in sight.

But school boards in cities, towns and other municipalities throughout the province know better.

As the school-age population steps up its vacation activities in anticipation of the long months between Labor Day and Christmas, board members are counting desk-spaces and prospective customers and trying to make the totals balance. In most cases it's going to be a tougher job than ever.

Some of the desks will be new and shiny. An official of the education department said a total of 71 new schools or extensive additions to existing schools will be ready for occupancy this fall for the first time. But a number of communities still have growing pains.

Public and separate schools in Windsor expect nearly 18,000 students—an increase of about 600 over last year. Officials say some additional accommodation may be necessary. High schools, with 3,800 enrolled last winter, look for little increase.

Staggered Attendance

In Sudbury, where a staggered-attendance plan went into effect last year in high schools, the same system will be inaugurated in elementary schools to take care of the expected 2,700 attendance—an increase of 300 over last year's capacity figure.

Sudbury's high schools expect 100 more scholars, but opening of a $1,200,000 school next January will put operations back on a normal basis.

Brockville will have a new 17-room public school by the end of October. But the closing of three or four antiquated school buildings, an increase of 100 in the expected enrolment and a request by nearby Elizabethtown township for Brockville's help in relieving its overcrowed schools leave the city with plenty of headaches.

Peterborough expects to accommodate its 5,400 students, but only just. The high-school auditorium is being used as a classroom to look after an overload of 300 scholars and ratepayers will be asked to vote on a $550,000 expenditure for a new school at the next election.

Suburban Difficulties

Toronto's large school system is expected to absorb all comers, but the rapidly-expanding suburban area may have difficulty. No advance enrolment figures are available. More than 93,000 youngsters crowded into public and separate schools last year.

Hamilton has 40 public-school classes operating on a part-time basis, but a new school and additions to two others during the school year should take care of the estimated 700 increase in enrolment. About 27,000 youngsters answered the bell last year.

Public school officials in Ottawa expect an increase in enrolment over last year's 13,000 but by how much they wouldn't say. Four new schools, with a total of 34 rooms, are under construction as well as eight additions to present structures, expected to give 23 more rooms. Half should be ready for the students, 200 more than last year. One new school was partially opened last year, and eight additional rooms will be opened in it this year.

498 New Pupils

In Timmins, about 498 new public and separate school pupils are expected. One new public school will be opened but officials say all schools will be crowded to capacity.

London officials say that despite an increased city enrolment, space will be available for children from overcrowded suburban schools. A big kindergarten enrolment will account for most of the increase—about 300. Last year's elementary-school registration in London was 9,513. Two new schools are expected to be ready for September school opening.

Rebellion Troubles

Road Building

In an economy of small frontier farms, pioneer industries, credit bartering and poor communications, the District Council in the forties necessarily spent most of its time and money improving roads and bridges, assisting the establishment of schools, licensing taverns, administering the courthouse and jail, and such tasks. District grants of £50 to 100 yearly were spent in each township by the Road Surveyors to keep the roads in passable condition, but still everyone complained about them. Macadamized roads were being built in settled regions along the Great Lakes, but there were none in Newcastle or Colborne district; the Cobourg promoter, Boulton, put tollgates on a gravelled road from Cobourg to Port Hope about 1847, which angry citizens promptly burned down.

Macadamized roads were very costly, while plankroads, built of planks 3"x12" laid lengthwise on crossbars, cost half as much a mile and lasted up to eight years; corduroy roads, made of split timbers laid crossways on stringers, cost half as much as plank roads, and were used extensively in swampy areas, although usually the timbers simply sank into the bogs year after year, until the swamps were drained. The District Council favored a Cobourg project to build a plankroad from Cobourg to Rice Lake and on to Peterborough and Chemong Lake; but by 1848 this was finished only to Gore's Landing on Rice Lake, and soon rotted away. Colborne District for a long time had to be content with gravel and corduroy roads.

Smith in "Canada, Past, Present and Future" 1851 described the Otonabee road as very good for the first mile out of the Scotch Village, after that very bad: 'hilly, stony or stumpy with a mile of swamp traversed by bad corduroy. . . The bridge over the Otonabee 10½ miles from Peterborough is excellent, with a swing bridge at one end, crossing not merely the broad Otonabee but a broad swamp on the opposite side.' This road, five miles from the river and three miles from Bewdley met the Port Hope-Cavan road to Peterborough.

Port Hope and Cobourg (which jealously called each other "Port Misery" and "Sleepy Hollow") each had a stageline several times a week to Peterborough, after William Weller of Cobourg added this branch to his Royal Mail Line from Montreal to Toronto; by 1850 there was daily service each way between Peterborough and the lakefront. Yet all passengers (and produce) in the forties travelled in "a common lumber wagon . . . a long box painted green or red, with several seats of single boards fastened to an ash frame . . . drawn by two or three teams of horses." The trip took a full day, and even on hills the passengers had to walk; when the "coach" bogged down, all ablebodied men pushed and tugged to help the horses. Travellers in a hurry rode horseback if able to do so. On back roads which were much worse, oxcarts were still the most dependable transport. Port Hope and Cobourg, which were keen in competition, nevertheless combined to oppose completion of the Trent Waterway which would take backwoods trade to Trenton, or the improvement of communications from Lake Scugog to Lake Ontario, which would benefit Bowmanville. Colborne District suffered accordingly.

HOUSE No. 468 — Something tells us you're going to like this little beauty. It has a modern lilt — but is based on an old theme — a centre-hall, storey-and-a-half cottage. With only a small amount of paint and labor, such a home can be kept as fresh as a daisy through the years. Walls are a light shade of red brick, and the roof and shutters are in darker tones of red — trim is white. The room layout indicates that the designer had an eye for convenience. We like the kitchen-dinette arrangement. It will be noticed the two areas are separated by a wide arch. Of course the den will meet with approval from many, but for the family in need of a third bedroom, this room will fit the bill to perfection. There are good window openings throughout the house, which contains about 15,000 cubic feet. For further information, write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

News Situations Big Aid To Film Success

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 19 (AP)— Biggest Hollywood news this week was an announcement that Jerry Wald and Norman Krasna will make $50,000,000 worth of pictures for RKO in the next five years. These sharp operators will turn out 12 films a year on an independent basis.

This is another step in the trend toward the demise of the big studio operation. More and more independent set-ups are being incorporated into the studios, which no longer will have to foot the bill on big contract lists and massive overhead. This probably will mean better pictures.

Not Hurting

Never underestimate the value of publicity to a picture's success. "Father of the Bride," a delightful picture anyway, was undoubtedly built into one of the top grossers of the year by Elizabeth Taylor's real-life wedding.

Now insiders expect extra business for "Summer Stock," a likeable musical. The reason: its star is Judy Garland, who recently figured in the headlines. Not that either the Taylor or Garland events were planned publicity; but the news certainly hasn't hurt their drawing power...

Titles

The old, old problem of titles is still plaguing Hollywood. It's reported that "Annie Get Your Gun," which is doing big business, would do bigger with a different title. Some people thought it was a picture about women in the war, instead of a musical.

If there is confusion about such a well-known production, what would happen to the classics of older vintage? Would some people think "Taming of the Shrew" was a wild animal picture? Or "Uncle Tom's Cabin" a housing saga?

Windsor Joy Ride Ends In Hospital

WINDSOR, Aug. 19 —(CP)—A joy ride in an allegedly stolen car ended in hospital Friday for three Windsor youths after the car smashed against three heavy poles several miles south of Windsor.

Gerald O'Bright, 19, was injured about the head; Earl Collins, 19, suffered a fractured hip; and William Percy, 19, was cut and bruised. None is considered in serious condition.

Police have placed a guard on O'Bright and Collins, and said charges of car theft may be laid against them.

FUNNY BUSINESS —By Hershberger

"The doctor got disgusted with me!"

Gutters and Flashing Guard House From Water Damage

No matter which type of roof finish is used, flashing must be applied around chimneys, vents, dormers and along "valleys"—the intersection of two roof surfaces. As flashing is expensive to repair or replace in the event of a leak, it should be constructed of rust-proof material. Galvanized steel is used extensively but sheet copper, zinc, lead and aluminum are usually more durable. Building paper or felt should be placed under all flashing.

Particular attention should be paid to flashing the valleys which act as drains to carry off water. The metal sheeting should extend at least seven inches under the shingles on each side of the valley. Flashing should be securely attached to chimneys and vents and where the sill of a dormer window rests on the roof, the flashing should be carried up the roof and under the sill.

Gutters may be constructed of wood or sheet metal similar to that used for flashing. They must be large enough to carry off water quickly and completely without leaving pockets of water standing in them. Gutters should be far enough below the roofing to prevent water from backing up under the shingles.

Downspouts should carry the water either into the sewer or —with a curved elbow at the bottom—on to a flat cement slab or stone which will discharge the water far enough away from the house to keep moisture from the foundation and so prevent soil erosion.

Study Colors Carefully Before Selecting Scheme

Color is temperamental. It can change the character of a house as much as a hat can alter the personality of a woman. Unlike the purchase of a new hat, however, there's no exchanging a paint job if the results aren't admired. Here are a few facts about color you'll want to study carefully before determining the colors you'll use.

While there's nothing particularly complicated or very technical about color selection for the house, there does exist a need for understanding of a few basic principles. First, keep in mind that different colors create different feelings . . . green is quiet and restful, red is warm, and yellow is gay and sunny. Blue lends a cold and dignified note. Purple is austere and formal.

Blends and Accents

Color may be used in contrast, blend or accent. Contrasting colors are opposites, tones of opposing values but yet which do not clash . . . such as a blue green and a red brown. Blending colors are the eye-pleasing, restful combinations such as a light green and a dark green, or a cream and yellow. The accents are striking color touches used sparingly but boldly to introduce an individual or different color note into some special house detail. Examples might be a turquoise door, a flame-red shutter or chrome yellow terrace pottery.

When planning your overall color scheme, it is advisable to bear in mind that there are at least a dozen good opportunities for using color in addition to the roof . . . the doors, shutters, sidewalks, masonry, trim, window sash, flower boxes, doorstops, awnings, outdoors furniture, breezeway or terrace, etc. Somewhere in the scheme of some points of sharp contrast. One rule to keep in mind always is that the charm of a light-color house is set off by darker trims and the dark house is brightened by light touches.

Use Light Colors

Light colors for the walls are more generally used in the warmer climates with cool, light colors for the roof. One of the main reasons for this, of course, is that light colors reflect rather than absorb the heat. Greens, blues and silver greys are cool colors that make a house appear more comfortable and restful to the eye.

In our own colder climate the tendency is more towards the use of warmer colors. Yellows, creams and tans are good. Here, too, darker roof colors are more successful with warm browns, rich reds as bright accent tones.

Colors should be chosen to emphasize the points of a house that are attractive and subdue those less pleasing to the eye. Remember that contrasting colors will bring features out in importance —soft blending colors will tend to conceal them.

Informal or Dignified?

Color helps a house to express feeling. Bright, gay colors give an informal and inviting appearance while dark, rich colors seem to suggest dignity. Color also has the ability to shrink or stretch the apparent size of a house. White is expansive . . . dark colors tend to restrict. Blue recedes . . . red comes forward.

If you want to make a house appear reserved and formal, color areas should generally be kept unbroken. This is achieved by using blending rather than colors that contrast or accent.

Always consider the setting and orientation of your home when choosing a color scheme. No one house should clash with those adjacanet to it and all should blend with the general feeling of the street. If your house perches high on a hill so that the roof is projected against the blue of the sky, a warm red will set it off admirably. Where the house on a knoll or hill is tall, the choice of blue or black as a roof color is good.

Civic Strikers Reject Offer

HAMILTON, Aug. 19—(CP)—Members of Hamilton Civic Employees' Union (CIO) Friday voted down an offer by the city to end a strike of more than 1,000 civic workers.

A negotiating committee of the Operative Engineers' Union, however, agreed to the city's offer.

The city offered the engineers and the outside workers a five-day work week in gradual stages to be completed Jan. 1, 1951; a $1 weekly cost-of-living bonus, increased 50 cents a week for each 1.5 rise in the official cost-of-living index; and a shift differential of seven or nine cents an hour.

A negotiating committee representing the outside workers had turned down a similar offer last week at a meeting in Labor Minister Daley's office in Toronto. About 300 of the more than 1,000 members attended Friday's mass meeting.

The union seeks a two-cent wage increase to $1.02 an hour and immediate reduction of the work week from 44 to 40 hours without loss of take-home pay. The strike began Aug. 10.

Hong Kong Badly Worried About Military Strength

By WILLIAM PARROTT

HONG KONG, Aug. 19 (Reuters)— Hong Kong is uneasy about its military strength in relation to Communist China.

Some quarters emphasize that while the colony's garrison has been reduced in recent months, Communist military strength in South China has increased enormously.

They believe Peiping's attitude to Hong Kong, never cordial, has become even less friendly as the result of recent action by the Hong Kong and United Kingdom governments.

Hong Kong has drawn the wrath of Communist China by closing Chinese schools suspected of teaching Communist doctrines, by deporting alleged political undesirables and by restricting, for economic reasons, the entry of Chinese into the colony.

Ban on Oil Export

Now Hong Kong, at the behest of the United Kingdom government, has banned the export of oil to Communist China to reserve supplies for Royal Naval use in Korean waters.

The importance of the oil ban lies in the fact that it strikes at the very foundation upon which the colony bases her immunity from Communist China.

It has long been accepted that Hong Kong was safe from an unfriendly China while she provided a source of supplies unaffected by the Nationalist blockade.

Irrespective of whether or not a third world war breaks out, such actions might well bring retaliations from the Communists. Like the Nationalists before them, the Reds are anxious to reunite Hong Kong soil with that of China.

Only 20,000 Troops

Official figures have never been announced, but it is probable that Hong Kong's garrison now does not exceed 20,000.

Hong Kong normally has the protection of a large section of the British Far Eastern Fleet but many units are at present in Korean waters.

Air strength consists of two Spitfire squadrons and a tiny volunteer air forces.

The Chinese Communists, on the other hand, probably have between 130,000 and 200,000 troops in the neighboring province of Kwangtung.

Planty of fighter strips are available to the Reds within easy range of the colony. If the Chinese Communists can call on heavy bombers, there are suitable, well-equipped fields at Canton and Kweilin.

In addition, the Chinese Communists now occupy various islands from which big guns could dominate Hong Kong's western approaches and come near, to closing the eastern entrance.

The Communists in the event of turmoil, could also rely on the support of many sympathizers among Hong Kong's Chinese population of about 2,250,000.

Suggest Canada Give Asia Money

LAKE COUCHICHING, Ont., Aug. 19—(CP)—A suggestion that Canada give $50,000,000 to bolster Asia's "barefoot ecoonomy" and fight Communism in the bargain —won support Friday at the 19th annual conference of the Canadian Institute of Public Affairs.

The proposal was made by Dr. H. M. Cassidy, director of the School of Social Work at the University of Toronto.

He said Canada is the ideal nation to start the ball rolling toward solid assistance to Asia. Canada had the know-how of the United States and was acceptable in some places where the U.S. was not popular.

Naden Demechkie, consul-general of Lebanon in Canada, applauded the principle but warned there must be no strings attached on the spending.

"Asiatics are suspicious of investors from the west because in the past they have used their money for exploitation," he said. "This money must be genuinely intended to raise economic standards."

Business Girl Finds Women Not So Catty

WINNIPEG, (CP)—Gay Sweeney, personnel manager for a Chicago packing firm, says men are wonderful, but "women make the wheels go round."

"Men are grand to work with, they are fine executives and have brilliant ideas," said Miss Sweeney, "but it takes the women to stand the bay-to-day drudgery of a job, and take it uncomplainingly."

Furthermore, she says, women are not as catty as the world thinks.

"Greatest trouble with women in authority is they're so often prone to lose their sense of humor, become too impressed with their own authority. Otherwise they do beautifully."

Miss Sweeney's job keeps her in touch with some 850 women on her plant's payroll.

"I have no patience with people who say youngsters today are not capable or able to assume responsibility. They're quite as capable as young women were when I began working.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

A player with penalty cards on the table is not allowed to discard a card from his hand proper. Apart from that, possession of penalty cards does not hurt a player in the slightest. He may use penalty cards or a combination of penalty cards and cards from his hand proper to make a legal meld, or to take the discard pile. He may meld cards from his hand even though he has penalty cards on the table.

Sometimes a player will get an advantage due to having penalty cards on the table. This took place in a recent game. One side needed 120. My partner placed three tens face up on the table, stopped, did some finger counting, and finally said: "I can't do it." Three tens were all the cards he had exposed; they became his only penalty cards, and he discarded one of the three tens.

The next card discarded to him was a ten. My partner smiled happily and placed all the nine cards in his hand on the table. They were three jacks, three queens, two sevens and a deuce, and counted 90 points. The two tens on the table made 110, the ten on top of the discard pile 120.

He added the ten to those cards, had a legal meld, and took the discard pile. You see, he had his count before, but only by using all the cards in his hand which he was not allowed to do. Now he could meld all his cards because the cards from the discard pile would go into his hand.

If he had simply discarded the ten without first going through the rigmarole of insufficient meld, his right hand opponent might have figured that he was splitting tens and discarded some safer card, whereupon my partner would neither have had the count, nor the discard pile.

It is possible for you to legalize your own insufficient meld if you draw the right card. Thus you have two eights, a deuce and a joker on the table as penalty cards and you draw another joker. You may add that to your penalty cards and they will immediately become melded cards.

Jean Mann Wed in Smith Home To Be In Illinois

Tall standards of white and baskets of colored gladioli made a lovely setting in the Gilmour Memorial Baptist Church Friday afternoon for the wedding of Margaret Lucinda Jean Mann, BCF, MS, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan B. Mann, "The Hawthornes Smith" when she was united in marriage by a double ring ceremony to Dr. John Fitzgerald Due, Ph.D., son of Mrs. Emmarine Due and the late Mr. Jackson Due of Hayward, California.

The Rev. L. S. Haverstock of Hamilton, a former minister officiated. The wedding music was played by Mrs. Clayton Telford with Mrs. T. Seidel accompanying on the violin.

Before the ceremony Mrs. Howard Culp of St. Catharines sang the "Lord's Prayer" and during signing of the register, "Bless This House."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of pearl grey toned satin, fashioned with fitted bodice and the skirt ending in a long circular train. Her brocaded veil of French illusion, which was recently brought from Scotland by her mother, fell from a halo of orange blossoms. She carried a cascade of red roses and stephanotis.

Maid of honor, Dr. Dorothy Mann, M.D., of Cambridge, England, sister of the bride, wore a gown of ice blue satin and carried a nosegay of yellow roses with matching floral headdress. The bridesmaids, Miss Margaret MacNaughton of Prince Albert, Sask., and Miss Catharine Calder of Ancaster, Ont., wore identical gowns of old rose and silver green satin and carried nosegays of butterfly roses and sweet peas, with floral headdresses of the same flowers.

The groomsman was Mr. Burritt Mann, brother of the bride, and ushers were Mr. Donald Moore of Toronto and Mr. Dale Henning, Ph.D., of Champaign, Illinois.

The reception was held at the Kawartha Country Club where the bride's mother received wearing a gown of Parisian mauve with matching hat and gloves. Her corsage was a lavender gladioli cup.

The bride and groom left on a trip to California, and they will live in Champaign, Illinois. For travelling the bride wore a beige suit with dark brown accessories.

Mrs. Due graduated from the University of Toronto with a Bachelor of Commerce degree and received her Master of Science degree from the University of Illinois. Mr. Due graduated in Philosophy from the University of Chicago.

"SAILORS AND FLOOZIES"—This painting caused an upuroar in Toronto's civic circles. The dispute started when it was decided that "Sailors and Floozies", painted by New York artist Paul Cadmus, would be hung in the Canadian National Exhibition's art gallery. The CNE's fine art committee says it is an excellent work of the realistic school. A section of city council demanded it be banned to protect city's well-being.

Flood Tea Parties Reach $1,126

VANCOUVER — (CP) — A group of Vancouver women have parlayed a cup of tea into $1,126 for the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund.

Here's how: several months ago Mrs. Jean Guthrie invited eight former Winnipeggers for tea—at 50 cents apiece. She then asked each of the guests to do the same thing at the same price.

The idea—operating like a chain letter scheme—mushroomed and became known as the "Manitoba Good Neighbors' Tea Party."

When the last cup of brew was finished the flood fund kitty was $1,126 richer.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Women Lack Perspective Let Trifles Upset Them

One of the strangest things about women in the way they magnify trifles. They have a positive genius for making mountains out of molehills, and it is the assiduous following of this occupation that is responsible for most of their unhappiness. It is literally true that most women's troubles are little troubles. I do not decry these. Possibly the pebble in the shoe hurst as badly as a mortal wound, but it is both pathetic and humorous that the things that ruin most women's lives and of which they complain loudest and longest are not great crushing tragedies, but petty irritations.

Dorothy Dix

I am, myself, a sort of human tear jug into which unnumbered thousands of women weep and as I listen to their tales of woe the thing that amaze me most is how small is the grievance that most of them are permitting to spoil their happiness, and I marvel again and again at the feminine lack of sense of value, the irresistible feminine mania for prodding at a pimple until they turn it into a cancer that eats out their hearts.

Admits She's Well Off

A woman will admit that Heaven has bestowed all of its choicest blessings upon her. She has health, every comfort and luxury, a good, kind, generous, devoted husband, lovely children, a beautiful home, but instead of esteeming herself the favorite daughter of Lady Luck she beats upon her breast and cries out that she is the most miserable of all women because she has made some tiny speck on her horizon into a cloud that blots out all of her sunshine.

It is literally true that women resent some little personal pecularity in their husbands more than they do their vices, and that they find it easier to forgive unfaithfulness or drunkenness or being no account than they do a man's having some little habit that gets on their nerves.

The thing that oftenest turns marriage into cinders, ashes and dust to a woman is the way her husband eats or his failure to wipe his feet on the mat before he comes into the house or his forgetting to post letters.

I know one woman who is on the point of divorcing her husband, even though he is one of the best men in the world and a grand provider, because he likes light and the minute he comes in the house he snaps up all the window shades, which she always keeps exactly at the same meticulous height. I know another woman who feels that her life is unbearable because her husband scatters the papers when he reads them and hangs up the towels on the bathroom floor And I know innumerable other women who have destroyed all the peace of their homes and driven their husbands from them by waging an unending fight on their husbands' smoking.

The thing over which the great majority of wives make most moan is their husbands' neglect of them. Their husbands' coldness and lack of appreciation. Now this is a direful thing, if true, and calculated to make any ever-loving wife grieve, but if you will investigate, nine times out of ten you will find that the wife's charges have no basis in fact.

His Habits Are Proof

The poor man is working himself to death, He never looks at another woman and sticks as close to his own hearth as the house cat, and he feels that is all the proof of devotion that any woman should need. But because he provides her with beefsteaks instead of orchids, and because he doesn't woo her as ardently as he did in his courting days, she considers herself neglected and worries over having lost his affections.

It is also woman's fatal ability to put two and two together and make a hundred out of it, that causes many a wife to endure needless tortures of jealousy over her husband's secretary or some pretty little girl with whom he has amused himself at a party.

Another potent source of trouble with women is the in-law trouble, which is aggravated, if it is not caused entirely, by the feminine tendency to exaggerate the importance of trifles. Mother-in-law makes a mild suggestion and daughter-in-law takes it as an unwarranted meddling in her affairs and an indication that the older woman is going to try to run her house, and forthwith she runs up the fighting signal Husband goes to see his mother and wife believes mother-in-law is trying to win her husband away from her.

And so it goes all through life. Women who should be happy and contented are miserable and disgruntled because they make the unimportant important, because they magnify trifles, because they let the little things that shouldn't worry them fret them to death, and because if they haven't any real troubles they create imaginary ones.

Which is very funny. And very sad.

Canadian Gifts Assist Mothers In Greek Towns

OTTAWA —(CP)— "Many Greek babies will not die this winter thanks to Canadian generosity," reported Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova, Canadian director of the Unitarian Service Committee, following a trip through Greece.

Dr. Hitschmanova jeeped over the ravaged Grecian countryside distributing blankets, clothing and food to hundreds of villages which had been desolated by successive invasions of Italians, Germans and guerrillas.

After the victory of the Greek Nationalist army last November, she said, the government achieved something very near a miracle. It repatriated about 700,000 refugees to their villages and now provides 18 pounds of flour per person per month, and wherever possible, shelter, animals, farm equipment, seeds and fertilizers.

Dr. Hitschmanova's job was to assist in this rehabilitation by distributing 42,000 pounds of relief supplies contributed by Canadian families to the Unitarian Service Committee.

"My greatest thrill," said Dr. Hitschmanova, "came when I visited the tiny village of Karporo in Western Macedonia."

Canadian Layettes

"There we distributed two large cases of new Canadian layettes to all expectant mothers of the village and to all babies under one year of age. You cannot imagine the thrill you feel when you hand over to a young mother for that baby which she held in her arms in rags and half naked, lovely Canadian blue and pink flannelette diapers, a nightgown and some woollies."

"Tears of gratitude and excitment—never shall I forget them, and I just wish I could bring this wonderful feeling of satisfaction back to the many hundreds of Canadian mothers whose diligent fingers sewed these precious gifts."

Besides the layettes Dr. Hitschmanova distributed woollen blankets, shoes, men's coats, children's clothing, women's wear and stockings.

Depend on Government

Before 1940 the village's 120 families had owned 8,000 sheep and goats, 1,500 cows, 1,000 pigs and 150 horses. The families moved back into the town following the war, too late to plant crops and will have to depend on the government to keep them alive during the winter.

Dr. Hitschmanova said: "I remembered all the effort it had taken to get this lovely Canadian clothing here to this desolate village. It was sent by some kind-hearted Canadians to collection centres; repaired there, packed, stencilled and shipped here. Now it is distributed on behalf of our country to those who have suffered most.

"Much hard work and patience has been necessary, but only on the spot did one realize how very much worthwhile it all was."

Gray, Ruby Lead In Collection Bell-Silhouetted

NEW YORK—Long, fitted jackets and bell skirts are important in Maggy Rouff's well tailored fall and winter collection, which featues all the tones of grey and much ruby.

Flare on the dresses springs from below the hemline of jackets that are narrowly double breasted. In black wool like the jackets, dresses are cut princess style. A narrow V neckline rises into standing revers and is filled in by a black velvet tie if the gown has long sleeves; open when the gown is sleeveless.

Curves In Back

The seaming between the moulded hips and the bell flare curves down in back. On a dark grey broadcloth the seaming is accented by an inset band of grey velvet on a black crepe by a twist of black taffeta heading a deep taffeta volant.

Feature Flares

But many are the variations on this bell silhouette. On simple jersey frocks, pleated fullness flares below a separate long tunic bodice. The long bodice of a cocktail frock is swathed about the hips and is in gray velvet contrasting with a circular skirt of rose brocade. On a gleaming steel lame jersey gown, flare springs from below a wide fold encircling the hips. For evening, notably on a stately gown of delft blue Lyons velvet, a bell volant fans out from the knees to the floor.

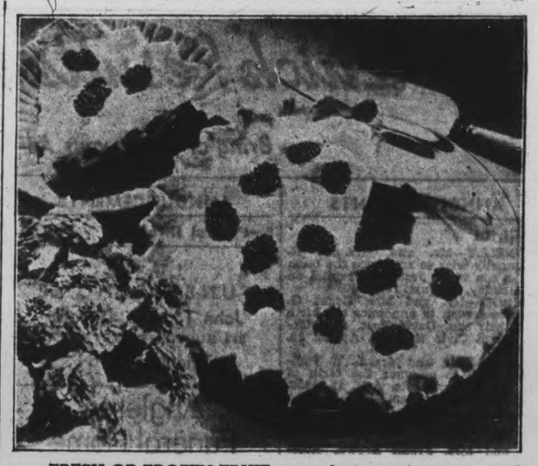
Meet-and-Marry Convention Motto

LONDON —(CP)— Britain's many matrimonial agencies, which charge fees for putting would-be husbands in touch with would-be wives, are running into a slump.

Reason is the lonely hearts convention opening Sept. 22 at Whitley Bay, Northumberland.

A blaze of publicity for the "Meet-and-Marry" week there, with such side attractions as reduced hotel prices and special facilities for meeting the right "partner," are leaving the marriage market with little to do.

The agencies sent protest asking that the convention be dropped, but all requests were refused by councillor J. D. Kidd, the originator.



FRESH OR FROZEN FRUIT custard pies make year-round happy ending to any meal.

COOKBOOK OF THE WEEK

Tasty Surprises Will Delight Hostess and Her Guests

With frozen foods prolonging the fresh fruit season it is no trick at all to whip up a fruit pie at any time of the year. For pages of mouthwatering suggestions you must see the Examiner's latest release, "250 Superb Pies and Pastries," fifth in the series of 24 Culinary Arts Institute Cookbooks being made available weekly to readers of this newspaper.

Start your fruit pie with any good custard or chiffon base and then adapt it to the fruit on hand. For an added chef's touch, save a few firm berries or slices and dot them over the topping. The following recipe could just as well be made with fresh peaches, berries, or even canned fruit, and any shell you prefer would do:

Banana Chiffon Pie

2 teaspoons unflavored gelatin.
3 tablespoons cold water.
1 cup mashed bananas.
1 tablespoon lemon juice.
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind.
½ teaspoon grated orange rind.
5 tablespoons sugar.
2 eggs, separated.
⅛ teaspoon salt.
1 Brazil-nut Pie Shell.
1 recipe Whipped Cream Topping.

Soften gelatin in water 5 minutes. Combine banana, lemon juice and rind, orange rind, 3 tablespoons sugar, slightly beaten egg yolks and salt; cook slowly until consistency of soft custard, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Cool until slightly thickened. Beat egg white until stiff, beat in remaining sugar and fold into banana mixture. Pour into pie shell and chill until firm. Spread with whipped cream topping. Makes 1 (9-inch) pie.

You will be sure to want your copy of the Pie Book, so get it right away. Clip one coupon from page two of any issue of this newspaper and present it with 25c at Examiner Office or your Examiner carrier or at Braund's Home Food Markets. If you would prefer to send for your copy by mail, send the coupon along with 30c (5c additional for postage and handling) to Cookbook Department, Examiner, Peterborough.

CANOE EXPERT PERFORMS UNIQUE AND DARING RESCUE
Paul Gilbert, of Shawinigan Falls, Que., Revives unconcious youth after pulling him into canoe.

1. It was about 8.30 one evening a few weeks ago. Three young men were out in the St. Maurice River in their canoe when suddenly it overturned—hurling the three of them into the water. Two managed to start swimming for shore, but 16-year-old Jean-Marc Thibodeau sank beneath the surface. Within seconds, Paul Gilbert had jumped into his canoe and headed out.

2. Paddling furiously, Gilbert crossed a floating boom and reached the scene of the accident just as Thibodeau was going down — probably for the last time! With great skill he managed to drag the unconscious victim's body over the gunwale and into the canoe. Quickly, and with amazing coolness, he stretched the body out on the bottom.

3. Then, right in that frail craft, Gilbert applied artificial respiration until, ten or fifteen minutes later, the young man regained consciousness. Thibodeau is the tenth person Paul Gilbert has saved from drowning! His gallant feats of bravery are in keeping with the highest traditions of good citizenship. We are proud to pay him tribute through the presentation of THE DOW AWARD.

They are waiting for us only,

Watch us through the gates ajar,
There a father, there a mother,
Gone within those gates ajar,
He knoweth best.

Stock Market Settles Down Fear Subsides

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Sports Editor

The stock markets have decided that the Korean fighting hasn't changed the value of any well-run company. No one should have thought that it had.

You may as well make up your mind. The things you fear, the things that made the market drop when the fighting broke out are the ultimate. You fear that with war, with atom bombs, and such, everything is going to the bowwows.

Maybe they are. But in the meantime you have to go through the process of living, and so long as you have the privilege of going through the process of living, your only and real worry should be about the people who are dying.

It is a little difficult to write about stock markets when people are dying. But, if we are to talk about them, we can say this:

If the things that made the market break were to come to full fruition, nothing would be worth anything as we understand it. You don't have to worry about these worst fears. They would bring a new situation which you would doubtless deal with in your stride.

Bound To Be Valuable

In the meantime, the shares of well-managed companies are bound to be valuable. For every bit of fear, there was an equal amount of faith. That's the stock market.

There simply isn't any point in getting panicky about a stock which is paying you anywhere from five per cent up in interest. There isn't any point in getting panicky about many another company which may be paying less interest, but which may be investing in future developments.

In the last week, there has been nothing interesting about the market except its recovery from the dip which followed the initial Korean fighting.

Here are some statistics:

New York—Associated Press average of 60 stocks, up 1.7 to 79.1.

Toronto — Exchange's index based on representative stocks: Industrials up 10.29 at 257.30; golds down 1.27 at 76.08; Western Oils up 3.48 at $82.76; Base Metals up 2.06 at 129.82.

Rain Disappointing To Baseball Fans

Threat this morning of wet grounds for the opening of Peterborough Baseball Club's floodlit series aroused the sympathy of fans who have been looking forward to the game under the stars. The Club and the team have struggled along all summer, bumping into difficulties, but still staying in there. The lights were expected to be late, although it was hoped they would be turned on before the middle of August.

The men backing the team went out and collected something like $15,000 to help pay for the lights, and finally everything gets smoothed out except the weather tosses one outside the midsummer groove.

Western Harvesting Will Start In 10 Days

Harvesting of the prairie grain crop estimated at 544,000,000 bus. of wheat, will begin in ten days to two weeks, according to the CNR weekly report. A carry-over of 100,000,000 bus. is expected to boost the visible supply to nearly 650,000,000 bus., the largest crop in the west and a tremendous heap of wheat.

Weather has been chilly this week with some frost damage in the Peace River district. Warmth is needed with the recent moisture.

Excellen yields and grades are developing in Manitoba. There is some light damage from grasshoppers.

What's Right?

A bride-to-be wonders how soon she should write thank-you notes for wedding gifts.

WRONG: She waits until she is back from her wedding trip and settled in her own home before tackling the job of writing her thank-you notes.

RIGHT: She tries to write her thank-you notes as the gifts come in, so that those who sent them won't wonder for weeks whether their gifts were received.

Bill Jamieson Always Wanted To Play Professional Baseball

COBOURG, Aug. 19.—If hard work and determination mean anything, young Bill Jamieson, 19-year-old southpaw pitching star signed to a Phillies contract this week should eventually reach the major league.

Ever since the young six foot one inch tall youngster became old enough to pitch regularly for the local Juvenile club in provincial competition, it has been his ambition to one day reach the top as a "pro" ball player.

Before signing with the National League Philadelphia organization Jamieson came right out and asked Scout Dale Jones if he really had a good chance to achieve success in the baseball world. An affirmative reply was all that Jamieson required to rekindle the flame of his determination.

Born in Cobourg

Born in Cobourg, the son of Dr and Mrs. W. G. Jamieson, on May 16, 1931, Bill received a tough break before entering the world. His dad, a prominent physician and noted tennis star died before Bill, the younges' of two boys, was born. He has been raised and educated in Cobourg and has just completed his final year of high school.

Still of age for junior baseball, Bill has hurled Intermediate ball for the past two years. During this time he has been rated as the best hurler in the league and recognized as a coming star. In 1949 he posted a record of fourteen wins and five losses and so far this season he has turned in nine wins as against only two defeats. With an in-and-out team this term, Bill has accounted for three quarters of his team's victories.

Before entering Intermediate ranks young Jamieson pitched for the Cobourg Juveniles for one season. Then followed two years in junior ranks where he literally "burned up" the league with the result that he was elevated to Intermediate ranks three years before the average player reaches that stage in Canada.

The six foot, one inch 170 pound southpaw has fanned up to sixteen batters a game in Intermediate company while pitching for the Cobourg club which has relied upon his hurling prowess to keep them in contention for the past three years.

His best pitch, according to Bill is a curve, although he points out that scout Dale Jones differed with him on that point. Jones has a drop, change up and curve which he uses regularly.

Noted For Clean Play

Local baseball experts feel confident that Jamieson will work hard at all times. He doesn't drink or smoke and has always been noted for his clean play and determination to get ahead.

In addition to playing baseball Jamieson is an all-round athlete; being particularly adept at golf, football and basketball. Although his contract forbids him to continue his pigskin career, Jamieson this year had already begun workouts with the local intermediate gridiron club. In 1948, despite his tender years he was an alternate quarterback with the Cobourg Galloping Ghosts, Canadian intermediate football champions. He shoots in the mid-eighties at golf and is rated as the high school's top basketball player in a decade. He expects to continue his basketball this winter.

Bill attended the Philadelphia baseball club school held at Belleville in July of this year and was selected for another look at the Toronto school conducted last week when he was signed.

He leaves on Sunday for Wilmington, Delaware for a special advance school and will report to Clearwater, Florida training camp in the spring. He expects to be assigned for play next year to the Class "D" Bradford club in the Pony League.

Toronto Arranges Food Supplies

TORONTO, Aug. 19 — (CP) — Plans have been laid to provide essential services and food supplies in Ontario if the threatened Aug. 22 strike of Canadian non-operating railroad employees materializes, a survey of government and industrial officials showed today.

Harold Bradley, Toronto Streets Commissioner who has been appointed special co-ordinator of supplies for the city, said: "There is no immediate danger of a shortage of any staple article."

J. O. Goodman, general manager of the Automotive Transport Association, said application has been made to federal authorities to allow truckers to operate 24 hours a day and on Sunday to meet the emergency if a strike develops.

Agriculture Minister Kennedy said arrangements have been made to move cattle and hogs to abbatoirs by trucks. Unlicensed trucks would be allowed to carry livestock where necessary.

Most major industries in the city expected to be able to continue operations for periods varying from one week to several months in the event of a strike. However, fruit growers feared a protracted strike would be disastrous for their business.

Drug Addict Jailed

TORONTO, Aug. 18 (CP) — Raymond Hughes, 50, who said he spent $63 weekly on narcotics, today was sentenced to two years in prison for possession of narcotics. He was also fined $200 or an additional six months. Hughes said he first became an addict while a prisoner in Guelph Reformatory as a youth.

Ontario Favored Take Golf Title

ST. CHARLES GOLF COURSE, WINNIPEG, Aug. 19 — (CP) — Ontario's golf foursome, spearheaded by veteran Ada MacKenzie of Toronto, is favored to retain its interprovincial title, won last year at Vancouver. The matches are being held in conjunction with the nine-day Canadian women's golf championships.

Miss Mackenzie, who won her first Canadian open in 1919 and her last in 1925, Friday paced the Ontario squad to a two-stroke lead over Quebec in the first 18 holes of the 36-hole medal play matches. She carded a two-over-par 78. Her near-par golf in the early rain and heavy winds, also gave her the lead in the Canadian close event.

Ontario's 18-hole team total of 342 came from the scores of 78 for Miss MacKenzie, 84 for Mrs. N. J. Carlson of Toronto, 88 for Mrs. J. H. McCarter of Toronto, and 92 for Anne Sharpe of Fonthill.

Two strokes back is Quebec, paced by Daintry Chisholm's six-over-par 82 over the 6,516 well-trapped St. Charles layout. Other scores were: Mrs. Graeme Pyke 83, Mrs. N. Nadler 88, and Catherine Beer 91. All are from Montreal.

Toronto Pair Win Bowling Trophy

TORONTO, Aug. 19 — (CP).— T. James and F. Hustwitt of Toronto Runnymede scored two on the last end to win the Rennie Trophy Friday in the Ontario provincial lawn bowling tournament.

The losers, M. Rutherford and J. Smart of Niagara Falls, Ont., drew even on the 15th and it was nip-and-tuck from there on. The final score was 19-17.

D. Cameron and E. Sargent of Brooklyn, NY, won the Parker Pen Cup, second-ranking doubles event, defeating T. Murray and I. Craig of East Cleveland, O., 22-9.

The Birks-Ellis-Ryrie Trophy went to R. Bowie and M. Sleat of Bloomfield, NJ, who edged G. Picken and J. Webster of Toronto Balmy Beach, 18-17.

Killed In Take-off

GANDER, Nfld., Aug. 18 (CP) —F. Henderson of Moose Jaw, Sask., and his wife were killed late Friday at nearby Gander Lake when a Norseman aircraft crashed on take off. Mr. Henderson, manager of Newfoundland Airways, and his wife were flying in a company plane at the time.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Canada's annual invasion of British boxing opened Friday and it looks as though it's going to be bigger than ever.

Lew Alter, 26-year-old Montreal featherweight, arrived on the Empress of Scotland ready to go into training for a shot at the British feather crown, now worn by Manchester's Ronnie Clayton.

Alter is the first of a Canadian contingent expected to number about 10 when the winter boxing season gets into full swing.

Other fighters expected in the United Kingdom include Stan and Frank Almond of Vancouver; Tiger Warrington of Kentville, N.S., Roy Wouters of Montreal and Winnipeg; Earl Walls of Windsor, Vern Escoe of Toronto; and Manny Spivack and Maxy Spoon, both of Montreal.

Canadian clouters made their first serious assault on British rings last winter and more than held their own. The man behind the invasion is Montreal-born Harry Sheppard, a 50-year-old former fighter who turned trainer because he didn't like having to do roadwork.

If you have any idea of writing to the Philadelphia Phillies for world series tickets, don't bother. There will be no requests accepted until Commissioner A. B. Chandler gives the go ahead sign.

Nathan (Babe) Alexander, the club's public relations director, said Friday 25,000 requests have been returned with checks and money orders.

An Ontario Lacrosse Association official said Friday that Toronto's homeless Riverdales of the Senior-A loop have arranged to be put up for the night for some of their unplayed home games. The Toronto club, prevented from playing at home by delays in completion of their Riverdale Terrace playing surface, started their home-away-from-home schedule by meeting Hamilton Tigers at Hamilton on Friday night. They will face Owen Sound under similar circumstances tonight before shifting to neutral ground for games against Mimico at Woodbridge on Monday and against Peterborough at Oshawa Wednesday.

The Brooklyn-New York Giants series at the Polo Grounds produced a record for inside-the-park home runs. The Giants' Hank Thompson hit two in the Wednesday game, won by the New Yorkers 16-7. The Giants' Sam Calderone and Brooklyn's Peewee Reese cracked two on Thursday in the second game of a doubleheader swept by the Dodgers 8-6 and 5-1.

Alexander (Woody) Wood, 41, of Ottawa, former professional goaltender, has been named the coach of Toledo Buckeyes of the International Hockey League. Wood replaces Andy Mulligan, who was named general manager of the Toledo Sports Arena, owner of the hockey franchise.

Wood began his professional career with Cleveland in 1931, and played for Philadelphia, Buffalo, New Haven, Minneapolis and St. Louis before retiring in 1943.

Training School Proves Success

BOWMANVILE, Aug. 19 (CP) —Bowmanville Training School for Boys, which celebrates its 25th anniversary next Thursday, has proven that sympathy and understanding are successful in rehabilitating "problem boys."

The Ontario government, which operates the school, considers the institution near this town about 40 miles east of Toronto a "successful experiment."

Some 4,000 boys have passed through the school since it was founded in 1925. The government said Friday in a statement that graduates "can be found in all walks of life and, with some exceptions, are law-abiding citizens who prove to be assets to society."

The school was established after juvenile court judges, social workers, children's aid societies and service clubs suggested an experiment with a modern school in a rural setting. Its goal is to care for boys who, by removal from their homes for a period of intensive training, may be redirected so that wayward tendencies will not lead to criminal "careers."

The trolley ran into five feet of water in a west-end subway, stalled and began to leak. The camera man inside the car snaps his fellow passengers with their feet on the seats and some 18 inches of water in the aisle. The trolley was towed out.

Planning Protection of Railway Property

MONTREAL, Aug 19 (CP)—A railway spokesman, in a statement issued Friday night, indicated what an impending rail strike by 124,000 non-operating railwaymen would mean, by outlining arrangements reached with unions involved for protection of railway property should the stoppage occur as scheduled Aug. 22.

"The term 'essential service' has been used and is very misleading for full railway operation is essential to the needs of the country," the spokesman said. "In the event of a strike, only emergency measures can be considered."

These emergency measures would call for the operation of trains only in case of fires in forest areas, or for use in the rare possibility that some train or trains might be involved in accidents close to the time of the strike deadline, he said.

Otherwise, agreements between management and strikers would provide watchman service or patrol operations to protect railway property against fire, pilferage or sabotage. In many cases, small towns depended on railway water supplies for fire protection and domestic use.

Some railway bridges, swing or draw, are also used for vehicular or pedestrian traffic. Those would be manned. Where railway facilities provide electric power or steam for hotels municipalities or outside industries, service would be maintained.

Passengers stopped at any terminal at 6 a.m., local time, the strike hour, would find station employees ready to help them detrain up to 10 a.m.

Otherwise, the spokesman said, all normal rail, telegraph and express services would be completely discontinued as of 6 a.m. Tuesday.

Surrogate Court Has To Do With Estates

Surrogate court is a big question mark in the minds of most people but it is a court which a large percentage of the population will deal with, if only through their lawyers indirectly, at some times in their lives.

Most people know that the court has something to do with wills, but they are hazy about anything beyond that.

Yet the purpose and function of the court is, in theory at least, relatively simple, Mr. Ralph Standish, president of the Peterborough Law Society, informed the Examiner today.

Authority Concerning Estates

"The Surrogate court has sole jurisdiction in all testamentary matters," is the way one law book defines the function of the court.

In other words, the Surrogate court has authority concerning the estates of all persons when they die. There are a few exceptions listed in the Surrogate Courts Act.

The Surrogate Court even has the power to demand that a will in existence be brought before it. If the will is not produced the court may go ahead on the assumption there is no will.

There is a Surrogate Court for each county or district in Ontario. In Peterborough county the Surrogate Court judge is Judge Sheldon L. Smoke, who is also, as is usual, the county court judge.

Wil is Probated

In the normal course of events when a person dies, his will is taken to the Surrogate Court to be probated. When the Surrogate Court judge probates a will he authenticates the will, establishing it as valid.

However when the deceased person has left no will, the Surrogate Court appoints administrators of the dead persons estate by issuing Letters of Administration.

Usually the closest relative of the deceased person applies through his lawyer to be granted Letters of Administration. With the application must be submitted the names and kinship of those also having close relationship with the deceased. It must be shown that these other relations have consented to the person making the application being appointed administrator or renouncing their own possible claim to the position.

One of the first things done following the death of a person is to advertise in a local paper asking that anyone having bills incurred by the deceased person should present them for settlement. The notice is published three times, a week apart with the warning that the bills must be in within a month after the last notice.

In this way executors and administrators protect themselves from unknown creditors holding the executors responsible if the estate has been divided up without the creditor knowing that he should present his bill. If no notice were published, the executor or administrator could be held personally responsible to settle the bill. Once the date given in the notice is passed the creditor has almost no chance of collecting any money if he had not submitted his bill.

Appointed Guardians

One of the important functions of the Surrogate Court is to appoint guardians of children and trustees of the childrens' assets. In these matters, children are still considered children until they become 21, or rather in the first minute the day preceeding their 21st birthday.

In practice it is the Supreme Court which appoints guardians of the children and the Surrogate Court appoints trustees.

One of the more specialized and recent powers of the Surrogate Court judge was given to him by the Dependent's Relief Act passed in 1929. This act protects a widow or a widower, a child under 16, or a child over 16 who because of illness or infirmity is unable to earn a livelyhood. When the deceased person makes no adequate provision for the maintenance of his dependants, the Surrogate Court judge can order that the dependant be given what would have been his share if there had been no will.

If the dependant has been willed some money, but it is considered inadequate for his maintenance, then the judge may order that an additional amount be paid which would bring it up to the level the dependant would have received had there been no will.

May go to Supreme Court

For one of several reasons the final decision in the matter of a will may be taken out of the hands of the Surrogate Court and handled by the Supreme Court.

This happens when the will is contested on various grounds, perhaps on the charge that it is not a valid or authentic will. Claims against the estates for more than $2,000 are also dealt with by the Supreme Courts.

Small estates of $400 or less are not handled by the Surrogate Court. With these it is the duty of the Registrar of the Surrogate Court to make out necessary documents and he can charge only $2.

Although simple in principle, the work of the Surrogate Court can become very complicated in practice. In an involved will dealing with a mixed up estate, the Surrogate Court judge and the lawyers who prepare the many documents which lay out the case for the judge have their work cut out for them.

Reds Poised For Big Push Reports Say

Great Supply Buildup Around Chinju, Allied Troops Slowed

TOKYO, Aug. 21—(CP)—North Koreans, hard hit by Allied counter-attacks in the last two days, are building up threatening troop concentrations on two sectors of the Korean front.

Reports from the battle zone, where Allied forces claimed to have inflicted 11,000 casualties on the Communists in 48 hours, said the Reds appeared to be preparing major offensives on the central and southern fronts.

Reuters News Agency said the North Koreans were building up two new bridgeheads west of the Naktong river, one at Hyongpung, 15 miles southeast of Taegu, and the other in the Waegwan-Kunwi area about the same distance to the northwest.

Twelve miles north of Taegu in the central sector Allied troops were pushed back two miles Sunday night but checked the Communist drive with the aid of night - flying fighter - bombers which attacked their targets by the light of blazing phosphorus shells.

The other immediate threat appeared to be in the deep south where Communists were building up at Chinju for a new offensive aimed at Pusan, main Allied port on the southeastern tip of the peninsula.

10 Days To Go

The Communists have 10 more days to achieve their avowed objective of smashing the United Nations defence box by Aug. 31. By that time the defenders may have been strengthened by 1,500 crack British troops from Hong Kong.

In fighting during the week-end on the 120-mile front, Communist losses were set at 2,000 in

Say Decision Expected At Montreal

Report Conferences Still Going On, Deadlock Unbroken

OTTAWA, Aug. 21—(CP)—The government at this stage has no intention of intervening further in the railway wage-hour deadlock, a Cabinet source said early this afternoon.

However, this high authority said that attitude did not preclude the possibility of a government move this afternoon if it should be warranted by developments in the 11th-hour railway-union negotiations at Montreal.

Cabinet members were standing by for an expected meeting later in the day, but up until 1 p.m. EDT it had not been called.

The government's attitude within 18 hours of the strike deadline, confirmed at an emergency cabinet meeting Sunday night, was set out authoritatively as this:

"Beyond the appointment of the mediator now working in Montreal, it does not intend to intervene. It has not withdrawn from its view that the matter is one for settlement between the railways and the unions.

Situation Fluid

"That is the position this afternoon," the source said, "though the situation is still fluid."

He said this position did not rule out the possibility of government action in the event something developed at Montreal to indicate government action was called for.

The informant also said he did not know of any new concessions having been put forward by the disputants in the deadlock.

Other avaliable government quarters also said they knew of no developments on the Montreal scene today.

In Montreal, indications early this afternoon were that mediation efforts have reached a point of deciding whether, as a result of the wage-hour dispute between railways and non-operating employees, there is to be a Canadian railway strike tomorrow morning.

Dr. W. A. MacKintosh, special government mediator, met for more than two hours with the presidents of the Canadian major railroads and it was reported his next meeting would be with the union spokesmen.

In the corridors, without anybody in authority being too direct, there was the feeling that a major announcement of some sort is likely before the afternoon is over.

SAY DECISION

Food Supply Good

TORONTO, Aug. 21—(CP)—If the railway strike develops, Toronto's food supplies will be better than those of outlying communities, wholesalers and producers said today. "The supply situation in outside points will be chaotic," said M. M. Robinson, Secretary of the Ontario Fruit and Vegetable Growers Association. "Everything will be slammed into Toronto. The Toronto market will be overloaded and Toronto people will get their food cheap. On the other hand, Quebec and Manitoba may suffer seriously from a food shortage."

Arrest Four In Marmora In Garage Holdup After 8-Hour Police Search

Three Youths Now Charged With Theft At Madoc Service Station, Provincial Police Searched 100 Cars

MARMORA, Aug. 21—(By Staff Reporter)—Three of four youths arrested early today after an eight-hour search centred at Marmora have been charged with theft of $50 from a Madoc garage. The fourth was released after questioning. The three are: Johnny DeSeno, 19, Oshawa, Thomas W. Henry, 21, Toronto, and Orville King, 18, Toronto. The robbery took place about 6.30 p.m. Sunday at a service station operated by Phil Rivers of Madoc. While Mr. Rivers cleaned the windshield of the car, one of the passengers partially cleaned Mr. Rivers' till.

The car used by the thieves is believed to be one sought by provincial police in connection with the attempted armed robbery Friday night of a service station in Rossmore, near Belleville.

It is believed Mr. Rivers identified one of the four as one of those who were passengers in the car.

Take To Bush

Shortly after the robbery, a provincial police car tried to stop a westbound grey, 1942 model car on Highway 7, a mile east of Marmora. Before the officers were properly started after the car, it pulled over to the side of the road, and the passengers ran into heavy bush at the roadside.

A roadblock was set up west of Marmora and perhaps a hundred cars were stopped and investigated before 1:30 a.m. today when the word passed by radio than an arrest had ben made on the main street of Marmora.

The four youths were taken to Marmora town hall for identification, and half-a-dozen citizens brought in to fill out the line-up.

One of the officers who took part in the search said that the shirts worn by the youths looked as though they had been scratched or pulled by bushes or branches.

The only thing yielded by the road block was a drunk driver. Half a case of beer found in his car was confiscated by police.

Early in the search, a report that two men had been seen at the side of a road leading to Crow Lake sent two police cruisers scurrying on a wild goose chase.

Five provincial police cars - four from the Belleville district and one from Peterborough—took part in the search and the road block.

Canada Offers Give Europe Free Armament

OTTAWA, Aug. 21 — (CP) — Canada has devised a plan whereby it will offer to supply North Atlantic powers in Europe with "free" armament, informed quarters disclosed today.

The plan will have to be given parliamentary approval before it can be brought into operation, but it is expected to be discussed Tuesday at a meeting in London of the North Atlantic Council of Deputies.

The plan was taken overseas by L. Dana Wilgress, Canada's high commissioner to the United Kingdom and Council representative.

If acceptable, it will mean that Canada will transfer to Western Europe countries some of her guns, aircraft and other military equipment without receiving any payment in return.

However, the plan also envisages that in return for her transfer of armaments, Canada would eventually receive some equipment from other Atlantic powers—presumably the United States—that she herself would require to fulfil Atlantic Treaty obligations.

It appeared likely that if the plan was accepted eventually Canada might obtain some American tanks without payment.

Telegram Ban Ordered Tonight

MONTREAL, Aug. 21 (CP). — Embargoes on parcel mail, express and future freight shipments went into effect across Canada today as transportation and communications agencies prepared to meet a rail strike for 6 a.m. local time tomorrow.

A blanket embargo on all express for Canadian roads and connecting United States lines, went into effect at noon today. Telegrams other than full rate and day letters that can not be delivered "before the close of business" are not being accepted and cablegrams must be filed before 4 a.m. Tuesday morning.

Rail officials said telegrams or cables on hand when a strike is called will be forwarded by special delivery mail.

A blanket freight embargo will go into effect at 11:59 local time tonight if a settlement is not reached.

Chicago Man Offers To Bomb Kremlin

CHICAGO, Aug. 21 (AP). —Lar Daly, 38-year-old Chicago business man and leader of the Christian Action Party, volunteered to fly over Moscow and drop an atomic or hydrogen bomb on the Kremlin.

Daly, operator of a stool and chair factory, says he is founder of the party whose slogan is "war now with Red Russia."

He failed to get on the April 11 Illinois primary ballot as a nominee for U.S. Senator, but is trying to get the party on the Nov. 7 election ballot.

UK Labor Party Introduces ERP Follow-up

LONDON, Aug. 21 (AP)—The Labor Party has called for a new, long-term "world plan for mutual aid" to succeed the Marshall Plan in 1952.

The idea is to beat Communism with butter instead of guns.

Britain and other western powers would contribute to it as well as the United States.

The party's powerful executive committee, which includes Prime Minister Attlee and several other cabinet members, set forth the plan Sunday in a pamphlet laying out, in general terms, some of its ideas for a new election platform.

The pamphlet, "Labor and the New Society," called also for armed defences "strong enough to resist aggression."

Not Enough

But it added: "Reliance on armed strength is not enough. The democracies must be positive, constructive and progressive, not merely defensive. They should launch a program of mutual aid for world economic development."

It saw a new, long-range economic plan as an essential defence against the onrush of Russian-led Communism.

"Raising standards of living are the strongest defence against infiltration by Communism and Fascism," the booklet said. "Poverty and despair are their best allies."

Morgan Phillips, secretary of the party, told a press conference that Britain herself would take the initiative in proposing and planning such a program. It would carry further the idea expressed in President Truman's inaugural address of helping develop "backward areas" of the world.

Two U.S. Rail Unions Begin Token Strikes

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 21 (AP) —Two big railroad unions began brief strikes today—as they had threatened—at three key midwest rail terminals serving important defence industries.

As the deadline hour of 6 a.m. local time arrived at the Cleveland, Louisville and Minneapolis-St. Paul terminals, workers walked out in five-day "token" strikes against the deadline on their pay demands.

At the Republic Steel Corporation in this Ohio steel centre, plant railroad workers were the first to walk out as the deadline arrived. The strike forced the huge steel production company to lay off 1,500 of its 7,000 employees here.

Princess Margaret Now 20 Romance Rumors Flying

BALMORAL, Scotland, Aug. 21 (CP)—The sweeheart of the Commonwealth — Princess Margaret—turned 20 today amid a crop of romantic rumors.

With the King and Queen, she will celebrate at a small family birthday party tonight at Balmoral Castle, where the fmily is spending their annual Scottish summer holiday.

Missing from the party will be elder sister Princess Elizabeth, who gave birth to a daughter last Tuesday in London. That made Princess Margaret an aunt for the second time.

Princess Margaret was born at Glamis Castle, Scotland, and folklore in the district says that all girls born there must choose a husband before their 20th birthday.

Many are wondering whether Margaret has made her choice.

Some society circles believe the man in Margaret's life is the Earl of Dalkeith, who will one day inherit one of Britain's largest fortunes. His parents, the Duke and Duchess of Buccleuch, own six stately homes and more than 500,000 acres of land.

The Earl, 27 in September, has been one of Princess Margaret's frequent dates and his name has been repeatedly linked with hers. Once an official denial had to be issued, so widespread was the belief that the princess was in love.

Today's newspapers devoted columns to Princess Margaret.

Only five-foot-two, she is always up-to-date with the latest fashion dictates.

Her favorite pastime is dancing. Jazz is one of her hobbies and friends frequently visit her in Buckingham Palace to hear selections from her record library.

Omemee Girl Not Arrested

VAL D'OR, Que., Aug. 21 (CP) —Two Baptist evangelists, Gordon Carr and Alphonse Cloutier, both of nearby La Sarre, were arrested Saturday night for holding a street revival meeting. They were arrested under a municipal bylaw forbidding street meetings.

They were taken to jail and released on $50 bail Sunday pending trial.

The two were holding their meeting at the same spot where four other Baptists were arrested last week.

The four, Rev. Murray Heron, pastor of nearby Noranda Baptist Church, Ernie McWilliams, Helen Hall of Hamilton, Ont., and Howard Killock of Noranda—pleaded innocent in court Friday but were convicted and sentenced to $40 fines and costs or two months in jail. They chose the jail sentences.

(The Canadian Press erroneously reported Friday that a Miss Eileen Veal was one of the four persons arrested.)

Saturday's arrests marked the fourth time this month that street corner preachers were arrested in this northwestern Quebec mining district.

Last Aug. 7, four other Baptist evangelists chose two-month jail terms rather than pay $25 fines and costs when convicted on similar charges.

They were the Rev. L. T. Heron, pastor of Val d'Or's Evangel Baptist Church, and three assistants —his sister, Miss Isobel Heron of Toronto, church deacon Malcolm Lesar of Windsor, Ont., and deacon Malcolm Purcell of Val d'Or.

A week earlier, five Baptist evangelists were arrested in La Sarre for disturbing the peace. The charges were dropped and the town council promised them protection for further street gatherings.

Two Crack UK Battalions Leave For Korea At Once

HONG KONG, Aug. 21—(AP)—Two crack British battalions of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders and the Middlesex Regiments today were reported packing up to join United Nations forces in Korea. An official source named the units, 1,500 strong, after Gen. Sir John Harding announced in Singapore that a British Infantry force would be sent to Korea immediately.

Harding, commander of Britain's Far East land forces, said Gen. MacArthur had asked him for reinforcements without delay.

Britain already has sea and air forces fighting, but these will be her first ground troops in Korea. She has promised 5,000.

Britain's decision came as Communist China's premier - foreign minister, Chou En-Lai, said the "Korean question must and can be solved peacefully."

Red Proposals

Chou gave Red China's proposals in messages to Trygve Lie, United Nations Secretary-General and Jakob A. Malik, of Russia, president for August of the UN Security Council at Lake Success.

Red China's terms, as reported by the Communist New China News Agency:

Accept Russia's proposal for seating Red China in the UN and then start talking over the Korean question in the Council with a Red Korean representative at the table as a witness.

The Red agency said Chou's message "denounced America for creating the Korea incident, for attempting to broaden the scope for armed conflict, for aggression in Korea and Taiwan (Formosa) and for blocking peaceful solution of the Korean war."

(Red China troops were active meanwhile. A Peiping radio broadcast heard in San Francisco said the Communists had captured Nanpang Island 140 miles southwest of Hong Kong, wiping out 400 Chinese Nationalist troops).

In Taipee, Formosa, Nationalist Premier Chen Cheng predicted the next big Communist move would come in Indo-China.

Family Of Three Drowns In Canal

COTEAU LANDING, Que., Aug. 21—(CP)—A United States family of three drowned near here Saturday when their car slipped on the wet pavement, overturned twice and plunged into the 20-foot deep Soulanges Canal. A second United States car overturned into the canal but its two occupants escaped.

Dear are: Verino Patrick Ranalli, 24, his wife, Mary, 27, and their 20-months-old son, Jock Anthony, all of Rochester, N.Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Taylor of Lockport, N.Y., escaped from their car after it plunged into the 13-mile long canal, and swam to the bank where witnesses pulled them out.

Police said the Ranalli family was trapped in the rear seat of the car.

Albra Mercier, a bridge keeper, said that Ranalli apparently lost control of his car while speeding along the wet pavement.

First Kitchener Man Killed In Korean War

KITCHENER, Aug. 21—(CP)—News of the first Kitchener-Waterloo man to die in action in the Korean war was recorded today when Mr. and Mrs. Howard (Bill) Aspden, received word that their son, Pte. John J. Aspden, 21, was killed Aug. 12.

The information was contained in a telegram from Maj.-Gen. Edward F. Witsell, U.S. army adjutant general.

Pte. Aspden was born in Brantford but lived in Kitchener from 1939 until 1947. In the spring of 1947 he left Kitchener with a circus bound for the U.S. In the fall of that year he enlisted in the U.S. Army in California and was sent to Japan the following spring.

Hurricane Nears Nova Scotia, PEI

HALIFAX, Aug. 21—(CP)—A hurricane churning along the Atlantic seaboard curved inwards toward Cape Breton today and weather officials said the island may be battered by gusts of 90 miles an hour.

At noon EDT, the twister was centred about 70 miles off Halifax and winds of 70 miles an hour, accompanied by drenching rain, were general along Nova Scotia's south coast. Mountainous seas were predicted by Cape Breton and Newfoundland.

The weather office here renewed its warning to shipping that the hurricane—which already has damaged two ships—is "still very dangerous." It was following a course approximately parallel to the seaboard.

Early this morning the storm was about 100 miles south of Yarmouth, N. S., and winds rose to 40 miles an hour in gusts in the south-shore town. The centre of the hurricane was expected to move along the coast about 50 miles offshore. Reports from ships in the storm area indicated that winds near the centre of the storm were more than 100 miles an hour. The weather bureau said that New Brunswick and the western half of PEI will escape punishing winds.

Police and fire departments in this capital city prepared for any emergency. The entire police force was ordered on duty at midnight and will remain on emergency call until all danger has passed.

Mayor Sets Up Exile Government

WINDSOR, Aug. 21 (AP) — Orville Hubbard, mayor of Dearborn, Mich., arrived in Windsor Saturday, set up a temporary "government in exile" and then boarded a plane Sunday for Saskatoon. There he will attend the convention of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities.

For the last several weeks, Mayor Hubbard has studiously avoided the neighborhood of Dearborn. If he returns he will face a legal attachment that could send him to jail as a debtor.

The attachment is held by Dearborn attorney John Fish, who is attempting to collect $7,500 in damages awarded him in a libel suit against Mayor Hubbard.

Leaving Sunday, Mayor Hubbard said he will return to a Windsor hotel "to keep my exiled government going." He has said he intends to carry on his mayor's job from here.

Dog Mangles Child 50 Stitches Needed

AJAX, Aug. 21.—Captain, a German shepherd dog with a previous record of attacking two children, on Saturday turned on Phillip Gibson, 8, and mangled the boy's nose, lip and ear. Doctors took 50 stitches to close the child's wounds.

It was a friendly affair at first with the big dog retrieving sticks and stones for a group of children. But Captain suddenly jumped the Gibson boy and he had to be carried to his home by Mrs Joseph Hastam. Later he was taken to the Oshawa General Hospital for treatment.

The dog, owned by Jack Hooey, is being held in the Oshawa pound pending police investigation. Usually Captain likes to play with children, but twice in the past he has attacked them.

The Gibson boy's nose was split open, a piece was torn from his lip and his left ear was mangled.

Run For Their Money

DETROIT, Aug. 21 (AP). — Conrad Walters was arrested Sunday after a wild chase for speeding close to 90 miles an hour on his motorcycle with one leg in a cast. He had outdistanced one police cruiser, but was caught later by a second. Police said Walters told them he was "just testing my pickup." He broke his leg in a motorcycle crash earlier this summer.

3 Escaped Prisoners Nabbed On Street

SUDBURY, Aug. 21—(CP)—Three escaped prisoners from Guelph reformatory were arrested early today when spotted walking along a downtown street. The trio are being held on nominal charges of vagrancy for escort back to Guelph Wednesday.

The thre eare Leslie W. Brown, 22, of Hamilton and Aldershot, Ont.; Wallace Wilson, 20, of El Monte, Calif., and Patrick Bernier, 24, Toronto.

Police questioned the men and they claimed they had just come from Regina and were on their way to Delhi to work in the tobacco fields.

Police said their story sounded suspicious to them. They had been notified Friday of the triple escape on Thursday and had been on the lookout for the prisoners.

Nehru Invited To Peiping For Red Talks

NEW DELHI, Aug. 21—(AP)—Prime Minister Nehru has been invited to Peiping by the Chinese Communists and is seriously thinking of accepting in order to push India's campaign to end the fighting in Korea.

This was disclosed Sunday by official sources. They did not say that the invitation was connected with the Korean conflict but made clear Nehru views it as a possible opportunity to further efforts toward a peaceful Korean settlement.

These sources said Nehru, who has not yet replied to the invitation, either will go to Peiping or will lead an Indian delegation to the UN Assembly next month. He will take the course that seems the more practicable means of helping to resolve the deteriorating international situation.

Earlier Plan

India suggested at Lake Success, N.Y., a week ago that the UN Security Council entrust to its small-nation members the task of drafting a Korean peace plan.

The proposal would have the representatives of India, Yugoslavia, Cuba, Egypt, Norway and Ecuador act as a "Little Security Council" with power to make recommendations to the full council.

Thus far only Yugoslavia and France have expressed support of the plan, which still is not in print.

There have been reports that the Chinese Communists want a negotiated settlement of the Korean War. Red China Premier Chou En Lai suggested that Asian nations mediate the conflict. This offer reportedly was conveyed to the Indian ambassador at Peiping last month.

Report Sea-Going Jeep Has Reached Azores

HALIFAX, Aug. 21 (CP)—The Air Force Search and Rescue Centre in Halifax has been advised that Mr. and Mrs. Ben Carlin have arrived safely in the Azores.

Officials said the Carlins reached the Azores Saturday afternoon, a month after they left Halifax in an amphibious jeep dubbed the Half-Safe. The adventurous couple is attempting to circle the globe.

This is the third attempt by the Carlins to cross the Atlantic. Two other attempts ended in failure.

Before leaving Halifax on July 19, the Australian engineer and his Boston-born wife arranged to contact amateur radio operators on the Nova Scotia mainland. They sent out messages twice a day. During the latter part of their voyage, however, they moved beyond the range of mainland receivers and were unreported for more than a week.

Reds Poised

the south, 6,000 on the central front, and 3,000 on the east coast north of Pohang.

Red losses included an unspecified number of troops on two ships knocked out by the South Korean navy off southwestern Korea.

Stan Swinton, Associated Press correspondent, reported from the southern front that Americans lost a bitterly-disputed mountain position in a give-and-take battle two miles southwest of Haman where fighting has ranged since Saturday. It is 10 miles northwest of the south coast port of Masan, 27 airline miles west of Pusan.

Terrific Buildup

Another AP correspondent, Jack MacBeth, said pilots reported observing "a terrific buildup" of supplies by the Reds' 6th Division around Chinju, in the south. MacBeth said it was possible the Red 7th Infantry Division had been rushed to reinforce the 6th for an impending stab at Pusan.

These developments came after week-end amphibious landings of South Korean marines on the south coast, southeast of Chinju, and on Yonghung island, southwest of Inchon, port for Seoul.

An allied spokesman said the Communists were retreating before the marines in the Tongyang area southeast of Chinju.

The Red advance at the most critical point above Taegu was stopped by a flare-lit night barrage thrown out by American planes and artillery.

The planes and artillery were called into action just before midnight Sunday to help South Korean forces that were being forced to give ground north and slightly west of the fortress city. The front was 12 to 15 miles from Taegu.

Planes Halt Enemy

Artillery lobbed over phosphorous shells to light up targets. F-51 Mustangs raked the enemy to a standstill in the eerie light.

By 3 a.m. the South Koreans' line held after yielding two miles. It was one of few occasions when Mustangs were used in the Korean war as night fighter-bombers.

Two Red attacks in other sectors were beaten back.

A headquarters geneal staff officer said officially that the Reds appear badly off balance and may have been hurt worse by Allied air power than imagined.

Two South Korean divisions, backed by Americans, drove northward along the vital eastern anchor battleline above Pohang on the Sea of Japan coast. The second day of this offensive already has brought a South Korean claim of a major victory.

Front line dispatches said the South Korean Capitol Division today was six miles north of Iyge, which lies nine miles northwest of Pohang. The South Korean 3rd Division was between three and four miles north of Pohang, No. 2 east-coast port of South Korea.

Throw Back Two Attacks

In the far south, the U.S. 25th Division threw back two separate regimental attacks on the Masan-Chinju front west of Pusan, No. 1 South Korean harbor on the southeast tip of the peninsula.

Gen. MacArthur's afternoon war summary said the Reds gained some ground about 10 miles north and west of Masan, south-coast port, but lost it later to American infantry charges.

The Reds in the south were conserving their tank forces. None was used in the attack northwest of Masan, MacArthur noted, but tank-led elements of the Red divisions northwest of Taegu were thrust against the U.S. forces.

Don Whitehead, Associated Press correspondent, reported the flare-lit battle occurred in the mountain ridges Sunday night. He said the Reds gained two miles on the United Nations right flank before the thunderous artillery and plane attack stopped the Reds.

Pounded Hard

On Naktong front at Changnyong, 23 miles southwest of Taegu, the Communists had been pounded hard.

Their Changmyong bridgehead had been erased by American marines and U.S. 24th Division troops.

Allied forces crossed the Naktong to the west—Red side—Monday night to maintain contact with the North Koreans there.

The Reds were reinforcing another bridgehead across the Naktong at Hyonpung, 15 miles southwest of Taegu.

American intelligence officers said the Communists had thrown an estimated 300 men and two tanks across the river to reinforce a full regiment of the 10th North Korean Division clinging to the east bank of the river on the Allied side.

Elements of the U.S. 24th Division faced the North Korean river crossers.

New Build-Up

A new build-up of Red strength across the Naktong due west of Waegwan, 12 miles northwest of Taegu, had been started. The Red build-up was just out of range of the probing guns of the U.S. 1st Cavalary Division.

MacArthur's headquarters said the Reds are trying to weld their air-battered power for a climatic blow at Taegu.

Red artillery shells were pumped into west side of Taegu, a former emergency capital of South Korea.

A general staff officer said the vigorous attacks of the Allies have put the general Communist war plan off balance. But, he added, the North Koreans regained some stability after they lost most of their 4th Division in the furious battle for the Changnyong bulge last week.

The North Koreans, MacArthur's headquarters said, face a mounting problem of supplying their front lines under constant air assault.

Navy carrier pilots reported destruction of 36 locomotives and damaging 15 more in 198 sorties Sunday.

The U.S. Navy 96th Task Force sent carrier planes along the Naktong river Sunday. Land-based fighters and light bombers roared to the attack in support of ground troops.

B-29 bombers Monday dropped 80 tons of bombs on railroad yards two miles from the heart of Pyongyang, the North Korean capital.

Find 6th Body In Cruise Ship

LAUZON, Que., Aug. 21 (CP). --The charred remains of a sixth body was discovered Sunday by searchers aboard the fire-wrecked St Lawrence river cruise ship, Quebec. It was believed though no positive identification was immediately possible, that the body was one of two United States women passengers reported missing.

The search resumed early today under Quebec provincial police supervision.

Gertrude and Eva Taub of Tarrytown, N. Y., were reported missing by Canada Steamship Lines and Quebec provincial police shortly after five bodies were pulled out of the cruise vessel at Tadoussac before it was towed here for a thorough search.

With most of the collapsed superstructure removed by some 40 workers equipped with acetylene torches, the search is expected to proceed more speedily today.

By Sunday night, less than a quarter of the vessel's surface had been examined.

Col. Leon Lambert, provincial director, announced discovery of the sixth body. The remains, part of a skull and flesh and bones of the pelvic section, will be sent to Montreal's medico-legal laboratories.

Failed To Connect Driver With Accident

A charge of leaving the scene of an accident against Joseph Hill, Charlotte St., was dismissed in police court today.

Constable Andre Dalton testified that June 24 about 9.20 p.m. he was instructed to investigate an accident at Hunter and Aylmer Sts. Under a damaged car owned by James Gosselin, Park St., he found a Buick hub cap.

He went in search of Hill at the Peterborough Bowling Club, the Canadian Legion hall and finally to Hill's apartment home on Charlotte St. As he stopped on Charlotte St., he saw Hill getting out of his Buick car parked beside the CNR freight sheds on Aylmer St. near Charlotte St. He examined Hill's car and found the right side had been damaged and the hub cap missing from the right front wheel. There were marks on the rim of the wheel which corresponded to marks on the hub cap.

The ignition switch was on and the motor was still warm. He reported that Hill told him he had not been driving his car.

Hill said, "I suppose you notice the ignition switch is still on, but that I was driving."

Pieces of chrome found on the that doesn't necessarily mean road at the scene of the accident fitted into broken parts on Hill's car. A gouge in one of Hill's tires corresponded to a protruding piece of metal on Gosselin's car.

Defending Hill, T. J. Carley, KC, said there was no evidence Hill had been driving the car at the scene of the accident and no evidence that Hill had not stayed and given information including his name which the Highway Traffic Act requires.

Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, agreed with Mr. Carley and dismissed the charge.

Meanwhile private meetings within the disputant groups are taking place in hotels within a couple of blocks of the hotel where Dr. MacIntosh has been putting forth his attempts at mediation.

There were indications that a general meeting, possibly of both sides together, will be called for late this afternoon, prior to an announcement.

Arrive At Conference

Frank Hall, head of the negotiating committee of the 15 international railway unions involved and A. R. Mosher, head of the two Canadian unions involved, arrived at the conference room at 2.20 p.m. EDT accompanied by their aides.

Ahead of them was a general meeting of the union representatives with the mediator.

One of the union chiefs, as he entered the conference room was asked if the railway representatives would be called to the conference later.

"I don't know yet," he replied.

When the presidents of the railroads left the mediator's room earlier they gave no indication of what progress if any was being made in the 2½ days of mediation efforts.

Donald Gordon, head of the Canadian National Railways, and president W. A. Mathers of Canadian Pacific Railways left the mid-town hotel conference room together after being closeted with Dr. W. A. Mackintosh, the mediator, for some two hours.

They refused all comment when newspapermen, waiting in the hotel corridor, asked them about the meetings.

Meantime, it was reported that Frank Hall, president of the negotiating committee of 15 international unions involved in the wages-hours dispute with the railways, had been asked to meet the mediator anew.

Through this third day of the mediation efforts of the vice-principal of Queen's University there was an air of tension about the conference room.

Most of this morning was spent in private conferences by either side, that is talks within the disputing groups.

All the principals were close-lipped. They came and went through the hotel with little more than a nod of recognition to waiting newspaper reporters. But the business-like way in which people moved gave ground for optimism in a situation which became graver hourly as tomorrow's 6 a.m. local time strike deadline approached.

Events moved with increased acceleration during the afternoon, as compared with this mornings proceedings.

Railways have cautioned passengers not to start on trips which last beyond the coming midnight, and already the movement of goods is being curtailed, and in some cases halted, so as to avoid spoilage should freight and express cars roll to a stop.

The running trades—engineers, firemen, conductors, brakemen—are not part of the present dispute; but the strike of the men concerned — shopmen, maintenance men, telegraphers and others —would effectively tie up all rail services and make telegraph service difficult.

Trolley Panic Injures 21

WINNIPEG, Aug. 21 (CP). — Panic and hysteria which followed explosion and fire on a street car in downtown Winnipeg, Saturday, sent 21 persons to hospital with injuries.

Only two were detained.

Frightened passengers forced their way out the rear door and jumped from broken windows while the tram was still moving.

Motorman Alexander Weitzel 31, told police he had just crossed the Edmonton St. intersection with Portage Ave. when the control box exploded. All the front windows were blown out and his compartment was filled with flame.

"I tried to reach the brake but couldn't get to it," he said. "I rushed toward the back of the car to pull off the trolley. But I couldn't get through the panicky crowd.

"I ended up by smashing a side window, jumping out and running around to the back."

Within minutes ambulances police cruiser cars, Winnipeg electric and fire department rescue cars were taking passengers to hospital.

Races, Contests Continue In Variety of Classes At Lakefield Despite Rain

LAKEFIELD, Aug. 21—(ENS)—The weatherman gave Lakefield Fair a rainy day on Saturday but competition was keene and the fair was enjoyed by those who ventured out. Tommy Mason of Buckhorn was master of ceremonies. Clarence Coons, president of the Fair, welcomed the people and introduced Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., who officially opened the fair. Mr. Fraser complimented the board on the splendid exhibits and said an agricultural fair is a splendid opportunity for the farmers to get together and discuss different phases of farming—breeds of cattle, different grains and vegetables and how to improve the same.

"Canada needs all that the farmers can produce."

Due to the rainy day only five of the 14 entries in the horse races were there, so the horse race was turned into a "free-for-all."

Inglis won first in all three heats with Fowler taking one second and two thirds; Post getting two fourths and Davis one fourth. Every heat was a race.

In the saddle race Sargent won the first heat, Corner took second and third place and Staples placed fourth . In the second neat, Sargent was first and Corner second. The other two horses did not finish. Sargent won the third heat with Corner second and Staples third.

The jumping events attracted a great deal of attention, with Mrs. Pat Huggins, Springville, working two horses alternately for Staples; Carl Sargent, Springville on Tango, and George Clarke, Millbrook on Airborne (Staple's horse).

Staples' horses took first, second and fourth, and Sargent a third.

Miss Muriel Hillis of Peterborough won the laurels in the old time fiddlers' contest with Tom Sullivan second.

There were seven entries in the step dancing, Mickey McManus winning first prize; Laverne Mathews second and Tommy Sullivan Jr., first for the children.

Mrs. Monk of Cameron was first in the nail driving contest with Joan Robinson second. Mrs. C. Wasson, Lakefield, threw the rolling pin the fartherest and Mrs. T. Monk was second.

The Orono Band played throughout the afternoon, and Peter the Clown mingled with the people, interrupted the announcer and created much amusement.

Hugh Stewart, president of Peterborough Fair, W. D. Graham, president of Lindsay Fair, and G. A. Brethen, president of Norwood Fair, all spoke briefly, complimenting the Fair Board on the splendid show.

Funeral service will be held Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. from the McFadden Funeral Home, Cobourg, to St. Peter's Anglican Church. The Rev. H. Bedford-Jones will officiate and burial will be in the Anglican cemetery, Gore's Landing.

Commend 3 Men For Effort To Save Alex Monk

LINDSAY, Aug. 21. — Three Quebec men were highly commended in a letter from the Hon. Brooke Claxton, minister of defence, for their "brave and selfless actions" in their attempt to save the life of 21-year-old W. H. A. (Alex) Monk of Sunderland, who was drowned in Lac aux Chicots on May 27.

Gunner Monk was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Monk, Sunderland, formerly of Bethany. He was attached to Valcartier camp, and met his death when his canoe overturned on the lake about six miles north of Lake Beauport. He was dragged from the water by J. J. Lunn, secretary of the YMCA, Quebec branch; Feerand Tanguay of 75 Ramesa Ave., and Andre Cloutier of 202 d'Aiguillon St., Quebec City. All efforts by the rescuers to revive Gunner Monk proved futile.

In his letter, Mr. Claxton commented on the hazardous and extremely difficult conditions in which the rescue was attempted.

"Though I am sure that you had no other thought than the saving of the life of a stranger in jeopardy, I cannot let the incident pass without extending to you my personal appreciation, as well as the appreciation of my department for your brave and selfless actions at that time."

Car Hits Hydro Pole Truck Lands In Ditch

COBOURG, Aug. 21—(ENE)—Ethan Jones, 50, of Newtonville, was taken to Port Hope Hospital on Saturday night after his car and an ice cream truck driven by Gerald Treen of Peterborough, were in collision. The accident occurred near Garden Hill.

Jones was going north on the county road when his car met in collision with the west-bound truck at an intersection. Jones' car ran into a hydro pole after the impact and the truck went into the ditch. Jones received head injuries and lacerations.

Provincial Constable Don Nicol investigated.

MARMORA, Aug. 21 (ENS).—A dance was held by the Agricultural Society in the exhibition building on Saturday evening, proceeds being for the racing track improvements.

Didn't Swallow Pin

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 21.—(ENS).—Young Paul Hazell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hazell of Campbellford, was taken to Campbellford hospital on Sunday morning, in order that attendants could have a look at his "tummy" through the fluoroscope, to track down a hairpin the boy was thought to have swallowed.

The fluroscope, however, revealed no pin of any description lurking in the confines of the lad's "tummy," and he was allowed to go home.

Three Youths Held After Car Missing

COBOURG, Aug. 21—(ENS)—Three teen-agers were arrested by provincial police on Saturday night at Colborne, following receipt of word that a car owned by Mrs. Hilda Roy had been stolen at Cobourg.

Arrested and charged with car theft were George Swan and Virgil Gischrict, no address, and Ronald Williamson of Kitchener, all 16 years of age. Police said the boys were walking along the highway after the car had been abandoned. Corporal H. Caldwell and Constables H. Bonasteel, B. C. Christie and Don Erskine of Brighton provincial police, took part in the investigations.

Ask For Liquor Vote In Verulam Township

LINDSAY, Aug. 21.—Verulam Council has instructed the township clerk to apply to the Liquor Control Board of Ontario for permission to take a vote in the municipality "to decide as to whether we are a wet or dry municipality." If the permission is obtained, the people of the township will be called on to vote on a wet or dry ballot.

Miners Reject Company Offer

TIMMINS, Aug. 21 — (CP) — Employees of Buffalo Ankerite Gold Mines have rejected a company offer aimed at settling a wage dispute.

Officials of the Porcupine Mine Workers' Union (CCL) said it will continue to press for a guaranteed cost-of-living bonus of seven cents an hour, the main point in the dispute.

The union has made the same demand of Coniaurum Gold Mines and has been on strike at Preston East Dome Mines since Wednesday. All three mines are in the Reach Porcupine Field near here.

The union has demanded that Coniaurum and Buffalo Ankerite settle on the same terms as a contract signed recently with McIntyre Mines, which provides four paid annual holidays and a sliding scale of cost-of-living bonuses up to seven cents an hour.

Coniaurum offered a bonus of up to five cents an hour. Buffalo Ankerite offered to pay the bonus as far as possible. Both offers were rejected.

A meeting of nearly 150 Buffalo Ankerite employees rejected the company offer Saturday and authorized the union strike committee to meet the mine management again for negotiations.

Korean Unity A Peace Aim?

Although Mr. Warren R. Austin, United States delegate on the Security Council, has said that the primary objective in Korea now is the cessation of hostilities, he also has said that U.N. must include among its peace objectives the creation of a unified and independent Korea. It would be rash to assume from this that the United States troops will not stop at the 38th parallel, when they take a successful offensive.

* * *

If the Americans were to set their troops over the whole of Korea, they would be invading North Korea. Such action is not sanctioned by U.N. Further, if the U.S.A. did go into North Korea, China and Russia who are now playing a relatively inactive part in the war, could take it as an excuse for intervening directly on the side of North Korea. Thus the Korean episode would be exploded into a major war of great powers.

* * *

A unified, truly independent Korea is logical and desirable, but not at the cost of another world war. It is too early to say whether or not American troops will be sent into North Korea, when they have barely a firm foothold in South Korea. But it is not too early to question whether they should be sent.

Presidential Leadership Must Be Kept Responsible

The relative merits of the American presidential system of government and the British and Canadian cabinet system provide one of those topics of debate which are never settled. During those periods of history which we used to call "normal", a truce is usually declared, and analysts on both sides of the argument admit that the presidential system is well adapted to a nation as widely diversified in interests as the United States. But during a period of crisis (such as the present time), the weaknesses of the American system stand out in sharp outline.

Thomas Jefferson once predicted that the United States would go through a period of tyranny by the legislative element of government, to be followed by "the tyranny of executive power." Many feel that the period of executive tyranny has arrived, and further, that it has been present in the United States since the turn of the century. On the surface there would appear to be some justification for the fear of one-man rule; the position of the President is a key one, and his power for good or evil, particularly during a crises period, is immense. Apparently he has the loyal support of the majority of citizens, such support theoretically giving him a free hand in government.

But a majority group, in the United States at least, is not a homogeneous unit giving unanimous support to one narrow policy. A Democratic or Republican President relies for his strength on a wide variety of interests and attitudes tentatively united to achieve certain flexible ends. Facing such a built-in system of checks and balances, the President cannot go to extreme lengths in his policy without losing the moderate segments of his support, and thus his power.

But in time of crisis, the chief executive tends to drop his role as majority leader and act for the whole nation as Chief of State. He is tempted to escape the confines of action achieved through compromise, and enter the greener pastures of full public support and a bi-partisan policy, where criticism by opposition groups savours of "un-Americanism."

During time of war, a moratorium must be declared on the democratic process; inter-party criticism and strict majority rule are not suited to total mobilization. But a danger arises when this suspension of democratic procedure is declared in periods of crisis—periods which seem to be becoming part of the normal state of affairs. In 1941, President Roosevelt committed the United States to war against the Axis by ordering the seizure of Axis-owned ships in American ports; by ordering the U.S. Navy to sink on sight any foreign submarine within the American defence perimeter, and by supporting Great Britain. History has vindicated his actions, for it is now apparent that he prepared his country for a war which was inevitable. But it must be remembered that there may come a time when presidential powers will be used to precipitate a war which could be avoided.

In domestic issues, majority rule provides a check only so long as the President recognizes such rule. During a crisis, the President may act so as to implement "public opinion"—the interpretation of which gives the widest scope to any official who wishes to augment his own power. In the British system, on the other hand, the Prime Minister and the Cabinet are at all times responsible to their own party and to the Opposition in Parliament, as the United Kingdom crisis of the past five years has shown.

Where lies the difference in the two systems? Primarily in the amount of responsibility exercised by the political leaders. In order that the American President be able to act as a leader—and he must do this in times such as the present—he must possess the power to implement his leadership. And if that power is to be used in protecting the democratic process rather than in undermining it, it must be responsible power.

Young Regent

Prince Badouin of Belgium is now titular ruler of the Belgians. His father, King Leopold, returning from exile after a national referendum, found the opposition to him so sharp that he was forced to abdicate in favour of his eldest son. The Royalists are likely to accept Prince Badouin, and the forces opposed to Leopold will take more kindly to him than to the strong-willed Leopold. Prince Badouin is now nineteen, but war and politics have kept him from affairs of state since early childhood, and government leaders feel that they will be able to mould him into the pattern of a modern constitutional King, amenable to ministerial advice—unlike Leopold.

However, Badouin is deeply devoted to his father, who has a strong influence on him. The Prince was five years old when his mother, Queen Astrid, was killed in an automobile crash. He was nine when war broke out, and thirteen when he left the country with his father, for captivity in Germany, and post-war exile in Switzerland. He has an elder sister, aged 23, a younger brother, aged 15, and a baby half-brother who is the son of Leopold by his second wife, the former commoner Liliane Baels. Badouin is reported to be a gentle, serious youth, slow in studies and simple in tastes. He enjoys golf and football, but prefers solitude or quiet family evenings to parties and receptions.

Whether this tall, bespectacled, rather awkward Prince will in fact be crowned in his father's place when he reaches the age of 21, and whether he will develop the self-assurance, pride and persistence that characterize Leopold, remain to be seen. While he is now an ardent partisan of his father, the responsibilities and experience of court life may wean him from Leopold's influence, now regretted by socialist leaders like Paul-Henri Spaak. The young Queen Victoria quickly relegated her mother to the outer circles, and her uncle, the first Leopold King of the Belgians, was shocked when Victoria soon rejected his dictates and advice, though professing still the deepest attachment to him.

The Things People Lose

We are an assiduous reader of our own classified advertisement pages. These little advertisements reveal the very heart of a district's domestic life: the antique sofa for sale; the boy's suit, size 11 (somebody growing up pretty fast); the discreet professional 'cards'; the child's play pen wanted; the bargains in used cars; the houses asked for or to be let. We were particularly struck by the Lost and Found section the other evening. There were the usual lost dogs answering to the names 'Mike', 'Chum' and the like. The usual 'parties' who took—by mistake of course—bicycles from here or there are politely requested to return same. The usual keys, wallets and spectacles are being sought

But who on earth would walk off with a one-gallon can of monument-setting compound? The owner seeking it assures all and sundry that "it is good only for setting monuments'. And how did the green and yellow budgie, with 'Joie' on its leg band, go astray? Here is the most intriguing picture of the evening's Lost and Founds: "Lost: Mother duck and seven Young Ones, pure white, with red on faces". As we walked up George Street next morning after reading that advertisement, we kept an imaginative eye open for a procession ahead of us: mother duck and seven Young Ones trailing her in neat line; pure white, with red on their faces.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The Toronto Star takes note of the fact that "a pig cannot look straight up without lying on its back". Ah, but your smart pig can see all higher things reflected in the swill trough. A little messy, perhaps, but it enables the pig to pay strict attention to business. Aren't pigs like people?

Mao Tse-Tung Ruler of China

A NEW figure has been steadily emerging as one of the most powerful in the world—Mao Tse-tung, head of the Communist Government of China.

He has recently returned from Moscow with an agreement; his forces are approaching the frontiers of the states of South Asia; he already rules twice as many human beings as Stalin does in Russia.

In the early years of this century, Mao was a peasant child in the remote province of Hunan, sullenly working in his father's fields every day in the year. In that, he was no different from millions of other Chinese children.

But he differed sharply in one respect: he rebelled against his own father. The father was a shrewd, hard, and acquisitive man, whose whole life was spent extending his holding, acre by acre. When he could employ labourers he gave them an egg with their rice only once a month, and never meat. To his sons—Mao was to complain of this even forty years later—he never gave either meat or eggs, but sadistic beatings instead. Mao ran away when he was ten, was brought back and, at thirteen, threatened suicide.

He saw the periodic famines of Hunan. The heads of rebellious peasants were displayed on poles in his village. The poorer villagers raided his father's rice store. Mao merged two feelings together: his intense hatred of his father and a fellow-feeling with all poor rebels.

His "Kulak" father was, nevertheless, ambitious for his son and, when he could afford it, sent him off to get a traditional Chinese education. Mao was 18 and at school when the Chinese Revolution of 1911 broke out: he at once ran away from school and joined the fighting.

◇ ◇ ◇

WHEN he returned to a student's life he formed and led a small band of youths dedicated to their country's service. They hardened themselves by running across country, swimming in icy streams, and sleeping out of doors. They were serious, ravenously studied newspapers, and read Chinese translations of Rousseau, John Stuart Mill, and Adam Smith.

At 25, his studies finished and his head teeming with ideas, Mao made his way to the capital, Peking. Here he got a job as an assistant at the National Library. He was paid almost nothing, but he could read what he liked, and it was here that he attained his own peculiar kind of maturity.

In the two years that he spent at the library, 1918-20, Mao discovered the powerful teachings of Karl Marx. They had on him the effect that they have had on many other rebellious spirits, settling all the great questions and conferring a sense of dynamic purpose. He abandoned the excitements and futility of student politics, got married, and set out to have an effect on the great, sprawling world of Chinese life.

The sullen peasant boy had found himself, and it was a formidable self that he had found. Through thirty years of physical dangers and hardships, endless toil, and extremes of fortune, Mao has never changed and never wavered. He has become a man of authority. Also he has curiously come to resemble the father he opposed. Shrewd, hard, and single-minded, he has extended his Communist cells and provinces like his father extended his meagre farm, acre by acre, regardless of the cost to himself and others.

ALL other Communist leaders, except Mao, were plotters and agitators until the moment that they seized power. But because of the size and anarchy of China, and because of Mao's own particular genius, he went about the revolutionary business in another way. Starting in his native Hunan, he organized peasant unions, then told them to seize the land at once, without waiting for a general revolution: and he armed them with rifles for their defence.

At the beginning he attempted to establish collective farms, but quickly saw that this was neither popular nor practical. His agrarian policy has therefore been essentially that of the French Revolution, but with the Communist Party superimposed as the political authority. This, of course, is not orthodox Communism, but it has enabled Mao to win all China.

That is the central fact about Mao, that he is self-made—as a Communist and as a potentate. All the European Communist dictators (even Tito) were Moscow-trained: Mao was in Moscow for the first time in his life during the last winter — when he came to negotiate with Stalin as an equal.

The makers of the Russian Revolution, Lenin and Trotsky, went through their formative years in exile, and so did Mao's own chief lieutenants. His Prime Minister, Chou En-lai, became a Communist as a student in France, and his Army Commander, Chu-teh, acquired both his politics and his military craft in Germany. But Mao himself had never left China; he deliberately refused to do so when he had a chance as a student in 1917.

HE joined the Chinese Communist Party at its foundation in 1921, when he was 28. During the revolutionary years from 1922 to 1927, when the Chinese Communist Party, guided by Russian advisers and allied with Chiang Kai-shek's Kuomintang, first came near to absolute power, he remained an organizer of peasants in his native Hunan and the neighbouring provinces. In 1927, catastrophe overtook the Communists: Chiang suddenly turned against them with violence. Those of the party leaders who escaped his executions went into hiding. It was then that Mao, far from the centre of the political storm, armed his peasants' unions and carried on—in defiance of the clandestine party leadership, which disapproved of his "rifle movement."

He suffered severe reverses, and for a time was a fugitive in South China, living like the sparrows. Then he performed a miracle: he managed to build up a Communist administration in the mountains of Kiangsi. The underground party authorities in Canton and Shanghai repudiated him and dismissed him from all party offices he had held. But he went stubbornly on; and in the end it was the party leadership that reluctantly surrendered to his success.

At this time, 1928, Mao was joined by Chu-teh, who was to become and remain his army commander. Together they managed to arm, clothe and feed their mountain guerrillas, and gradually to extend their power out into the country. It took Chiang Kai-shek five years to defeat them. But he never caught them. Dragging their machinery with them, Mao led his followers on the fantastic Long March of 6,000 miles right through China to Yenan, in the North-West. There they reformed and continued.

THROUGHOUT these years, Mao was "giving the peasants the land." Wherever he was driven, he made agrarian revolutions. Chiang would follow and suppress the peasants with violence. Mao must have known that he was thus causing the death of thousands of peasants, but he also knew that he was spreading a wish among the peasants of all China that he should succeed.

Mao is not squeamish about death. Both sides in the ten years' Civil War (1927-37) killed freely. Mao himself lost his first wife at a Kuomintang strangling post, and his second wife fell a casualty on the Long March. This did not prevent him from offering a "United Front" to Chiang Kai-shek when the Japanese attacked. Nor did the forming of this "United Front" prevent him from continuing to extend the area of Communist domination within China while the Japanese were supposedly the common enemy.

◇ ◇ ◇

HOW General George Marshall failed to bring Mao and Chiang together, and how Mao, seeing his chance, conquered the whole of China is recent history. At 57 he has reached the summit of power.

Although little is yet known of his regime, it is plainly different in origin from the Communist regimes of Eastern Europe. They are simply the results of Russian military conquest: his victory came through civil war and revolution.

Mao, even today, remains in tastes and manners a Hunanese peasant, plastering his food with the red pepper the Hunanese love and speaking the dialect of his province. He is, indeed, as Hunanese as Stalin is Georgian, and as Chinese as Stalin is Russian. Neither are the international type that the early Marxists envisaged in power; both are local bosses, who have worked their way up from the country as organizers.

How these two men will get on together, each with his vast empire and absolute power, cannot be foretold. It is at least clear that Mao, who is the younger, has long been accustomed to taking all his decisions for himself. He is the only Communist, other than Stalin, who has never been submitted to party discipline.

WORLD POLITICS MAKES STRANGE BEDFELLOWS

Salute On The Hill

(LETTER IN THE OTTAWA JOURNAL)

Sirs: I happened to be on Parliament Hill on Tuesday noon and saw a salute being fired by an artillery battery in honor of the daughter born to Princess Elizabeth. While in full agreement with the propriety of such a salute, I was amazed that Federal authorities would permit the firing of artillery within a few score yards of the Library of Parliament. Concussion of the gunfire could cause serious injury to this magnificent section of the Centre Block, which, as you know, is the only part of the original building saved in the fire of 1916.

Evidence of the increasing frailty of the Library is revealed in the fact that some of the windows in the tower were blown out by a gale this summer, and a worn piece of masonry collapsed a few weeks later during a thunderstorm, drenching about 100 books. Luckily, the Royal Salute caused no immediate or apparent damage to the building, but it could easily have had serious consequences.

As an admirer of this splendid Library, I would hope that the Public Works Department would ask the Defence Department in future to fire their salutes from Nepean Point or some other location where priceless architecture would not be imperilled.

F. T. L.

Wellington St., Ottawa.

JOURNAL EDITOR'S NOTE: Works Department authorities said they had no records of any damage caused by the firing of artillery salutes near the Library, although objections previously had been raised to the practice. Reason by the Defence Department prefers to fire from Parliament Hill is that when a strong west wind is blowing, the guns can scarcely be heard in uptown Ottawa from Nepean Point.

If Wives Struck!

(Victoria Colonist)

Housewives are not organized. They do not strike; but supposing they were to say to their unionized husbands some bright morning something like this: "Listen, Joe, if you come home tonight and tell me you are going to down tools because you have not been able to get a five-cents-an-hour increase in pay, you can consider me on strike"? How would the artisan, dominated by some little dictator in his particular union, react to his wife's ultimatum—especially if little Willie and Mary were listening to the parental conversation?

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And one of the scribes came, and having heard them reasoning together, and perceiving that he had answered them well, asked him, Which is the first commandment of all? And Jesus answered him, The first of all the commandments is, Hear, O Israel; the Lord our God is one Lord; and thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength; this is the first commandment.

And the second is like, namely this, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself. There is none other commandment greater than these. And the scribe said unto him, Well, Master, thou hast said the truth; for there is one God; and there is none other but he; and do love him with all the heart, and with all the understanding, and with all the soul, and with all the strength, and to love his neighbour as himself, is more than all whole burnt offerings and sacrifices.

And when Jesus saw that he answered discreetly, he said unto him, Thou are not far from the kingdom of God. (Mark 12: 28-34).

Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus. (Phil. 2:5).

French Crusade

(Fort William Times-Journal)

A news correspondent stationed in Paris reveals that the traditional politeness of France has been disappearing during the past two or three decades. Kissing of hands and the smiling "After you," seem to be going out of fashion.

The result of this realization of the decline in French amiability is a fortnight's crusade, when all Frenchmen will be reminded to be not only formally polite but downright nice to their fellow citizens and anyone else they may meet.

Distance To Halifax

(Ottawa Citizen)

The remarkable geographic location of Halifax is made plain by a table of sailing distances in the magazine Seaports. Halifax is nearer than New York, Montreal or any other North Atlantic port to all the ports of Europe and Africa, to the principal Atlantic ports of South America, and to all Asian ports as far east as Hong Kong.

Rev. Dr. Bingham Baptist Leader Dies In Toronto Hospital At 72

TORONTO, Aug. 21 — The Rev. Herbert Henry Bingham, DD, recently retired general secretary-treasurer of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec, died Saturday evening in Western Hospital. He had been a minister for 45 years, and was in his 73rd year.

Dr. Bingham had served in important offices in the church as well as a number of pastorates. He was the immediate past vice-president of the Baptist World Alliance; a former president of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec, and a past vice-president of the Young People's Union of America. He was general secretary-treasurer of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec for 10 years.

He was well known in Peterborough, having been guest speaker several times in the Baptist churches here.

Born in Coventry, England, he was the son of the late Rev. Thomas Bingham, a Baptist minister. He came to Canada in 1886 and was for a time a printer on the staff of the Aurora Banner. He attended Woodstock College, Woodstock, and McMaster University, where he received his Bachelor of Arts degree. The honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred by McMaster.

Four Brothers Preachers

He served as pastor of the Baptist Church in Paris, Ont., from 1906-1910, and of Talbot Street Church, London, Ont., from 1910-1919. After being minister of the First Baptist Church, Calgary, for 11 years, he came to Toronto in 1930 as pastor of Walmer Road Baptist Church, continuing in this pastorate for 10 years.

One of four brothers who were Baptist ministers, Dr. Bingham toured the United States in evangelistic work with the Bingham Brothers Quartet. He was a frequent lecturer and a regular contributor of religious editorials to Canadian newspapers. For 34 years he contributed a Saturday religious editorial to the London Free Press. Dr. Bingham was the author of several books, including The Silences and Solicitudes of Jesus and The Bethlehem Road, or With Christ in the Paths of Palestine.

He was a member of the Canadian Baptist Foreign Mission Board and a former member of the Board of Governors of Brandon College. An active Rotarian for 38 years, he was a one-time director of Calgary Rotary Club.

He elaves his wife, formerly Mabel Louise Williamson of 93 Walmer Road, two daughters Mrs. Norman J. Kennedy of Calgary and Mrs. C. H. Alexander, Toronto; a brother, Rev. A. C. Bingham, of Wheatley, and a sister Mrs. A. S. Lovett of Toronto.

BAPTIST MINISTER for 45 years, the Rev. Dr. Herbert Henry Bingham died in a Toronto hospital Saturday evening.

Find Stolen Safe

STRATFORD, Aug. 21—(CP)—An 800-pound safe, stolen from St. Marys Canadian National Railways depot last Monday morning, was found stolen Sunday on the farm of Everett Smith in East Nissouri. Tools stolen from a section shed at Baden, Ont., about a week ago apparently were used to smash the safe open. Railway tickets and other papers were strewn about the field. The safe had contained about $50 in cash.

Hospital Barn Burns

ST. THOMAS, Aug. 21—(CP)—Fanned by a high wind, fire Sunday destroyed a large L-shaped barn and outbuilding at the Ontario Hospital Farm, two miles south of here. Firemen estimated damage at $20,000. Mitchell Hepburn, former premier of Ontario, who was driving by when he saw the fire, was able to drive a tractor from the blazing barn.

Cabin Cruiser Safe

DETOUR, Mich., Aug. 21 (AP).—The United States coast guard reported late Sunday that a cabin cruiser marooned off Drummond Island with a man and six children aboard has been rescued. All passengers were reported safe on the island after the 38-foot Sally had been swamped half a mile off Bruce Point in north channel.

Freighter Seized

MONTREAL, Aug. 21 (CP). — The $1,500,000 Italian freighter Providencia was seized in Montreal harbor this weekend as the result of an action taken by James Richardson and Company, Ltd., grain brokers, to recover damages of $20,000 to a shipment of oats delivered last June. The 14,000 ton vessel will be forced to remain in the harbor here until the action is settled in civil court.

Leaves $18,000

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 21—(CP)—William Robinson, semi-recluse who for months had resisted efforts of township officials to have him enter a hospital for the aged, left an estate worth more than $18,000. A neighbor found the 83-year-old Robinson dead last Friday in the tiny home he had built himself after coming to Canada from England 26 years ago.

Actress Finds Hollywood Changes Mind On Return

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 21 (AP)—What a difference a play makes, Patricia Morison has discovered.

Just back from her Broadway hit in "Kiss Me, Kate," the black-haired New Yorker finds things different from when she left a couple of years ago when she was broke and battling with B pictures.

"I noticed the change a week or so ago when I sang at Hollywood Bowl," she observed. "There were a lot of important people there, people who used to nod and say 'hello, Pat' when they saw me. These same people came dashing backstage and threw their arms around me, shouting 'darling, you were wonderful!'"

The difference is professional as well as social. She has had a number of good parts to choose from and appears set for the singing lead in "Song of Norway." Miss Morison can be pardoned if she seems to rebel in her new popularity, because her life in Hollywood hasn't always been velvet.

Second Chance

"I'm luckier than most girls in show business," she remarked. "I got a second chance."

Pat's first career began with a big build-up at Paramount in 1938. She was given the glamor treatment and a number of good pictures. But then she started to slip.

"I guess it was my fault as much as theirs," she admitted. "It all came too easy for me and I didn't study or do much except enjoy life".

As she was about to begin "The Glass Key" with Alan Ladd and Brian Donlevy, the studio told her she was being replaced by Veronica Lake. "You're not the leading-lady type," she was told. "But don't worry—you can always get work as the other woman."

Pat, who previously had a suspension for refusing a loan-out as Gene Autry's leading lady, was offered a contract renewal—at a cut in salary. As the old saying goes, she ankled the lot.

Grey Days

Then followed some pretty grey days. She either played the other woman or leads in B pictures or worse. All the while she was taking as many singing lessons as she could afford. But no one would believe she could sing.

To cut the story short, she auditioned for "Kiss Me, Kate," at Cole Porter's home and got the job.

Jet Fighter Has Fast Trip

TORONTO, Aug. 21 — (CP) — The F-86 Sabre, Canada's newest jet fighter, took about 30 minutes to fly from nearby Malton airport to the Canadian National Exhibition grounds.

The aircraft, first of 100 to be built for the RCAF at the Canadair aircraft plant in Montreal, will go on display at the CNE this week.

It was towed by a tractor through 75 miles of Sunday traffic. A provincial police escort preceded it, making sure there was enough room for the plane's 37-foot wingspan.

Nearly a dozen rural mail boxes were dug out of the ground to provide clearance for the plane and one overhead traffic light was removed to permit passage of the plane's 14-foot-high rudder.

Question Suspect

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 21 (AP)—Inspector John Nimmo of the Toronto police force arrived Sunday to question Frank T. Miller, believed to be the man sought in the 1949 slaying there of Albert Layng. Inspector Nimmo indicated he will question Miller and confer with local authorities today.

Snow In Ontario

FORT FRANCES, Ont., Aug. 21—(CP)—It snowed Sunday at Nestor Falls, Ont., 60 miles southwest of the Fort Frances-Kenora highway. But it wasn't much of a fall—not enough to cover the ground.

Mystery Surrounds Killing Of Trotsky 10 Years Ago

By LAURANCE F. STUNTZ

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 21 (AP)—The 10 years since Leon Trotsky was assassinated still leave the veil of mystery around his cryptic killer.

Jacques Mornard, if that is his name, is serving a 20-year sentence of the crime. But police are not sure of his name, of his nationality, of the source of the money which enables him to live in a comfortable suite of cells in Federal Penitentiary.

They have not even established definitely a motive for the killing.

Mornard, now 46, has said he was "disillusioned" with Trotsky and that is why he killed the Russian revolutionary with a mountaineer's axe. Later he said he killed in self-defence.

But the 60-year-old Trotsky said before he died that Mornard was a Russian secret police agent.

Lives Through Attack

Trotsky, exiled from Russia after he broke with Stalin, took refuge here. His Fourth Internationale, anti-Stalin Communism, attracted adherents. Enemies tried to kill him. He lived through a machine-gun attack on the house he rented from the Mexican painter Diego Rivera. One of his secretary-guards was abducted and killed.

Mornard had professed great admiration for Trotsky. On the afternoon of Aug. 20, 1940, Mornard obtained an interview. He said he wanted to show him a manuscript. A few minutes later Trotsky, blood streaming down his face, stumbled out of his office. Behind him was Mornard, the mountain axe he had brought with him under his coat. Trotsky died next day.

Mental Fixation

Psychiatrists said Mornard had a mental fixation compelling him to strike other persons.

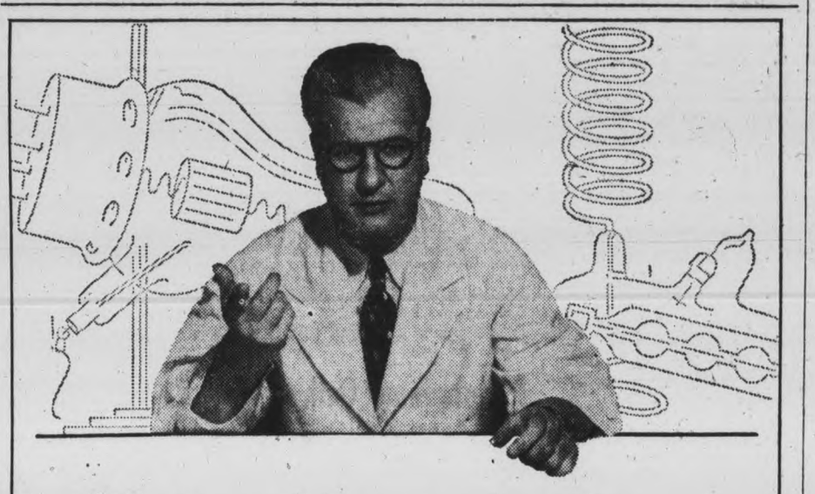
His trial continued for three years, Mornard remaining in the penitentiary all the time. Finally April 16, 1943, he was sentenced to 19½ years for the assault and six months more for carrying a pistol.

After another five years — three-quarters of his sentence — he will be eligible for parole. There has been nothing to indicate that he will be released within the next five years — or even, in view of what may await him outside the jail, that he wants to be released.

Boost Air Fleet

LONDON, Aug. 21—(AP)—Two London newspapers report today that the United States is speeding up plans to base a huge fighter and bomber air fleet in Britain.

The pro-Labor Daily Herald says about "1,000 American aircraft might be based" in Britain as part of news plans for Western European air defence. The Liberal News Chronicle says the expansion plans "are believed to envisage basing in Britain a force of several hundred long-range bombers plus an adequate fighter force for defensive purposes."



"Don't expect too many miracles in this Push-button Age!"

"Every year science is creating more 'miracles' to make living easier in countless ways. And what we see today is only the beginning of an amazing new era of comfort and convenience.

"But it seems to me that some people are expecting too many miracles. For instance, they believe that, by some kind of magic, old-age benefits will provide all the money they're ever going to need when they retire.

"I believe in security for everyone, but I want mine planned to suit my own individual needs. That's why I have my own life insurance. It'll take all the life insurance I've got now, and maybe more, to help provide the kind of retirement income I want and when I want it!

"My life insurance is flexible, too. I had my choice of dozens of different kinds of policies. And my life underwriter helped me arrange a balanced programme that gives my family protection now, while it builds a better income for my old age.

Petes Win Protested Game Under The New Floodlights

Saturday night saw the Petes jump over New Toronto by half a game into second place in the Viaduct Baseball League with a 7-4 decision. A crowd of close to 3,000 witnessed the new floodlights turned on with appropriate ceremony and the keen contest which followed. The game was played under protest by New Toronto, the manager claiming Umpire Pat Calladine had failed to call an infield fly for an automatic out on Fred Garvey in the sixth inning.

Arguments slowed down the doings during the fray but it was an interesting duel between well-matched clubs. Jack Cabot pitched fine ball till the fatal sixth when the Petes drove from behind a 4-0 deficit for six markers to clinch the verdict. Cabot gave way then to Joe Brown who finished up. Bill Edger had his troublesome spots but threw a neat seven-hit game, errors giving the visitors three unearned runs. Three double plays helped pull Edger out of holes in the nick of time, and running catches by Joe Lowrey and Pat Wilson helped. Don Rogerson also roped in a dandy in short centre.

Turns On Lights

Alex Sinclair, recreation director, was master of ceremonies in the pre-game introductions. The Mayor and other officials spoke briefly before the club president, Vern Dawson, pulled the switch to inaugurate night baseball in Peterborough. It was a swell setup before by far the biggest baseball crowd of the season here, the bleacher-like stands being packed and hundreds standing or sitting on the grass all around the field.

Howie Dalton, though having an off-night fielding, led the locals at bat with three for four, one a double, as he drove in two runs. Paul Estlick had two in four, and Pat Wilson a double Al Menzies also drove in two runs. Three walks and four hits fashioned the homesters' six runs after New Toronto had taken a good lead with three runs in the first of the sixth on a walk, two errors and three bingles. Rene Bouchard led them at the plate with two in four tries, one a double. Johnny Harich had two for five, and Ralph Hosking (leading the league at bat) belted out a two-bagger.

LOCKE MAY PLAY

UE Soccerites Hand Loss To Brockville

The local U.E. soccer team swamped Brockville eleven of the Eastern Ontario League, Saturday afternoon, before a good attendance, by an 8-0 count. The visitors lacked finish around the goal although their combination and system was clever; while the Petes were clicking in every department. Best for the losers were Bain and Robertson, who played in the 'Glen' soccer team overseas, and for U.E. E. Downer, R. Strong and A. Featherstone.

Ideal ground conditions prevailed, after the heavy rain all morning, and permitted U.E. to force Brockville into their own territory but Bain and Barbour were unbeatable. Then Brockville settled down to systematic attack to miss two openings right in front of goal that U.E. goalie never had a chance to save Savage missing the open goal. Quickly Downer transferred the ball to the other end where the Brockville goalie made a spectacular save from Strong and Halroyd also saving a rocket drive from Featherstone. A faulty clearance by Brockville full backs forced the custodian to go out of goal but it was costly as Holroyd tricked him to place the ball over the goal line. Strong scored the second on his own. Again Halroyd picked up a loose ball right in front of goal to pass the ball to Duffus who slammed the ball into the rigging to make it read 3-0 at the interval.

Right from the kickoff in the second half, Strong ran down the line to send a beautiful goal in below the cross-bar from 20 yards out while on the run Brockville retaliated for the next 20 minutes without success but wilted under the combination of U.E. for the remainder of the game. U.E. twice in succession rattled in goals without any reply from their opponents. Then Featherstone got another — the seventh to be followed by another just before the final whistle.

Brockville—K. Metcalfe, goal; W. Bain and R. Barbour full backs; R. Robertson, J. MacNaull and G. Featheringham half backs; J. Robertson, T. Kerr, T. Savage, D. Ballantyne and J. Mackie. Subs—F. Whitten, J. Borelli, N. Jones.

U.E.—J. Hutchinson, goal; J. Craig and S. McGann full backs; H. Latham, E. Downer and H. Steel half backs; R. Strong, A. Boyd, W. Halroyd, G. Downer and A. Featherstone, forwards. Subs—J. Chamberlain, E. Duffus, L. Willis.

Referee—J. Adams, Linesmen. W. Cribbis and N. Wright.

Baseball Lights Turned On By Vern Dawson

The new baseball floodlights in Riverside Park were turned on officially by Vern Dawson, president of the Peterborough Baseball Club, before nearly 3,000 spectators Saturday night. Following a parade behind the band, in which many minor league baseball players participated, the ceremony was conducted by Alex Sinclair, recreation director, before New Toronto and the Petes played their Viaduct Baseball League contest.

Chairman R. J. Bolton, of the recreation commission, paid special tribute to the work of Ald. H. Dodds, Clare Collins of the recreation commission, Alex Sinclair, the Mayor and to senior ball club officers Vern Dawson, George Clarke and Hugh Campbell.

Dream Realized

Ald. Dodds spoke briefly, league president Hugh McLean, of Toronto, and Alex Kay, commissioner for minor ball here, were introduced, as well as all the Petes' players, and Manager Eddie Murphy expressed appreciation to all who had helped make night baseball in the city possible, the realization of a long-time dream by the club.

Mayor Max Swanston expressed the wish that such old-timers as Jake Solomon, Knotty Lee, Abbie Rose and others could be on hand to see the lights turned on in Riverside. He congratulated the senior baseball club, the Utilities Commission, the CGE Co. (which supplied the equipment) and the Recreation Commission for the fine job done, and expressed the belief that it would not tap the taxpayers' funds.

Dentonia Gets Cricket Win

By C. H. IRESON

Dentonia defeated the Peterborough-Whitaker Cricket Club 98 to 91 here Saturday in an important match. A victory for the locals would have tied them with Toronto 'B' in first place in the Godin Division of the council. A. Pope was unable to play.

Dentonia batted first with G. Mann getting 35, J. Gale 21 and F. Haswit 10 to finally total 98. It was eight for 71 but a partnership with D. Downs added 27 for the last wicket. Bowling was shared by F. Booth, three for 33, F. Dyer, two for 19, E. Cotton, three for 28, and R. Rollwagon one for 13.

The local innings was featured by a great display by Bryan Roberts (33) with E. Cotton (12) as his partner. The latter opened the score with the quick 12, consisting of a six, a four and two singles. Roberts, first in, was last out with the total 91. He showed strong defence and aggressive attack but could get no successful partner as the "fall of wickets" shows. It was 39 for six and then with S. Jennings (8) showing strong defence, 36 runs were added to make it 75, but Roberts was bowled by Boyden, who had a great day to take eight wickets for 50. G. Mann took the other two for 23.

Summary of score:

Dentonia — Batting: F. Haswit 10, D. Royston 3, T. Fraser 4, J. Gale 21, H. Lutz 7, G. Mann 35, E. Boyden 8, D. Cursham 1, E. Harding 0, D. Downes 4 not out, extras 5; total 98.

Fall of wickets: 1 for 9, 2 for 14, 3 for 32, 4 for 45, 5 for 46, 6 for 67, 7 for 70, 8 for 71, 9 for 98.

Bowling: F. Booth 3 wickets for 33 runs, F. Dyer 2 for 19, E. Cotton 3 for 28, R. Rollwagen 1 for 13.

P-Ws——Batting: E. Cotton 12, B. Roberts 43, W. Wright 1, F. Booth 4, T. Scott 1, R. Rollwagen 3, R. Titshall 3, S. Jennings 8, F. Dyer 5, W. Freeman 5, T. Fraser 4 not out, extras 2; total 91.

Fall of wickets: 1 for 12, 2 for 13, 3 for 17, 4 for 21, 5 for 26, 6 for 39, 7 for 72, 8 for 80, 9 for 82, 10 for 91.

Bowling: E. Boyden 8 wickets for 50 runs, G. Mann 2 for 33, J. Gale 0 for 6.

The match previously arranged for next Saturday between the two teams in the Woods Memorial Trophy has been defaulted by the local team as they have to play in the semi-finals of the county championship on that day against Halton County at Oakville.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

The stiff senior "A" lacrosse schedule ends this exhibition week. Petes play in Hamilton tonight, tackle Toronto in Oshawa on Wednesday, meet St. Kitts here on Friday and then go to St. Catharines the next night. Playoffs begin next week. We hope the refereeing improves in playoffs, as it hasn't been too good most of the summer. Too many "homers" on the OLA staff, guys who fear the disfavor of home crowds and give the visiting clubs the short end of it. For our money, Joe Murphy, Lou Vipond and Piper Bain are the best of the bunch. Some refs, like some of the older OLA clubs, also resent the drive of the Johnny-come-lately Petes (and the big crowds here), or so it seems, as the Petes usually are playing shorthanded on the road for odd penalties.

Bowl d'Ashburnham will be abrim with activity this week, if the weather behaves. For girl and men softballers. The Kingston-Westclox lasses' PWSU playoff, postponed from Saturday, will be at seven tonight, third (if necessary) right after, the Clockers having won the first. Isobel (Tommy) Bullock may hurl the seven p.m. tilt. Wednesday sees CGE vs. Woollens at seven, followed by Ashby's vs. Marines in the girls' round-robin serial. Men's four-in-seven finals open tomorrow eve at 7.15 with East City playing Mutuals. We will run the dope maybe tomorrow on the OASA playdown setup. Meantime in junior "C" it's Hastings at Keene tonight and back at Hastings on Wednesday.

Petes And Ex-Legions

A brief glance toward hockey (brrr, isn't it chilly?) ere going back to summer sports. We're told quite definitely that the ex-Legion squad has a sponsor and expect a former pro here soon as coach. They'll have an early meeting and we should have the info soon. Meanwhile, the Petes' senior "B" puck club had an informal meeting yesterday discussing sponsorship, finances and the bolstering of the team with players. And a nominating committee is busy lining up a slate of officers for the annual open meeting which will be held within the next two weeks. Artificial ice sure lengthens the winter, huh?

* * * * * *

If the weather's okay tonight, there's a floodlight baseball game at 8.30 in Riverside, Toronto Aces playing the Petes, and these two teams (along with New Toronto) are in a hot fight now for second slot as the schedule finishes this week. Tomorrow eve at 8.45 (in order not to interfere with men's softball playoffs) the Oshawa Merchants—who lead the Viaduct Loop—tangle with the men o' Murphy, while Wednesday has New Toronto back and Thursday brings Dovers here. Schedule winds up Saturday with New Toronto here again, to pick up that washed-out game of Saturday aft. A rugged windup to the schedule indeed.

Night Ball Draws 'Em

Nearly 3,000 fans were in Riverside on Saturday night to see the Petes beat New Toronto 7-4 and to view the new floodlights. A grand occasion and an historical one in local sports. Vern Dawson turned on the lights, a fitting recognition for the great job he and George Clarke did in raising more than $15,000 for the senior ball club toward the lights. Hugh Campbell was another big worker for ball in recent years here, and Manager Ed Murphy rates a lot of credit for his efforts. Recreation and Utilities Commissions, too, did a good job. A nifty game, but New Toronto protested it as Umpire Pat Calladine failed to call an infield fly—an automatic out—on a pop in front of the plate which was missed and then bounced foul. Executive will deal with it.

* * * * * *

Sunday was no day of rest in the Viaduct League, two joists being run off in Toronto. Dovers beat Staffords 9-6 in one game while Aces staved of a late rally by the Petes to win out 14-9 before a hefty crowd. The official standing has Oshawa atop with 26 wins and nine losses, the Petes next with 22 and 13, New Toronto third with 21 and 13, Aces right close also with 21 and 14, followed by Dovers with 10 wins and 27 losses and Staffords in the cellar with six victories and 30 defeats. So, the Petes are but half a game up on New Toronto and just one full game in front of Aces, who play here tonight. A torrid race.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

Bowling news seems to be scarce today, so we are presenting a little poem entitled "The Bowlers' Alibis," dedicated to all bowlers who blame anybody but themselves:

Or else it's far too cold
I bumped my bowl, he stole the shot
I must be getting old.
There's snaky runs in that there green,
The green must be too long,
I sure can't get them up today
There must be something wrong.
I played the wrong bias—my hard luck
The rules are hardly fair,
The umpire did not measure right,
He wasn't on the square.
So what a game this bowling is Sometimes we play so well,
And other days we're terrible,
And sometimes play like ? (you guess it).

As was to be expected there was only a small crowd out Saturday night. C. Mowry and P. Bartley were the winning skips.

We have no details regarding the trip our bowlers took to Toronto on Saturday. Maybe we'll hear all about it tonight.

We continue our sport this evening with games according to the schedule cook.

Riverdales Lash Crescents 11-10

By The Canadian Press

The last-place Toronto Riverdales pulled off the biggest upset of the Ontario Lacrosse Association Senior series Saturday. They defeated the first-place Owen Sound Crescents 11-10, and in Owen Sound too.

Jack Webster rammed in four goals for Riverdales and Bill Timpson added three more and got three assists. Singles were scored by Booth, Campbell, Harris and Howes.

Playing Coach Doug Gillespie and Jack Mason each scored twice for Owen Sound with Foote, Smith, Allum, Kazarian, Jordon and Campbell getting the others.

In Brampton, the Excelsiors defeated St Catharines Athletics 13-8 Saturday night.

The Excelsiors led 4-1 at the end of the first quarter and 6-2 at halftime. Nick Ferri and Harvey Madgett paced the winners' attack with three goals apiece. Whipper was high scorer for the losers with three goals.

Rough play broke out in the last period with referees awarding four major penalties.

Petes Beaten By Aces In Odd Fray

Toronto baseball fans saw a rare game at Miller Park yesterday as Aces defeated Peterborough 14-9 in a Viaduct Major League fixture before a huge crowd. The same teams meet tonight at Riverside in what may prove a baseball thriller. They trail the second place Petes by one game.

Four twirlers, two for each club, toiled in the odd struggle that rendered Aces a verdict somewhat in inverse ratio to their dues. On the basis of earned runs the victors had exactly five less than the Petes—yet won by a like margin.

Good For Eight

Gord Dyment twirled 8 2-3 innings, walked eight men and fanned six for the winners in a fair, if erratic display, until the ninth when a walk to Brown and solid bingles by Dadson, Lowrey, Garvey, Menzies, Harrison, Wilson and further walks to Brown and Ed Murphy netted six runs and sent him to the showers. Church then finished, retiring Wilson on Dadson's fielder's choice, to quench the rally.

Aces took an early lead off Dadson in the first to score four and added four more in the second. Lowrey took over in the fourth switching with Dadson and gave a good display for five innings, but Aces scored four in the fourth.

Three smart double plays featured the game, two by Peterborough who showed their traditional fighting spirit by coming from behind to almost save the day. Aces however, played errorless ball afield.

Wilson and Garvey led Petes with two safeties apiece, the former driving in three runs. Harrison drove in two. Lowrey and Brown sparkled afield.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Football made its 1950 Canadian debut during the weekend and it included a sequel to last fall's east-west final.

In Calgary the Stampeders scored a 19-7 victory over Montreal Alouettes, reversing the order of the Grey Cup final in which the Alouettes became Canadian champions last season.

Royal Copeland, with Toronto Argonauts last year, sparked the westerners with two pretty touchdowns, one a 45 yard run through centre and the other from 11 yards out.

In Toronto the Scullers defeated Argos 29-6 as the team was split into two squads for a benefit game. Ulysses Curtis, a halfback import from Florida, scored three majors.

In Hamilton the Tiger-Cats rolled up a crushing 57-0 victory over Sarnia Imperials in a Saturday night exhibition game.

Toronto's junior Olympics track team broke three meet records but was edged out of first place in the final scoring, 237 points to 224½, in the junior Olympic meet at Cleveland Saturday.

Joan Nimmo's five feet, 1½ inches was a meet record for the running high jump in the 16 and 17 year group.

William Selkirk of the 12 and 15-year-old boys cleared 18 feet seven inches for a running broad jump mark, and Mildred Gross shaved one-tenth of a second off the 75 yard dash mark in the 16-17 age group with a time of 8 9-10 seconds.

World's records fell in several parts of the world during the weekend.

Jim Fuchs of Yale University cracked his own unofficial world record for the 16-pound shot put when he heaved the iron ball 58 feet, 9 9-64 inches at Visby, Sweden Saturday. Listed world mark is 58 feet, ⅜ inches.

Half-miler Mal Whitfield ran an exhibition at Cleveland Saturday to equal the accepted world mark of 1:49.2 for 880 yards.

Ip Kure, Japan, Hironoshin Furuhashi shaved nearly a second off the world's record in the 500-metre free style, churning the distance in 5:55.8.

J. L. Van won the major portion of the $2,000 17 pace stakes, feature event of the closing program at Toronto's Thorncliffe Raceway Saturday. Driven by Keith Waples, J. L. Van won the first heat and finished second in the second. Popular Volo was second in the opening heat and Canada Direct won the second division.

Lloyd Mangrum shot a 69 Sunday to grab the $2,000 eastern open golf prize with a 72-hole total of 279 at Baltimore. He beat Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N. C., by two strokes.

3 Scorned Southpaws Make Things Tough For Old Pals

By JOE REICHLER,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

A trio of scorned southpaws are dancing on air today to the music made by the moans and groans of the Detroit Tigers and Cleveland Indians.

With victories over the disillusioned pennant contenders, the trio—pitchers Stubby Overmire, Bill Wight and Billy Pierce — proved once again how fatal it can be to under-estimate a castoff.

Overmire, cast adrift by Detroit last winter, gained sweet revenge on his former employers Sunday when he spun a 6-2 victory to give St. Louis Browns an even break in their doubleheader with the American League leaders. The Tigers had come from behind to win the opener 5-4.

Wight and Pierce, traded off by New York Yankees and Tigers respectively, turned in sparkling performances in pitching Chicago White Sox to 2-1 and 6-5 triumphs over the Indians.

Prior to Sunday's games, the Tigers had whipped the seventh-place Browns 10 times in 12 meetings, while the Indians had beaten the sixth-place White Sox 10 games to five.

Yankees Take Two

Taking advantage of the Tiger and Indian lapses, and with the help of Joe DiMaggio's bat, the Yankees won two games from the hapless Philadelphia Athletics, 6-4 and 5-2, to climb into second place past the Indians. The Bronx Bombers, who open a long home stay Tuesday with an important three-game series against the Tigers, thus chewed off a full game off the Tigers' lead and moved another game in front of the Tribe. The Tigers' margin over the Yanks is three games.

Boston Red Sox, rained out yesterday, remain in fourth place six games off the pace.

Rain cut National League activity. With the four eastern teams yielding to weeping skies, the spotlight was thrust on St. Louis Cardinals. The Red Birds rose to the occasion, coming from behind to nip Cincinnati Reds 3-2. Stan Musial drove in all St. Louis' runs with three singles. Howie Pollet gained the nod over Cincinnati's Ken Raffensberger. The victory moved the Cards into a third-place tie with Boston.

Paul Minner and Frank Hiller, another pair of discards, pitched Chicago Cubs to a 4-2, 5-2 sweep of a doubleheader from Pittsburgh. Minner, the former Brooklyn lefthander, allowed eight hits for his seventh victory in the opener. Hiller, former Yankee, spaced seven hits for his ninth victory against two losses. Ralph Kiner rapped his 37th homer for the Bucs.

Orioles Split Twin Bill With Montreal

By The Associated Press.

Russ Bauers, the former National League hurler, still retains that prime requisite demanded of all good pitchers—win the important game.

The 35-year-old righthander is responsible for Baltimore's second-place standing in the International League today. He stopped Montreal Royals 2-1 in the second game of a doubleheader Sunday after the Royals had won the opener 4-3. Another victory by Montreal would have dropped Baltimore into third place.

It was Bauer's 10th triumph and 12th complete game. The former member of Pittsburgh Pirates and Chicago Cubs gave up six hits in besting Clyde King, Montreal's crack righthander. For King, it was his first setback in 11 games against the Orioles.

In the opener, the Royals smacked Tommy Fine for 14 hits, while four Montreal moundsmen held the Orioles to four singles.

Buffalo and Syracuse also split a doubleheader. Buffalo notched the opener 3-1 behind Ken Wood's four-hitter, but Syracuse rebounded to take the second game 3-2, although Harry Byrd pitched four-hit ball for Buffalo.

The Toronto-Jersey City and Rochester - Springfield doubleheaders were postponed due to rain.

Middlesex Contractor Wins Gold Medal

CONNAUGHT RIFLE RANGES, South March, Ont., Aug. 21 (CP)—"That's the thrill of a lifetime," said a 52-year-old building contractor from Middlesex, England, after he captured the Governor-General's Gold Medal Saturday at the 82nd annual Dominion of Canada Rifle Association shoot.

Alan H. Moorshead, former private of England's Home Guard, came out on top of 150 crack marksmen when he posted an aggregate score of 169 out of a possible 175 from 300, 600 and 900 yards.

Leading the Canadian marksmen was Capt. G. H. Hirst of Calgary, who was followed by Bandsman W. R. Chandler of Vancouver and CSM. N. L. Beckett of Hamilton, scoring identical scores of 162.

Cobourg Legion Team Wallops Trenton 17-6

TRENTON, Aug. 21—Behind the effective pitching of Jack Irvin, who yielded only five safeties, and claimed 12 on strikes, Cobourg Legion scored a 17-6 win over Trenton MacDonald Hardware in the first game of the OASA Junior "B" playoffs here.

Bill Mitts went the route for Trenton. He struck out 14 batters, but poor support contributed to his defeat.

Catcher Bob Bevans led the winners at the plate with two triples and a single. Chub McIver with three singles, and Leo O'Brien with a triple and a single were next best. Bill Mitts with two singles and Junior Wilson with two singles were best at the plate for Trenton.

Pearson Hopes Korean Aid Reaches Peak

VANCOUVER, Aug. 21—(CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson indicated Sunday that Canadian participation in the Korean war, beyond measures already planned, depends on the extent of Communist successes.

He said: "With our naval unit in action, our airlift activity, and training of an army brigade we are mking good discharge of our present obligations."

Mr. Pearson arrived by train Sunday from Ottawa, then continued on to Victoria by boat. He will enlarge on his views in addresses to the Victoria Canadian Club today and the Vancouver Canadian Club Thursday.

The minister said he does not believe the fighting in Korea is the start of a third world war.

Possible Miscalculation

"There is no reason to believe anyone is consciously trying to extend the Korean operation into a world war, he said, but added: "The danger is that sooner or later someone may miscalculate."

Mr. Pearson, who will return to Ottawa Friday, attacked Jacob Malik, Russian representative on the United Nations Security Council.

"Mr. Malik came back to the Security Council to take advantage of his position as chairman to obstruct and create Soviet propaganda, and for no other reason."

Treatment Given City By Board Has Irked Mayor

There'll be no flavor of "Ex" road rhubarb at the Thursday civic luncheon for Hon. T. L. Kenneay, Minister of Agriculture, who is coming to open the Exhibition that afternoon.

Nothing about the controversy between the council and the directors, nor a mention of the Rev. E. C. Moore's petition and other phases of a controversy in which the Mayor thinks the council "got a run around." It was uppermost in Mayor Swanston's mind a week ago when the Examiner asked him what was being done about a luncheon for Col. Kenneay.

"I haven't done anything about it," His Worship said then, "and I don't know what Adam Sands is doing. Maybe the directors of the Exhibition would like to put on the dinner, or mayoe they might get the county council."

"When we ask them for little things we don't get anywhere. Things that would help us. But, they want you to do things for them. We had the Rev. E. C. Moore come to the council with a petition as long as your arm for the extension of George St. through the Exhibition grounds. A lot of the people south of Lansdowne St. wrote their names to that petition."

"You know what happened. We didn't get any co-operation from the Exhibition Board, and it leaves us having to make excuses to the people down there. There ought to be some give as well as take with the directors. We had a luncheon for Col. Kennedy when he was here last year, but maybe the directors would like to do the entertaining this time."

Things Changed

That's the way it was or appeared to be a week ago, but on Saturday the Examiner asked G. A. Gillespie, manager of the "Ex." what he knew.

"It will be the city as usual," Mr. Gillespie said. "The Mayor said he would see Ald. Sands about it."

News of the civic welcome was confirmed today by Mayor Swanston. "We couldn't have the Minister of Agriculture visit the city without a friendly greeting. After all he is the guest of the citizens as a whole when he comes to open the Exhibition, and we couldn't take out on him the way we feel at the directors letting us down on that road through their grounds."

Sentiment within the council is that the board could have been helpful toward providing the convenience requested by the southenders, and the road would have been in use months ago.

Ald. Sands, chairman of the reception committee, is having the luncheon at the Kawartha Club Thursday at 12:15 p.m. It is just an informal affair with about twelve representatives of the several groups. Ald. Sands will be chairman, and there will be the Mayor and Hugh Stewart, president of the Exhibition; Norman McConkey as vice-president, and Mr Gillespie, Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., and possibly Hon. H. R. Scott who has intimated that he may not be able to be in Peterborough that day, Frank Paterson, agricultural representative has been invited, but he may have his hands full with the junior section of the Exhibition Thursday. There may be several others on the Sands list.

A CAR OUT OF CONTROL crashed into ditch east of Scott's Corners in North Monaghan Township on Sunday evening, rolled over and was partly burned, a complete wreck. Driven by Harry R. Jones, 36, of 598 Chamberlain St., he and his wife and three children, Annabelle, William and Harry, shown in Lower Photos, are all in hospital suffering from injuries and broken bones.

Watchman Hit By Auto At RR Crossing

LINDSAY, Aug. 21 (CP)—A few hours after his daughter was married, A. (Tony) Bovie, 57-year-old Canadian National Railways watchman, was critically injured when struck by a car at a railway crossing early Sunday.

Bovie, carrying a red lantern, was guarding a crossing while a freight train passed, a car driven by Samuel Frank Bryant, 32, of Lindsay, struck Bovie from the rear, knocking him up against the train. He suffered a fractured skull and one arm and one leg was broken.

Mrs. Thelma Adams and Mrs Doreen Cox, both of Lindsay, passengers in the badly damaged car, were removed to hospital along with Bovie. Mrs. Adams suffered a fractured ankle and Mrs. Cox was badly cut and bruised about the head. Bryant, who escaped with lacerations, has been charged with dangerous driving.

Last Train Out

Should the threatened railway strike go ahead the 4.35 a.m. (EST) CPR passenger train will be the last passenger train out of Peterborough.

The 5.35 is the Ottawa to Toronto train that includes Peterborough on its route.

CNR officials say if the strike (called for 6 a.m.) goes ahead the 7.13 a.m. (EST) will not run. It starts out from Belleville.

Altogether 17 unions, representing 124,000 non-operating workers, are affected.

Railways have urged passengers not to go on trips likely to last beyond midnight.

City Wide Delivery

Set Up Trucking Service Carry Mail To and From City

Mail deliveries throughout the Dominion will continue, even if the railways come to a standstill tomorrow morning. Peterborough people will have one delivery daily and their mail directed to addresses outside the city, will be sent out once a day.

Harry E. White, Peterborough postmaster, told the Examiner today that four trucks will arrive daily around noon with mail for Peterborough. The mail will be sorted as soon as it arrives and the carriers will set out to deliver during the afternoon, and early evening, if necessary.

The Post Office has set up a chain of trucks to carry mail across the continent, but only first class mail will be handled. No parcels will be carried through the mails except in cases of emergency, such as medicine and medical supplies being sent to patients.

Mr. White said that if people post mail other than first class matter for destinations outside Peterborough, it will not be handled by the post office until after the railways go into operation. Mail within the city and to points where it is usually carried by road, will continue to be carried as usual.

The strike, if it comes, will upset the routine of the mail carries and the Post Office sorters. There will be no mail to sort ready for the carriers to take out at 8 a.m. and some of the night shift sorters will be transferred to the day shift to help get the mail out as quickly as possible after midday.

Arrive At Noon

Plans are already made for a truck to bring mail from Ottawa and all places en route along No. 7 Highway into Peterborough by noon and it will start on the return journey with outgoing mail, at approximately 2 p.m.

Another truck will arrive from Toronto, via Lindsay, collecting mail on the way and it will return in the early afternoon.

A truck from Belleville will bring in mail from Campbellford, Hastings, Trent River and other places en route and another will arrive around noon from Port Hope.

A rail strike will mean not only inconvenience for Post Office workers, whose hours of work will be upset, but they will also have more sorting to do. The men at Peterborough Post Office will have to make separate bags of mail for every point on the journies out from the city, whereas, the final sorting is usually done on the trains.

Northern Lights Splendid Show

This summer residents of Ontario have been viewing an unusual colorful display of "northern lights."

Saturday night people in the Peterborough district lingered outdoors to see one of the most spectacular displays ever seen in August. Similar reports come from other parts of Ontario, particularly northern Ontario.

At Moosoneee the light changed from green to amber then to red and illuminated the Moose River. Some residents said it was possible to read a newspaper by the strong light which was accompanied by a faint rustling noise.

Local skygazers say the shimmering rays converged to a point with almost geometrical accuracy. A cloudless sky helped the spectacle.

As usual the aurora borealis played hob with telegraphic communications. In northern Ontario communications were made almost impossible.

A Kid Once Yourself Bus Driver Tells Her

"Sit down and keep quiet," was the sharp order of a frowning middle aged woman as two boys with swimming towels bounced into a George St. bus, about noon today.

"Let's sit here" one of them had said up front.

They froze into silence at the grim and unfriendly looking woman.

"I'm in charge of this bus," said the driver. "The boys are all right."

"Oh, a big shot, eh," the woman retorted.

There are some youngsters unmannerly, and noisy nuisances to peeve passengers. These two lads about eight or nine were only bright and animated. The bus driver estimated them correctly.

"You were a kid once yourself," was his final word.

Falls From Trap Door Into Filled Water Tank

BONARLAW, Aug. 21 (ENS)—Mrs. Sam Elliott got a ducking in her own home last week, when she fell through a trap doorway and into the cistern.

The trap door had been left open by a plumber who had been working in the house and Mrs. Elliott, not knowing it was open, put her foot right through. She landed in the cistern, immersed to her arm pits, but apart from considerable surprise, she is no worse for the "bath."

With the aid of a ladder, her husband, who has been seriously ill recently, helped her out.

Railway Strike May Delay Midway For Ex

Possibility of a railway strike clamping down on Bernard & Barry's midway shows somewhere on their way to Peterborough was G. A. Gillespie's only worry at noon today.

The "Modern Cavalcade of Mirth" was due here by rail tonight with all Tuesday to set up for the opening of the Exhibition Wednesday morning.

"I don't know where they are, or whether they can get here if the worst comes to the worst, and trains stop running," Mr. Gillespie told the Examiner. Mr. Gillespie is secretary-manager, and with most of the other details in hand, he was facing the prospect, according to newspaper headlines, of the Exhibition without its main medium of ballyhoo.

And with the public to be entertained, especially the youngsters who look for rides and glides, that was worry enough suddenly taking menacing shape on the eve of the "Ex."

Otherwise, the preparations for the fair were bustling with liveliness. The grounds were never greener and trimmer. The city's power lawn mower had given them a going over last week and was out again this morning for a final clip.

Ready To Start

John Ridyard, caretaker, has the buildings and grandstand dusted and tidy. The show was just about ready to start.

Wednesday is Children's Day, free to the children of the city and county.

Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, formally opens the Exhibition Thursday afternoon.

Weather today was sunny with a breath of autumn in the air. "We seem to have moved the weather forward with the dates," Mr. Gillespie remarked.

Cattle are expected in their stalls Tuesday evening. Judging of the dairy breeds begins Thursday at 10 a.m., and beef cattle Friday morning.

Optimism of the directors is reflected in a bleacher extension of the grandstand.

Horses are due in their barns Wednesday morning. The light horse committee is headed by Burritt Mann with Keith Kelly, Art Douglad, Frank Baldwin and Dr. Harold Worton assisting.

The weather gave a chilly reception to the stalwarts who went out to Nicholls Oval for the band concert Sunday evening but as Major Cyril Everitt, who announced the numbers for the Salvation Army band said, the music gave a warmth which the temperature lacked.

Riverside Sports Area Lacks Only Centre

"All we needed over there was the Memorial Community Centre," was the remark today of a ball fan who liked the game under floodlights Saturday night "We had the ground north of the bridge, the money in the bank, and more in sight, but somehow we muffed it.

"The prospectus of the Centre outlined the various sports that would be accommodated across the river. And irony of that bright idea is that the Lions Club, the council and the Baseball Club got things done. After ten years or thereabouts the Centre is wandering around looking for a location at twice the originally estimated cost of building."

Family of Five Injured When Car Turns Over In North Monaghan Ditch

A Peterborough family of five was hospitalized Sunday evening when their old model convertible turned over on Concession 12, North Monaghan, one mile east of Scott's Corners. First reports said that Harry R. Jones, 598 Chamberlain St., age 36, appeared to have a badly injured back, his wife, Beatrice, facial cuts, and their children, Harry, 8, Annabelle, 7, and William, 5, all shock and facial cuts. They are all in the Civic Hospital

Provincial police said they believed all the occupants of the car were thrown out when the car turned over. They explained that no other car was involved and that the cause of the accident might have been a blowout. The right front tire was flat.

Lloyd Whittington, near whose farm the accident occurred, was first on the scene and with others moved the injured who were scattered along the road, away from the burning car. He said when he heard the crash flames immediately appeared. The Whittington family phoned the provincial police and the doctor. Charles Whittington a brother doused the flames with a fire extinguisher.

Fairs garage, where the car was taken, reported the 1934 convertible a complete wreck.

Provincial Corporal Joseph Hanson investigated and Dr. R. K. Magee is attending the injured.

Eight Youths Released As Loiterers

Eight youths, arrested on charges of vagrancy by loitering on Charlotte St. Sunday night and obstructing pedestrians were found not guilty in police court today.

The eight were Harold O'Neil, 17, of 588 Charlotte St.; Laverne Butcher, 19, of 315 Burnham St.; Kenneth Batchelor, 18, of 567 Murray St.; David Ward, 19, of 137 London St.; Douglas Wood, 18, 72 Kent St.; Douglas Graham, 18, of 174 Rubidge St.; Carroll Sargent, 19, 346 Stewart St.; and Donald Collins.

"I don't know what's behind all this. But you boys had better watch your step on the street," Magistrate W. R. Philp K.C. said after dismissing the charges.

Constable William G. Scott testified he warned a group of about nine youths, hanging around in front of the Hollywood Cafe and United Cigar Store, that loitering wouldn't be tolerated. He said he told them if he returned later and found them still loitering he would arrest them.

About 15 minutes later he came back and saw another group of about 12 youths. He gave them the same warning.

Police Truck Arrives

About 9:20 p.m. the police received a call that a group had collected again. With Constable Dennis Traynor he drove to Charlotte St. in the police truck. There they met Constable Edward Patterson in front of the Hollywood Cafe. A group had collected on the sidewalk in front of the United Cigar Store.

As the police truck moved up to the group, the youths scattered in several directions, but the police collared eight of them.

Constable Scott said there were quite a number of people walking about the streets, but none were in the immediate vicinity of the youths just before they were arrested.

Constable Scott could identify only one, Collins, as having been in one of the other groups warned.

Neil MacKellar, an employee of the United Cigar Store, said the youths had been in the store some time and had left shortly before they were arrested.

In dismissing the charge, Magistrate Philp said there was no evidence of the youths interfering with pedestrians "a very necessary part of this charge."

Butcher Knife Slices Off Top Of Thumb

When the butcher knife that he was using Sunday night slipped, 11-year-old Frank Rowe, RR 3, Peterborough, sliced off the top of his left thumb.

He was one of four persons requiring hospital treatment after minor mishaps over the week-end.

Frank had gone into the back garden to get some turnips for visiting relatives. When he tried to cut the top off one of the turnips the knife slipped and severed his left thumb, just below the nail.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Rowe, took him to St. Joseph's Hospital after consulting a doctor.

Lacerated Arm

Three-year-old Paul Coveney, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Coveney, RR 1, Hastings, is recovering in hospital from the effects of a badly lacerated left arm. He was injured when he fell from the seat of his father's tractor Friday afternoon and was struck by the binder knife.

Mr. Coveney was able to stop the tractor in time to prevent Paul from being run over or suffer any further injury.

He was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment.

Injured In Dive

A dive in the dark Saturday night cost Mrs. Roy McGregor, 213 London St., a broken left wrist.

Mrs. McGregor plunged into the water at her Burleigh Falls summer home as it was getting dark and struck part of the dock as well as a rock. The water is shallower than usual and this is blamed for the mishap.

A cast was put on her left arm and she was permitted to go home.

When the driver of a car slewed it violently to enter a laneway, his passenger Randall Weatherstone, 16, 217 Woodbine Ave., received a badly cut left ear.

Weatherstone, a PCVS student, called the attention of the driver to the entrance to the Diamond-P ranch, north of Peterborough on the River Rd., and was catapulted forward when the car made the turn.

He was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital Saturday night, shortly after the accident, and was discharged Sunday night.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

A Pittsburgh reader writes as follows: "Both sides needed 120 and after a few rounds of play my partner proceeded to meld joker - queen - king and deuce-jack-jack. The meld was of course ten points short, and the cards became penalty cards.

"He discarded one of the queens. My hand consisted of four aces, three sevens, three fives and a black three, and my next draw was a joker. I promptly melded my joker with the four aces. At his turn to play, my partner added his joker to my aces, melded the deuce and two jacks and discarded the remaining queen.

"If instead of melding his deuce with the jacks he had added both wild cards to my aces, we would have had a canasta and I could have melded out at my next turn. As it happened, I kept drawing and discarding odd cards, and eventually gave away an enormous discard pile.

"Before I could go out, the opponents scored 3,000 points while if he had made the canasta right away, we would have set them back on the hand. Didn't he make a bad play when he failed to make the canasta for me?"

I regret to have to state that my correspondent was the one at fault in the hand described above. He had a simple method of telling his partner to make the canasta rather than to meld one of his wild cards with the two jacks. All he had to do was to meld one of his small sets of three at the same time he melded the aces.

Then, if his partner was on his toes, he would have said to himself, "My partner didn't have to meld those three little cards. Four aces and a joker count 130 which is more than enough count. He is showing me that he is playing for out Therefore, it is my duty to help him and the way to help him is to make the canasta."

Hence the canasta would have been made and the hand ended immediately.

Of course, I make some charge against the partner. When the ace meld was made, his correct play was to add the joker, discard his remaining queen and leave the deuce and the two jacks as penalty cards for one more round. You see there is no requirement that penalty cards must be melded at the first opportunity.

HERE'S A PRETTY FRUIT SALAD that makes a fragrant, refreshing dessert: Heap pink watermelon balls on a slice of cool-green honeydew. Surround with a ruffle of lettuce. Tuck in sections of grapefruit, and an occasional sprig of crisp mint. Over all pour a mellifluous dressing made of honey, oil and vinegar. It's perfect, pungent and pleasing!

Here is a special dressing to set off dessert fruit salad. Honey, added to French dressing in the making, lends a glamour that's fragrant, mysterious and sweet.

Thick with natural country goodness, limpid-clear and golden, honey is the perfect partner for a dish of salad fruits. And when the piquance of French dressing has been added, you get an extra richness that's tart, tangy and pert.

Honey French Dressing

3 tablespoons honey
6 tablespoons cider vinegar
½ cup olive oil
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons paprika

Place all ingredients into a bowl and whip thoroughly with rotary egg beater or electric beater. Pour into bottle which has a tight fitting lid. Shake thoroughly each time before using.

NOTE: adding 2 tablespoons mayonnaise produces a heavier French Dressing and one that holds the emulsion longer.

Corn Is Ideal As Mixer Add Color to Vegetables

A Calamity Jane acquaintance of mine was bleating about the price of meat. Dear old meat—and I do mean dear—takes a terrific conversational beating this summer, with Pollyanna here, says we live in the Land of Plenty and nutrition need not suffer—certainly not in August and September and October while markets are overflowing with fruits and vegetables.

I know three unusual people who do not like corn on the cob. While our family barely exists the ten months of the year when cob corn is not in season,—then we gorge on it every day.

You may not be so corny—so I have given you some variations—but only because "I have been told" I should.

Corn is ideal as a mixer. It looks so pretty in a dish mixed with other colourful vegetables such as carrots diced and baby limas, or fine cut green beans and chopped canned pimientoes, or green peas and dark red kidney beans. Compliments never fail to register when I serve either one of these variations with the following sauce:

Sauce For Corn And Vegetable Mixtures

Variation 1—Melt 2 or 3 tablespoons butter and add 1¼ tablespoons cornstarch or 1½ tablespoons flour, 2 teaspoons sugar and ½ teaspoon salt, then stir in ½ cup liquid in which vegetables were cooked. (Vegetable liquors that will do for this are bean, carrot, corn, asparagus, pea and celery.) Add ¼ cup heavy cream or evaporated milk, and 2 tablespoons each lemon juice and chopped parsley. Stir until thick

Variation 2—Add ¼ tablespoon less of cornstarch or flour than is called for in variation No. 1, and pour the thickened sauce over 1 beaten egg yolk, stirring. Reheat over boiling water for 1 minute

Have the vegetable cooked until just barely tender, then add to the hot sauce after they are drained. If necessary reheat Taste for salt and pepper.

Squaw Corn (adaptable to Campfire Meal)

Cut into small pieces 6 slices side bacon and saute this with 1 chapped small onion, until bacon is crisp. Pour off the excess fat. Now add 2 cups fresh corn cut from the cob or canned kernel or cream-style corn, and stir over low heat until heated through. Add about 1 tablespoon of the poured off fat, then add 6 unbeaten eggs. Stir over medium heat until mixture thickens, and season with salt and pepper. This makes about 4 generous or 6 medium servings. It is ideal for cooking over open fire for if watched all of the time, the eggs are even better if cooked over high heat.

Casserole of Fresh Limas And Corn

One-quarter cup flour, ¼ cup margarine or butter, 1½ cups whole milk ¼ to ¾ cup grated old cheese, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 4 tablespoons coarsely cut pimientoes, 2 cups fresh cooked limas, 2 cups fresh cut corn from cob or canned corn, ½ cup green onion tops cut in big pieces, 1½ cup fresh breadcrumbs, more melted butter or margarine. Melt butter, stir in flour, then milk until thick. Add cheese, salt, pepper and pimiento. Then add vegetables. Pour into shallow casserole, cover with crumbs, drizzle melted butter over. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. until heated through and golden.

This is a delicious one-hot-dish meal when served with generous salad, and fresh fruit with ice cream.

NOTE: Corn on the Cob needs only 3 minutes in boiling water; any longer and it starts getting tough.

Boy Urged to Help Father Who Uses Force, Not Tact

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a boy in my middle teens and find it hard to get along with my father. He is 60 years old with many silly ideas. For example, when I leave the house in the evening, I must state where I am going and must put up with a big fuss. Another thing, he demands that I give up most of my money when I work for household expenses. He earns a meagre salary himself. I graduate next year and am in need of money for graduation and clothes What percentage of my earnings should I give him? After I graduate and am on my own, would you advise me to leave home and go out into the wide world alone?

D. D.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your father is making a mistake that most fathers make in using force and authority instead of tact in dealing with an adolescent boy.

For at no other period during his whole life is a boy so cocksure of himself, so certain that he is embodied wisdom, so absolutely confident that he is perfectly capable of managing his own affairs without any suggestion from his elders as when he is 16 or 17.

Use Some Heart

But while I appeal to your father to use more intelligence in dealing with you, I appeal to you to use some heart in dealing with him. Have you ever thought of how he works and how much he denies himself to support you? And keep you in school? His is a hard life whose many sacrifices you've never appreciated because you are so unaccustomed to them. Dad's always tired, always worried about bills, always sort of sunk and hopeless. Can't you visualize this and be glad that before long you are going to be able to put your strong young shoulders under the family load and help him carry it?

Just what percentage of your earnings you should pay into the family fund I don't know, because you can't figure it out on a cold mathematical formula. There are such arrears of debts that piled up during the long years when you were little and helpless that no one can say how much a child owes its parents in dollars and cents. But believe me, D.D., family solidarity is a beautiful thing and there is nothing from which you would get more happiness than in working shoulder to shoulder with your parents, making their lives easier and giving your little brothers and sisters advantages which perhaps you have never known. Try it.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: We are several 14-year-old girls and we want to know why our mothers will not permit us to correspond with boys. We know a girl who had been writing to a boy and when her mother found it out she took all the letters and would not let her write to him any more.

JUST US

ANSWER: The reason that mothers object to their daughters corresponding with boys is because they are trying to keep them from doing something they are sure to be sorry for. If Mother could be certain that you would write to Tom, Dick or Harry about nothing except the state of the weather and the baseball games and the crowd you met at the soda fountain, she would not object.

But mother has been a girl herself and she knows that a pen in a girl's hand is just as dangerous as a loaded pistol—that it is pretty sure to go off and explode, and there is too much danger of its wrecking a young life for her to be permitted to play with it.

Mother knows that a girl makes herself cheap when she writes to a boy before he writes to her and when she writes him half-a-dozen letters to his one, and she doesn't want her little girl to do that. Mother knows that a girl will write things to a boy that she would never say to him in the world, and Mother doesn't want her daughter to throw herself at a boy's head.

And Mother knows that boys show the letters girls write them around, and she doesn't want her daughter to be subjected to the humiliation of being jeered at by other boys and girls.

So Mother is quite right when she tries to keep her 11-year-old daughter from corresponding with boys. It is one thing to say a thing and another to put it down in black and white. A great flirt once boasted that, no matter what she might have said to men, no man had ever had a scrap of her handwriting. That is a good tip for all girls.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been married six months. My Husband and I have never quarreled and have been very happy together. I cater to his moods and whims. I never scold or criticize him for things he does that I dislike. Now my sister, who has been married for a number of years, tells me that I am spoiling my husband and making a mistake by letting him have his own way, and that I should stop it. What shall I do,

TROUBLED YOUNG WIFE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Tell your sister to mind her own business and let yours alone. Every wife has to learn by experience how to get along with her husband. No two men can be managed alike, and, if you enjoy spoiling your husband and he purrs under your hand when you do it, keep up the good work.

Half-Pint Gals Called Average; Get Fashion Nod

NEW YORK —(CP)— She used to be the forgotten woman in the clothing trade—the "half-pint" of five-feet-five or less—but nowadays she's getting more of a break. The reason: discovery that she is really the average American woman.

Almost two-thirds of American women belong in this group, says the US Department of Agriculture, setting the average height a little over five-feet-three. A mere one per cent are the willowy five-feet-nine type for which Paris creations are designed, and the in-between group number 33 per cent.

Further, the statistics show that a goodly proportion of these "half-pints" are well-rounded, the type that must choose clothes carefully to avoid a dumpy appearance.

A small but growing segment of the clothing industry holds that these average women should have dresses and suits styled and designed for their taller sisters.

One of the leaders in the movement, Murray Sices of New York, says he got the idea when he was detailed to outfit the Women's Army Corps; he found that alterations entailed tremendous work and expense because uniforms had been designed for the taller-than-average girl.

Slimmer Look

Now his firm handles nothing but suits for the not-so-tall group —four-feet-nine to five-feet-five —and designs them to make the wearers look taller and slimmer.

Strangely enough, one of the snags encountered in giving the "half-pints" a break, according to Sices, is due to women's variety. They just don't want to be seen buying their clothes in departments labelled for small or plumpish women. They would rather buy regular sizes and have them altered.

So Sices, who argues that the girls will wear the "half-pint" sizes quite happily so long as the classification is not forced to their attention, is campaigning for a new approach by department stores. He wants all sizes sold in the same department, and the clerks trained to know at a glance what type the customer needs and supply it without comment.

Another New York firm, specializing in coats for the shorter group, stresses that they are designed "for the womanly woman —not for fairybook ladies, but for actual averages scored in inches and fractions from widespread surveys of women as they are."

In the trade papers, the company's advertising slogan is: "The dame who took Samson was no toothpick!"

Ancient History Brought to Life

LONDON —(CP)— Curators are making museums more attractive to youngsters and a new vogue in handling exhibits is being encouraged in Britain.

Children taken to Bruce Castle Museum in Tottenham recently for a lesson in Egyptology were given a special treat. Girls in the party were allowed to try on necklaces, rings and charms which had been worn by fashionable women in Egypt 3,000 years ago. Boys were permitted to spin a top that had once belonged to an Egyptian child and to try on face masks taken from mummies.

The Great Science Museum in South Kensington, with its ingenious working models of trains and exhibits of early flying machines and railway engines, is the delight of venturesome schoolboys. Some youngsters visit the museum every week and now some of the smaller, more delicate exhibits may be handled under the watchful eyes of officials.

For years, in all parts of Britain, parties of students, under supervision of official guides, have been permitted access to the interior of museum show-cases. Never until now, however, has such direct contact with valuable exhibits—especially by young children—been allowed.

Menus For Special Purposes

By MARY MOORE

Low Calorie Dinner

Fruit Cup: Melon balls; peach slices, dark cherries, 6 oz. 55 cal. Sweeten this with saccharin tablet dissolved in one teaspoon cold water if desired. Broiled or baked whitefish, 4 oz. 170 cal. See special note re protein below for reducers. Vegetable marrow with parsley sauce (see below), 6 oz. 20 cal. Tomato stuffed with cottage cheese, 40 cal. Cantaloupe halves filled with blueberries, 100 cal, Clear coffee, 0 cal.

High Calorie Dinner

Appetizers: Tomato juice flavored with lemon juice, cream-cheese stuffed celery stalks, sardines on crackers. Deep-fried fish fillets. Corn on the cob. Green beans with cheese sauce. Fresh raspberry pie with ice cream. Iced coffee with cream.

One-Burner Dinner

Sliced cold ham with bologna. Eggplant fried in batter. Tossed green salad with cheese French dressing. Ice cream with cantaloupes or on berries. Coffee.

Directions

One fact I have not stressed previously is along with the value of proteins for reducers they also are necessary for absorption or elimination of excess fats—so they serve two purposes for reducers, making them imperative, if good health is going to be maintained. Watch this page for more protein data shortly.

I have an interesting but not-too-nourishing sauce to give you reducers, for quite a few vegetables: In top of double boiler mix ½ cup cold water with 2 teaspoons cornstarch, 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Stir until thick over boiling water, cover and let cook 10 minutes. When ready to serve pour this over 1 beaten egg yolk and 1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley. Add pepper and salt to taste. This can be very tasty (especially for sauce-starved reducers) if you would like to add 2 tablespoons grated skim milk cheese too. This can be bought at large groceterias, wrapped in little 4-oz. cellophane bags.

A good batter for sliced raw egg plant when you deep fry it is: Combine 1 beaten egg with ¾ cup milk and 1 teaspoon melted fat. Sift into these 1 cup sifted flour, ½ teaspoon salt 1½ teaspoons baking powder. Stir until smooth. Dip in raw slices eggplant and deep fry in fat at 380 deg. Fahr. This is good for raw fish too.

COOKBOOK of the WEEK

FROM THE COLLECTION OF 24 OF THE WORLD'S GREATEST COOKBOOKS

Sponsored by this Newspaper

JUST A DASH OF PAPRIKA or cayenne gives cream of navy bean soup a dressed up touch. The Soup book is full of suggestions for soup garnishes to give glamor to an otherwise commonplace dish.

COOKBOOK OF THE WEEK

Perfect Beginning to a Meal Easy With Soup Cookbook

Start off your meals right with a satisfying, nourishing bowl of soup. There are thin soups, thick soups, cream soups, meal-in-a-dish soups, and soups to please every taste in the sixth cookbook of the Culinary Arts Institute series of 24 cookbooks which are available to you through The Examiner.

This newest book, called "250 Delicious Soups," has a host of recipes—some that are mother's old standbys, some from foreign lands, some from far corners of this country. They utilize meat, fish, poultry, vegetables, legumes, cheese, cream, or practically anything else you might have in your refrigerator. Some are long cooking and some are jiffy soups but you will want to try them all when you page through this excitingly illustrated, easy to follow cookbook.

Here is a slightly out of the ordinary recipe for navy bean soup that can be garnished with a dash of cayenne or paprika to give it a party touch to make it a welcome beginning or even mainstay of the luncheon menu:

Cream of Navy Bean Soup.

½ pound uncooked ham.
¾ cup finely chopped onions
3 quarts boiling water
1 pound navy beans
1½ teaspoons salt
Dash pepper
¼ bay leaf
Dash cayenne
1 tall can evaporated milk.

Cut ham into small bits. Cook slowly in soup kettle to try out fat, then add onions and continue cooking 5 minutes. Add boiling water and beans which have been soaked several hours or overnight and drained. Season with salt, pepper, bay leaf and cayenne. Boil gently 3 to 4 hours. Add milk just before serving.

To get this valuable Soup Book simply present one coupon from page 2 of any issue of this newspaper and 25c at The Examiner Office or to your Examiner carrier, or at Braund's Food Markets —or if you would rather send for it by mail, enclose the coupon with 30c (5c additional for postage and handling) to Cookbook Department, Examiner, Peterborough.

ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

Question: I noticed that you told a lady (I think it was Mrs. Condon) that if she wanted any further advice on Vitamins you would tell her where to write for the same. I wish you would print this information in your column please. I am very much interested in this topic, and I cut out what you printed, but it went as far as Vitamin C only. Mrs. A. N.

✧ ✧ ✧

Answer: I stopped pripting the details about vitamins after Vitamin C, and started sending the balance to Mrs Condon by direct mail, because it was taking up so much space. But subsequently have had several letters asking for continuance of this vitamin data so I am giving you some detail on Vitamin D today.

Vitamin D: This vitamin helps the absorption of calcium from the intestinal tract. The best source of calcium is milk, and it is essential for proper bone and teeth structure amongst other things. It is required to regulate the blood calcium level.

A deficiency of Vitamin D, and the one most commonly known, results in rickets. This disease is characterized by malformation of bones and teeth. Bowlegs and knock-knees, curvature of the spine, late eruption and early decay of teeth in rachitic children, loss of muscle tone are all symptoms of Vitamin D. deficiency.

Good Dietary Sources of Vitamin D are: Cod liver oil, halibut liver oil, canned tuna fish, canned salmon, manufactured Vitamin D concentrates, mackerel, herring, egg yolks.

Please note that for Vitamin D to perform its optimum function calcium must be taken in the form of generous quantities of milk, cheese, dark green vegetables, molasses, almonds.

✧ ✧ ✧

Question: I read where a lady asked you to send her your low calorie diet list. Now I have the same trouble as this lady speaks of. I have to keep on a diet pretty much all of the time and there are so many foods the doctor said I should not eat in order to keep my weight under control, so I am writing to ask you if you will please send me your calorie chart so that I can follow it and feel safe not to put on more weight.

I clipped your recipe for sweet pickles using cucumber and cauliflower (only). Tell me when you send me your low calorie chart will those pickles be just like the sweet pickles we buy and will the cauliflower be the same colour as these we buy in the stores. I never can get my cauliflower to look the same as those we buy.

Trusting to hear from you soon and receive my chart. . . I will watch for all of your pickle recipes and other recipes. Mrs. J. M.

P. S. Please send me your special recipe for Mustard Pickles.

Answer: Please see recipe for Mustard Pickles in the next 2 weeks.

As near as it is possible for sweet pickles to be made in the home like pickles manufacturers make them, the cauliflower, in the sweet pickle recipes I gave you, will be.

I have sent calorie chart by mail.

Let me know how your diet is progressing, and if you are losing or even controlling your weight. I shall be glad to help you with this problem.

Need Long Lashes In Perfect Woman

LONDON —(CP)— Blue eyes shadowed by dark, half-inch-long lashes are 20-year-old Sheena Saunders' contribution to the "perfect woman."

Nicolas Egon, 28-year-old Hampstead artist, intends building a composite portrait of a number of women to make the "perfect woman," a picture commissioned by an international cosmetic firm. He decided that he has little chance of finding one woman beautiful enough to satisfy requirements.

Sheena, his provisional choice for the eyes—"because they are the most beautiful I have seen so far"—does not yet know who will keep them company.

So far, Egon has only found a pair of shoulders he considers good enough.

Universities Decide To Advertise Vacancies

MONTREAL, Aug. 21—(CP)—Canadian universities are changing the old tradition of quiet interviews for filling faculty vacancies for a new streamlined method —advertising.

News of the change came Saturday from T. H. Matthews, registrar of McGill University and secretary of the National Conference of Canadian Universities.

He said "it takes a long time to break a habit. It will probbaly be some years before Canadian universities advertise all their vacancies."

Mrs. M. Walsh Funeral At Immaculate Church

The funeral for Mrs. Margaret Walsh was held Friday from her home, 547 Rogers St., to the Church of the Immaculate Conception for requiem mass.

The Rev. Vernon Perdue said mass and the Rev. Raymond Garvey was also in the sanctuary.

Pall bearers were Lloyd Perdue, Hosanna Vinette, William Duignan, Frank McCarthy, Louis Le Barr and Wilfred Grisdale.

Burial was in St. Peter's cemetery, where graveside prayers were said by the Rev. G. O'Sullivan assisted by the Father Garvy and Father Perdue.

Ex-Professor Dies

GUELPH, Aug. 21—(CP)—R. R. Graham, 75, retired professor of agricultural engineering at Ontario Agricultural College, died in hospital Saturday after a brief illness. Prof. Graham was born near Brockville, and joined the staff of OAC in 1910. He retired in 1942. He was an authority on rural sanitation and warm water supplies.

'Burma Surgeon' Seagrave Arrested For Aiding Rebel

By DOUGLAS LACKERSTEEN.

RANGOON, Aug. 21 (AP3. — Dr Gordon S. Seagrave, known to millions as the Burma Surgeon, has been arrested on suspicion of aiding Karen rebels, the Burmese Government disclosed today.

The U.S. embassy viewed the arrest of the 53-year-old American surgeon, who has spent a lifetime giving medical care to the Burmese people, as a serious matter. It withheld detailed comment.

Seagrave, a lieutenant-colonel in the medical corps of the U.S. Army when he accompanied the late Gen. Joseph Stilwell on his famous 1942 jungle retreat through Burma to India, was taken into custody Friday at his mission hospital at Namkham, near the Chinese-Burmese border. He was flown to Rangoon on Saturday under heavy guard and is being held at an undisclosed jail here.

No formal charges have yet been laid against Seagrave. Officials said he would appear shortly before a Burmese court.

The Karens have been fighting for two years to set up an independent state.

Gets Good Treatment

An American Embassy official said Seagrave is "in good health and receiving good treatment."

A Burmese spokesman said the government had reason to believe Seagrave helped rebel chief Naw Seng to escape across the Chinese border. Naw Seng has been charged with attempting to overthrow the Kachin State Government.

Rebels said to have been commanded by Naw Seng last September occupied Namkham, where Seagrave's famous hospital is located. It lies 80 miles north of Lashio, the starting point of the wartime Burma Road to China.

Kachin State troops drove out the rebels after a fierce battle raged around the Seagrave hospital, where the rebels were entrenched.

Seagrave, the youngest of four children, was born to an American missionary family in Tharrawaddy, South Burma, in 1897. His father, Rev. A. S. Seagrave, grandfather, great-grandfather and several aunts and uncles had been Baptist missionaries in Burma.

He came to the U.S. at the age of 12. He received his M.D. degree from Johns Hopkins in 1921 and started his mission hospital in 1922 with medical instruments discarded by a Baltimore hospital.

Seagrave's famous 1942 trek with his close friend, Gen. Stillwell, when they were pushed westward by the invading Japanese, was recounted in his best-seller, Burma Surgeon.

Children Give To Fund For Bobby Clark

WARSAW, Aug. 21 (ENS). — The children of Warsaw are donating their share to the Bobby Clark Fund sponsored by the Women's Institute. On Thursday Gary Darling, who makes his money by selling bait to tourists, donated $5 of his savings to the fund.

Bobby, who lost his left arm as the result of gangrene, is making recovery in Civic Hospital, and it is the hope of the Women's Institute that the response to the appeal may be generous enough to make his return to home life happy and comfortable.

Any donation, no matter how small, left at either Williard Darling's or W. F. Sidey's store, or the Warsaw Lunch, will be appreciated and recognized in the Examiner.

This fund will be administered by the Women's Institute to the welfare of Bobby. The list of donors thus far are:

Mrs. George Taylor $1, Thomas Rosebush $5, W. F. Sidey $5, K. J. Metcalfe 50c, Russell Gallagher 25c, Ralph Little 25c, Royden Cooper 25c, Walter Tedford 25c, Allen Moore 50c, Phil Meagher 50c, Betty Little 25c, Jean Hyslop 25c, Marion Huble 25c, Percy Drain $1, Don Sharpe $1, Albert Mace $1, Elias Thompson $2, Rodger Tedford $1, Maxwell Little 50c, Stan Payne 50c, John Bell 50c, Marmion Clements $1, Harvey Clark $1, Charles Libman $1, Cecil Bolton 50c, Gordon Hamblin $1, Norm $1, Mr. and Mrs. William Darling $5, Mrs. Dyson $1, Miss Ella Dewart $2, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Crowe $1, H. A benefit night is being prepared by the Women's Institute for Bobby Clark, and will be held in the Warsaw Arena on Aug. 29. The Canadian Legion boys' choir of 40 voices will provide the program.

This choir is competing in the musical contest at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto.

100,000 More Jobs

NEW YORK, Aug. 21—(AP)—Jobs in New York state have increased more than 100,000 since the start of the Korean war, the State Department of Labor says. Some persons have been hired for direct war work, but most have been absorbed by civilian concerns stock-piling goods against the future.

Birth Control Growth Worries Vatican

By ADRIENNE FARRELL

VATICAN CITY, Aug. 21 (Reuters).—Vatican authorities are disturbed by the increasing propaganda in favor of birth control which, despite strong church opposition, is gaining ground in many countries of Europe.

Birth control as a method of solving population problems has long been viewed in Roman Catholic circles as a "philosophy of despair based on the arithmetic of destruction."

Much of the blame for the spread of birth control is laid by Vatican circles squarely on the shoulders of the Anglo-Saxons, particularly the Americans.

The Jesuits have, in fact, accused the Americans of "exporting" birth control as doctrines to over-populated countries for the furtherance of their own interests.

Fighting Pressure

The powerful Jesuit review, Civilta Cattolica, said in a recent article that the U.S. is exporting the "pseudo-scientific solution" of birth control to keep the "prolific nations of Europe and Asia from exerting pressure" on under-populated American "dominions."

The increase in population during the last 50 years is admittedly startling. Since 1900, world population has gone up by nearly 50 per cent—from 1,608,000,000 to 2,403,000,000.

Alarmists maintain the world cannot feed more than 3,000,000,000 people—a figure which at the present rate would be reached within the century. Other statisticians maintain that the earth can support 9,792,000,000 people — which would at least give humanity a little more breathing space.

In any case, Roman Catholic circles believe the artificial suppression of population growth is no answer to the demographic problems either of today or tomorrow. They say population tendencies are eminently unstable and trends cannot be followed through to their logical arithmetical conclusion.

American Geographical Society Preparing An Atlas Of Disease

NEW YORK, Aug. 21 —(AP)— An atlas of disease has been started by the American Geographical Society as a new approach to health.

Already the society has made a world map of polio, the first in a projected series of 25. Next is cancer.

This attempt to throw the geography book at human ills is looked upon by its director, Dr. Jacques M. May, as a military necessity as well as a great chance to advance basic knowledge.

"The society had a similar idea in 1944," he explains. "Now the pressure of events has forced on us an urgent study of these matters. We have to sum up our knowledge on the distribution of disease throughout the world since any area may become a battlefield."

Paris-born and educated, he formerly was a professor of surgery in French Indo-China and a medical officer in Southeast Asia, Central Africa, Europe and the Caribbean region. Now he is a lecturer at New York University.

Product of Soil

"There is no other such concentrated study as this," he said in an interview. "It used to be that one of the few things known about a disease was where it occurred. Then, after the discovery of germs, interest in the geography factor dropped. Now we realize more and more that disease is a product of the soil."

Polio was mapped first because of its relative simplicity, although you wouldn't believe it to glance at the map. As big as a desk top and showing the whole world in sections, it indicates with red lines, dots and grids the regions where polio epidemics have occurred this century, when they occurred and how serious they were.

The highly-civilized parts of North America and Europe have had more polio epidemics than other regions. In primitive countries, Dr. May believes, the disease is present but does not flare up in big epidemics. It looks as though the virus is so common that everybody gets a chance to develop immunity at an early age. In advanced regions, people seem to encounter the virus late in life, with the result that public immunity is slow in developing.

If he can raise some $58,000, Dr. May hopes to map the 25 diseases in two or three years and then go on to 25 more. The maps are to be published for

Death Toll 19 In Accidents Over Weekend

By The Canadian Press

Traffic accidents killed 11 persons in Eastern Canada during the weekend. Four more were drowned.

The Canadian Press counted a total of 19 accidents and violent deaths Saturday and Sunday. Nine were in Ontario, nine in Quebec and one in the Maritimes.

Seven persons were killed in Quebec traffic accidents, one was drowend and one died in hospital as a result of an accident at work.

In Ontario, four were killed in traffic accidents, three were drowned, one killed by a train and one found dead in a car.

Three of the Quebec traffic deaths resulted when a carload of United States tourists from Rochester, N.Y., plunged into the Soulanges Canala near Coteau Landing. The dead were: Verino Patrick Ranalli, 24, his 27-year-old wife Mary, and his 20-months-old son, Jock.

In Maniwaki, Que., Gerald Emond, 27, was arrested on a coroner's warrant after a jury held him criminally responsible for a three-car collision in which Gerard Barnabe, 22 months, was killed. Five persons were injured in the collision.

Strike Truck

When a car hit the rear of a truck near Rouyn, Que., Raymond Berey, 19, was killed and four persons were injured. All were riding in the car.

The victims of traffic accidents in Ontario were: Arthur Luce, 31, knocked down and killed by a truck near Nipigon, Ont.; Eldon Baechler, 22, of Kitchener, driver of a car which collided with a bus near Georgetown Saturday; and Robert Ableson, 25, of Galt, passenger on a motorcycle that skidded off the highway and crashed into a tree Saturday night near Galt.

Near Atherley, at the northern end of Lake Simcoe, the body of a man tentatively identified as Norman Aflagsen, 34, whose address was not known, was found beneath a railway bridge.

Falls In Canal

At Port Colborne, Howard Sturgeon, 11, tripped and fell into the Welland Canal while running across a bridge. The body of Archie Sirois, 26, was found in the St. Clair River near Sarnia and police said he had apparently thrown himself into the river. He apparently fell from the bidge when trapped by a train. John Sauve, three-year-old son of an Ontario Provincial Police constable, slipped off a dock and drowned in front of his parents home at Trout Lake.

In Toronto, a Canadian Pacific Railway brakeman, John Ball, stepped into the path of a moving train and was killed. An inquest was ordered into the death of Maurice John Flood, 21, whose body was found in the back seat of a car at his home near Monkton. There was no immediate explanation of his death.

Allies Planning Propaganda Drive Shortly

By SIGRID ARNE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP) —Behind the scenes the free nations of the world are talking over a United States plan to tie together a propaganda campaign to counter the daily flood of words from Communist press and radio.

The United States will place its proposal formally before an emergency meeting of the executive board of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization in Paris Aug. 26.

Should UNESCO approve—and chances look good—it would be two or three months before the campaign could get down to the grass roots—to the brown, black, yellow and white peoples of the world—into such far reaches as Afghanistan and French Equatorial Africa.

The means are not only at hand but they have been charted. UNESCO has listed the newspapers, privately-owned radio stations and seating capacity of motion picture theatres in the world. All could be used.

But the job of telling the world about the Un campaign will be spotty. Here are some of the weak and strong points in the free-nation communications line around the world as UNESCO found them in May:

A Lot Of Papers

The world's people—2,351,113,000 of them—have 218,764,700 daily newspapers distributed, 160,000,000 radio sets and motion picture theatres with 44,375,000 seats.

To tie the whole communications system of the free world together—faulty as it is in spots—the U.S., working through UNESCO, has some high hurdles to take. The British Labor government says it thinks the free-world propaganda program should be conducted through the United Nations itself, not a UN agency such as UNESCO.

U.S. experts believe, however, that the 53 UN member states that have voted official support of UN action in Korea will be eager to have the story told.

Macken Takes Tennis Crown

QUEBEC, Aug. 21 (CP) — Clean-cut strokes and bull's-eye accuracy Sunday gave Brendan Macken, Davis Cup team player, the 1950 men's Canadian tennis crown.

The 27-year-old unranked Montrealer defeated left-handed Henri Rochon, Canada's official No. 1 performer and 1949 champion, in decisive fashion, 6-0, 6-0, 6-3.

Their finals match, expected to be the high spot of the Canadian tennis championships, in which weather forced postponement of finals from Saturday to Sunday, turned out to be a rout that took less than an hour.

Macken, who breezed into the finals losing only one set in five matches, played almost faultless tennis while Montrealer Rochon, unable to get his usual snappy game going, was outclassed on the court as well as the score sheet.

Union Enquiry To Be Held Over Newspaper

GLACE BAY, N.S., Aug. 21 — (CP)—There is going to be a union enquiry into charges that President Freeman Jenkins of District 26, United Mine Workers (CCL) was the "secret owner" of the now-defunct Glace Bay Gazette, it was learned Saturday.

A commission from the union's international office began sittings Thursday into charges against Jenkins, president of the 1,300-member Maritime district.

The commission originally came here to review circumstances of the recent district election, when Jenkins was returned by acclamation after ruling his only opponent ineligible. The opponent, Bob Stewart, who had been dismissed previously by Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation, held an executive position in a a union local.

The Gazette, which was Canada's only Labor daily, was sold by District 26 in 1948 to a group of employees. It was repurchased by the district in 1949 and closed down.

Used Threats

James P. MacNeil charged secretary of Local 16 that in 1948 the paper was actually sold to Jenkins, who acquired the controlling shares by threats. MacNeil said these threats were that Jenkins would use his influence to have the paper sold if certain employees of the Gazette did not assist him in becoming the secret owner of 51 per cent of the shares.

He also charged Jenkins negotiated the repurchase of the Gazette from its employees in 1949 without disclosing to the board that he was acting on his own behalf.

No Two Cities Less Reluctant To Double Their Population

By JACK SCOTT

PORT ARTHUR, Ont.—Probably no two cities in the world are as reluctant to double their population overnight as Port Arthur and Fort William.

When a visitor to these twin lakehead ports gets around to using the word "amalgamation" —as visitors inevitably do—he can expect some pained looks from the natives of either burg. These cities are like Siamese twins, joined at the ribs, but each insistent on living his own life as much as the other fellow will permit.

The question comes up in the mind of every transient because, on the surface, it seems the most logical thing in the world to make the two into one.

The visitor sees two city-operated bus lines, each of which goes into the opposition territory, and a duplication of police and fire departments, water and power, and nearly everything else.

Of the service clubs only Kinwanis is inter-city and weekly luncheons are carefully arranged to alternate between Port and Fort. The daily newspapers in each city—Port Arthur's News-Chronicle and Fort William's Times-Journal—stay pretty much on their own side of the fence and make no real effort to sell in "enemy" territory.

There is a four-mile no-man's-land between the cities, but the casual visitor is aware of passing from one to the other only by an archway erected by Port Arthur and offering "many happy returns" presumably from Fort William.

War On Ice

The interested visitor moving around in both cities soon discovers that each has its own individual personality and too, that there's a very keen sense of rivalry.

"Amalgamate these towns and you'd automatically slow them down," a drug store manager in Fort William told me. "Both places are booming now and it's partly because we've got a Keep-Up-With-the-Joneses outlook. Port gets a new Legion Hall? Why, Fort William's got to get one or be shown up. Works that way right down the line.

"Of course," he went on, "we haven't got the same kind of rivalry we had in the old days. I remember the hockey games in the old days. One whole side of the arena would be filled with Port Arthur fans, other side with Fort William rooters. When a goal was scored it was something to hear the roar from one side and the booing from the other. And when one team won the series the winning town would organize a cavalcade of cars and triumphantly invade the other town with their horns blaring. Always surprised me that we got through a season without bloodshed."

Some indication of a certain jealousy between the cities occurred only recently when the Port Arthur city council decided to change the name of its Fort William Road.

The decision was not without reason. A good many industries are located on this thoroughfare and the address, "Fort William Road, Port Arthur," was causing some understandable confusion in the mails. It seemed a logical idea to change the name to "Industrial Road."

The aggrieved howl that went up from the neighboring city was prompt and vociferous and Port Arthur, in the spirit of good-neighborliness which is strictly observed on the surface, decided to let things remain as they were, a cause for some quiet satisfaction in the sister city.

Two Types

Physically, the two cities are as unlike as if they were a hundred miles apart. Fort William, with a population of 35,000, is the larger by 4,000, and is, in fact, not a lake city, but a river city since its elevators and warehouses front on the Kaministiquia. It is built on low flat ground which Port Arthurites refer to, sotto voce, as "the frog pond."

Fort William's populace are proudest of their new industries and of a go-getting, aggressive business spirit. Three different people I interviewed told me with quiet glee of how, in a recent inter-city service club festival the Fort William club had to take the unsold Port Arthur tickets and get rid of them.

Will Goodman, editor of the Times-Journal, thinks it goes deeper than that. "I think of Fort William as having the spirit of the new west," he told me, "and Port Arthur of being more representative of the established east." In its own subtle way this may be the unkindest cut of all.

Port Arthur's citizens, on the other hand, have undeniably the more attractive town since it is built on a hill looking out to Lake Superior's Thunder Bay, and are sure to bring up the fact that many a successful Fort William businessman has his home in Port Arthur.

Occasionally this unique relationship works out to mutual advantage. Some years ago, for instance, in a moment of lofty resolve Fort William decided by plebiscite that their fair city would never again permit a touring carnival to set up shop in its precincts.

This might have left the current inter-city Diamond Jubilee Exhibition without thrill rides, sideshows and a midway, but fortunately the dividing line between the two cities runs smack through the centre of the fair grounds. Royal American Shows simply set up their carney on the Port Arthur half.

Balzac Writing, Debts Prodigious

NEW YORK, Aug. 21 (AP). — Women and debts, and a lot of each . . . Those are the most popular angles in the story of Honore de Balzac, the most Bohemian and, excepting possibly Stendhal, the greatest 19th-century French novelist.

He died 100 years ago. Stefan Zweig, in his "Balzac," says death occurred 100 years ago Aug. 17 at 10:30 in the evening. The Encyclopaedia Britannica gives the same day, puts the hour at 11:30. Another reference work claims he died Aug. 18, and three others say it was Aug. 20.

But everyone agrees about the novelist's fantastic spendthrift ways. When he was only 26, he owed 15,000 francs; at 29, it was 100,000; at 38, it was 140,000. Like his contemporary Wagner, he spent years dodging the sheriff.

King Jails Him

Once he rented three Paris apartments, only one in his name, and two of them had secret stairways just in case. His creditors, by some fate, never clapped him into jail. It took his king to do that; for refusing to submit to Louis-Philippe's conscription laws and don the National Guard uniform, he was imprisoned a week.

Some debts were for love affairs, but always money poured down the sewer for rash publishing ventures, attempts to run print shops and magazines, investments in silver mines in Sardinia, in gardening, or one of those canes which dazzled his vast admiring public in Paris, Vienna, or the cities of Italy.

His well-to-do bourgeois parents wanted him to study law. He stuck it as long as he could, then determined to write. They gave him a miserly allowance for two years, with the understanding that if that didn't make him rich and famous, he'd quit. That was their understanding, not his, and he kept at it, soon making a comfortable living with the trashiest kind of pot-boiling.

He was more than 30 before he began to turn out the masterpieces . . . "Louis Lambert," "La Cousine Bette," or the vast "Human Comedy" in which we see a total of some 2,000 characters taken from private, political, provincial, Parisian, military and rural life and spread through nearly 50 volumes.

He was a man of prodigious, unbelievable energy, who could, and had to, work 10 and 15 hours at a stretch.

THE SMILING QUARTETTE, (top), captured the Dominion junior relay championship in Verdun, Que., pool, beating all comers from the far west and Ontario. Left to right. Miss Lacombe also won the junior 200-yard breaststroke title. These relay champions will be after more laurels in the Provincial meet which currently opens at Lac Beauport. Charges Gov't Keeping Report

KITCHENER, Aug. 21—(CP)—Eamon Park, CCF member of the legislature for Toronto Dovercourt, said Saturday the Ontario government "is withholding from the public" the report of a Royal Commission which studied the Workmen's Compensation Act.

The report, by Mr. Justice W. D. Roach, of the Ontario Supreme Court, was presented to the government at least two months ago, Mr. Park told the Ontario Council of the United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO).

". . . I am beginning to wonder if the report does not contain a number of recommendations of which the government is afraid."

Make 2 Major Moves To Prevent Inflation

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP) — The United States government made two major moves Friday to prevent inflation as a result of its stepped-up defence drive.

1. The Federal Reserve Board approved a rise in the discount rate of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York from 1½ per cent to 1¾ per cent. This is intended to restrict bank credit.

2. Treasury Secretary John Snyder announced that insurance companies, savings banks and other "institutional" investors may buy up to $1,100,000 worth of Series F and G government bonds this year. The former limit was $100,000.

Omemee Society Wins Kingsway Trip

OMEMEE, Aug. 21—(ENS)—The Kingsway Cup has come again to the Omemee and District Horticultural Society. This cup is an award given at the district flower show to the society, other than the society where the show is held, which obtains the highest number of points.

In 1944 Omemee won the cup at Lindsay, in 1945 they brought it from Bobcaygeon, and in 1946 from Peterborough. In 1947 the show was in Omemee, and Lindsay won the cup. The Newcastle show this year was the first since 1947.

Although the Omemee Society has a membership of 105, Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt alone exhibited, and won the cup single-handed. Furthermore, he prepared his exhibits all in one forenoon.

Liberal Nomination Sought By Hazelwood

PORT COLBORNE, Aug. 21—(CP)—Harvey E. Hazelwood, of Port Colborne, announced Friday he will seek the liberal nomination in the federal by-election expected in October to fill the seat vacated by the death of former Labor Minister Humphrey Mitchell.

Mr. Hazelwood is president of the Welland constituency Federal Liberal Association, vice-president of the Southern Liberal Association and of the Ontario Liberal Association. He was campaign manager for Mr. Mitchell in the last federal election campaign.

Distressed Swimmers By Dozen Want To Be Saved By Girl Guards

By SAUL PETT

HARMON, NY, Aug. 21 (AP)—If all the distress calls at the neary Croton Point Park beach were legitimate, the drowning toll would be staggering.

But mostly the calls for help are simply the baying of wolves.

The explanation: all the lifeguards at Croton are girls—young girls, pretty girls, shapely girls. According to the American Red Cross, it is the only public swimming place in the United States with an all-female lifeguard staff.

"Out of 20 yelling for help, I'd say 19 were faking," says Irene Hallstein, blonde, 17-year-old chief guard. "And it's not just the boys who try to get us to come out after them. Married men and middle-aged men try the same trick."

The eight girl lifeguards, who range in age from 16 to 19, have learned to distinguish between the fakers and those really in trouble. The fakers, it seems, make too much noise about going under.

Croton Beach, operated by the Westchester County Park Commission, began using female guards in 1944, when manpower was in short supply.

"We liked them so much we just kept on using girls after the war," says park superintendent Earl Clark. "We found them more efficient, more conscientious. The male guards too often were distracted by the feminine customers."

The girls haven't lost a life yet. Matter of fact, there hasn't been a fatality at the beach since 1924, Clark said.

On a busy weekend day, there are as many as 2,000 persons in the water and about a dozen legitimate cases of people in distress. But so far, in seven years, not one of the girls has had to get wet in pulling anybody out. All rescues have been made by boat.

Too Many Volunteers

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Aug. 21—(Reuters)—Tom MacDonald, New Zealand defence minister, said in a statement today that many more men than were required had volunteered for service in Korea. He said the New Zealand contingent which is to serve with American ground forces in Korea would go into training camps Aug. 29. In selecting men for the force the army had given preference to single men under 27.

RECALL PARLIAMENT

Last-Minute Offer Made By Railways

Grant 40-Hr. Week Under 3-Yr. Contract Effective Oct. 1951

MONTREAL, Aug. 22—(CP)—Coinciding with the walkout today of their 124,000 non-operating personnel, the railways made public an 11th-hour offer, based on a three-year contract, that failed to halt the strike ordered by 15 International and two Canadian unions.

The 40-hour week—with 48 hours' pay—demanded by the workers was granted, but not to become effective until Oct. 1, 1951.

A four cents an hour wage increase was offered effective next Sept. 1—10 days beyond the strike deadline—with the stipulation that such increases be graduated "as mutually agreed."

In consideration of a three-year contract, the companies offered a cost-of-living bonus by which each rise of one per cent in the cost of living above the index for Oct. 1, 1951, would be compensated "by a bonus, say, of two-thirds cents per hour."

The companies' statement said that since unions' rejection of an offer Aug. 10, based on "the ultimate" the railways "could justify in their own and the public interest," the railways "have anxiously considered their position with a view to trying to suggest some other basis of settlement that could be supported as still being fair and reasonable to both parties . . ."

Final Offer

In brief, the Aug. 10 "final offer," as stated at that time, was: a 44-hour week, instead of the present 48-hour week, with a 9.1 per-cent increase in basic wage of 8½ cents an hour for the present 48-hour week, approximately equivalent in expenses to the 44-hour week.

The railways at that time also recognized "a moral obligation to implement the 40-hour week at the appropriate time."

That was the counter-offer to the workers' demands for a 40-hour week, plus increases of seven

GOVERNMENT MEDIATOR—Dr. William A. Mackintosh, vice-president of Queen's University, Kingston, was the federal government's mediator who made an 11th-hour attempt to avert the Canadian railway strike. Some 124,000 non-operating railway employees went out on strike today after fruitless negotiations between both Canadian railway companies in Montreal.

Plane Engine Breaks Away Over Rockies Big Aircraft Lands With 1 Dead, 7 Hurt

DENVER, Aug. 22 (AP). — The cabin of an American Airlines plane was ripped open when an engine broke away high over the Colorado Rockies early today and the big ship landed here with one dead and seven injured—one a Torontonian.

The four-engine DC-6 was bound from Los Angeles to Chicago, carrying 52 passengers and a crew of five at 21,000 feet near Eagle, Colo., when the right inboard engine broke from its wing moorings.

Part of the propeller or a piece of the shattered engine slashed through the top of the passenger compartment, tearing a hole about four by eight feet over the forward three rows of seats and releasing the air from the pressurized cabin.

Pilot R. K. Baker brought the ship about 100 miles into Denver airport in 19 minutes, landing without further trouble.

The injured were treated at hospital and released. They included Sugar Messinger, 20, of Toronto who suffered slight facial cuts and burns.

A preliminary examination of the dead man, Jack Kreboy, 54, of Los Angeles, disclosed no sign of injury and it was believed he died of a heart attack.

UN Troops Slam Back Enemy Units Near Pusan

TOKYO, Aug. 22—(AP)—American infantrymen slammed back a North Korean advance on the gateways to Pusan port today and wiped out a Communist roadblock infiltration under artillery fire 10 miles from Taegu. These were the day's fiercest blazing actions on the 120-mile battlefront.

Allied fighting men and tanks held firm or counter-attacked all along the line against the combined weight of nine enemy divisions—90,000 men—stacked up with armor to drive on Taegu and Pusan.

The fighting on the south coastal approaches to Pusan, No 1 Allied seaport on the southeast tip of the peninsula, roared for the third successive day.

Three times the attacking Reds were beaten back on the blood-stained road.

Driven Off Ridge

First, the U.S. 35th regiment drove a numerically superior North Korean force off a key ridge near Chungam, 35 miles west of Pusan.

Then Negro troops of the 24th regiment recaptured nearby "Battle Mountain" for the fifth time in four days. And troops from Hawaii fought their way back to commanding heights of the Sobuk Hills near Tundok, just south of Chungam.

Stan Swinton, Associated Press correspondent, reported from the southern front that the 25th division regained all the ground lost previously to attacking troops of the Red Korean 6th division.

Swinton's dispatch was timed after the U.S. Eighth Army communique released at 8:10 p.m. Tuesday (6:10 a.m. EDT), which said the Hawaii force was attacking a hill lost to the Reds Monday.

Tanks Turn Back Attack

North of Taegu, 45-ton Pershing tanks drove back a Red assault led by nine tanks in the fourth day of continual thrusts at the central front Allied supply base.

AP correspondent Don Whitehead, with the U.S. 27th regiment before Taegu, said American tank crews knocked out two Russian-made T-34 tanks and American artillery polished off two more in a two-hour battle that kicked back a Red battalion.

Then the Americans whirled to knock out the Communist road-

Egyptian Breaks Channel Record Made In 1926

DOVER, Kent, Aug. 22—(AP)—An Egyptian and a French swimmer broke the record in quick succession today in a mass race across the English channel from France.

Despite rain and choppy seas, Hassan Abd-el Rehim, 42-year-old Egyptian army officer, and Roger Le Morvan, 26-year-old French swimming champion, plowed across to break the old record of 11 hours and five minutes set in 1926 by Frenchman Georges Michel. Twenty-four swimmers took part in the race.

The Egyptian hit the Dover coast first. His time was 10 hours and 52 minutes for the tortuous 19-mile course, 13 minutes better than the 1926 mark. As he came out of the water today he said:

"I feel very good. I'm not tired at all. I'm ready to swim back."

Another Egyptian, Mareen Hassah Hamad, 33, also an army officer, was reported close to shore.

Led the Field

Rehim led the field almost from the moment they jumped in at Cap Gris Nez in the darkness.

The Egyptian landed at almost the same spot where Florence Chadwick, 31-year-old San Diego typist, finished Aug. 8 in a swim that broke women's record.

Rehim was one of 24 swimmers from 12 countries who dived into the channel on the French side for a mass race through rain and choppy seas. Half way across the tortuous 19-mile route to Dover, 12 of the 24 starters had dropped out from cold and exhaustion.

For Rehim, it was the third crossing of the channel. Last year he became the third man to swim the channel in both directions. For his feat today, Rehim won a prize of £1,000 ($3,100). The race was sponsored by the London Daily Mail.

U.S. Tourists Set Ontario Record

TORONTO, Aug. 22 — (CP) — More United States tourists visited Ontario in July than in any previous month on record, the Ontario Department of Travel and Publicity reported Monday night. The total was 296,761, compared with the previous high of 285,494 in July, 1949.

Tourist traffic for the first seven months was up over last year by 12,635 cars. The total to the end of July this year was 640,905; for the same time in 1949 it was 628,270.

Indications are that August should see little slackening off, according to Deputy Travel Minister McCall. The department is making a special effort to stimulate late summer and autumn trade. To beat last year's record, Ontario must attract more than 1,200,000 U.S. car parties.

One black mark on the tourist record this year, according to Mr. McCall, is the number of complaints from American visitors about attempts to withhold from them the exchange on their money. The Ontario department has turned over numerous cases to the Foreign Exchange Control Board.

"Chiselling for 50 cents on a $5 transaction can cost us thousands of dollars in good-will and future business," Mr. McCall said. "A few of these people, and they are relatively scarce, can destroy our reputation for fair dealing and honest value."

Million Damage In Hurricane

HALIFAX, Aug. 22 (CP). — A Lunenburg, N. S., fishing vessel, reported missing following yesterday's tropical hurricane, has turned up safe but a Newfoundland craft was still overdue today.

The hurricane whirled along the Atlantic seaboard with winds of 100 miles an hour and did more than $1,000,000 damage in Nova Scotia.

Three vessels at first were reported missing but two now have been accounted for.

Still missing is the L. A. Dunton, last reported on the Grand Banks and not heard from since the hurricane swept through the area last night. A search was being organized at Louisburg, N. S.

The Lunenburg craft Fairmorse also had been reported missing but radioed to her owners today that she has suffered no damage.

Continuous efforts to contact the two ships by wireless failed.

Ashore, the heaviest damage from the storm was in Nova Scotia's Annapolis Valley apple belt where preliminary estimates placed the damage at $500,000.

Some growers, preparing for harvesting in two weeks time of the 1,200,000-barrel crop, reported losses ranging up to 50 per cent.

St. Laurent Orders MP's Return

Will Fly Men Back To Act Quickly In Serious Crisis

OTTAWA, Aug. 22—(CP)—Parliament is being summoned urgently to Ottawa to act on the rail strike crisis, Prime Minister St. Laurent announced today.

The move apparently represented the full extent to which the government is prepared to go at present on the strike, for the Prime Minister disclosed to further plans and said he wants parliament to share responsibility for any action.

Declaring that a "serious emergency" would quickly develop out of the tie-up that began this morning, Mr. St. Laurent said Parliament is being called to meet "at once."

This meant the members—originally scheduled to meet in the fall on the Korean situation — probably would assemble in a matter of days.

Immediate preparations were launched for an RCAF-Trans-Canada Air Lines airlift to speed them to the Capital.

Announce Date Soon

The Prime Minister said the date of the opening may be announced later today or tomorrow as soon as transportations arrangements have been made.

The Prime Minister's announcement was made in a 200-word typewritten statement at the end of a 1½-hour Cabinet session this morning—the latest in a long series of emergency Cabinet meetings held as the rail deadlock developed to a climax.

The statement contained no specific information beyond the bare announcement of the summoning of Parliament. Members of the Cabinet hustled off to their offices from the meeting before they could be approached for details.

However, an indication that the government would lay some program before Parliament was contained in the announcement.

In dealing with the emergency, it said: "The government will have to act to protect the vital interests of the whole national community."

To Protect Interests

It added: "Whatever action the government may have to take will be intended solely to protect the vital interests of the whole Canadian people."

But after referring to "government" action, the statement went on to say Parliament is being

World Bank Loans 100 Million To Aussies

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22—(AP)—The world bank today made a loan of $100,000,000 to Australia.

The loan, the first made by the bank to Australia and the first to any southwest Pacific country, will be used for development projects, both private and governmental, in the next two years.

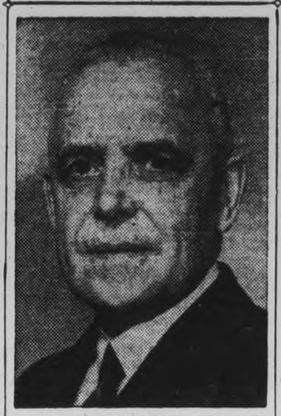
Eugene R. Black, president of the bank, announced also that the bank has indicated to the Australian government that it is willing in principle, to make further loans during the next five years

Camper Badly Burned In Small Tent Fire

PORT COLBORNE, Ont., Aug. 22—(CP)—John Millane, 25, of Buffalo, N.Y., suffered extensive burns about the body when fire broke out today in a small tent in which he was camping at Sherkston, seven miles east of here.

He was taken to hospital at Fort Erie, where his condition was described as "fairly satisfactory."

Dr. C. A. Richardson of Ridgeway said that Millane, a medical student, was unable to say how the fire started.



ACTING SWIFTLY in face of the national emergency caused by the rail strike, Prime Minister St. Laurent has recalled parliament immediately.

2 Battalions Commandos UK-Korean Force

HONG KONG, Aug. 22 (AP). —Two crack British infantry battalions and a small Royal Marine Commando unit were assigned Monday to join United Nations forces in Korea.

They are in addition to the self-contained force for Korea which Defense Minister Emanuel Shinwell promised in parliament last month. He said it would include infantry armour, artillery, engineers and administrative backing.

A party of British liaison officers will leave today by plane for Tokyo to prepare for the transfer of the infantry battalions.

The two battalions, some 1,500 strong, are of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders and the Middlesex regiments. They will become the first United Nations ground troops to join the Americans and South Koreans in the defense of Korea.

Flown To Korea

In London, the Admiralty said Monday night the marine commando unit will soon be flown to Korea, possibly arriving there at the same time as the infantry force. The Admiralty did not announce the size and composition of the unit.

A British Army spokesman said here the battalions have the finest military history and are keen to see action.

He said they were strictly infantry and would take automatic weapons, mortars and rifles, but no heavy equipment.

The spokesman said the troops reacted wonderfully when they got their assignment Monday.

The units were assigned after Gen. Sir John Harding had announced in Singapore that a British infantry force would be sent to Korea immediately.

A Nice Record

TOKYO, Aug. 22 (Reuters).—Royal Australian Air Force Mustangs have destroyed 32 tanks, 145 trucks and two locomotives, it was announced today. They smashed 17 other vehicles, four bridges 10 ammunition dumps and two large boats. The Mustangs today strafed Communist troops and destroyed two tanks.

Railway Strike On Halt Train Traffic Pickets Go On Duty

Last-Minute Meetings Continue Till 5:30 a.m. But No Agreement Reached; Many Ontario Centres Feeling Pinch of Cutoff

MONTREAL, Aug. 22—(CP)—The crippling hand of a country-wide strike by 124,000 non-operating employees gripped Canada's railways early today when efforts to mediate a multi-million dollar wages-and-hours dispute collapsed. Across the land the strike began at 6 a.m. local time. In Newfoundland, on the Dominion's eastern fringe and the area first affected, it started even earlier when unions decided to heed the strike call on the basis of daylight time.

In most other localities standard time, the usual operational time of the railways, governed what the unions have described as a "tactful withdrawal" from service.

In Ontario members of non-operating unions left their posts on the two national lines—Canadian National and Canadian Pacific—and took up picket duty outside railway buildings.

The strike also affected the Ontario Northland Railway which served the gold mining communities in the northeastern fringe of the province. The Northland is owned by the Ontario government.

Grind To Halt

Rail traffic, reduced in advance in preparation for the strike, ground to a halt. Telegraph communication ended.

Toronto's Union Station, probably Canada's busiest, was quiet as a tomb. Monday it was a hive of activity as the approaching strike deadline brought a heavy volume of traffic. The huge yards, through which trains move by the hundreds every day, were still.

Activity in the Toronto yards continued past the strike deadline. Employees handled late-arriving passenger trains from Ottawa, Montreal, Winnipeg, Vancouver, Sault Ste. Marie, Sudbury, Chicago-Sarnia-London, Hamilton, Timmins-North Bay, Detroit-London-Stratford.

But after the last one at 9:50 a.m. EDT, police had orders to lock the big station and check everyone entering or leaving.

Railway workers said the strike would be fully effective at the Toronto station and yards at 10 a.m.

Eleventh-hour mediation efforts which started in Montreal last Saturday ended at 5.25 a.m. EDT.

At that time, after a day and night of hurried, high-tension conferences, union leaders left their longest meeting with the special federal mediator, Dr. W. A. Mackintosh, and said: "That's all—no settlement."

Statement Later

Union heads indicated labor statements might be forthcoming later.

"The strike is on," said A. R. Mosher, head of two Canadian unions involved, when mediation efforts broke down.

Czechs Blaming U.S. For War In Korean Zone

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP).—Czechoslovakia and Communist China Monday joined in Russia's campaign to blame the United States both for the war in Korea and for the procedural stalemate in the United Nations.

Anti-American blasts by these two governments were received here as the Security Council once again failed in a closed-door session to break the deadlock over Korean representation in U.N. debate.

Chou En-lai, foreign minister of the Red Peiping regime, demanded in a cable to A. Malik, president of the council for August, that Red China and Red North Korea be given seats in the current talks.

Inject Formosa

Chou also injected the Formosan question into the council by charging the United States "invaded the territory of the People's Republic of China, Taiwan (Formosa) with her Seventh Fleet, attempting thereby to enlarge the war and attain her goal of subjugating Asia." Formosa is the last major stronghold of the Chinese Nationalists.

Viliam Siroky, Czechoslovakia's foreign minister, also called for the seating of a North Korean representative.

A similar demand was received late last week from the Polish Government. All three of these messages repeated Russia's charges of inhuman and barbarous bombing of Korean civilians by the United States and called for U.N. action to stop such bombings.

Farm Ministers Plan Conference

TORONTO, Aug. 22 — (CP) — Canada's 10 agriculture ministers will stage their first formal get-together in 33 years here next week to thresh out some common problems. Marketing and research are expected to be the main topics.

The conference, expected to become an annual affair, will be held Aug. 28-30. It coincides with the Canadian National Exhibition so delegates can inspect agricultural displays.

The first two days will see the delegates divided into three sections, ministers, deputy ministers, and senior officials meeting separately. All three will meet together on the final day to pool their findings.

48-Hour Plan For RCAF Airlift

VICTORIA, B.C., Aug. 22—(CP)—A round-trip every 48 hours is planned for the RCAF Korean airlift operations from Tacoma, Wash., External Affairs Minister Pearson said Monday.

"Our boys have got a back-breaking schedule now," he said, "and this sounds almost impossible—this 48-hour plan."

It was understood the Canadian North Star aircraft carrying supplies for the Korean fight now are making the round trip in 58 hours.

Bus Drivers Strike Illegal, Union Says

OSHAWA, Aug. 22 (CP). — Bus drivers and maintenance men of the Oshawa Street Railway Company walked off the job today in what union officials described as "an illegal strike."

Eighty-four drivers and maintenance men, members of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway and Motor Coach Employees, left their jobs at 7 a.m. EDT after providing service for about an hour.

Dorland Windover, president of union Local 1255, said the strike is illegal. It tied up transportation facilities of this city of about 30,000.

Although the railway company is owned by the Canadian National Railways, the union is not one of the 15 international unions which went on a country-wide strike today against the CNR and the Canadian Pacific Railway.

UN To Need More Funds If Cross 38th Parallel

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22—(AP)—Should the United Nations decide to push its police action in Korea north of the 38th parallel, more United States funds may be required than the $10,500,000,000 which President Truman has asked.

Defence Secretary Louis Johnson estimates that the Korean fighting may end about February. He predicted that guess, however, on a campaign to push the Communists back only to their pre-war border.

Whether the U.N. police action will stop at the 38th parallel or shove on into North Korea in an effort to crush the Communist army presumably has not been determined.

High-Command planning —at least up until late in July—was based on an assumption that the war would not be carried north of the 38th parallel.

These estimates came to light today with release of testimony given by military leaders last month before a House of Representatives appropriations subcommittee in behalf of the President's request for new funds for military spending.

Johnson's disclosure of the plans was given July 25, 11 days before President Truman was asked at a press conference if U.N. police action in Korea would end at the 38th parallel, which divides North and South Korea. The President replied that decision would be made when it became necessary.

The defence secretary was asked by Chairman George Mahon (Dem., Tex.) of the sub-committee how much of the supplementary money would be needed to fight the Korean war.

Johnson spoke of various unknown factors in making such an estimate.

More US Railway Workers Striking In Key Centres

WASHINGTON Aug. 22 (AP)—More railway workers went on strike in the United States today, ignoring a White House plea to stay on the job.

The new strikes are in Pittsburgh and Chicago.

Like those called Monday in Louisville, Cleveland and Minneapolis-St. Paul, these are five-day token strikes. The idea is to call attention to a wage-hour dispute that has dragged on for 17 months.

All the strikes are comparatively small, but they are in such key spots union leaders have estimated they will put 50,000 men out of work.

An attempt to settle the dispute Monday night dragged on until after midnight—but got nowhere.

Nevertheless President Truman's top labor negotiator, John R. Steelman, said he would call the unions and railroads together again today for further talks.

There still was no indication that Truman planned to seize the roads.

Steelman said he had specifically requested the unions to call off their strikes, but that they refused.

The two striking unions ordered employees to walk out at 6 a.m. local time on two important short-line railways feeding big industrial plants in Chicago and Pittsburgh. They said it would make 50,000 workers idle.

That was the same hour some 124,000 non-operating Canadian railroads started leaving their jobs in support of their wage-hour demands.

France Will Send Troops To Korea

PARIS, Aug. 22—(Reuters)—The French government today decided to send ground troops to aid United Nations forces in Korea.

The Council of ministers, meeting under the chairmanship of French president Vincent Auriol at Rombouillet, his official country residence near Paris, decided to place an infantry battalion at the disposal of the United Nations.

The unit, between 800 and 1,000 strong, will be specially formed by the National Defence Ministry.

Continue Search Aboard Ship

LAUZON, Que., Aug. 22—(CP)—The gutted hull of the St. Lawrence River cruise vessel, Quebec, will be pulled out of its dock here today and turned around by tugs so that metal-lifting hoists may remove remaining parts of its twisted superstructure to allow searchers to continue their work.

Capt. J. Alphonse Matte of the Quebec provincial police, who is in charge of the search, said half the surface of the rubble-laden ship has been examined so far.

Six bodies have been removed from the charred debris on the ship which caught fire half an hour out of Tadoussac Aug. 14.

Provincial police are searching for remains of a seventh probable victim. Capt. J. Alphonse Matte said there were no indications at present that the death toll would rise higher than seven.

Flt. Lieut. Carlon Dies In Montreal

MONTREAL, Aug. 22— A funeral service for Flt.-Lieut. T. E. Carlon, DFM, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Carlon, was held Friday at St. Michael's Church. His death took place in hospital on Wednesday after a brief illness. He was 32.

A member of the famed Pathfinder Squadron, RCAF, Flt.-Lt. Carlon served for four years overseas, took part in many bombing missions as a navigator, and was for three years in a German prison camp. He was decorated overseas with the Distinguished Flying Medal for aiding in bringing back his plane under exceptionally difficult circumstances.

During his stay in the prison camp, he managed to escape three times, but was recaptured. On his return to civil life, he joined the Northern Electric Co. and was in its engineering department.

Flt. Lieut. Carlon was born here and educated at St. Michael's School, D'Arcy McGee High School, and McGill University. Besides his wife, the former Rita Wolfhart, he leaves a daughter, two brothers Peter and David, three sisters Eileen of Montreal, Mrs. G. Kirkley of Peterborough, Ont., and Mrs. F. C. block 10 miles north of Taegu and behind the lines of the 27th regiment.

Whitehead said infiltrating Reds pinned down the Americans along the mountain road with sniper and machine-gun fire. Whitehead was among the Americans trapped under fire until the roadblock was wiped out.

Face Nine Divisions

Allied intelligence officers said the North Koreans had shoved nine divisions up to the winding battleline which extends from the southern port of Masan north of Waegwan above Taegu and thence east to nine miles north of Pohang, South Korea's No. 2 port.

U.S. B-29s hammered Chongjin, North Korean city near the Soviet Siberian border. Seventy bombers loosed 700 tons of bombs on installations.

Announcement of the B-29 raid was made as the North Korean radio claimed in a broadcast that Allied bombings had killed or wounded 11,582 civilians and destroyed 11 imporant industrial plants.

The broadcast asserted that half the casualties were killed. The Red radio added 16,504 houses were destroyed between July 2 and Aug. 3 when the larger Allied bombing raids were started.

Rest Quiet

Aside from the roaring southern battle and the continuous probing patrols north of Taegu, the rest of the curling front was quiet Tuesday afternoon.

A small Red bridgehead at Hyongpung, 14 miles southwest of Taegu, was across the Naktong river. But American forces had it under close watch.

Across from the U.S. 1st cavalry division strung along the central front on the Naktong River, the Reds were trying to mass men and supplies for a surge toward Taegu.

Northeast of Waegwan, where an estimated 60,000 enemy troops have been massed in the mountains for a lunge at Taegu, the South Korean 1st division gained mountainous ground between the towns of Manjong and Indong.

The Reds were thrown back in a try to move on Taegu Monday by a combination U.S. plane and artillery bombardment by night. Phosphorous shells lighted the way to the targets for the planes. Tuesday in the same area the Reds tried only the probing attack in small force. It was hurled back.

Taegu Sector Quiet

Gen. MacArthur's Tuesday afternoon war summary said the Taegu area was quiet after the nine-tank attack on the American forces Tuesday morning.

United States artillery pounded Red troops across the Naktong river northwest of Taegu.

On the east coast, South Korean forces inched north of Pohang port with cover of U.S. naval shells. South Korean troops were reported nine miles north of South Korea's No. 2 allied port.

The South Korean capital division moved north and east from Kigye, nine miles northwest of Pohang. North Korean losses in men mounted with every engagement. Their casualties in four days have averaged almost 4,000 men a day, headquarters estimated.

In the deep south, Red troops attacked South Korean marines who had advanced 20 miles in four days since landing at Tongyong. The South Koreans amphibious troops were trying to link up their coastal position near Kosong with American forces centred in the Haman-Masan area, 35 miles west of Pusan.

Have Field Day

Near Haman, a dusty, clapboard village on the south coast, American Corsair fighters had a field day strafing a large group of Red troops caught in the open.

MacArthur's Tuesday afternoon war summary said land-based United Nations planes in hinterland raids, destroyed Communist tanks, buildings, boxcars and other equipment.

North Korea targets were attacked by United States bombers. They hit bridges and railway yards. B-26 bombers in Monday-night raids hit airfield areas around Sungchon, Taejon and Hamchong.

To cope with the Reds sneaking supplies down numerous west coast channels, a British Sunderland squadron was put on patrol there.

Carrier-based British Firefly bombers and Seafire fighters covered the west coast and inland up the Taedong river to Pyongyang, North Korean capital. The British planes were credited with sinking a patrol boat and damaging a motor vessel, a small coastal freighter, boxcars, oil tanks and several small craft.

East, south and west coastal patrols of the U.S. navy continued.

The pocket of cool air that slipped across most of Ontario Monday extended to just north of the Lower Lakes early Tuesday morning. How Long Will

He explained that the CNR is still taking reservations for TCA and ocean travel. Similar to the CPR, however, they will accept no telegrams.

Should the tieup continue some classes of food will be affected. Citrus fruits will almost disappear from the market although the supply of Ontario fresh fruits and vegetables will likely be sufficient.

"The whole thing depends on road transport," explained a spokesman for National Grocers.

Four-Day Supply Citrus Fruits

He estimated that there is about a four-day supply of citrus fruits available in Peterborough. No new orders are being accepted.

A carload of bananas, labelled for Peterborough, is still in Fort Erie. If the car can be moved in some way to Niagara Falls the precious cargo will be picked up by truck and brought here.

Produce from the United States is out. That includes lemons, limes, oranges, grapefruit, California pears and bananas.

"We don't anticipate a bit of trouble getting Ontario fruit and vegetables," he continued. 'Peaches and plums can be brought in by transport. Of course, it all depends the availability of transport."

Hardest hit in the fuel line will be the anthracite dealers. The anthracite comes in by railroad car from the United States, chiefly Pennsylvania.

At least one large Peterborough firm picks up its stoker coal and fuel oil from Port Hope and trucks it into the city. The fuel is brought to Port Hope by boat.

Another dealer explained that most of the householders already had their fuel tanks full of oil and there wasn't a particularly heavy demand for it now. He too was more worried about supplies of anthracite.

The Bell Telephone Co. is now the chief means of communication and the Peterborough branch reports today that it was nearly swamped by requests for long distance calls.

Every switchboard position has been manned and extra help has been hired to handle the calls.

Nearly all business normally handled by telegraph is now passing over long distance telephone circuits, as well as a large number of other communications stemming directly from the strike.

Many calls have come from stranded travellers and from suppliers seeking alternate means of shipping goods and supplies.

E. C. Baker, Peterborough manager, said that delays on some inter-city circuits are inevitable and that occasionally an operator may not be able to answer immediately.

The public is being asked to cut non-essential telephone calls to a minimum so there will be a minimum of delay.

Buses Carry Mail

First class mail will travel in and out of Peterborough by bus. Buses will arrive daily from Port Hope, Belleville, Ottawa and Toronto via Lindsay between one and two o'clock each afternoon.

Mail going out will be sorted for each of the four routes to Port Hope, Belleville, Ottawa and Toronto. Mail for points east of Ottawa will be sent to Ottawa for that Post Office to handle. Mail addressed west of Toronto will all be packaged up together to be sorted at Toronto.

All towns on routes to and from these points will be serviced by the same buses. But instead of the mail being shipped out and sorted on the train for each of the towns, it must now be sorted in Peterborough and a bundle made up for each of the towns. The Post Office will have to prepare 73 locked bags for this service. The buses to Port Hope, Ottawa and Toronto will leave at 3 p.m. and to Belleville, half an hour later.

"... take care of the increased work in the early afternoon, when most of the sorting will be done, the Post Office night staff will be in to work during the day. Only a skeleton crew will be on duty at night.

Mail will be collected in city mail boxes at the same times during the day and night. Boxes at both the CNR and CPR have been cleared and sealed with a notice saying, "Do not use during strike."

Monday evening the last train arrived from Toronto at 9 p.m.

Very little was brought in on the express car. About 1,000 pounds of yeast and about 20 cases of motor oil and a few other packages made up the whole load, leaving the express car almost empty.

Few more than the normal number of passengers got off the train and no extra coaches had been put on for the last run.

The last train from Ottawa before the six a.m. deadline also went through on schedule at 5:35 a.m. and few were there to see it.

and 10 cents an hour, and no reduction in take-home pay.

Today's statement said the railways felt they would be justified, "particularly with the serious consequences of a strike so close at hand, in framing a further offer which would provide a definite date for the five-day, 40-hour week, provide a measure of protection to the employees against the present trend in rising costs and provide some ancillary operations which the conciliation boards had reported could not be properly considered as forming a part of railway operations."

Permit Adjustment

The three-year contract was stipulated "so as to permit the railways to adjust themselves to the new conditions without too excessive cost and soften the impact of the settlement on the general industrial economy of Canada."

The statement quoted a memorandum given the federal government mediator, Dr. W. A. Mackintosh, late Monday night.

The memorandum said the new terms were based on the mediator's request for serious consideration "to the possibility of lengthening the contract period so that within a wider framework we might justifiably include provisions not appropriate for a short-term contract."

The amendments to existing contracts referred to in the memorandum dealt with such subjects as staff-reduction notices, apprenticeships, meal periods, Sunday work, overtime for express messengers and the number of conductors assigned to sleeping-car passenger trains depending upon the number of cars.

Separate Plans

The Aug. 10 offer said it excluded hotel and water-transport employees.

On this subject the memorandum said:

"Hotel employees and water-transport employees are not to be included in the general agreement but provision will be made for a one-year agreement whereby a two-cents-an-hour increase, effective Sept. 1, 1950, shall be pooled and distributed to these employees following a review of their positions with workers doing comparable work."

called "so that the representatives of all the people may act together in discharging their responsibilities to meet the situation."

CCF Leader Coldwell — only Leader of the Opposition Parties available here — immediately endorsed the derision to call Parliament.

"I think it is right that it should be called," he said in a telephone interview from his home at nearby Aylmer, Que.

The Prime Minister in his statement expressed the regret of the government that collective bargaining had failed to settle the rail dispute.

Noting that parliament was to have been called at an early date in view of the international situation, the Prime Minister said it now is being called "to meet at once so that the representatives of all the people may act together in discharging their responsibilities to meet the situation."

"The suspension of railway and telegraphic service particularly with the world situation we face will quickly create a serious emergency and the government will have to act to protect the vital interests of the whole national community," the Prime Minister said.

"Meanwhile, I would hope that whatever disruption and loss the strike may cause, all of us will recognize that the railway employees concerned have not broken any law applicable to their case."

"The record shows that our railway workers are and have always been responsible and public-spirited Canadians, and whatever action the government may have to take will be intended solely to protect the vital interests of the whole Canadian people," Mr. St. Laurent said.

Railway Strike

Frank Hall, chief of the negotiating committee of the international unions, left the meeting and said: "We don't know about any (more) negotiations at all." He headed for bed.

From coast to coast the strike machinery went into action. Railway yards and terminals were deserted as night shifts checked off and day shifts failed to show up. Trains were cancelled or tied up in yards.

Within minutes of the breakdown of mediation attempts the conference room in a downtown hotel and the corridors about it were deserted. The presidents of the railways, Donald Gordon of the Canadian National and W. A. Mather of the Canadian Pacific, headed for bed just as did union leaders.

Has No Comment

Dr. Mackintosh, vice-principal of Queen's University who was named to mediate the dispute last Friday, had no comment but said he might issue a statement later.

His last 24 hours had been a nightmare of work, meeting at one time with union leaders, the next time with railway heads, but never making enough progress to bring the disputant parties together.

The unions, prior to mediation, were definite in their stand that the strike would stand until there was what they called a "satisfactory settlement". From this they never deviated and throughout the negotiations tenseness mounted while each side and the mediator, too, maintained silence on progress or lack of it.

Workers directly affected by the strike call embrace railroad and commercial telegraphers, maintenance and shop employees, clerks, freight and express handlers, some hotel employees and sleeping and dining car employees.

Ptralysis Spreads

Trucks, planes, and buses kept passengers and materials moving in Ontario today as rail-strike paralysis spread slowly across the province.

Southern cities and towns on a network of good highways were relatively well off in escaping the initial effects of the tie-up. But some northern communities for which the railways are virtually the sole supply link were worried about food and gasoline stocks.

Mayor Philip Fay of Timmins said the 29,000 residents of the northern gold-mining town face a serious meat shortage within three days and that gasoline reserves would be exhausted in four days. Pulp and paper plants will shut down in two days when stocks of logs and chemicals run out.

In the Niagara fruit belt, every available transport truck was pressed into service to move the ripening peach crop.

Toronto authorities reported the city well supplied with food, with more supplies close at hand. But owners of factories said the stocks of raw materials for manufacturing soon would run out.

First-class mail and emergency medical supplies, the only postal items to be handled during the strike, moved by air to the large cities and by truck to the smaller communities.

Industrials Sagging On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Aug. 22 (CP). — Industrial stocks sagged slightly on the Toronto Stock Exchange today following news of the country-wide rail strike. Key stocks that paced recent advances into new high ground led the losers. The armket settled into a narrow path as the session progressed.

The exchange's 1 p.m. index showed industrials down 1.77 at 256.27, golds up .01 at 77.86, base metals down .08 at 131.14, western oils up .29 at 84.81. Activity slowed to a crawl with volume for the first three hours at 475,000 shares, about 388 000 shares less than yesterday's corresponding period.

Losses were generally held to fractions in industrials. Companies depending on rail transportation encountered mild selling. Papers were solidly lower and foods also slumped. C. P. R., selling ex-dividend 50 cents, dipped ¾ in a weaker utility list and steels and refining oils turned downwards.

Massey-Harris, Ford A, Imperial Oil and Abitibi Paper, leaders in recent advances to the highest average price levels since 1934 were among the harder hit issues.

A few western oils, led by National Petroleum, chalked up penny advances. Base metals recovered from small morning losses and a handful of junior gold producers continued yesterday's brighter tone.

5-Point Plan

DETROIT, Aug. 22—(CP)—A five-point plan designed to aid world peace through education was offered Monday to John M. Eklund, president of the American Federation of Teachers, at the organization's annual convention here. Speaking to delegates representing 65,000 United States teachers he called for a "billion-dollar program for establishment of an educational minimum" throughout the world.

No Evidence Given Show Money In Desk

Donald Ernest Heather, King St., charged with attempted theft of money, was freed in police court today when no evidence was brought out to show there was any money in a drawer in a desk at the Queen's Hotel from which he pried a panel.

Joseph Foley, night clerk of the hotel, testified he had come out into the lobby of the hotel to find Heather behind the desk with a screwdriver in his hand shortly after one a.m. Aug. 11.

"I'm only fooling," Heather told him. "Can't you take a joke?" and left.

A foot-long slat had been torn off the front of the desk drawer. Foley went out to the street when he saw the damage done to the desk and reported to a policeman he saw walking along. He said two of the desk drawers were locked and two not locked. The drawer which had been pried open, said Foley, was the one used to hold change. But he did not say whether there was any money in it on that particular occasion.

Lakefield Youths Pick Wrong Spot

Two 16-year-old Lakefield youths picked the wrong spot to cause a disturbance and were each fined $5 and costs in police court today.

Fined were Delmar Sloan and Reg Wannamaker.

Constable John Conlin told the court he had been wakened from his sleep in his apartment in the second storey of a building at Parkhill Rd. and Water St. about 2.55 a.m. Aug. 6.

There were loud noises and banging coming from a phone booth on the corner.

He phoned the police station and then went down to the booth. As he approached he heard one of the youths say "Put in a nickel and phone any number."

He said the youths had been talking in loud, rough voices.

Sloan, who had pleaded not guilty, said he and Wannamker had been there about five minutes looking for a ride home. He said what Wannamaker had said was "Phone any girl you like."

"I know lots of girls," Sloan confided to the court.

Then the constable came along and interrupted them.

"I will admit Reg. was talking a little loud to speak to me through the glass of the phone booth," Sloan said.

SYMPHONY OF SIRENS

Police have made a note of Sunday evening symphony of motor horns in the central stretches of George St. It was like a convention of wedding paraders turning on the racket anywhere between Charlotte and Hunter Streets. For a Sunday night performance, or any night, it was about the sappiest stunt in a long time. And if they repeat, they'll be sitting pigeons for the traffic police.

The 700 occupants of the Hotel Vancouver, a tourist mecca operated jointly by both major railroads, began a move to other accommodations. A skeleton crew chosen by the union railroad strike committee showed up this morning to help the guests evacuate.

Vancouver Island and upcoast British Columbia points became virtually isolated. Only a ferry service now connects the island with the mainland.

Garson Finds Smooth Sailing At Conference

OTTAWA, Aug. 22 (CP) — Canada Monday night moved a step closer to the goal of bringing to her boundaries complete constitution-amending powers, but Justice Minister Garson indicated she still has a long road to travel.

He told newspapermen that "excellent progress" was achieved during the first day's meeting of a special working committee of federal and provincial attorneys-general, searching to find common ground on which the power can be transferred from the United Kingdom parliament to Canada.

"What we are trying to achieve is a method whereby full control over her constitution can be brought back to Canada," Mr. Garson said as he emerged from the closed conference held in the commons railway committee room.

"We have been working unceasingly all afternoon and have made excellent progress A very good spirit of co-operation prevails."

Though the provinces and the dominion appeared to be in general agreement on a number of points, Mr. Garson cautioned against concluding that no major deadlock might occur.

"We are going over the British North American Act—the Canadian constitution—section by section. So far we have found general agreement, but there are still many sections to be studied."

Midwife To A New Europe

The Assembly of the Council of Europe is now in session at Strasbourg. It is its second annual meeting since the Statute of the Council was signed by the Foreign Ministers of the ten founder Governments. The Council of Europe has no power to legislate for the member Governments; the Assembly representatives do not take with them to Strasbourg their government's authorization to act for their respective countries. Thus the sessions of the Assembly are forums. But they are of great importance, when such European leaders as Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium and Winston Churchill are among the representatives.

• • •

The Council of Europe has two arms: the Committee of Ministers of member nations, and the Consultative Assembly. The former is representative of Governments, for the Foreign Ministers, or their deputies, comprise it. The latter is a deliberative body. The delegates to it are chosen by the respective governments but do not necessarily represent government policy. Some of them, like Mr. Churchill, one of the U.K.'s eighteen delegates, are in opposition to the elected government. The Assembly is restricted by the statute of the Council from debating any matter not approved, or put before it, by the Committee of Ministers. Thus, while its fields of discussion are limited, its recommendations and resolutions gain weight because their subjects have been put before them by the responsible Committee of Ministers.

• • •

A cynical view of the Assembly is that it is merely a talking-spree, and that whatever may be the recommendations made by it, the Committee of Ministers, and still more the home governments, will pay little attention to them. But when Winston Churchill makes a call for a European Army, or Sir David Maxwell Fyfe pleads for a court of human rights, or German and French delegates, men of repute and official status, expound the Schumann plan to unify the iron and steel industry of western Europe, not only home Governments, but all the world, listen.

• • •

The present Assembly for the first time includes German delegates, and a remarkable co-operative effort is observed, although the old German-French distrusts and dislikes run deep and die slowly. The other member nations of the Council of Europe are France, Italy, the U.K., Belgium, the Netherlands, Sweden Denmark, the Irish Republic, Norway and Luxembourg. The aim of the Council of Europe is stated in Article 1 of its Statute: "To achieve greater unity between its members for the purpose of safeguarding and realizing the ideals and principles which are their common heritage, and facilitating their economic and social progress". It is to preserve and foster Europe in this twentieth century which has been so hard on it, that the Council was formed. A peaceful, united Europe—a new Europe—is an ideal which must be aimed for, if Europe is to survive. The Council of Europe must be taken seriously in its mission as midwife to a new Europe.

Cheapening The Flag

We are in complete agreement with the manager of the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. James Fraser, who has suggested to merchants and owners of tourist resorts that discretion and a reasonable degree of national pride be shown in flying flags. A flag is not an ornament, but a potent national symbol. To use numbers of small flags as trimming for a wayside booth, or decorations in a dining room, is in bad taste.

Great care should be used in displaying the flag of our neighbour, the U.S.A. It is no compliment to our summer visitors to wave their flag in their faces; they know that such flag-waving is done for money, and many of them are offended by it. What is more, they want to see the Union Jack or the Red Ensign here. If they could not bear to leave their flag for a week or two, they would have stayed at home.

We do not pretend to any extensive knowledge of flag etiquette, but there are one or two rules which everyone should know and observe. The first of these is that no flag should be used for a purely decorative purpose. It should be flown from a staff, and not tacked up anywhere at all, to make a bit of gay colour. The next rule is that no flag should be higher than the flag of the country; in Canada the Stars and Stripes should not be flown higher than the Union Jack; the usual things for American visitors who have homes here is to fly a large Stars and Stripes with a small Union Jack on the staff just above it. This is a matter of courtesy, and implies no diminution of dignity for the lower flag. Finally, it is discourteous to display a flag which has grown ragged and weather-stained; battle colours are nobler for their honourable dirt, but the flags displayed on tourist resorts are not in that category.

Let us, for the love of all that is decent, show a little pride about this matter of flag-flying. The flag of Canada is the Union Jack, or the Red Ensign; do not fly it for cheaply commercial purposes, and when you do display it, give it due honour. The Stars and Stripes is the great flag of a friendly neighbour; do not cheapen it by using it as tourist-bait.

Peace Lobby

The "National Council of the Canadian Peace Congress" from its Toronto offices has called for a "peace lobby of women and youth to lobby the government at Ottawa for peace". Here are some of its slogans:

"Peaceful negotiation, not the drift to war".

"End the deadlock in the Security Council".

"Outlaw the atomic bomb."

Well, Britain, the United States and Canada and every other country of good will and good faith have been trying to do these three things since 1946. They have patiently, honestly tried to negotiate with Russia, and are still trying to, but Russia and Communists do not negotiate: they shout and dictate. There has been no "drift" to war; it has been a Communist push. The deadlock in the Security Council is entirely a Russian imposed deadlock. The British American and U.N. plans for international control of atomic energy were rejected by Russia and countered by a one-sided Russian proposal that the U.S.A. first get rid of its bombs. If the bomb were "outlawed", would Russian respect for the rule of law be sufficient to guarantee that it would not make and use atomic bombs?

The Peace Congress Council says: Today a brigade—tomorrow an army? After that, the hell of atomic war? Canadians see no future in that". This frightful-sounding, expanding series, brigade-army-atomic war, is not inevitable. It is because Canadians see "no future" in atomic war that they are now, with most other U.N. countries, making themselves strong to prevent it. Further, most Canadians see no future in the Communist night which might fall over this country if the "Peace Congress" had its way. They believe that even a large war is better than the nihilism of Communism.

1843: The Bentinck

The world was already beginning to shrink in 1843, and The Illustrated London News carried an account of one of the instruments of shrinkage, the Bentinck Steamer. The Bentinck must have been quite a ship in her day, for The News described her as a "magnificent steam-ship" and added that "a more glorious burthen has never been borne by our Thames". It then went on to point out how the Bentinck had helped bring the East much closer to Britain.

She was going to ply between Calcutta and Suez, touching at the new packet stations at Madras, Ceylon and Aden; presumably a similarly fast packet, and a train, made a link at Suez, for ships and packet system brought Calcutta only forty days from Britain, Madras but thirty-five. The Bentinck "was admirably adapted" for her purpose, being as "compact as she is colossal, and every contrivance which art and arrangement could suggest having been adopted to create and continue the ventilation of the vessel . . . . The interior arrangements are especially elegant, commodious and complete." The passengers' health, comforts, luxury and intellectual recreation were all provided for in numerous ways.

We do not know how long the packet station system operated, but the need for a rail link vanished at Suez some twenty-seven years later. The steamer and overland service of 1843, however, must be regarded as a distinct contraction in previous length of voyages. Before it was established, "a letter or passenger seldom reached any of the presidencies (from Britain) in less than four or five months, making an interval of from between eight to ten months before an exchange of communications could be effected."

NOTE AND COMMENT

A writer asserts that only one person in ten who uses the word "halcyon" knows that it means "peaceful". But then, words which mean "peaceful" are becoming so unfamiliar.

What The U.S. Soldier Fights For

(Leading Article in New York Times)

THESE are desperate days in Korea, days that try men's souls as well as rack their bodies. Americans at home should stop to think what they are asking their young sons and brothers to do, and why they are asking it. The more important question is the "Why," because men will fight and die gladly in a great cause if only they understand what they are fighting for. The reports from the front of the bitterness and bewilderment of our troops are too insistent and too obviously correct to be ignored. The young infantryman who said to a New York Times correspondent the other day: "Damned if I see why I'm fighting to save this hellhole," was giving expression to a tragic ignorance, but one for which his superiors and not he should be blamed."

◇ ◇ ◇

ANYONE who went through the World Wars knows the pitiful inadequacy of the political indoctrination given to American troops. In the last war, for instance, it was shocking to find G.I.'s slogging their way up the mountains of Italy month after month without any idea of what fascism or nazism really meant and what ideals they were defending. It is too easy to put these youngsters on the front lines where the age-old alternative of "kill or be killed," plus their native guts and pride, will lead them to fight hard and even heroically. It stands to reason that a soldier who thinks he is fighting for a "hellhole" or does not know what he is fighting for, is at a disadvantage, and is, incidentally, being criminally neglected.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE basic facts that every American soldier—and for that matter every civilian—must understand are relatively simple. The soldier in the Korean hills and the folks back home who pay higher taxes and accept controls are, to begin with, fighting for survival. Korea is only a single battle in a long war whose sphere of action is the greater part of the world. This is an acute phase of a struggle in which our liberty and our whole way of life are at stake. One filthy, bleary-eyed boy firing a bazooka at a Russian-built North Korean tank is defending the freedom of his country and everything that Americans hold dear as surely as if he were defending the shores of California or Virginia against Communist hordes. His enemy is only incidentally the fanatical, misguided Korean who comes at him to kill. It is communism, totalitarianism, slavery, the police state, that is the true enemy.

◇ ◇ ◇

HE must, then, know what communism means and how it works in practice. He must be made to realize that there is no ground for compromise between Soviet communism and Western democracy; they can both live at peace in the world only if the Communists stay on their side of the iron curtains. But communism is an aggressive, expanding force carrying a pseudo-religious message. It believes that the so-called bourgeois-capitalist-imperialist world seeks the destruction by war of communism but that in the inevitable final confict the Communists must win. It uses methods that have no regard for normal principles or scruples; the end justifies the means, and it is a wicked end. It is powerful in its appeal, especially to the backward Asian masses, but it is also powerful in its military strength.

◇ ◇ ◇

THIS is the enemy that the young infantryman is fighting in his Korean "hellhole," and it is tragic that no one has made him realize the truth. It would be more tragic if we go on allowing our troops to be inducted and trained and sent to battlefronts in continuing ignorance of the real issues at stake. There is a powerful instinct in military leaders to think of war in purely military terms, and to forget that war is an instrument of politics. If that was true in the Napoleonic days of Clausewitz, how much more true is it today when the world could almost be expressed in ideological terms.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE simple fact today is that there is a price to be paid—a very great price. The soldier pays it in blood, others in other ways, but there is no escaping it. If everybody concerned knows what he is fighting for, the price will be paid gladly and bravely.

Brick For Prairies

(Windsor Star)

Easterners who visit the Prairies always note one feature about houses out there. Few of them are of brick, most being of frame or stucco exterior. To one accustomed to the brick homes of Ontario, this seems strange. But homes in any part of the world are built with the materials which are most readily available and economical.

There may be more brick buildings out West in the future. Hon. L. F. McIntosh, chairman of Saskatchewan Minerals, Clay Products Division, announces a new $400,000 brick plant at Estevan. If brick can be made cheaply enough, and in sufficient quantities, they will be used on the Prairies just as in Ontario. The climate demands the warmest house that can be got for the money.

Unneutral Irish

(Windsor Star).

No honest man can be neutral in the struggle against Communism, says Agriculture Minister James Dillon of the Republic of Ireland. To be neutral is to help the Communists.

Well, if a major war develops, one can assume the Republic wil place its ports, as well as its manpower, at the disposal of the democracies, a different position from World War II. Then the men of Eire volunteered for British forces in thousands, but the war effort was sadly handicapped by Eire's neutrality and the inability to use her ports in anti-submarine warfare.

The Irish, of course, are devoutly anti-Communist. But strong beliefs, unsupported by action, aren't effective.

The Bear Finds Summer Unbearable

"Let's All Quit Eating"

(R.B., IN THE SHEFFIELD WEEKLY TELEGRAPH)

ACCORDING to the food experts I would live longer if I stopped eating and drinking altogether. If I am to believe what they tell me, I practically risk my life every time I open my mouth and take a bite.

There is no such thing as a "safe" food or drink, they say. Take sugar for example.

This gives me energy, so that if I have to do six hours overtime seven days a week I can't do better than suck one sugar lump every half hour or so.

But wait; it seems that if I do that my teeth might drop out, one by one. "A high carbohydrate diet," the experts warn me, "undoubtedly causes tooth decay. A low sugar diet makes the patient much less susceptible to dental cavities."

Hastily I give back my sugar ration to a grateful food minister, but then I pick up a medical journal and I read that "too little sugar in the blood will make a man angry and irritable, and might even dispose him to commit crimes."

So rather than become a criminal I sacrifice my teeth and ask for my sugar ration back. To steady my nerves I take a flask of coffee on the night shift.

Coffee is drunk by some because it clears the brain, steadies the hand. Everybody knows that—except the food experts.

"Ah," they say, "but coffee can cause stomach ulcers. It's been proved with cats and human beings too. And in some persons it actually makes the nerves more jittery."

What about spinach ? You and I know that it's simply oozing with healthful iron and calcium.

But a derisive chuckle comes from the food experts. "Recent experiments," they say, "have proved that you absorb only 20 per cent. of the iron in spinach. Worse, spinach contains a chemical called oxalic acid, which effectively prevents any calcium being absorbed, and indeed takes away calcium already in the body.

Carrots? Why, you actually feel healthy when you gnaw a raw one. You think of all the luscious vitamin A you must be absorbing from the carotene which is contained in the carrot.

"Unfortunately," says the experts, almost gloating, "the human body has been found to be only one-sixth as efficient in absorbing carotene as was previously supposed. To get the vitamin A you think you are getting from the carrots you will have to eat them in large bunches, and that will give you stomach pain."

Eggs. Surely you can't go wrong with eggs—so rich in proteins and vitamins.

It seems you can, for the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research reports that egg white is one of the proteins most resistant to digestion, and that the cholesterol in the yoke may help to harden a person's arteries.

Not even water escapes. If you're fatigued, they tell us, a copious drink of ordinary water may give you cramp. If you drink gallons of it in one draught you may become intoxicated, as if you were drinking whisky.

Potatoes will fatten you they say; roast beef does not build up your blood, fish has no special merit as a brain food, fresh yeast will gobble up and not give vitamins.

It's getting more dangerous every day to have that familiar urge.

A Good Yardstick

(St. Catharines Standard)

The fact that applications from 427 industrial firms have been turned down for exhibit space at the Canadian National Exhibition is a good barometer of the conditions and prospects of this country The C.N.E. is certainly a national show window, an annual event for ideas.

Robbed!

"Father," said Jimmy, running into the drawing-room, "there's a big black cat in the dining-room."

"Never mind, Jimmy," said his father drowsily; "black cats are lucky."

"Yes," was the reply. "This one is—it had your dinner!"

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Then Joshua called the Reubenites, and the Gadites, and the half tribe of Manasseh, and said unto them, Ye have kept all that Moses the servant of the Lord commanded you, and have obeyed my voice in all that I commanded you; ye have not left your brethren these many days unto this day, but have kept the charge of the commandment of the Lord your God.

And now the Lord your God hath given rest unto your brethren, as he promised them; therefore now return ye, and get you unto your tents, and unto the land of your possession, which Moses the servant of the Lord gave you on the other side Jordan. But take diligent heed to do the commandment and the law, which Moses the servant of the Lord charged you, to love the Lord your God, and to walk in all his ways, and to keep his commandments, and to cleave unto him, and to serve him with all your heart and with all your soul. (Josh, 22:1-5.)

◇ ◇ ◇

And, behold, one came and said unto him, Good Master, what good thing shall I do, that I may have eternal life?

And he said unto him, Why callest thou me good? there is none good but one, that is, God; but if you wilt enter into life, keep the commandments. He saith unto him, Which? Jesus said, Thou shalt do no murder, Thou shalt not commit adultery, Thou shalt not steal, Thou shalt not bear false witness, Honour thy father and thy mother; and, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself. (Matt. 19:16-19.)

◇ ◇ ◇

I speak after the manner of men because of the infirmity of your flesh; for as ye have yielded your members servants to uncleanness and to iniquity unto iniquity; even so now yield your members servants to righteousness unto holiness. For when ye were the servants of sin, ye were free from righteousness. What fruit had ye then in those things whereof ye are now ashamed? for the end of those things is death.

But now being made free from sin, and become servants to God, ye have your fruit unto holiness, and the end everlasting life. (Rom. 6:19-2.)

"My good woman!" he exclaimed, "you are stouter than ever! Have you been following the treatment I prescribed? Are you quite sure you ate exactly what I ordered?"

"Everything," replied the patient.

"And nothing else?"

"Nothing whatever," she replied, "except, of course, my regular meals."

Ottawa Names Delegation On Civil Defence

OTTAWA, Aug. 22 — (CP) — Government concern over internal security in the event of war was pointed up Monday by the composition of the federal delegation announced for this week's Dominion-Provincial conference on civil defence.

Justice Minister Garson and three top RCMP officials were named the 12 federal representatives, including the man who heads the counter - espionage special branch.

On the delegation, too, is Norman Robertson, secretary to the cabinet, whose many duties include chairmanships of the government's highly-secretive security panel.

This group of men knows more than any other about the government's plans to round up potential saboteurs and to take other steps if war strikes.

Head Delegation

Defence Minister Claxton and Mr. Garson will head the federal delegation to a conference that will start the morning after the end of the current Dominion-Provincial parley on the constitution. It will be a closed meeting.

In a statement this morning, Mr. Claxton said all 10 provinces will be represented.

He said the general lines of Dominion-Provincial co-ordination have been settled in principle and that federal departments and agencies have been assigned their responsibilities under a blueprint prepared here.

Specific Objectives

"It is expected that specific objectives of planning, organization and action will be considered," Mr. Claxton said. "These include such matters as warning, care and evacuation of casualties, fire fighting, restoration and others."

The agenda will be considered at the meeting, "but would naturally consider the scope of civil defence organization, the position of Canada, methods of defence, the results of experience in other countries and of national disasters like the Fraser Valley and Manitoba floods and the Quebec fires."

The Ottawa delegation includes A. D. P. Heeney, Under-Secretary for External Affairs; Lt.-Gen. Charles Foulkes, Chief of the General Staff; Dr. O. M. Solandt, chairman of the Defence Research Board; Dr. Donald Cameron, Deputy Minister of National Health; Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, Co-ordinator of Civil Defence; Commissioner Wood; Inspector G. D. McClellan, head of the RCMP Special Branch; Inspector W. Dick, a Mountie who recently attended a civil defence course in England; and C. A. Thomson, Dominion Fire Commissioner.

SAILS—The former Canadian High Commissioner to South Africa, D'Arcy E. McGreer, was among the passengers who sailed from Montreal recently aboard the liner Empress of France for Liverpool. Mr. McGreer is headed for Poland, where he takes the post of interim Canadian charge d'affaires in Warsaw.

Sent To Calgary

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 22 (CP)—Major H. K. Hjalmarson, deputy assistant adjutant and quartermaster general at Western Ontario Army headquarters for a year and a half, has been transferred to Calgary. He will become a squadron commander in the Lord Strathcona's Horse Regiment. Major Hjalmarson is being replaced by Major R. G. Kingstone who comes here from National Defence College in Kingston where he was administration officer.

Want Youth on Farms

ST. THOMAS, Aug. 22 (CP)—A movement is needed to keep rural youth on the farms, Walter Rogers, past president of the Ontario Fruit and Vegetable Association said Monday. He said such a movement is needed to ensure the increased production needed to feed the world's expanding population. Mr. Rogers suggested a co-operative farming plan for young farmers to cut down the individual costs of farm mechanization.

Film Gangsters Thing Of Past Bogart Says

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 22 (AP).—It's always a pleasure to have a Humphrey Bogart picture in the works so I can hear what the old boy is sounding off about these days.

Bogart has an opinion about everything, including his employers, national affairs and the weather. This time he was proclaiming the demise of the movie gangster. And this from a guy who made a mint by starting as a hard-as-nails mobster.

"You can't do a gangster in the movies any more," the actor claimed. "People would laugh you off the screen if you tried to play one of those tough guys in the pictures of 10 and 15 years ago."

No Old Tricks

Bogart himself hasn't played a gangster since "High Sierra" in 1941. "I don't think I could go back to the old tricks — the narrowed eyes, the drawn cheeks, the tight lips," he said.

"It was that way with Eddie Robinson when he played in 'Key Largo.' He said he had played so many good guys that he had forgotten how to be a mug again. And when he did some of the tough things that the script called for, he broke himself up with laughter."

Bogart, who now is on the side of the law in "The Enforcer," agreed that the tough movie gangster belong to another era.

No More

"You don't find gangsters like those guys anymore," he said. "Today they are big businessmen engaged in seemingly respectable businesses and paying income tax. Not many of them even get shot at."

I asked Bogie why he was never seen in the Hollywood night spots.

"Night clubs!" he snorted. "I hate 'em . . .

"Actually, it's not the night clubs I object to; it's the people."

Urges Meyer Freed To Fight In Korea

CHARLOTTETOWN, Aug. 22 (CP)—Release off Kurt Meyer, former German general now a Canadian prisoner for war crimes to lead a German army under an international flag was advocated here Monday night.

The Rev. H. S. Ashford, pastor of Trinity United Church and a reserve army chaplain, said Meyer should be released from the Maritime penitentiary at Dorchester, N. B., where he has been confined for the last five years.

He said that Winston Churchill recently had called for a great international force fighting under one flag. Meyer, Mr. Ashford said, should lead German army under that flag.

Mr. Ashford visited Meyer recently and quoted the German general as saying: "God sent me here and God will eventually lead me from here."

Dream Of Pakistan Capital City Of Lovely Minarets

By NOEL BUCKLEY

KARACHI, Pakistan, Aug. 22 (Reuters).—The people of Pakistan dream of Karachi of the future as a great city of pearly minarets — capital of the Moslem world in the golden dawn of a great Islamic politico-religious revival.

But at present the capital of Pakistan is a characterless collection of houses on the edge of the Arabian Sea. It is congested, dirty, beggar-ridden and threatened with the breakdown of both water and sewage systems.

On three sides of Karachi the barren Sind Disert begins just beyond the suburbs. Only one road extends more than a short distance out of Karachi: the main highway connecting Karachi with Hyderabad, second city of the province of Sind. It runs on for 200 miles or so to Sukkar on the Indus and branches north toward Quetta.

Take Strong Air

Toward sunset each day, one of the most popular resorts of Karachi's wealthy and fashionable is a stretch of dreary salt flats. Here scores of motor-cars are parked while their owners take the strong air with dignity and gusto.

Government officials and wealthy merchants, often hatless and in shorts, stride vigorously up and down, while veiled women chat together and watch their children at play.

About the streets and roads of the city—wherever the sympathy or inaction of the municipal authorities has permitted them to remain — thousands of refugees have built lean-to shelters af palm and bamboo matting and sacking. Whole, families live in huddled misery.

Karachi's expansion problem is not of building materials or labor, but of water. The existing supply was intended for a population of about 300,000. Karachi's present population is estimated to be 1,200,000.

Until Pakistan emerged as an independent country, Karachi lay in the shadows of the great pageant of India. Its only claim to importance lay in having a fair harbor and a fine airport.

Boy Disappears Trace Couple

MONTREAL, Aug. 22 (CP).—Police said Monday a demented couple sought in connection with the disappearance of Rene Montreuil, 7, had been located in Chute a Blondeau, near Hawkesbury, Ont., on the Quebec-Ontario border.

The finding of the couple was the first break in the three-week search for the boy missing from his west-end Point St. Charles district home since Aug. 1.

The couple, police said had been sought because of the possibility they might have taken the youngster with them to use him as a front for begging.

Police said they are awaiting word from Hawkesbury police on whether the boy is there.

Meanwhile police are still searching the St. Lawrence river near a boating club where Montreuil was last seen.

Plunkett Hurls 5-Hit Ball As Petes Blank Aces, 8-0

The Petes took a tighter grip on second place in the Viaduct Baseball League last night here, dropping Toronto Aces further into fourth spot, as Doug Plunkett pitched shutout ball for an 8-0 victory. A fair-sized crowd saw the Murphyites hit in timely fashion behind good twirling by Plunkett, who fanned eight as he issued half a dozen walks and only five hits. But three of the visitors got as far as third base.

Alf Williams started on the slab for Aces, running into heavy weather for three runs in the fifth, and being shelled out in the sixth, Cam Church finishing in fair style. The Aces gave the Petes three unearned runs, but were well beaten otherwise. It was tight the first half, but the homesters kept pounding away to roll up the count. Aces left 11 men stranded, getting on frequently on walks and twice on miscues.

Two For Four

Al Menzies and Bud Harrison led the winners at bat with two for four each, one of the latter's being a double. Joe Lowrey also hit a two-bagger and Doug Plunkett a long triple. Bus Gagnon got three hits in four tries for the losers, with McKillop getting one in one official trip. The Petes pulled off a fine double-play, and neat running catches were made by the rival centre fielders.

A walk to Dalton, a steal and Menzies' single meant a run in the first. The Petes scored three in the fifth on a walk, two errors, infield singles by Dalton and Menzies, and a double by Harrison. Two more tallied next heat on a single by Estlick, Plunkett's triple and a two-bagger by Lowrey to chase Williams from the mound. They counted their last two in the seventh on singles by Harrison, Brown and Stewart, plus an outfield fly. In the second frame, Garvey ducked a bad pitch and it hit his bat to trickle fair and force the third out with the bases full for an odd play.

Rochester Clips Maple Leafs 9-2

By The Associated Press

Only a miracle can keep Rochester from its first International League pennant in 10 years.

If the Red Wings, now 7½ games in front, split their last 22 games, then runner-up Baltimore would have to take 21 of its remaining 25 contests to take the flag—a remote possibility.

Rochester edged a game closer Monday night as Tom Poholsky, celebrating his 21st birthday, stopped Toronto Maple Leafs 9-2.

Baltimore fell before Springfield's Cubs 7-2. Montreal, in third place, lost to last-place Buffalo 3-2 and fell 8½ games off the pace. Jersey City and Syracuse split a doubleheader, the Little Giants taking the nightcap 7-6 after the Chiefs had won the opener 1-0.

Thus Springfield gained half a game on Jersey City in the battle for fourth place—the final qualifying slot for the post-season playoffs. Jersey City is 1½ games ahead of Springfield.

Leonard Wins Third Title

MONTREAL, Aug. 22—(CP)—Stan Leonard, the Vancouver golfer whose game is both admired and studied by eastern galleries and players, lived up to expectations Monday in winning his third Canadian Professional Golfers' Association championship.

In winning the 54-hole competition with a medal score of 212 at the Montreal Summerlea course, Leonard provided his supporters with both thrills and jitters.

He fired the sub-par rounds of 69 Monday, against Summerlea's par 70, but for a long, nightmarish stretch on the final nine his game came apart at the seams.

Bill Kerr, of Montreal Beaconsfield, and Jules Huot, of Laval-Sur-Le-Lac, struggling with renewed hope when Leonard began to crack, couldn't make the grade and had to settle for a second-place tie with 214.

Westclox Girls Get Series Over Kingston

Westclox girls swept Kingston into the PWSU intermediate "A" discard here last night with an 18-2 whisk. It was their second win in as many starts of this playdown series, and a good-sized crowd saw the Clockers show too much for their younger opponents. Isobel ("Tommy") Bullock was the big difference, pitching four-hit ball in eight innings as she struck out 12 and walked three. M. Downer finished up. Westclox had three miscues to four for the other side. Kingston started D. Westward but she was relieved in the third by A. Fallon.

A. Anderson and J. McIntyre played heads-up defensive ball for the winners with I. McMaster and A. Fallon probably the pick of the visitors. Three hits each were garnered by I. Bullock, B. Anderson, J. Vass and A. Anderson. I. Master topped the losers at bat with three of her side's five blows. While seven of the victors went down on strikes, nine of them got on through walks.

The teams:

Kingston: H. Mahon, c; A. Fallon, lf, p; B. Hartman, rf; I. McMaster, ss; D. Leslie, cf; D. Westard, p, lf; G. Knapp, 2b; G. Carnegie, 3b; D. Batley, 3b; S. Loye, 1b; M. Cavanagh, 1b.

WOODBRIDGE, Aug. 22 (CP) —Mimico Mounties moved into a three-way tie for fourth place in the Ontario Senior Lacrosse League Monday night by defeating Toronto Riverdales 14-10. Mounties now are deadlocked with Hamilton Tigers and Peterborough Petes four games back of the league-leading Owen Sound Crescents.

Horwood and Hewitt paced the Mountie scoring attack with three goals apiece, while Jack Timpson notched four for the losers.

Find Nine Red Faces After Softball Game

TORONTO, Aug. 22 (CP). — There were nine red faces today on the Robertson Motors Club, one of the outstanding teams of Toronto's Senior Beaches Softball League.

The Motors team went down to a 4-0 defeat Monday night before four men—"King" Eddie Feigner and his court—a touring band of softball specialists. Feigner, pitching the entire seven innings, struck out 16 of the batters to face him, allowing two hits.

To top it off, Feigner struck out the side in the sixth inning while blindfolded. He also struck out a batter while pitching from second base.

Several entries are in for the ladies' and men's doubles tourney August 26 at Kawartha.

Petes Tame Lions

Petes trimmed the peewee lacrosse Lions 15-6 yesterday at Miller Bowl. Davis led the way with six goals and two assists, while Hawthorne had four markers and one assist. Three were counted by Coombs, who also helped on three more, with Hunt scoring a pair and aiding on three. Mountney had one assist. For the Lions, Heffernan and Trudeau each scored a pair, the latter helping on two others, as Casey and Patterson each hit the twine once. Teams:

Petes—F. Heffernan, Hawthorne, Walker, Hamilton, Davis, Coombs, Hunt, Mountney.

Referee, J. Fitzgerald.

Foresters Win

Foresters defeated the Police 11-6 last evening in a Civic Softball League encounter. Both sides were short-handed, but Miller and Fife did some neat flinging in the scrap. Foresters scored two runs in the first, four next time up, and five in the fifth. Police counted three in the first, two in the second and one in the third. Teams:

Foresters — Parnell, Doughty, Walling, Tyndall, Reynolds, Roberts, Dewar, Miller.

Polic — Rowe, Conlin, Casey, Aggas, Fife, Rodrique, Crough.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press.

Batting—Vic Wertz, Tigers — slammed his 25th home run with two on, singled and scored another run to lead the Tigers to a 7-1 triumph over St. Louis Browns.

Pitching—Curt Simmons, Phillies—permitted only four singles as he pitched the Phillies to a 4-0 shutout victory over New York Giants.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

It comes up exhibition time again, starting on the morrow, and that means harness horse races. Afternoon and evening, under direction of Charlie Quinlan. Plenty of good entries from all over the province will be trotting and pacing for hefty money prizes before big crowds. There may be a special race tomorrow eve to start it off, and then they're at it twice daily the rest of the fair. The Peterborough show this year should be a dandy as it hits its oldtime stride. Lindsay had things its own way for a spell, as bigger fairs like Ottawa and Peterborough folded up during the war when military camps took over. But we're back now.

* * * * * *

There's an OLA juvenile "A" playdown game tonight at nine in Miller Bowl, Huntsville vs. Peterborough, first of a two-game series, goals to count. A junior drill at seven, also. The juniors expect early action in playdowns, meeting either Maitlands or Owen Sound, and Lou Vitarelli's squad is training hard. Red Creighton is looking after the juves in playdowns. We may get word today on other local series. Bantams and midgets practise each aft at three, while the tadpoles are at it at 10.30 every morn. Lions and Petes play a peewee tilt at nine tomorrow a.m. with Petes taking on Tigers at two in the aft.

East City Vs. Mutuals

Men's softball finals open at 7.15 tonight in the Bowl, East City vs. Mutuals. A best-of-seven affair for the city title and the Wm. Taylor Trophy. On Friday, Mutuals go to Oshawa in OASA intermediate "A" playdowns and are back here Aug. 29. This Saturday sees Kingston play East City here in senior "B", return fray being Aug. 30. Junior Orphans have Oshawa here Sept. 7 to start their two-of-three series. In district junior "C" play, Keene lost at home last night and is at Hastings tomorrow, third if necessary Aug. 25. All these OASA series are two out of three games, the clubs tossing for the site of a third game, if necessary, or else coming to an amicable agreement. (That hefty phrase boils down to mazuma.)

* * * * * *

It's Oshawa Merchants vs. the Petes at 8.45 tonight in Riverside, under the arcs. An important Viaduct Baseball Loop fray, and it should draw a hefty crowd as the league leaders haven't been seen in action here much this semester. The Petes are still in second place after their neat 8-0 win o'er the fourth-place Aces last eve. Doug Plunkett came through with a five-hit chore, whiffing eight, and his buddies bashed the ball hard in the right spots to pile it up in the last half. Al Menzies and Bud Harrison led the way, Bud having a double, with two for four each, as Joe Lowrey also hit a two-baser and Plunkett a resounding triple to left. Two Toronto twirlers saw action, and Gagnon proved tough at the plate with three for four.

* * * * * *

Exit Kingston Colleens

Westclox lasses came through in a breeze at the Bowl last eve, knocking off Kingston colleens 18-2 to take their PWSU series in two straight. Isobel ("Tommy") Bullock was in great form on the slab and her mates met opposing pitches in hearty fashion. We believe the Clockers go against Toronto next in playdowns. Next Monday, the senior Toronto Fuels (leading at Sunnyside) play the local all-stars an exhibition here. Tomorrow p.m. in the Bowl, it'll be CGE vs. Woollens, and Ashby's vs. Marines in city round-robin playoffs. The Friday picture there is Ashby's vs. Woollens, and CGE vs. Marines. It's anyone's series so far.

* * * * * *

A late lacrosse drive by the Petes in Hamilton last gloaming came just one short of a tie, and the Tigers took the verdict by a 16-15 score. A tough one to drop with the schedule nearly over. A close-checking contest most of the way and something of a see-saw struggle betwixt the well-matched OLA teams. Bob Thorpe and Dootch Vitarelli led the attack for the Creighton crew, with Don Ashbee, Lou Vitarelli and Bob Breakspear also effective, but the Petes missed a lot of in-close scoring chances, too. Their last home schedule game is Friday at 8.45 in Miller Bowl when St. Catharines comes here, and that should be a swell scrap. Same clubs are at St. Kitts then on Saturday to end it. Playoffs open next week.

Locals Beaten In OLA Tilt By The Tigers

By DON GRANT

Despite a four-goal drive in the last minute of play which had 1,000 Hamilton lacrosse fans roaring, the Petes fell one short to lose 16-15 to the Tigers Monday night.

Peterborough as in the first game in Hamilton had most of the territorial play but failed to cash in around the net. Hamilton on the other hand by quick breaks managed to keep one or two goals ahead of the locals. Several penalties in the second period didn't help the Peterborough cause just when they had tied the score and then went ahead by one. The Tigers with the advantage of the extra man went ahead to stay.

The Tigers led 3-1 in a loose first period. At the start of the second the Petes tied the score. The lead changed hands twice then in a matter of three minutes, the local boxla crowd finally going up 5-4. Four Hamilton goals in three minutes gave the Tigers a two-goal lead at the half 8-6. Play quickened in the third with the Petes holding, but several quick breaks gave the Tigers the edge on the scoring 4-2. Fast seesaw lacrosse was played in the fourth until the last minute and a half when the Petes potted the four markers.

Bob Thorpe and Dootch Vitarelli shared the Petes' scoring honors with five points each. Dootch assisted on five while Bob counted two and assisted on three. Don Ashbee whipped home four goals while Lou Vitarelli counted three and Bob Breakspeare, two goals and an assist.

Blaine McDonald was up for the Tigers with five points, two goals and three assists. Teammates Dorney and Hogan each had four points, Hogan four goals and Dorney, three goals, one assist. Copula performed the hat-trick.

Weslock Will Lead Match Golfers

TORONTO, Aug. 22 (CP)—The team of 20 amateur golfers who will compete against the same number of professionals in the third annual Hulbert Memorial Trophy team match here Sept. 6 will be headed by Nick Weslock of Windsor, it was announced Monday.

The Ontario Golf Association selected the amateur team. Weslock, a resident of Detroit who plays out of Windsor's Essex club, earned the top spot by winning the Ontario amateur title, and by being the low amateur in the Ontario open last week and the runner-up in the Canadian amateur earlier in the season.

The team of 20 players and five reserves was chosen on the basis of scoring in tournaments and Willingdon Cup test matches during the past season.

OGA officials believe the team is stronger than last year's squad which made a surprisingly good showing in losing by a 33½ to 24½ count.

Besides Weslock the following were chosen: Gerry Kesselring, Kitchener Westmount; Jack Nash, London Hunt; Jack Amell, Toronto Lambton; Phil Farley, Toronto Scarboro; Johnny Koval, Sarnia; Don Varey, Brantford; Emerson Creed, London Hunt; Bruce Castator, Toronto Summerlea; Moe Norman, Kitchener Rockway; Bernie Johnson, Hamilton Glendale; Bill Morland, North Bay; Gerry Moran, Toronto Scarboro; John Watson, Chatham; Gil Walker, London Hunt; Bobby Fair, Toronto Scarboro; Mike Cassidy, Toronto St. George's; Sonny Morse, Toronto Mississauga; Reg Barber, Toronto Islington; Tom Woodall, Toronto Weston.

Reserves: Ron Paterson, Hamilton; C. W. Egleston, London Hunt; Bud Smith, Guelph Cutten Fields; Bud Donovan, Toronto Scarboro; and Keith Kirkpatrick, London Highland.

Women Golfers Show Good Form In Open

ST. CHARLES GOLF COURSE, Winnipeg, Aug. 22 — (CP) — If Monday's scores in the qualifying round are a guide, Canadian players stand an excellent chance of breaking the United States' three-year hold on the Canadian Women's Open golf championship.

Best hope of the 27 Canadians in the 32-player qualifying list seems to be Babs Davies, of Vancouver, 1949 Canadian close champion, who turned in a three-over-par 79. She was only one stroke off the pace set by medalist Grace DeMoss, of Seattle, defending open champion.

Veteran Ada MacKenzie, of Toronto, the 1950 close champion, Mrs. Graeme Pyke, of Montreal, also rate rate well in the match-play competition over the tree-lined 6,516-yards of the par-76 St. Charles layout.

Miss MacKenzie shot at 39-42 in the qualifying round Monday and her 81 added to a previous 36-hole total of 168 gave her second place in the close—three strokes back of Mrs. Pyke's 54-hole total of 246. Mrs. Pyke turned in an 82 in the qualifier.

Simmons Gets 16th Win Vanquishes Giants 4-0

By JOE REICHLER,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Detroit's pennant-hungry Tigers and New York's defending champions face one of the big moments of the season today as they clash in the opener of an all-important three-game series at Yankee Stadium.

With the pennant possibly riding on each pitch, both managers —Red Rolfe of the Tigers and Casey Stengel of the Yankees — are shooting with the best available.

Stengel nominated Allie Reynolds (16-11), his ciuten pitcher, in an effort to get off in front. Rolfe countered with Hal White (4-4), who shut out the bombers the last time he faced them.

As Stengel pointed out to his players Monday night, this is it for the second-place Yankees. Trailing Detroit by 3½ games, the bombers must capture two or three games to stay in the running. Already five behind in the all-important losing side, the Yankees cannot afford to lose many more. They've only 39 games left to play.

As if the Yankee meeting isn't enough, the Tigers' next stop-off station in the 11-game eastern swing is Boston, where they engage the Red Sox in another "crucial" three-game set.

Need Split

"Our present goal is to get at least a split in the six games with New York and Boston," Rolfe said.

That would be all right provided the third-place Cleveland Indians don't go on a rampage in Washington and Philadelphia while the Tigers are battling the Yanks and Red Sox. The Indians trail by 4½ games. The Red Sox are 6½ games off the pace.

Detroit picked up a half game on the rest of the field Monday when they slugged St. Louis Browns 7-1 in the only activity in the junior circuit. Dizzy Trout, the "comeback kid," posted his seventh straight triumph with a four-hitter. Al Widmar was the loser. Vic Wertz and Hoot Evers provided more than enough for Trout to rack up his 11th victory against two defeats. Each slammed a three-run homer.

Philadelphia's furious Phillies protected their 5½ game lead in the National League, vanquishing New York Giants 4-0. Curt Simmons, brilliant 21-year-old left-hander, pitched the shutout. He allowed only four singles, none solid. It was victory No. 16 for the $50,000 bonus baby who is destined to develop into one of the game's greatest pitchers—with Uncle Sam's permission. Simmons already in the army, expects to get the call around Sept. 1.

Edge Pirates

Don Newcombe's slick hurling and a perfectly executed double steal gave the Dodgers a 3-2 victory over the Pirates in Pittsburgh.

Deadlocked at 2-2, the Brooks pulled the winning play in the fifth with runners on first and third, two out and Jackie Robinson at bat. Willie Werle was on the mound when Duke Snider broke for second. Catcher Clyde McCullough whipped to second-baseman Danny Murtaugh. Jim Russell broke from third and slid in under Murtaugh's return throw.

St. Louis Cardinals wrested third place from Boston, defeating the Braves 9-2 in a night game. Tommy Glaviano hit two homers to lead the Cards' attack on three pitchers.

Cincinnati and the Chicago Cubs were not scheduled.

Catholics Told Must Accept Church Dogmas

VATICAN CITY, Aug. 22 (AP) —Pope Pius Monday told Roman Catholic clergy throughout the world that the dogmas of the church must be accepted and respected.

In a long encyclical he emphasized the necessity of safeguarding all religious instruction against the taint of "error."

The encyclical was issued at a moment when the question of dogma has become a subject of controversy between Catholics and Protestants. This stems from the Vatican's announcement that the Pope will soon proclaim as dogma the Virgin Mary's assumption into heaven in body as well as spirit.

The announcement provoked criticism in Protestant circles, especially on the part of the Church of England, whose leaders said they saw in it the threat of a new obstacle to the movement for Christian unity.

A formal statement by the heads of the Church of England, the Archbishops of Canterbury and York, expressed "profound regret" that the Catholic church had "chosen this act to increase dogmatic differences in Christendom and thereby gravely injured the growth of understanding between Christians."

To Pronounce New Dogma

The Pope will pronounce the new dogma Nov. 1 as a dramatic highlight to the 1950 Holy Year. He will hold a secret consistory of the College of Cardinals the day before.

In today's encyclical the Pope reviewed at length what he termed deviations in faith in modern times, then concluded with these instructions:

"Let the teachers in ecclesiastical institutions be aware that they cannot with tranquil conscience exercise the office of teaching entrusted to them, unless in the instruction of their students they religiously accept and exactly observe the norms which we have ordained.

Must Have Submission

"That due reverence and submission which in their increasing labor they must profess towards the teaching authority of the church, let them instill also in the minds and hearts of their students.

"Let them strive with every force and effort to further the progress of the sciences which they teach; but let them also be careful not to transgress the limits which we have established for the protection of the truth of Catholic faith and doctrine. With regard to new questions, which modern culture and progress have brought to the foreground, let them engage in most careful research, but with the necessary prudence and caution."

The Pope cautioned against indulging in the belief that the "dissident and erring can happily be brought back to the bosom of the church, if the whole truth found in the church is not sincerely taught to all without corruption or diminution."

Salvation Army Film Shown Rotary

First service club showing of the Salvation Army's new film, "The Quality of Mercy," was given members of Peterborough Rotary Club on Monday.

The film, in color, dealt with all phases of the Army's work across Canada from the rehabilitation of alcoholics to children's work.

Producer of the film and guest speaker at the meeting was Major Arnold Brown, head of the Army's public relations department. He was introduced by Major C. G. Everitt.

Photography was by Leslie Thatcher, who won prizes for his moving pictures in color of the royal visit in 1939. No actors took part in the film, which portrayed everyday parts of the Army's work.

Charlie Cox of Port Arthur Rare Flower In Politics

PORT ARTHUR, Ont.—In the Canadian garden of good, grey politicians, whose watchword is caution, a man like Charlie Cox, of Port Arthur, whose watchword is Charlie Cox, is as rare a flower as any since Vancouver's late Gerald Grattan McGeer.

Like Gerry, Charles Winnans Cox, now 68, is a blunt-spoken strong-willed extrovert with a passion for having things go his own way.

On one occasion, while he was mayor of Port Arthur, his council decided against paving a certain street, as directed by Charlie. The mayor called in the contractors personally and told them to go ahead. When the council in turn summoned the contractor and asked where he'd got his orders the road-builder smiled and replied, "Santa Claus." They knew whom he meant.

Cox is a bulldog-faced man described by one of his critics as looking "as if he were always on the brink of a towering rage." He's a self-made timber magnate, loosely described hereabouts as a millionaire, and with a penchant for expensive straw hats and brightly-hued Cadillacs, which he drives in characteristic fashion.

He is blind in one eye and that side of his face is disfigured by an acid burn inflicted 13 years ago by a Fort William school teacher, for reasons of her own. Some of Charlie's opponents felt that the resulting coast-to-coast publicity might be scandal enough to bump him out of public life, but had to concede later that it made him more popular than ever.

Cox was mayor of Port Arthur for 15 years, still represents Fort William in the provincial legislature and except for one word—"amalgamation"—might also be Fort William's mayor.

The Feuders

When Charlie ran for mayor of Fort William two years ago he used that challenging word "amalgamation" in his speeches and many political experts think it cost him his ambition of being mayor of both ports simultaneously.

Another contributing factor is that the residents of both cities fall into two camps. Some think Charlie is a saviour. Some think he is a dangerous demagogue of the Huey Long type or worse. He once told an interviewer that what this country needs is a dictator, and that he couldn't think of anybody better fitted for the job than Charlie Cox, in person.

One of the most bitter of the anti-Cox set is O. F. Young, the white-haired, dignified editor of Port Arthur's News-Chronicle, and between the two exists a classic feud. It is said to have begun when Cox broadcast the hope that Young's paper would oppose his election. "In that case," Charlie is reported to have said, "I can't lose."

Young, himself, makes no secret of his distaste for "that man," and when I asked him today about Port Arthur's most colorful character, the editor banged on his desk and said, "That man's name hasn't appeared in the News-Chronicle for five years and it never will as long as I have anything to say about it!"

This is only a slight exaggeration. Charlies name did appear in the News-Chronicle a couple of months ago. On this occasion Cox was fined $35 and costs for careless driving after he'd passed a provincial police car at a high rate of speed and forced an approaching car off the road. Cox explained in court that he was merely trying to overtake a cop who had been "arrogant" to him on an earlier occasion, and that it was "coincidental and unfortunate that I caught up with him on a curve."

The pro-Cox element, who like to tell how Charlie drops in on the "common folks" for a cup of coffee, cite the incident as evidence of their man's charming impulsiveness.

Marital Ties

Charlie's defeat in the Fort William mayoralty contest was a narrow one it's generally agreed that if he hadn't pumped for the merger of the two cities he probably would have been elected.

"Charlie has been one of the heartiest critics of Fort William, which he called 'The Swamp'," a Fort William man told me, "but, when he decided he'd like to be our boss, as well as Port Arthur's, he changed his tune. Drank a lot of coffee over here, Charlie did. But he guessed wrong when he figured on amalgamation."

Actually, the two cities are joined in many ways. Dr. Eddie Anten, Port Arthur's acting-mayor, reckons that a third of the marriages are inter-city. The last busses leaving one city for the other are packed with swains returning from courting their gals. "Distant fields look greenest," was the comment of one Port Arthur girl who married a Fort William man.

"On a Saturday in either city you'll find that one out of every three or four shoppers comes from the other place." Dr. Anten observes. "A lot of people who are stepping out for an evening will drive across the boundary to get a slightly different atmosphere. Why, it's very nice to have another city to visit, and, so close you can walk! Charlie just didn't seem to realize that most people like it this way."

A less tolerant Cox critic puts it another way. "Charlie figured he was a cinch to be mayor of both towns," this man said, "and since he was willing to amalgamate he just couldn't see why everybody else wasn't."

Charlie, himself, is out of town and not available for comment on all this. It's too bad because, as even those who hate him, concede, he is rarely dull.

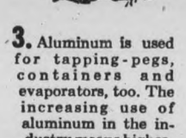
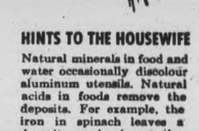
Aluminum adds a plus to pancakes!

An "Inside Story" about Maple Syrup

1. Aluminum means a lot to your breakfast! Your griddle-cakes taste better with good maple syrup. And the best syrup is made from sap that is collected in aluminum pails.

2. Maple sap must be well-protected to preserve its delicate flavour. Farmers using aluminum pails find this "food-friendly" metal preserves colour, taste and flavour perfectly.*





3. Aluminum is used for tapping-pegs, containers and evaporators, too. The increasing use of aluminum in the industry means higher-quality syrup for you.

HINTS TO THE HOUSEWIFE

Natural minerals in food and water occasionally discolour aluminum utensils. Natural acids in foods remove the deposits. For example, the iron in spinach leaves a deposit on aluminum; the acid from tomatoes or rhubarb dissolves the deposit.

* Quebec farmers receive Federal and Provincial aid in replacing old-fashioned sap pails with aluminum pails. Modern aluminum containers fully conform to all pure-food laws.

Aluminum is friendly to food!

Backshop Shed Of Cleaner Gutted By Fire

A flash fire of unknown origin swept through the cleaning shed of Shockey's Cleaners Monday, doing damage estimated at $1,000.

The fire started shortly after 6 p.m. and was spotted by Keith Mein, owner of the store. He telephoned firemen and the flames were under control shortly after their arrival.

The cleaning shed a small brick building in the yard behind the Simcoe St. store contained a clothes tumbler, a washer and extractor. Machinery and wood fittings were charred by the flames.

Mr. Mein said that when he noticed the fire, he ran to the yard and shut the door of the shed. "The flames were shooting right out, and I thought they might set the store on fire," he said.

Only a few clothes were in the tumbler. Mr. Mein said he didn't think the machinery was heavily damaged.

Gun Shot Fails To Stop Gasoline Thieves

Firing a shot into the ground failed to stop two young men fleeing from police after they were discovered trying to take gasoline from a car parked on the Wilson Service Station lot at McDonnel and Reid streets about 1:40 a.m. today.

Constable E. McDonald, who fired the shot chased the two youths north on Reid St., east on London St., north on Rubidge and there lost them.

Constable McDonald had been patrolling the area in a police cruiser with Constable Sherman Keliele. As the patrol car rounded the corner at Wilson's Service Station, two men ran from behind a car on the lot. Constable McDonald called them to stop and fired a shot, but the two ran on.

After losing them on Rubidge St., the policeman returned to his patrol car, and together with two other constables in another cruiser, searched the area, but without success.

A hose and a pail were found at the rear of the car from which the police first saw the men run.

Coventry Choir To Sing At CNE

Peterborough's Coventry Singers were judged first among nine open choir groups, Saturday, in recorded preliminaries to select finalists for Canadian National Exhibition music competitions.

To select two choirs for each of the three classes, judges in Toronto heard recordings which had been transcribed by radio stations in cities throughout Ontario during the past fortnight. Choral groups had selected their best number then recorded it at their local radio station. Transcriptions were forwarded to Capt. F. S. Atkinson, Director of Music at the CNE.

Judges who selected finalists were:

Dr. Charles Peaker, organist of St. Paul's Anglican Church, Toronto; Dr. Drummond Wolfe, organist and choir master, Metropolitan Church Toronto; and Dr. Leslie Bell, Toronto.

The finalists will compete on September 1st in the Music Amphitheatre at the CNE for $1,500 in cash prizes.

WHILE THE SUN SHINES—In a scene from the comedy which kept wartime London rocking with laughter, the Duke of Ayr, CENTRE, played by William Hutt talks to the dice: "Come again you little seven, once again for Ernest Bevin". Next to him, looking on, Carl Whitehead is the soldier of Free France.

3 Ways To Love French, USA, UK In Gay Play Dish

By T. J. ALLEN

There is not much body to "While The Sun Shines," but many feints of good bawdy for the ear quick to catch it, and for everybody, cast and audience, an infection of hilarity. It is a gay, sparkling and somewhat sly play, to be expected from the pen of Terrence Rattigan, who wrote "French Without Tears," a Summer Theatre presentation of last year. To miss "While The Sun Shines" this week means you have missed the play which had London by the delighted ears through four years of the war.

It is about an ingenuous Earl, attractively played by Ron Poffenroth, who is as personable in pyjamas as in his Able Seaman's middy and tight pants. The noble young Earl is betrothed to Lady Elizabeth (Deborah Trunball), who is almost as ingenuous as the fetching Earl with his two million pounds. On the eve of the wedding an American lieutenant and a French lieutenant intrude. The one is dedicated to closer Anglo-American relations, the other to closer Anglo-French relations—both in the shape of the Lady Elizabeth. Gerry Sarraccini is the American, and what a convincing, wolfish American he makes! Cal Whitehead is the French officer, and he mercifully plays the part with skilled restraint, giving French love and conceit-in-amour an aura of authenticity. Watch the telephone in this play. It is telepathic. Some of the brightest and funniest fustian comes from the telephone conversations.

The alluring sorceress is, of all things, a female named Mabel Crum. Charmion King plays her with sufficient abandon to lead the gambling Duke (and his audience) to smack the lips, and with enough humanity for the audience to like Miss Crum.

International Love

All works out adequately after a tortuous night and day, which includes choking scenes of the three young suitors having to sleep in the same bed, playing craps for the privilege of being first to urge their love to the Lady Elizabeth, and again gambling to decide who will be best man.

It is a very English, very funny play, even though some of the timeliness of the wartime quips has grown cold.

William Hutt is the Duke of Ayr, father of the Lady Elizabeth, who is more interested in race-track betting and borrowing cash than he is in his daughter's problems of love. Mr. Hutt plays the Duke with punch and better control of English inflections than some of the others.

Ron Bailey is Horton, the young Earl's "gentleman's gentleman." His quaking hand and senile voice keep his audience chuckling.

The action takes place in the chambers of the Earl of Harpenden, at the Albany in London. Margaret McDonough's set is, as usual, skilful and very good to look at. The painted ornament over the fireplace is eye-taking.

The play is directed by Michael Sadlier. It goes with verve and every artifice is used to give the bright lines (and there are many of them) a fillip; for instance, the very funny passage where the young Earl mimics his captain as a cockney.

It is a smacking good last show from these actors, who are making their final appearance of this season at the Queen Mary playhouse.

Local Buses Stand Ready To Augment Toronto Runs

Effects from the railway strike were felt by Peterborough bus lines today an hour-and-a-half after the 6 a.m. deadline. The Colonial Coach Lines reported the 7:15 a.m. coach to Toronto had an increase in passengers of 66 per cent. Usually throughout the week about five or six through-to-Toronto passengers use this coach; 20 through passengers boarded this morning. The weekend, which is usually the busiest time, is expected to bring an even greater volume of travel by bus.

Colonial officials explained that so far they are running regular trips and when extra equipment is needed, it will be used.

The line is renting what equipis available in the district to help carry the increase. All the independent bus lines in the area, at Lindsay, Cobourg, Trenton, Bowmanville, are releasing equipment to the main line companies, an official said.

Use Local Buses

When the independent buses are available, which is usually in the daytime in the Peterborough area, they will be rented to the main company. Ferguson Coach Lines is already co-operating with the Colonial Coach Lines here and others will be offered a similar agreement.

In Lindsay, the Algar and Chidley Coach Lines are assisting the Colonial Coach and in Port Perry, the DeNure Coach Lines are co-operating.

Reservations for trips to Toronto from Peterborough must be made at the local bus terminal. Also the passengers must board the buses at the terminal, not along the highway, as under normal circumstances. In this way, the official explained, the company will know if extra equipment is needed.

The same will apply to passengers in Toronto wishing to return to Peterborough. Reservations must be made at the terminal there.

Three Trips To Toronto

In that way the Peterborough people will be served on the 7.15 a.m., the 9.40 a.m. and 2.05 p.m. trips to Toronto, and the 8.30 a.m., the 1.30 p.m. and the 6.30 p.m. trips from Toronto.

The Colonial lines reported they could not guarantee passage on the Ottawa-Toronto or Toronto-Ottawa routes but that they would "do their best".

Ferguson Coach Lines reported very little increase in travel this morning, adding that they believed local travellers were "being cautious". Extra buses are ready if and when they are needed.

Car In Collision With Rear Of Truck

A car suffered $140 damage when it ran into the rear of a CNR cartage truck, driven by Robert English, 340 Stewart St., at Hunter and Bethune streets Monday.

English, driving east on Hunter St. stopped his truck to wait while a CNR shunting engine crossed along Bethune St.

While he was stopped a car driven by George Rispin, 384 Davisville Rd., Toronto, ran into the rear of the truck's platform. The left front fender, hood and headlight of the car were damaged. No damage was done to the truck.

Traffic Officer Gordon Trennum investigated.

How Long Will Strike Last Is Big Question Asked By Industry In City

Residents of Peterborough and district awoke today and found themselves caught in the throttling grip of a nation-wide railway strike. The economic life of the city is not likely to be vitally affected unless the walkout of some 124,000 non-operating railway employees continues. And there are hopeful signs of an early settlement.

As yet the railway walkout has not resulted in layoffs to workers in major Peterborough industries. However there is a danger of this at Quaker Oats which is almost totally dependent on railway freight service.

250 Affected

Strike headquarters in Peterborough estimate that about 250 employees are affected in this district. This number is boosted to 650 if the terminal points of Havelock and Lindsay are included.

Maintenance of waymen (CNR) work in Port Hope, Lakefield, Campbellford as well as Peterborough. And their opposite numbers on the CPR work from Agincourt to Havelock.

Strikers told the Examiner that the Peterborough figure includes five operational train crew on the CPR as well as 19 yard crew men. There are no operational crew for the CNR stationed in Peterborough and 13 yard crew men.

While these crews are not strikers they have been forced to stop work as the trains cannot be properly serviced without the co-operation of the men who walked off the job at 6 a.m. today. Many of them are seizing the opportunity to do a bit of fishing.

"Everything is shut down here except the signal tower and that won't be open long," explained a striker as he surveyed the CNR passenger office and freight sheds.

Unloading Midway

The only sign of activity was on one of the freight sidings where midway equipment was being unloaded by employees of the Bernard and Barry shows. They were assisted by local hired help for whom they had previously advertised.

Arrival of the midway show eliminated one of the chief worries of the Exhibition Board. It was feared that the show might not arrive before rail activity ceased.

No pickets have been placed at either the CNR or the CPR stations. Nor is it likely that any will, a union man commented unofficially.

CNR engines have returned to Lindsay until the strike is settled and the CPR engines to Havelock. Most of the rolling stock at Havelock was empty. Nothing perishable was left in the cars.

Last Train Through

The last train to pass through Peterborough was a CPR wayfreight at 7:30 a.m. (EST). It was completing its night-long trip from Toronto to Havelock, stopping at each station to drop freight.

At 4:35 a.m. the Ottawa-Toronto made its scheduled stop—affording the last chance for passengers to reach Toronto by rail. The Belleville passenger train stopped at the CNR station at 7:45 p.m. Monday, the last to run on that line.

Uptown both ticket offices were open. CPR officials explained that it was for information only; no tickets would be sold and no telegrams sent.

"You can buy a ticket to Vancouver if you want," said Walter Murphy of the CNR ticket office, "but you won't be able to get a train to ride on".

HOW LONG WILL

Plants Can't Tell If Supplies Will Outlast Strike

Peterborough factories today conducted brief inventories of their present supplies in an effort to determine how long production can be carried on.

The rail strike will have least effect upon the Canada Packers who reported the greater portion of the livestock is shipped to the plant by truck and where the plant sells, the company delivers by truck.

Gordon, S. Matthews, manager, said today that shipments to Sudbury usually made by rail will be carried by transport. The first carload left Peterborough last Friday and arrived there on Monday. Further shipments will leave here this weekend. The company may truck to Timmins also.

At the disposal of the Packers is Herb Payne's fleet of refrigerator tractor-trailers, one of the largest fleets of its type in Ontario.

Lemons, oranges, bananas and other fruit are expected to be scarce in a week's time if the strike continues. Most of this fruit is brought into Canada from the United States by rail.

Can't Tell Yet

Just how much the strike will affect the Quaker Oats couldn't be estimated today. All supplies are brought into the city and taken out by rail. Company officials were busy trying to determine just how long production can be carried on with the present supplies.

Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Company officials checked. The company estimates it would be able to continue two weeks with a full staff. After that time a slow reduction of employees would be necessary.

Finished materials in most cases may be shipped out by truck but incoming supplies will be difficult to obtain. This applies particularly to eastern Canadian cities. The western Canada trade will be stymied.

Good Supplies In

C. B. Merrett, manager of the Dominion Woollens and Worsteds Company, said "It is too early to predict" when asked whether the company would be affected greatly by the strike. He added that the company is "pretty well supplied with materials" and should not be affected too much unless the strike extends for a long period.

John F. Richardson, manager of the Peterborough Canoe Company, reported that the company's outgoing products will not be too greatly affected by the strike. Business is beginning to slow down, the season drawing to an end. He was unable to estimate how long the company would be able to continue production. The lumber for the crafts is shipped by rail to Peterborough from the west coast.

Ian McRae, CGE works manager, summed up the situation in most Peterborough plants by saying, "You tell me how long the strike will last and I'll tell you how it will affect us."

City People Slow To Give Help To Young Warsaw Lad

Peterborough "big brothers" haven't got around to the public appeal in behalf of Bobby Clark.

Contributions received by the Examiner today are both from the feminine side of the community:

Mrs. Ken Johnson $2; Miss Margaret Minicoal $1.

Representatives of the Warsaw Women's Institute called at the Examiner office today with assurance that the Bobby Clark Fund will be carefully expended.

The president is Mrs. Stuart Clysdale, whose husband is Reeve of Dummer; Mrs. Milton Drain is vice-president, and Mrs. George Weller.

Bobby Clark is the Warsaw boy whose left arm was recently amputated at the shoulder as a result of infection following a fracture of his arm from a fall out of an apple tree.

If the Big Brother spirit takes hold of the men of Peterborough in this case of a bright but unfortunate boy, many hands would be held out in gestures of helping him through a rough spot of his boyhood. The Examiner will gladly accept any sums in behalf of Bobby Clark.

Jack Rogers, formerly of the provincial police staff, received today a letter from James Evison of Huntsville, with parcel and explanation:....

"I am taking the liberty of sending a little piece of my hobby to help out in the sad affair of little Bobby Clark's misfortune. I think it might be drawn for and raise a little for the Fund. It could be made into a cushion cover. It is a copy of the first ship torpedoed in the last war. It isn't as neat as it might be, but I'm an old pensioner; 75 next month; and I know that Bobby Clark has a long way to go in the life ahead of him."

The Evison needlework is oval figure of a ship in colors on a background of black satin. Mr. Rogers is sending it to the Women's Institute.

EDWIN KIZER of 63 Beach Blvd., Hamilton, with a large pickerel caught in the river just above the filtration plant on Saturday evening. The fish weighed 8 lbs. 4 oz., and measured 27¾ inches. The bait used was a Viking spinner. Mr. Kizer was visiting his cousin, Thomas Millar of the filtration plant staff, who also had good luck in the same water Saturday, landing an eight-pound 'lunge.

Revived Muskie

With district fishing waters filled with near limit-size muskies this year, it is gratifying to hear from all quarters that fishermen are putting back to grow over the 30-inch mark for next season's sport. The little fellers more often than not, swallow the lures and cause themselves pain and injury during the process of removing hooks.

Douglas Barringer of 516 Glengarry Ave., reported that he snagged a small one in Little Lake on Monday. After extricating the lure, the little 'lunge turned "belly up" in the water. Douglas thought it had "had it" and hauled the fish close to the gunwale and massaged its gills back and forth for a couple of minutes.

This prompt artificial respiration brought the muskie round and it slipped away into deep water. For his good turn Barringer hopes to be repaid next year, he said, by taking the same fish when it becomes larger and legal.

Chamber Sets Up Clearing House To Aid Transport

The local Chamber of Commerce office will act as a clearing house for emergency shipments in or out of town, James Fraser, manager, announced today. He hastened to add that the chamber is not trying to strike-break and will act only in the case of emergency.

At the services of the chamber at present are: one tractor-trailer unit which is available only in the daytime; two refrigerator units which will be used for hauling perishable goods. Mr. Fraser added that he is looking for a truck which will carry goods from Peterborough to the Montreal area.

Anyone desiring emergency transportation for goods should contact the chamber, said Mr Fraser. The chamber in turn, will contact them with available truckers. Any truckers, he added who have available space should contact the chamber.

"Ex" Directors Mail Invitations To Rural Families

Sixteen thousand post card invitations to Peterborough Exhibition have been mailed to all householders on the rural routes of Peterborough County and also of Port Hope, Lindsay.

That has been part of the work of the Publicity Committee of which Claire G. Collins is chairman. With him are R. M. Glover and H. L. Garner.

Likewise, free admission tickets have been sent to all the primary school children of the city and county.

"If any boy or girl of Public or Separate School has not received a ticket, all that is required is to come to the office at the George Street gate, Wednesday, Children's Day," Mr. Collins said.

"We tried to overlook none of the youngsters, but it just so happened that my own little girl did not get one. So I know how deeply they can be disappointed at that age. We have a ticket for any boys and girls who did not get one free by mail.

"By Wednesday night we should know how many thousands of the young folks were with us on Children's Day."

Planning and mapping out the general advertising of the Exhibition has been another of the detail jobs that devolved on Mr. Collins.

New Publicity Man

This is his first year as publicity chairman. Mr. Glover had that chore for years, together with the lining up of grandstand attractions.

"I know that Peterborough is the shopping centre for thousands of people in this part of the province," Mr. Collins remarked to the Examiner. "Most of our merchants are aware of it."

(Mr. Collins is general manager of the R. Neill Company stores.)

"We decided to send postal card invitations to the Exhibition to people who are really neighbors to Peterborough. They are all within easy motoring distance, and we are hoping to get results from this special reminder of our big show this week.

"We want to see the children of all the schools in the county with us. They are the Exhibition supporters of the future. It will be a day's outing for them, and as every father and mother knows it won't be easy staying at home if Johnny and Mary have free tickets.

"This is a new experience for me, and when you are appointed to a job you naturally want to do the best you can. We have always had one of the best Exhibitions in the province, and I know how the directors, from President Hugh Stewart down, have been working since last fall getting ready for this week.

"All we need now is good weather and the co-operation of the public, and we should have a total attendance of more than 50,000 by Saturday night."

HaveBaby to DefeatBoredom Ex-stenographer Advised

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 24 and have been married almost a year. Before I was married I did stenographic work and liked it very much. I have a fine husband whom I love and who is good to me. I have a nice home, but at times I get very restless. I feel pinned down and that there is not enough excitement in keeping house or cooking to keep me interested. Since I have been married I have taken several temporary positions and as soon as I did I lost the depresesd and restless feeling, but when I did, I couldn't keep up my housework and we had to eat out. My husband thinks it makes a happier marriage if the wife stays at home. Perhaps it does, but I don't know anything about cooking or domestic work and pine for my old job. What can I do?—PUZZLED.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Have a baby. Nature supplies the remedy for idle women. When you have a youngster to love and pet, feed, bathe and dress, and who will keep you on the jump every minute of the day and half the night, you will not complain that time hangs heavy on your hands, or that you are bored because you have nothing exciting and interesting to do.

Housework Can Be Profession

In your particular case, and while you are waiting for the baby to solve your problem for you, I urge you to try to regard home-making as a profession and not as a chore. It is because most women only put their backs and not their brains nor their hearts into housework that they find it drudgery. They never learn how to cook, so they never find out that it takes skill and artistry and poetry and imagination to make a dish that delights the palate and the eye and the stomach. They never learn how to buy so as to get the most out of a dollar, or to run a house on a budget, so they never find out that a housewife needs to be as good a judge of commodities as any purchasing agent and as much of a financier as any banker.

They never think of making a home that is a place of rest for a tired man to come to of an evening and for children to grow up in an atmosphere of peace and comfort and order and love, as the greatest work that any woman can ever set her hand to. And so they miss the real reward of their labor.

Believe me, my dear if you will go at your housekeeping in the right spirit you will find it one of the most interesting and absorbing of occupations, and if you make a success of it you will have acquired one of the most profitable professions that any woman can follow if she needs to make a living.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a young man studying psychology I have been studying myself and I recognize that I am of only average intelligence and, therefore, notwithstanding I am ambitious and industrious, I am destined never to be a success in life. Probably I will never be able to make more than a very moderate living. I am in love and would like very much to marry, but I do not feel that I have the right to ask the girl to undergo the sacrifices which will inevitably be her lot with me. What do you think? T. H.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your case is a shining illustration of the proof of the old proverb that a little knowledge is a dangerous thing. Your superficial knowledge of psychology has done you more harm than good, if it has only made you realize your limitations and has not shown you how to achieve your possibilities. You are like a first-year medical student who thinks that he has all the diseases that he studies about.

Beyond very obvious and mental limitations no man knows what he can do until he has tried himself out. The world is full of people who are more astonished at their own successes than anyone else could possibly be because they have developed gifts and powers that they never dreamed that they possessed.

It is only the very conceited persons who never mistrust themselves. The humble-minded always belittle their abilities and are fearful of being able to accomplish anything. And that is why they so often succeed, because they feel that they have to work harder than the brilliant at their jobs.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Our father will celebrate his twenty-fifth wedding anniversary soon. We four daughters are planning to celebrate his wedding anniversary but the only obstacle is that our beloved mother died five years ago and we wonder if calling special attention to his silver wedding day will bring unhappiness to him. What do you think?

A.M.B. and L.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I think it is a beautiful idea and that instead of bringing your father unhappy memories it will fill him with thanksgiving that, even if his marriage has ended untimely, it has left for the consolation such devoted daughters. Undoubtedly this celebration of his silver wedding day with the bride of his youth gone will be a bitter-sweet occasion to your father, but he will feel that she is very close to him and that she lives again in each of you.

COOKBOOK OF THE WEEK

Scotland and Italy Furnish Two Excellent Soup Recipes

Some meals just aren't complete without soup. Other times soup can be the main course if it is a rich, nourishing full-bodied concoction. If you want some new ideas on the subject The Examiner's sixth cookbook in its series of 24, "250 Delicious Soups," is just the storehouse of recipes you need. Like the five previously released books, it is full of exciting illustrations and usual and unusual recipes to tempt the cautious and the experimental cook alike.

For a good, nourishing meal why not try something solid like Scotch Broth:

Scotch Broth

1½ pounds lean beef or mutton
¾ cup pearl barley, soaked 12 hours in cold water
4 onions, sliced
1 cup diced carrots
1 cup diced turnips
1 cup green peas
3 quarts boiling water
2 teaspoons salt

Combine all ingredients except salt in a kettle, cover with tight-fitting cover and simmer for 3 hours, stirring occasionally. Season before serving. Serves 8.

But if you would like something out of the ordinary that still will stick to the ribs, you might borrow the Italian standby, Minestrone:

Minestrone

¼ pound bacon, chopped
¼ pound ham, chopped
¼ pound Italian sausage, chopped
2 onions, chopped
2 tomatoes, chopped
½ cup died beans or marrow-fat peas (soaked in water 2 to 3 hours).
½ cup rice
¼ cup diced celery
6 cups meat stock
¼ head cabbage, shredded
1 cup mixed green vegetables
1½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
Grated Parmesan cheese.

Fry bacon, ham, sausage and onions together until slightly browned. Add tomatoes, rice, soaked beans or peas, celery and stock and simmer until beans are tender, skimming off fat frequently. Add shredded cabbage and mixed green vegetables (peas, Lima beans, string beans) and simmer until soup is thick and vegetables are soft. Season with salt and pepper. Serve with grated cheese. Serves 4 to 6.

Don't wait to get your copy of the Soup Book. Simply clip a coupon from page 2 of any issue of this newspaper and present it with 25c at The Examiner Office or to your Examiner carrier, or at Braund's Home Food Markets. And if you have missed any of the earlier books in this series, Snacks, Leftovers, Cakes, Poultry and Pies, catch up while there is still time. It takes one coupon and 25c for each book — or if you wish to send for them, enclose one coupon and 30c for each book (5c additional for postage and handling) to Cookbook Department, Examiner, Peterborough.

900 Wrens Come To Toronto For 1st Reunion

TORONTO (CP).—More than 900 of Canada's wartime lady sailors from all over the continent are heading for Toronto this month to attend the Wren's first reunion.

The date has been set for the weekend of Aug. 25 and ex-Wrens are coming from as far away as Venezuela.

Forma number of them the reunion will also be the family vacation, with husbands and children making the trip and remaining over to visit the Canadian National Exhibition.

To help defray expenses, railway coaches with cooking and refrigeration facilities have been made available to those travelling from the west coast.

Opens Saturday

The program will open Saturday morning with a general meeting and a parade past the grandstand at the CNE grounds. The crystal ballroom of the King Edward Hotel will be the scene of a banquet at which Defence Minister Brooke Claxton will speak.

Sunday morning services will be held. In the afternoon 13 of the Wren Associations across Canada will cruise aboard HMCS Portage.

Prizes are being offered for the largest family, the greatest distance travelled to attend the reunion and the most amusing service story.

Among those attending are Mrs. Donald B. Sinclair, former WRCNS director; Isabel J. MacNeill, former commanding officer HMCS Conestoga; Mrs. John Stiles, with the Canadian Consulate General in Caracas, Venezuela; Kitty Kelly, with the Canadian Legation in Havana, Cuba, and Mrs. James Wyard and her two children, of Yellowknife, N.W.T.

Charges Children Being Spoon-fed

HALIFAX (CP).—A Pine Hill Divinity College professor recently told a Teachers' Summer School class here, "We tend to spoon-feed our children too much instead of educating them."

Prof. J. B. Hardie said the teachers' job is to produce minds that can move on their own. They are catering too much to the students' whims, fads and fancies, and discipline is suffering.

"I suggest we are producing parrot-like children," said the professor. "We are not letting them do enough on their own and are deliberately crushing initiative."

In religion, too, he said, the importance of young people is stressed too much. He caused a laugh when he added that "Child psychologists are beginning to declare that one may actually spank a child."

Dr. Hardie said there must be more study of languages and Canada should emphasize the study of French because the nation is bilingual.

What's Right?

You visit a friend who has several young children.

WRONG: Make a fuss over the youngest or the one who seems most appealing to you.

RIGHT: Be careful to pay as much attention to one child as to another, as children are extremely sensitive about being ignored while a brother or sister is overly praised by guests.

BLACKHEADS

simply dissolve and disappear by this one simple, safe and sure method. Get two ounces of peroxine powder from any drug store, sprinkle on a hot, wet cloth, and apply gently—every blackhead will be gone.

You Can't Hear It!

You Have To See It!

See this modern miracle on display at the Peterborough Exhibition

Servel Refrigerators

Due to a freezing unit that has no moving parts SERVEL is always SILENT.

Nothing to wear out and cause noise. Look at a Servel with the door closed and compare its simple classic beauty, its modern lines. Then look at Servel with the door open and notice its spacious interior, its compact arrangement of shelves and freezing unit. Add up all these fine points plus the fact that more than 3,000,000 Servels have been sold and you too will choose Canada's finest refrigerator.

Electric –

Models operate on a tiny electric element (takes the place of machinery)

Kerosene –

Models (where you are out of reach of hydro) operate from a small Aladdin lamp.

Coach Annis Stukus led his Edmonton Eskimos to an 11-6 victory over the Dominion champion Montreal Alouettes in an exhibition football game at Edmonton Monday night.

With less than three minutes left in the game, and Alouettes threatening to overtake the weakening Eskimos, coach Stukus stepped in to kick an important three-point field goal.

The loss was the second for Lew Hayman's 1949 Grey Cup champions on their western tour. Saturday Calgary Stampeders beat them 19-7.

A touchdown by 19-year-old Don Simon, converted by Stukus, a single by Moore and the last-quarter placement accounted for Edmonton's scoring. Halfback Joey Pal got the Montreal major in the final quarter and Ches McCance converted it.

A record number of golfers is slated to tee off in the Canadian open golf championship at Montreal Thursday. Sam Snead and a host of other U.S. entries have sent the number over 200, compared with last years record of 189.

A visiting team of French tennis players scored a 2-to-1 victory over three members of Canada's Davis Cup team at Three Rivers, Que., Monday. Jean Ducos de la Haille and Robert Abdesselam won two singles matches over Brendan Macken and Henri Rochon but lost to a doubles team of Macken and Lorne Main.

Major league baseball and its player pension fund will be enriched by almost $1,000,000 by the telecast and radio broadcast of the 1950 world series. Baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler announced in Cincinnati Monday that Gillette Safety Razor Company and the Mutual Broadcasting Company have been granted exclusive radio and television rights for the 1950 world series. TV will cost $800,000 and radio $175,000.

The U.S. Davis Cup team's chances of making its fourth consecutive defence against the challenging Australians appeared endangered after Jack Bromwich and Frank Sedgman defeated Gardnar Mulloy and Bill Talbert 7-5, 8-6, 3-6, 6-1 for the U.S. doubles tennis titles at Brookline, Mass., Monday.

The women's titles were won easily by Louis Brough and Mrs. Margaret Osborne 6-2, 6-2 from two other Americans Doris Hart and Shirley Fry.

Fred (Cyclone) Taylor, hockey great and recently retired immigration department official, said in Vancouver Monday he has declined an offer to manage Ottawa Senators of the Quebec Senior Hockey League.

Taylor said his reason for declining the offer were twofold: His love for the Pacific coast and his interest in the Kerrisdale Arena in Vancouver.

Canadian bantamweight boxing champion Fernando Gagnon, 117, of Quebec knocked out Lew Yonker, 115, of Roanoke, Va., after 2:43 of the sixth round of a scheduled 10-rounder at Quebec last night.

Vancouver Clover Leafs want to represent Canada in the world basketball championships at Buenos Aires, but not if they must both "pay and play," their manager said Monday.

"We certainly couldn't carry the entire expenses," said manager Ralph Henderson.

Hit Crippling Blow By Strike Every Corner Of Canadian Life

By The Canadian Press

The big railway strike today reached into ever cranny of Canadian life.

For weeks Canadians had been warned that it was coming. Emergency plans had been laid well in advance. Though hardly daring to believe that it would happen, communities from Victoria, B.C., to St. John's, Nfld., prepared for the worst.

Yet no amount of planning could adequately compensate for the loss of the vital steel arteries spanning a continent.

As the word was flashed from Montreal that last-minute conferences could find no solution before the 6 a.m. deadline today, the immediate effects were the obvious ones. Across the land, trains were halted and telegraph communications suspended.

Upon the length of the walkout would hinge the degree of disruption in the national economy—food shortages, fuel shortages, industrial layoffs and business paralysis.

Emergency Services

Emergency services swung into action to meet the crisis of the first national rail tie-up in Canada's history. Bus companies and airlines expanded services to handle travellers, commuters and tourists. The Canadian Automotive Transport Association announced in Toronto that every truck across Canada would be pressed into service transporting foods, medical supplies and other freight.

Canada's problem was one of distribution, especially acute in a country whose 14,000,000 people are spread across 3,500 miles.

It was a problem of getting fresh foods from the central Canada farm areas to Vancouver and to Halifax, of moving coal to such industrial cities as Hamilton, of moving the West's wheat to flour mills and to ocean ports, of taking to market the products of paper mills and shoe factories and automotive plants before lack of storage space caused them to close down.

The complexities were as numerous as the railway cars standing idle and without their loads of mail, milk, gasoline, fruit or whatever else a rich country produces.

Prepared Strike Plans

Many cities had drawn up strike plans well in advance and appointed emergency co-ordinators. In 175 Ontario cities and towns, the Provincial Automotive Transport Association—an affiliation of firms operating 13,000 trucks—appointed "district co-ordinators" who worked with municipal officials to ensure swift movement of medicines, bread, milk and other perishable foods.

Nearly 3,000 vehicles, mostly heavy tractor-trailer trucks, were made available by large Toronto companies for transport work. Officials said their routes will take them to Ontario points and to Montreal and Quebec City.

Remote communities, particularly those in poor farming areas, feared they would feel an early pinch. Hornepayne, a Canadian National Railways divisional point 575 miles north of Toronto, was virtually isolated. With no highways leading out, its 2,000 population worried whether special trains would be allowed to bring in fresh food.

Passengers Stranded

Trans-continental passengers were stranded with townspeople when westbound trains out of Montreal and Toronto were halted Monday because they would not reach their destination before the strike deadline. Even telephone service out of Hornepayne was suspended, along with that in other Northeastern Ontario and Northwestern Quebec centres where the Ontario Northland Railway operates the phones.

The importance of the rail services to Canada's economy was driven home in many ways, big and small. In the Prairies, farmers worried that a shortage of binder twine and parts for machinery repairs may hamper harvesting. In Saskatoon, it was estimated the city's power plant has fuel enough only for two weeks' operation, even on a reduced basis.

In Ottawa, oil companies spoke of a "distinct possibility" that motorists will be cut off if the strike lasts more than a week because trucks could bring in quantities sufficient only to meet minimum needs.

Dependent On Trains

Lumber men in New Brunswick and mining men in British Columbia said their industries were dependent upon rail transportation. Fruit farmers in Southwestern Ontario feared that their crops would be wasted—they could truck to such nearby cities as Toronto and London but these markets would soon be glutted.

Toronto's union station, biggest railway terminal in Canada, is virtually deserted except for pickets. Some 3,000 persons normally work in and around the huge depot. A "mothball crew" has been assigned to essential maintenance such as oiling machinery and keeping up steam pressure.

Postal officials in Toronto are organizing a motor-vehicle service to maintain first-class-mail exchange between Toronto and Ontario points not served by airlines.

An estimated 25,000 persons were isolated in small towns and villages strung out along the Northern Ontario Railway lines. Bush pilots said they'd need at least 500 planes to do an adequate air-supply job; about 100 are available.

A meat famine, gasoline rationing and a shutdown of paper mills and other industries were feared over an extensive area of Northern Ontario. The meat shortage is expected to become acute within three days. With no central cold storage plants, supplies normally are carried in from day to day by rail.

Detroit Wildcat Strike Halts Chrysler Work

DETROIT, Aug. 22 (CP) — A wildcat strike, stemming from the job classification of a single worker, Monday halted production at a plant here of the Chrysler Corporation.

Pickets at the gate kept all but 350 of 1,700 employees from going to work on an afternoon shift.

A spokesman for Local 400 United Automobile Workers (CIO) said the strike was not authorized by the union.

Company and union met Monday night in an attempt to settle the dispute, which started with the walkout of 200 employees. They claimed that a new worker was put on a job at a rate five cents less than the previous rate for the work.

Indian Chiefs Get Support Of Union

BRANTFORD, Aug 22—Hereditory chiefs of the Six Nations Indians have enlisted the support of Local 458 of the United Automobile Workers Union (CIO) in their campaign for the restoration of their right to rule their tribes.

A joint meeting of the union and the chiefs passed a resolution declaring the Indian Act unfair, and protesting a ruling of 1924 which made an elected council the tribes' ruling body.

The chiefs came to the meeting in full regalia, and spoke only their native tongue, although they can all speak English. An interpreter was used.

Files Divorce Suit

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 22—(AP)—Jackie Coogan's third wife filed suit Monday for divorce against the one-time child movie star. Actress Ann McCormack, 26, said that she and Coogan, 36, separated last Friday after reaching an agreement on property division. Coogan married Miss McCormack Dec. 26, 1946. Formerly "The Kid" was wed to Betty Grable and actress Flower Parry.

Want Shorts Banned

GRANDA, Spain, Aug. 22—(AP)—The Archbishop of Granda Monday asked the public to join in a "crusade for decency in dress". Archbishop Santos Olivera's pastoral said tourists from abroad who wore shorts in public and thus exhibited their thighs lacked decency in dress. Municipal authorities warned that persons wearing insufficient clothing will not be allowed on the streets.

Choose Former Mayor To Complete Term

WALLACEBURG, Aug 22 (CP) —Former Mayor J. Eric McDonald was elected mayor here Monday to complete the term of Mayor W. D. Glendinning who died Aug. 14. He was nominated by Reeve F. Nightingale and Councillor B. Shingles.

No other names were submitted and Clerk G. F. Glassford said the new mayor can preside over the postponed regular meeting of the council Tuesday night if he qualifies under the Municipal Act.

Just before nominations were held, Reeve F. Nightingale, acting mayor, received a letter from W. J. Manager of the National Employment Service here, asking that nominations be postponed and a court of revision be held so he could qualify for nomination as mayor. Owing to the late request and expense of an election, council decided it could not consent to the suggested postponement.

Hamilton Man Killed In Traffic Accident

HAMILTON, Aug. 22—(CP)—George H. Holmes, 49, of Hamilton, was killed and his wife and son seriously injured in a traffic accident on the Queen Elizabeth Way, a mile west of near Grimsby, Sunday night.

Mrs. Holmes is in West Lincoln Memorial Hospital with a fractured shoulder and leg injuries and George Holmes Jr., 14, is in hospital with a possible fractured skull, a broken rib and facial cuts.

The Holmes car went out of control and rolled over onto the east-bound lane. Police questioned the driver of a second car damaged at the same spot but they could not definitely establish whether it had been in collision with the Holmes' car or had been damaged during the traffic jam which developed soon after the accident.

Korean Names Stymie Writers

TOKYO, Aug. 22—(Reuters)—Tokyo correspondents anxiously scanned their maps when an air force spokesman clearly announced that yards at Shun-Ting had been bombed.

Was it Sun-Ting-Dong (town) or Shun-Ting-Tong (river)?

It was "Dong," the town, said the spokesman.

The daily struggle with Korean names has reduced many spokesmen and correspnodents to planting a finger firmly on the map and saying "here" when they want to indicate a place.

There have not been any nicknames—about the only one to stick is for Waewan, which has become Wigwam.

Some names have a fine bell-like ring — Songjongdong or Chongphongdong—but even that does not solve the problem. There are two and often three places with the same name.

Add the complication of Japanese-given names for Korean towns and you can see why the correspondents measure everything from two or three comparatively simple places.

218 Die of Polio

LONDON, Aug. 22—(Reuters)—Another death was reported today in Britain's polio outbreak—a 17-year-old boy at Salisbury, Wiltshire. Three other deaths were reported Saturday, Britain's Ministry of Health announced that up to Aug. 12 the outbreak cost 218 lives this year compared with 98 during the same period last year.

Canada Interested As Britain Sends Units

OTTAWA, Aug. 22 — (CP) — Britain's swift dispatch of regular Hong Kong units to Korea was noted with interest here today but without any indication that Canada intends to do likewise.

A spokesman indicated that Canada's policy against sending regular combat units to Korea still stands and that the defence department will go ahead as quickly as possible to train and equip a special volunteer force.

This will take some months, although more than enough men for the force, a brigade group, itself have been enlisted already.

Several hundred or so regulars will go with the brigade as technicians and specialists.

Fifth Century Vase Presented St. Laurent

OTTAWA, Aug. 22—(CP)—A 10-inch ritual perfume vase, unearthed from the ancient tombs of Greece, has been presented to Prime Minister St. Laurent as a token of Canada's good relations with that country.

Presentation of the vase, a product of the fifth century, B.C., was announced today by Mr. St. Laurent's office.

The antique was brought to Ottawa by George Economou and Adnastase Meletopoulos, members of the Greek-Canadian League of Athens, and presented to the prime minister Saturday by the Greek ambassador, Contantin Sakellaropoulo.

French Children Said Leaving School Too Soon

OTTAWA, Aug. 22 — (CP) — Robert Gauthier, of Ottawa, director of French teaching in Ontario, Sunday night told representatives of French-speaking co-operatives that French-speaking children "too often leave school too soon.

Mr. Gauthier was guest speaker at a banquet during a two-day session of the Canadian Council of Co-operatives, representing more than 1,000 French speaking co-operatives from all parts of Canada.

He said there is need for teaching the basics of co-operation in elementary and secondary schools. The whole task lay not only with the teachers, but with the family.

A. B. MacDonald, general secretary of the (English-speaking) Co-operative Union of Canada, spoke in French:

"Our two great organizations have a lot in common; we have worked together and reached the same necessary objectives in the domain of co-operative taxation. We hope to continue working together for the success of co-operative movements in this country."

Co-operation Theme

The theme of the congress, "the co-ordination of co-operation," was studied during meetings held in the morning and the afternoon at the University of Ottawa.

Henri C. Bois, general manager of the Quebec Federated Co-operatives, said in his speech on the necessity of co-ordination among the various French speaking co-ops that the aim of the central council was not to absorb these co-ops, but to unify their action.

Mr. Bois welcomed delegates from Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, Manitoba and Saskatchewan. He outlined the purpose of the council and spoke on the co-ordination of these co-operatives on an economical basis.

The delegation then elected members to various committees. Members for the resolution committee are:

Ontario—Ernest Denis, Timmins, and the Rev. Antoni Toupin, director of the social centre of the Ottawa University; Quebec—Leo Filion, member of the Quebec Federation of Co-operatives and Mrs. Jeanne-G. Decarie of Montreal, member of the "Guildes Feminines de la Familiale"; New Brunswick—Martin Legere, Caraquet, N. B.; Prince Edward Island, J. Henri Blanchard, Charlottetown; Saskatchewan—Rev. Dominique Dugas, Moose Creek; Manitoba—Raynald Labossiere, manager of the Saint-Leon Co-operative.

Rev. Amicet Morin of Timmins, Ont., and Martin Legere, Caraquet, N. B., were named to the nomination committee.

Flin Flon Seeking Collector For Pennies

FLIN FLON, Man., Aug. 22—(CP)—Who's going to count the pennies collected from Flin Flon's new parking meters?

A bank has offered paper wrappers but won't fill them.

No city employee has volunteered for the job.

A pailful of pennies was dumped on the council table last week. Councillors reached the logical conclusion: It was their money and they'd have to count it themselves.

So they counted and wrapped, counted and wrapped. Nine manhours of work were involved.

Then they reached agreement: At the next council meeting, somebody is going to be made official counter.

Child Who Sat On Hitler's Knee Would Like To Forget Episode

LONDON, Aug. 22—(CP)—A 21-year-old Munich-born girl, who as a child sat on Hitler's knee and played with him in her nursery, would like to forget that episode in her life.

The girl, Rautgundis Gaffran, who 15 years ago was described by Hitler as a "perfect Aryan child," is in London to take a course in gymnastics.

Now tall, slim and blonde, Miss Gaffran says she first met Hitler when she was six. "I only remember feeling frightened the first time I saw him," she said. "His moustache looked like a big black beetle."

Hitler, she told reporters, took an interest in her family primarily because her uncle was one of his most militant supporters. He was killed during the early days of the Nazi movement. Her father, an architect, supervised the construction of Dachau and Ravensbruck concentration camps.

Gross Exaggeration

Miss Gaffran believes that current accounts of what occurred in these camps during and after the war have been "grossly exaggerated." But she admits that Germans knew that Hitler had lampshades made from the skin of prisoners who had died or been executed.

"Hitler," she said, "offered one to my mother as a present. She refused it. There was nothing we could do about that. How could we have stopped it?"

A one-time leader in the Hitler youth movement, Miss Gaffran said she wants to forget all that, and will never again belong to a political party.

North Rationing Food As Rail Strike Cuts Off Vital Supplies

Many Families Pooling All Food Stocks To Help Stave Off Crisis; Fresh Fruits, Vegetables, Gone In 2 Days

TORONTO, Aug. 23—(CP)—Residents of remote Ontario communities which depend on rail links for food supplies have started food rationing as a result of the railway strike. They include Gogama, Hornepayne, Foleyet, Nakina and Armstrong, all in northern sections of the province. Merchants are trying to make dwindling stocks of foodstuffs go 'round.

At Gogama, a village of 800 persons on the Canadian National Railways line 120 miles northwest of Sudbury, the community's four merchants have issued a ration order on Ontario Provincial Police stationery to the effect that families will be supplied only in proportion to their needs.

Fresh milk is out of stock in Gogama, but supplies of canned milk may last for the rest of the week if there's no hoarding. Gasoline and other fuels are already short.

Mothers Worried

Mothers of babies are worried at Brent, CNR divisional point 165 miles west of Ottawa. The only store in the Algonquin Park town sold its last bottle of milk Tuesday. Some Brent families have pooled their supplies of food.

In other communities in the north, residents are reported to have turned to picking berries and fishing to replenish lean larders.

That is what Mrs. Wallace McKee is doing at Thor Lake, 50 miles north-east of Sudbury. Wife of a tourist camp operator catering to about 20 guests, she confessed today that she "just plumb forgot" last week to order this week's supply of groceries.

"Silly me," Mrs. McKee said today. "Unless the fish keep biting up here, it's going to be pretty rough. We are just about out of meat, eggs and bread."

Union May Let Mercy Train Go To Atikokan

MONTREAL, Aug. 23 (CP). — Frank H. Hall, chairman of the negotiating committee of 15 international railway brotherhoods whose 94,000 members are on strike, said Tuesday night, Atikokan, Ont., may get its mercy train.

Atikokan is a northwestern Ontario iron mining town, 100 miles west of the lakehead, which became isolated following the general walkout. It has no roads nor airport and the railways provided its only outside communication. The last train that shuttled foodstuffs into Atikokan arrived Saturday.

The Fort William Chamber of Commerce has urged the dispatch of a mercy train with food and other necessities to the remote town. It announced the sending of telegrams to Prime Minister St. Laurent, Donald Gordon, president of the Canadian National Railways, and Mr. Hall.

Mr. Hall said he had not yet received any official notice of the request. He said nothing would be done pending arrival of the telegram.

However, he added, the train most likely would be let through.

"The matter will have to be handled through the regular union and company channels and will be expedited because it is an emergency."

Some Red Faces As Train Stalls

EDINBURGH, Aug. 23 (Reuters).—Britain's fastest train literally couldn't make the grade Tuesday night.

The Capitals Limited, crack London-to-Edinburgh express, was making a triumphant entry into the northern capital with 400 passengers and royalty on board It had taken just seven hours and 40 minutes for the 400-mile run from London.

In a special car were the Queen Mother of Belgium; her daughter, Princess Josephine Charlotte; and Princess Maria Pia of Italy, on their way to Edinburgh Festival.

On the platform were the Lord Provost of Edinburgh, the Belgian consul in Edinburgh and other dignitaries.

Then it happened.

As the train started into the station, the locomotive's wheels started slipping on the greasy rails, wet from heavy rain.

The wheels kept turning, but the train stopped. The driver made a rude remark—but still no motion.

Finally, he called for help with a despairing whistle. A little shunting engine puffed up, gave a push and the Capitals Limited, royalty and all, completed its journey.

Say British Troops Will Leave In Week

HONG KONG, Aug. 23 (AP)—Departure within a week of 1,500 British troops for Korea will be no great secret.

But whether the Tommies from the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders and the Middlesex Regiment will go directly to Korea or first to Japan is a secret.

The troops will travel by merchant ship, but some may go by air.

Canadian Admiral Inspects RN Schools

PORTSMOUTH, England, Aug. 23 —(CP)—Rear Admiral E. R. Mainguy, who will be flag officer commanding the Canadian Special Service Squadron during its autumn cruise in Europe, today inspected schools and establishments at this royal navy base.

During his stay he is to visit gunnery and torpedo schools and the submarine depot. He will leave for Londonderry, Northern Ireland, Sept. 13 and a week later will hoist his flag in the aircraft carrier Magnificent on taking command of the Canadian squadron.

The Magnificent, with the destroyers Micmac and Huron, will also make courtesy calls at many ports, including Gibraltar, Oslo, Copenhagen, Lisbon, Amsterdam and Antwerp

Mainguy, flag officer commanding the Atlantic coast, arrived here Monday.

Awarded 35-Hour Week As Newspaper Strike Ends

NEW YORK, Aug. 23—(AP)—The 10-week strike against the New York World-Telegram and Sun ended Tuesday night and the newspaper said it will start publishing again next Monday.

Striking members of the American Newspaper Guild (C.I:O) voted 270 to 90 to accept a two-year contract worked out Saturday.

Picketing that closed the plant when the strike began June 13 stopped immediately after the vote. The management issued staggered back-to-work orders, starting Thursday, to prepare the big afternoon daily for its reappearance.

Both sides claimed gains in the compromise settlement.

The terms call for a freeze on economy firings for the first year, with advance notice and the privilege of arbitration in the second year; pay raises up to $10 a week for a top minimum wage of $120 a week; and a guaranteed "maintenance of membership" for the Guild.

Other terms were 35-hour week, improved holiday vacation and military-leave c es and extra premium pay night work.

The Guild failed to get the "nine-out-of-10" union shop it sought, but the maintenance of membership gives it approximately a four-of-five majority among the nearly 500 eligible employees. The Guild also accepted modified terms in some of the other fields.

"I consider the contract a complete victory for the Guild despite the absence of the full Guild-shop clause," said Thomas J. Murphy, executive vice-president of the New York Newspaper Guild.

"The job freeze of one year is to my knowledge without precedent in the settlement of strikes in recent American labor history.

Demand Police Force

BONN, Germany, Aug. 23 —(AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today repeated his demands that West Germany immediately be allowed an armed police force and that the western allies send more troops to Germany. Adenauer amplified his demands at a press conference after Socialist leader Kurt Schumacher rejected the proposal for a 65,000 - man American-armed force during a lengthy conference Tuesday.

Report Margaret Engaged To Dalkeith

LONDON, Aug. 2 (AP).—The Evening Star says today Princess Margaret is engaged to the Earl of Dalkeith and that the official announcement of the betrothal "will be the next important event in the royal family."

The Star quotes "friends of the princess" as its authority for this newest engagement report.

The 27-year-old Earl, a friend of Princess Margaret since childhood, is among the several young eligibles who have escorted her at night clubs, theatres and house parties. Lord Dalkeith, a lieutenant in the Royal Navy during the war, some day will inherit one of the largest fortunes in Britain.

Margaret and her parents, the King and Queen, are on vacation at Balmoral Castle in Scotland.

Holiday In Scotland

Further indications that the engagement may be in the offing, says the Star, were seen in the report that Prime Minister Attlee —a member of the Privy Council —is preparing to leave for a holiday motor tour of Scotland.

The newspaper points out that Margaret's engagement, according to royal tradition, must have the formal consent of the King after he has discussed it with his Privy Council.

Rumors already have circulated that the gay 20-year-old princess will marry Dalkeith. But the Earl previously has spiked such reports as "foolish."

The newspaper says today that Dalkeith's mother, the Duchess of Buccleuch, was quoted by a spokesman as saying:

"I cannot say anything one way or the other."

Margaret spent last week with the Earl and his parents at Drumlanrig Castle, the family estate at Dumfrieshire, Scotland.

The Sunday Pictorial says the engagement would have been announced before now had it not been for the birth of a daughter to Margaret's sister, Princess Elizabeth, last week.

Destroyer Bombed

WITH ALLIED FORCES IN KOREA, Aug. 23 (AP).—Two Red Yak fighter planes Tuesday night strafed and bombed the Royal Navy destroyer Comus.

The United States Fifth Air Force joint operation centre said no damage was reported in the attack by the Russian-made planes. British ships have been operating along the Korean west coast in the Yellow Sea.

Athabaskan Sailors On 2 Islands

Occupy One Village Later Demolish Enemy Installation

OTTAWA, Aug. 23—(CP)—Without any reported casualties, Canadian seamen from the destroyer Athabaskan have made two landings on islands off the Communist-held coast of South Korea, the Navy announced today.

In the first operation, a landing party from the Athabaskan supported South Korean naval personnel in the capture of an island. The landing force went ashore unopposed and occupied a village. The Athabaskan seamen later were withdrawn.

In the second operation Athabaskan seamen landed and demolished an enemy installation.

Commanded by Cmdr. R. P. Welland of McCreary, Man., and Victoria, the Athabaskan has taken part in two other actions recently, the Navy said. On both occasions the powerful 'ribal class destroyer bombarded targets on the enemy-occupied west coast of South Korea.

The Sioux, under the command of Cmdr. Paul D. Taylor of Victoria also has carried out a bombardment assignment recently. The destroyer's guns blasted enemy installations on an island off the South Korean coast.

The Cayuga, commanded by Captain J. V. Brock of Winnipeg and Victoria, senior ship of the three Canadian navy destroyers in the Korean theatre, was the first Canadian ship to see action. With a Royal Navy Frigate the Cayuga penetrated an enemy-held port on the South Korean coast and destroyed or heavily damaged ships, rail terminals and harbor installations.

Security Ban

The defence department release told of the landings in two brief, skimpy paragraphs. A spokesman said later the facts released are all that can be made public for security reasons.

It would be in the interests of the enemy, he said, to know such facts as the size of the forces, their weapons, how long they stayed ashore and when the landings were made.

It is known, however, that warships like the Athabaskan carry small arms and have men trained for such landings. Korea is the sort of an area where they would be both valuable and logical.

Fly Supplies To 'Quake Areas

SHILLONG, Assam, India, Aug. 23 (CP)—Aircraft were to drop food and medical supplies today to thousands of villagers cut off from the world by flood waters following last week's catastrophic earthquakes in Assam.

New tremors which shook the upper Assam town of Doom Domma Tuesday killed 10 tea-garden workers.

In last week's massive convulsions 80 persons were known to have lost their lives. However, unofficial estimates put the figure at more than 200

"Incalculable" damage was reported. Nearly 100,000 houses collapsed and many towns and villages in the northeast frontier area were left desolate heaps of mud and debris.

Possible sharp increases in tea prices were seen today as one result of the quake. Heavy damage is reported to Assam's vast tea plantations, which last year contributed more than two-thirds of India's leaf production. In addition to crop losses, soil upheavals may make cultivation of some tea plantations impossible for years.

Won't Take Excuses

CAMP BORDEN, Aug. 23 (CP) —Col. D. K. Todd, garrison commander of Camp Borden, said today soldiers on leave are expected back on time regardless of the railway strike. He said most of the 200 men now on leave are close enough to return "by bus or thumb."

Token Walkouts Won't Spread Unions Pledge

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP). —Union officials Tuesday night announced a moratorium "for the time being" on further United States rail strikes after a new series of White House talks had failed to reach a settlement.

A union spokesman told reporters he was speaking for both the trainmen's and conductors' unions in declaring:

"Out of consideration for the president, and respect for him, extension of the strikes to other yards and terminals or beyond that have for the time being been held in abeyance."

But the spokesman would not predict how long the pledge against the spread of strikes would hold.

Turn Down Suggestion

Some union officials earlier had hinted at a major expansion of the present five-day "token" walkouts if a quick settlement of the 17-month-old dispute was not reached.

However, the union spokesman indicated that any such action had been thrown overboard following a new round of White House conferences.

Late Tuesday afternoon, the White House had again summoned union and management officials for the second time during the day, but once more the announcement was "no progress."

Union officials said President Truman had not specifically requested the moratorium, although he had previously asked the unions to call off the walkouts.

Believe Ocean Liners Diverted From Halifax

HALIFAX, Aug. 23 (CP)—Possibility that ocean liners will be diverted from Halifax because of the railway strike was seen today.

Shipping agents said no such plans have yet been made but the possibility of diversion "might very well develop."

The first liner scheduled to arrive is the Nova Scotia, due from Liverpool Sept. 4.

The Canadian cruiser, plying between Montreal and Halifax and the West Indies, is due here tomorrow. It was not anticipated that passengers from the cruiser and other smaller passenger vessels would encounter serious difficulty.

There appeared to be uncertainty as to the fate of displaced persons, who under normal conditions disembark here and are taken by rail to their new homes in Canada.

UN Troops Pounding Back Enemy Wedge Near Taegu

TOKYO, Aug. 23—(AP)—Allied forces pounded back a wedge pushed into their central Korean battle line today by the vanguard of 50,000 North Koreans massed for attack on Taegu from the north. Troops fought over a 100-yard-wide no man's land. Planes and artillery poured deadly fire into the narrow line.

Enemy dead piled up before the counter-attacking American and South Korean troops.

A crack in the Allied line would release five North Korean divisions on the Taegu supply centre 12 miles to the south.

An American regimental commander said this appeared to be the opening phase of an all-out North Korean drive on Taegu.

The Reds attacked allied artillery positions with hundreds of men on the American right flank.

On all other Korean ground fronts the allies held firm.

Dawn Attack

The ground battle before Taegu opened at dawn. Allied infantrymen rammed their attack into advanced North Korean positions. The Reds had seeped in under the cover of darkness.

Some Communists were within eight miles of Taegu. But the main battle line stretched through rugged mountains as much as 12 miles north of the fortress city and important rail hub.

The first American and South Korean assaults pushed the Reds back half a mile.

The Taegu corridor fighting was the heaviest anywhere on the curving 120-mile Korean war perimeter.

Gen. MacArthur said enemy attacks on the South Korean coastal front had diminished. The front to the west of Taegu was reported quiet. On the east coast the North

Stokowskis Have First Baby Boy

NEW YORK, Aug. 23 (AP)—A boy was born Tuesday night to Gloria Vanderbilt Stokowski, heiress wife of 68-year-old orchestra conductor Leopold Stokowski.

Mother and child are "doing well," the hospital said today. No further information was disclosed.

The 26-year-old heiress and Stokowski were married in Mexico City in 1945. She inherited $4,5000,000 of the Vanderbilt fortune Feb. 21, 1945, when she became 21. Her previous marriage to Hollywood actors' agent Pasquale (Pat) Di Cicco ended in divorce.

Menzies Stresses Co-operation Of UN

SYDNEY, Australia, Aug. 23 — (Reuters).—Prime Minister Menzies arrived home in Australia today after a world tour during which he visited Canada.

Arriving by air from New Zealand on the last leg of his trip, he said the international bank will send someone "out to look at us on the spot" in connection with a $100,000,000 loan which it will grant to Australia.

Menzies said that when he put Australia's case to the United States he received the utmost co-operation.

US Tanks Now In Korea More Than Match For Reds

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP) —Tank for tank, the heavier American models now fighting in Korea were reported today to be more than a match for the best of the Communists have thrown against them.

Army officials who made this claim also said a new light tank gun which will be available shortly should be able to "handle any Russian medium tank."

Much of the Korean Reds' success was attributed to superior tanks. United States forces had few tanks and front-line dispatches reported that the General Chaffee, the first American model used there, was no match for the Russian T-34.

Army officers said, however, that the Patton and Pershing models rushed to Korea have proved far superior to the T-34, a 30-ton tank. Under some conditions the Patton's 90-millimetre guns would give "considerable trouble" to the Josef Stalin III, the Red Army's largest-known tank. It weighs an estimated 50 to 70 tons and mounts a 122-millimetre gun.

The 47½-ton Patton is the heaviest United States tank in actual production, army spokesmen said. They described it as the transition vehicle between types of the Second World War and a new family of three models being developed as a result of military policy revision.

The new policy gives priority in tank design to firepower. Mobility rates second and protection third. In the Second World War, tanks stressed mobility first and firepower second.

Parliament Will Meet On Tuesday

Planning To Deal With Korea Too St. Laurent Reports

OTTAWA, Aug. 23—(CP)—Parliament has been called to meet Tuesday to act in the general rail strike, Prime Minister St. Laurent announced today.

At the same time the Prime Minister told reporters that the special session will deal with the Korean situation as well as the strike.

"We are going to have only one special session this year," he said.

The Prime Minister made the announcement as he emerged at 1 p.m. EDT from another in the series of Cabinet meetings which have been considering action on the general strike.

He was asked by newspapermen if the government already has drawn up the program of action on the strike to be placed before Parliament.

Mr. St. Laurent said it would not be true to say so.

The Prime Minister said the Cabinet has satisfied itself that it will be practicable for the members of parliament to get to Ottawa in time for the Tuesday opening with the help of the special air lift planned by the Defence and Transport Departments.

Will Co-operate

On the question of meeting the transportation crisis generally he said the government would co-operate to the fullest extent with local authorities calling for help in moving emergency supplies.

"As you know we have no jurisdiction over local transportation and national transportation is tied up.

"No doubt the local authorities will be doing their best to deal with the situation.

"But if any local authorities feel that we can be of any help whatever, we will co-operate to the fullest possible extent."

Mr. St. Laurent said the next Cabinet meeting will be held at 10:30 a.m. EDT Thursday.

The members from all parts of Canada started a hasty move toward the capital for the emergency session to deal with the country's first major railway strike.

Hope To Prove Mermaids Once

STAFFA, Argyllshire, Scotland, Aug. 23 (CP)—Science s ts hope to prove that mermai e existed.

Evidence is to be sought in the mud-floored, underwater caves of Staffa Island, where an unusual skeleton has been found.

Thought to be more than 2,000 years old, it has a leg formation suggesting a semi - aquatic creature.

The mermaid theory is generally discounted. Romantic stories of beautiful, fish-tailed women are believed to be inspired by imagination—or by the manatee, a vegetarian mammal found in tropical waters.

Labor Party Forces 3 Mos. Delay On Army

STRASBOURG, France, Aug. 23 (AP)—British Labor party and Scandinavian opposition today forced the European consultative assembly to delay for three months its planning for a unified European army.

The opposition looked like the beginning of a full-scale revolt against the assembly's committee of foreign ministers, the European council's upper house.

Duncan Sandys, a British Conservative and secretary of the assembly sub-committee on security, said his group now would present only an interim progress report on Winston Churchill's proposal of an army under a single European defence minister.

Labor Party Allows Itself An Out

Nationalization Issue Left In Air, Covered Two Ways

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Aug. 23—(CP)—True to all predictions, British Socialism's new definition of policy leaves the question of nationalization pretty much in the air.

Only two industries—water and steel—are told now that they are definitely on the list for public ownership. In a previous policy document, sugar, cement, minerals and industrial insurance were similarly threatened.

The new statement, which totals 8,000 words spread over 39 pages, says nothing to explain why the four missing industries have been dropped. There is merely a section which describes public ownership as a way of dealing with industries "in which inefficiency persists and where the private owners lack either the will or the capacity to make improvements."

Compromise Formula

Those who pride themselves on a secret knowledge of the Labor Party's internal struggles regard this as the so-called "compromise formula" on nationalization, widely hinted at before the latest policy statement was issued last weekend.

The idea is said to be to satisfy two elements within the party—those who want straightforward Socialism with more and more nationalization, and those who contend that votes can be gained by going slow on state control.

The new formula enables Labor to have it both ways. Thus, when reporters asked what Labor proposes to do about sugar and cement, party secretary Morgan Phillips was able to answer that these industries had not been dropped, but were still "within the field of eligibility" for nationalization.

Let Matter Drop

It seems a good guess that nothing will be heard about the omitted industries. Their inclusion in the last manifesto is believed to have cost the party support at the polls.

There is even room for doubt about water and steel. Legislation to take over the iron and steel industry—long one of the hottest issues between Socialists and Conservatives—is on the statute books and the government is empowered to effect the transfer of control any time between Jan. 1, 1951, and Jan. 1, 1952.

The main difficulty is that the government must find competent persons to run the new state authority. Responsible ministers admitted last winter that it would be hard to get such executives while the possibility existed that Labor's slender parliamentary majority might be broken, perhaps dooming the nationalization project altogether.

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE

RESEARCH HELPS IMPROVE PACKING

Here's news of another J-M product made better through research. It's an oil seal — a ring-shaped packing that seals in the oil around vital bearings on industrial machines.

Unlike most oil seals, which are made in several parts and then assembled — this new Johns-Manville Clipper Seal is precision molded in a single piece. This ensures a perfect fit, with less chance of oil getting out and dirt getting in to injure the bearing.

Clipper Seal is but one of the many hundreds of J-M Packings designed and developed through years of research. Today there's a Johns-Manville Packing for almost every industrial application. If you have a packing problem, contact Johns-Manville, 199 Bay St., Toronto, or see your J-M Packing distributor.

Most Contentious Item Reached

OTTAWA, Aug. 23 (CP). — Attorneys-General of the 10 provinces, working on a draft formula for constitutional reform, will get down to the most contentious items today.

They hope that by tonight they will have completed their report, which will be the working basis for a Dominion-Provincial conference on the transfer to Canada of complete powers to amend her own constitution.

The provincial law officers have been working in private and saying little other than that they have made progress in an atmosphere of co-operation and friendliness.

When they complete this task, most of them, joined by other provincial authorities and by Defence Minister Claxton, will go into conference on civilian defence planning.

This conference is expected to bring Premiers Walter Jones of Prince Edward Island and W. J. McNair of New Brunswick to the conference table.

MORE ABOUT—Parliament

It was not known Tuesday night whether or not the government expected the strike to go on through the formality of getting Parliament opened and a debate on the emergency initiated.

No Indication

Nor was there any indication then as to whether the intention was to ask Parliament to enact some sort of legislation that would make continuation of the strike illegal.

In his statement Tuesday the Prime Minister stressed the point that "the railway employees concerned have not broken any laws applicable to their case."

There had been speculation that the government would propose legislation making strikes in such important public utilities illegal. Such an enactment probably would take a long time getting through parliament.

The possibility had been discussed unofficially that the government might seek to get the railways back into operation by invoking powers vested in it under the War Measures Act in force since the war.

This gives the government virtually unlimited powers in the event of war real or apprehended. With Canadian destroyers in action against Northern Korean forces and a special brigade of troops in course of formation for action there or elsewhere it might be argued that there is "apprehended" war.

Field, Grain Crop Highly Praised By Ex Judges

The quality of the agricultural products which have been entered in the 1950 Peterborough Exhibition are excellent this year according to the judges. In the sections where the judging has been completed, comments by the judges have been extremely favorable. This year the entries are not as numerous, but the quality is much better than last year.

S. A. Bowman, who judged the grains and seeds sections, stated: "The classes are small, but of excellent quality and the competition is keen. There is an excellent display of sheaves." His remarks were seconded by Geo. G. Reeves, the judge of the field roots and potatoes.

Rail Strike Briefs

OTTAWA, Aug. 23—(CP)—The trucking industry has been granted permission to bring shipments across the international border in bond during the rail strike, a Revenue Department official said today.

KINGSTON, Aug. 23 (CP)—The Kingston plant of the Aluminum Company of Canada, employing 2,000 men, will be forced to shut down if the rail strike continues more than a week, manager M. N. Hay said today. Lay-offs would be gradual as materials ran out.

TORONTO, Aug. 23 (CP)—A fleet of trucks will be sent to the Niagara Peninsula to move the peach crop to cities in Ontario and Quebec as soon as word comes that the fruit is ready to be shipped, the Automotive Transport Association of Ontario announced today.

The association, which set up an emergency motor transport service when the Canada-wide rail strike went into effect, said in a statement that persons offering their services in the movement of essential supplies include some striking railway employees and railway carters. In addition, many persons on vacation and on night shifts have come forward to assist.

Trucks have been offered by carters, business houses, newspapers, a brewery and by individuals who own one or two vehicles.

A fleet of trucks will operate out of Toronto hauling essential supplies to Timmins, cut off by the rail strike.

Under the association's direction, trucks Tuesday moved fish from north of Nipigon to Montreal, empty fruit and milk cans in Ontario and Quebec, dynamite from Selkirk, Man., to Red Lake, Ont., foodstuffs from Winnipeg to Red Lake, bananas from Fort Erie to Toronto, eyeglasses from Toronto to points in Ontario and Quebec, cheese from Ingersoll to an ocean liner in Montreal, and aircraft lubricating oil from Clarkson to Montreal.

Fights Extradition

TORONTO, Aug. 23 (CP). — Police said today they believe Stanley Buckoski of Toronto, held in Los Angeles on a warrant charging him with murdering Alfred Layng in Toronto a year ago, will fight against being brought to Canada to face trial.

Condition Satisfactory

TORONTO, Aug. 23 (CP)—Pte. John Savage, 19, of Toronto, whose left eyelid was injured Tuesday when a hand grenade exploded accidentally during training exercises at Meaford army camp, was reported in satisfactory condition at Sunnybrook Military Hospital today.

Koreans stiffened and forced advancing South Koreans into defence positions.

Continuous Pressure

Describing the situation on the Taegu front, MacArthur's operational summary said:

"In the northwest sector, the South Korean 1st Division and U.S. units supporting that division are under continuous pressure, characterized by artillery and mortar attacks and enemy infiltration into our rear areas."

Americans and South Koreans braced against a building powerhouse blow expected from five North Korean divisions.

Col. John Michaelis, commanding the United States 27th regiment supporting the South Koreans, said the next 48 hours could bring a decision.

"This is a critical phase," he said. "If we stop them, we will break the back of this drive."

AP correspondent Tom Lambert reported the Reds had drifted flanking ridges in sufficient numbers to mount a regimental attack of perhaps 3,000 men.

Blunt Wedge

Intensive Allied air and ground bombardment blunted that wedge. Forty-four thousands pounds of bombs were used.

The Allied attack Wednesday morning was intended to clean the Reds out of areas south of the main front.

After pushing the forward Communists back, American infantrymen bucked into larger enemy forces.

AP correspondent Don Whitehead at the front reported one North Korean spearhead moved to within eight miles of Taegu in the pre-dawn of Wednesday. It threatened American supply lines.

Three times during the Tuesday-Wednesday darkness Allied soldiers battled infiltrating Communists back.

Hold Higher Ground

But when dawn came the Reds held higher ground than the Allies and poured heavy fire into the attacking United Nations men.

Infiltrated Reds chopped at American artillery and infantry positions with mortars, machine-guns and small arms.

United States fighter planes were called up to rocket and bomb the enemy from their positions.

Pilots reported successfully striking troop concentrations behind the lines.

A rear-lines highway which the Reds had managed to block with small arms fire near Tabu, 11 miles north of Taegu, was opened by American troops in a tank, artillery and rifle battle.

Destroy 11 Tanks

Eleven enemy tanks had been destroyed in four days of fighting.

Along the southern coastal approach to Pusan, the Allies' all-important South Korean port, the American 25th infantry beat back two light Northern assaults.

The Americans in the south were hit at 6:30 a.m. Wednesday (4:30 p.m. EDT Tuesday) with two small attacks after they had hurled back an attack Tuesday night against their positions on Sobuk ridge south of Tundok.

Still Menace

A United States intelligence officer said the threat west of Masan, 27 airline miles west of Pusan, was still menacing because the southern route is the shortest to Pusan.

He said continued Red pressure may be expected around Haman and Chungam, northwest of Masan.

In the extreme south coastal area, the Communists heightened their resistance to advancing South Korean marines.

Along the winding Naktong River southwest of Taegu, the intelligence officer said, the North Koreans had built up their bridge-head opposite Hyponpung to 6,000 men. Hyponpung is 14 miles southwest of Taegu.

The spokesman said there was little activity in this area guarded by the American 24th Infantry Division.

The Communists were using artillery in an effort to widen their eastern bank bridgehead.

Air Blows Potent

Incessant air blows at the North Koreans were having a telling effect on all fronts. Red supply lines lagged and men and oxen were being pressed into harness to move food and ammunition.

Examples of the cracking morale of the North Koreans came from two sources.

AP correspondents Hal Boyle and Bill Shinn interviewed two captive North Korean officers on separate fronts.

Boyle reported the 27-year-old commander of a Red artillery regiment surrendered under a white flag to the South Koreans near Tabu with the statement:

"I don't want to see all Korea run the way the Communists now run North Korea. I don't like the way they treat human beings Most of my regiment would like to surrender but they are too closely watched by secret political agents (commissars) in the army. No one can trust another for fear he is a secret agent."

Fought In China

Correspondent Shinn, an American-educated former North Korean, talked with a Northern captain at a prison camp where 1,043 Communist prisoners are held. Shinn reported the captain once belonged to the Chinese Communist army and was transferred to the North Korean Red forces in July, 1947. Another of the prisoners told of fighting three days without food or water because of supply difficulties.

To further complicate the North Korean supply problem Allied planes lambasted Northern targets again.

B-29s hit three Northern east coast cities — Chongjin, Songjin and Hamhung.

The big bombers also blasted railroad yards at Pyongyang, the Northern capital. A senior officer on the raid said the B-29s caught a backlog of North Korean supplies piled up by blasted-out rails leading to the South.

At the crack of dawn Wednesday American and Australian fighters took to the air to support Allied troops at the front. They machine-gunned troop concentrations with good effect, front reports said.

Naval patrols along the east and west coasts continued. Shore bombardments of east coast ports were reported

Trucking Rules Relaxed For Farmers In Ontario

TORONTO, Aug. 23—(CP)—Agriculture Minister Kennedy of Ontario said Tuesday that farmers in the province probably can truck 90 per cent of their produce to market. "As far as the essentials of life are concerned, we will be all right," Mr. Kennedy told reporters.

Agriculture Minister Kennedy said Monday that as an emergency measure farmers will be allowed to work pooling arrangements among themselves for the transport of hogs from areas where there are no commercial truckers.

Ordinarily a farmer, unless he has a public carrier vehicle license, may use his truck to carry his own goods only. For the duration of the railway strike only, he will be able to pick up from his neighbors.

The reason is that hogs are perishable in that they reach a point, at about 200 pounds, when they are best for market. One farmer might have only a few at this ready-point in any week. In order to maintain a uniform high quality, and to save farmers the price-penalties they would pay in sending lots of odd-sizes to market, they will be allowed to make pool shipments.

Ontario farmers should be able to get 90 per cent of their regular produce to market, Mr. Kennedy said. Cattle can be held back because there is plenty of grass. Practically all milk, cream and cheese is normally taken to market by truck. Fruit and vegetables also are largely highway transported. Additional use of trucks should be able to take up most of the slack.

Won't Last Long

"I can't believe the strike will last long," Mr. Kennedy said. "They are going to settle it some time, so it might as well be soon." He felt it should be over in a week.

Farmers and consumers should not suffer too much from the strike, Mr. Kennedy believed. Citrus fruits will be held up but, he pointed out, this is the off-season for these. There should be no shortage of such essentials as bread and potatoes. Corn, lettuce, celery and other vegetables should reach the markets by truck.

Peaches are late this year and the strike, he anticipated, will be over before the main crop is ready. Shipments from Ontario orchards to Winnipeg and Quebec will be seriously curtailed. Unless there is a period of very warm weather, there should be no glut on the local market.

Ontario will not have a heavy peach crop this year, and with the near-failure in British Columbia, canners will need all they can get, according to the agriculture minister.

Children Start Fire In Stable Used As Garage

Fire, possibly caused by children playing with matches, Tuesday afternoon gutted the east end of an old stable, now used as a garage at the rear of 266 Simcoe St. Damage was about $500.

A car in one of the stalls was undamaged. Two of the five stalls are used for garages and the other three for storing lumber and odds and ends.

The old two-storey building is of pine construction with an asphalt shingle roof. Once the fire caught hold in the extreme east end of the barn it expanded rapidly into a crackling blaze that swept up the east wall and into a loft overhead.

Only contents of the loft in that section were some straw and old lumber. The three west stalls were not touched by the flames.

When firemen arrived the roof was blazing but they extinguished the outbreak in a few minutes.

Peterboro Has Good Cooks Judge Finds Sampling Bread

Among the women of the Peterborough district there are some very fine cooks, says Mrs. H. A. Dickenson, Mount Hope, secretary-treasurer of the Women's Division of the Ontario Association of Agricultural Societies. Mrs. Dickenson has spent the entire day judging cooking at the Peterborough Exhibition and she thinks very highly of the standard of entries.

Peterborough Exhibition could extend its baking classes another year, Mrs. Dickenson says. There are some excellent examples of white bread and there would probably be some good examples of brown bread if there were a class for it, she says. There could also be a greater variety of cookies, because those entered are exceptionally good, Mrs. Dickenson says. No doubt if there were more classes there would be a larger cooking section. Fruit cake is another good section, the judge said.

Mrs. O. W. Rolph, Orono, past president of the Women's Division of the Ontario Fairs Association, found some excellent work among the handicrafts. There is a large entry and some of the articles are exceptionally good, she says.

The judging, completed at noon today, is as follows:

Prairies Fear Grain Losses

WINNIPEG, Aug. 23 —(CP)—Three Manitoba agricultural leaders today voiced concern at possible serious consequences for prairie grain producers if the rail strike is not settled soon.

Dr. Frank J. Greaney, director of Line Elevator Farm Services, said the strike might "disrupt the whole marketing process." Farmers had made no provision for storing their grain, he said, and elevators could not handle the crop.

Prof. T. J. Harrison of the Barley Improvement Institute said continuation of the rail tie-up might cause a serious bottleneck in handling this year's grain crop.

G. F. Habing, president of the Manitoba Federation of Agriculture and Co-operation, described the strike as a "very critical thing" for western farmers who are not equipped to store large amounts of grain.

He said one possibility of a prolonged strike is that the Great Lakes might freeze before all shipments are through the lakehead.

Russia Demands UN Stop Bluff Get Out Of Korea

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Aug. 23 (AP).—Russia demanded Tuesday that the United Nations end its colossal international bluff and order UN troops to leave Korea at once. The United States and British struck back with blistering attacks on the Soviet propaganda campaign.

Malik said continued intervention in Korea would only extend the conflict, and the United States would have to bear the blame for dire consequences.

U.S. delegate Austin called Malik's charges of U.S. aggression in Korea a big lie, and applesauce. He said some of Russia's statements appeared to be based on philosophy worthy of some witch doctor.

Austin also brought before the Council, for the first time, a direct U.S. charge that Malik had made a false statement when he claimed Russia had supplied no military aid to the Communist North Koreans since 1948.

False Labelling

Referring to the discovery of a Russian-made shell in Korea, dated 1950, Austin said:

"This shell did not explode on the battlefield. It explodes in the Security Council. Of course, I recognize that this may be just another case of false Soviet labelling."

Malik earlier had implied to a reporter that UN forces might have faked the date on the shell. "It's easy to put a stamp on it," he said, when asked for comment on the shell.

Sir Gladwyn Jebb told the Security Council that if the free world remained united it would be impossible for the Soviet Government to achieve by violence, direct or indirect, those ends which at the moment they seemed determined to secure."

Malik charged that the whole Korean war was plotted by the ruling circles in the United States to further colonial ambitions.

Prices Slip Slightly On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Aug. 23—(CP)—Prices slipped slightly as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Leading industrial stocks continued yesterday's mild downturn following news of the rail strike. However, signs of firmness appeared in individual issues and some good gains were chalked up.

Volume for the first three hours was 498,000 shares.

Companies that are considered most vulnerable during the rail strike were again pushed downwards on the industrial board. Paper stocks slumped with Abitibi leading on a loss of $1 at $34. A few agricultures and scattered steels also weakened while firmness appeared in utilities liquors and foods. CPR added ¼ at 19½ in utilities.

Base Metals were irregular with International Nickel holding the spotlight. Nickel jumped ⅞ to a new high at 37⅝ in midsession in a sudden flurry of buying. Otherwise the group tended easier with Consolidated Smelters losing ⅜ at 110¼. Cobalt Lode was sold heavily for a loss of 26 cents at 78 cents.

Western Oils opened higher but slipped into minus territory as the session progressed.

Golds also started firmer but lost ground in later dealings.

The Authority of the People Invoked

Prime Minister St. Laurent's decision that Parliament shall be recalled immediately to deal with the railway situation is soundly democratic. In this matter the whole people of Canada is affected, and their voice should be heard. Their voice is Parliament. In Ottawa the members from the 262 constituencies across Canada will be able to tell the Government what the people think about the strike and what must be done.

• • •

Parliament is not being called to mediate between two private groups—the railways and the unions. Its authority is being invoked not as a dickerer, but as a dictator in a situation where private interests have interfered with the public weal. The supreme authority of the Parliament of Canada will now dictate what shall be done about the railways, and neither companies nor unions have a right to challenge that authority.

• • •

An immediate resumption of the railway services is needed. That is the first thing. Whether or not the strike issues are justly settled is not now the main consideration. The trains must be set rolling again. Already the strike is inconveniencing tens of thousands and injuring the economy. Fruit farmers with perishable goods are unable to move them; prairie people have no ways of transport; cities and towns have only crippled means of getting the food and supples they need; passengers off ships in ocean ports have no trains; telegraphic wires are silent. In ten hundred ways the strike is eating at the fibre of Canadian life. The trains must be set running again, now, before the most serious consequences occur.

• • •

The people of this country are interested in seeing that a just conclusion to the dispute is reached, one that will be just to the companies, just to the railway workers, and, most of all, just to themselves. It is they who pay the passenger fares, who as consumers pay freight charges on every article they use or eat which has not been produced locally, and who, through taxes and subsidies, pay for railway deficits. It is they whose lives are being interfered with by the strike. Before justice is done the companies and the unions, justice must be done the fourteen million people of Canada. Parliament must primarily consider what is right and best for the people.

• • •

Parliament is not required nor expected to indulge one side or the other of the dispute. It need not panic into large promises of higher wages and shorter hours at great cost to the people, in order to get the railway men back on their jobs. It need not butter the railway companies with promises of bills permitting them to increase their freight rates. Parliament is not to sit in the roll of appeaser, nor of briber; nor is it to be bribed or bludgeoned Parliament will dictate. It will lay down the law and it has the strength to impose it. When the railway dispute got so out of hand that Parliament had to be convened, the companies and unions brought down on themselves a very mighty power, the whole historic machinery and weight of the Parliament of the sovereign people of Canada. If Parliament's commands given in the best interests of the whole populace are hurtful to either of the parties to the dispute, they have only themselves to blame. They brought Parliament on their own heads.

Marriage In The Nude

Living up to our motto Humani Nihil A Me Alienum Puto ('nothing that concerns humanity is foreign to me') we picked up one of the scarlet sheets published weekly in Toronto. Along with other salacity-mongering headlines which filled the front page was an eye-catcher: "Marriage in the Nude Causing Furore". We turned as directed to an inside page for that story. There it was under a headline: "Bride Will Wear Lingerie At Least Once During Honeymoon". (Of couse she would; people to not travel unclothed). The first paragraph was local: an unnamed person was soon going to turn up at the paper's office with proof that nudist colonies exist in Canada. Well, there was nothing startling about that. The come-on for readers was of course, the tantalizer that documentary evidence might someday be reproduced in the paper.

Then the story wandered on to nudist colonies in the United States: no place definite, nothing definite anywhere. By paragraph three or four the story had got down to an old chestnut (names, places, dates not given) that two members of a nudist colony had been married at the colony in the nude. There was a reference to preparations for such a wedding in New York—a story which London's News of the World—a specialist in that sort of thing—had concocted for its readers. An unnamed member of some "morality squad" somewhere was supposed to have said that photographs of the wedding ceremony would not be published because there might be objections—not to the naked forms of the couple, but to the fact that the "minister" was also "in the nude".

So the dreary story continued. It became duller and duller, vaguer and vaguer, more and more remote. The sensational headlines on Page 1 were a gaudy wrapper for a pretty thin piece of goods. Curious people who pay out seven or ten cents for papers like that must feel woefully cheated. They can get more exciting stuff any day from daily newspapers. Even we, who idly picked up the paper while sucking on a bottle of chocolate milk at the cigar store, and much too wily to pay money for mere headlines, felt cheated. After that glance, we scanned two other such headline-shockers on the counter. They were almost as tame as Sunday School papers, except for the headlines: certainly not half as lurid as dozens of Bible stories.

It is not morality squads but Fair Business Bureaus who should be getting after these scandal sheets. They are all front and no shirt.

New Zealand Abolishes Its Upper House

Last week the Upper House of the New Zealand parliament was abolished, through legislation brought forward by its new Conservative government. This is a highly interesting development. Ordinarily the claims that the Senate or appointed Upper House is useless except as a convenient place where party stalwarts may be pensioned, come from the Left—in Canada, from the C.C.F. In New Zealand the death of its Upper House was decreed by a Conservative government. Why?

The Socialist predecessor of the present new government had been in office continuously for fourteen years. In that time the Upper House could have been tightly packed with Socialists. The new Conservative government would come into power finding the Legislative Council solidly opposed to it, and likely to block its legislation. More important, these people are there for life. After fourteen years of Socialist appointments, what chance would the new Conservative government have in five years either to reduce the Upper House's opposition, or to find openings for its own party stalwarts? If, as critics say, one of the functions of the Upper House is to provide plush, paid seats for the party faithful, this use would not be available to the new government. There would be too few vacancies. And so a Conservative Government in New Zealand can find excuses for abolishing the Upper House.

We do not put forward this picture as true of the actual situation in New Zealand. But it could be true. We wonder what view the Conservative party in Canada would take of the Canadian senate, should a Conservative government be elected after a quarter-century in the outer wilderness? They would come to power with a Senate largely stocked with good Liberals, not all of them by any means old and likely to die off in five or ten years. Would a Conservative government in Canada scorn the demonstrated and known values of the Senate, ignore the balance which a two-chamber Parliament gives, and try to abolish the Canadian senate?

NOTE AND COMMENT

Annual consumption of cigars, we read, has fallen from 72 per capita to 36. The consumption in dining cars and in restaurants around breakfast time, however, appears to be on the increase.

A contemporary remarks: "Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall never be unemployed". Which puts them in the same happy category as the tax-collectors.

A Kashmir Moslem who is 150 attributes his longevity to "a spiritual outlook on life". Strange that such an outlook should have kept from the spirit life for so long.

It has lately been revealed that for safe-keeping a Hungarian colonel hid his country's crown in an old oil drum. Whittaker Chambers, ex-Communist of New York, hid his revelationary papers in a pumpkin in a field. Obviously hiding valuables in an old stocking has gone out of fashion. That's the trouble with transparent nylons; they don't even hide legs.

"Churchill Resolution"

By W. N. EWER

THE passing of the "Churchill Resolution" in the Assembly of the Council of Europe in Strasbourg was a strange episode to watch. The majority for it was large, the enthusiasm great. And yet most of the representatives who voted for the motion must have been conscious that it meant so many things that, in fact, it meant nothing.

I spent some hours during that day and the next asking various representatives why they had voted for or against or had abstained.

I found among the "fors" some who regarded the vote as a decisive step towards complete European federation: some who emphatically repudiated any such idea. I found some who understood the creation of a European army to mean the liquidation of all national armies: others who regarded it as merely meaning the organization of joint forces like those which General Eisenhower and Field Marshal Alexander commanded in the last war. Some understood that the European Defences Minister would be responsible in some way to the Strasbourg Assembly, others that he would be sort of a permanent and independent Chairman of a Committee of Defence Ministers.

The majority, in fact, was so heterogeneous, so divided in its interpretation of what it was voting for, that I frankly found it difficult to take the result very seriously.

◇ ◇ ◇

BUT—the question is obvious—how, in a Parliamentary Assembly, could a motion be voted without its meaning having been made clear in the preceding discussion? The answer is that there had been pratically no discussion and certainly no kind of explanation. Mr. Churchill's own speech had been of a general character during a general debate. After he moved his resolution he did not speak.

The resolution, as he moved it, called only for a European army, not for a Minister of Defence. That all-important phrase was added during the afternoon in the Committee which sat behind closed doors. The Assembly as a whole knew and was told nothing of what had passed or of the reasons which led to the addition of that phrase.

It was only known later that in this Committee, the representatives of a considerable group had refused to support the proposal for a European army unless there were added to it their proposal for a European Minister of Defence. Moreover, this group included German Christian Democrats and Liberals. The German Social Democrats had, in any case, decided to abstain.

◇ ◇ ◇

SO the sponsors of the original motion were in a quandary. Either they must accept the addition: or their resolution might be defeated and could at best only be passed without the support of a single German vote—which would have made it look slightly absurd. They accepted the addition. And less than an hour before the vote was to be taken, the Assembly was told for the first time that the motion before it had been drastically changed and now included a demand for the appointment of a European Minister of Defence.

It was not debated—it was not explained. A few representatives used their right to make short speeches explaining why they were abstaining or voting against. But, if I remember rightly, not a single supporter of the resolution said a single word. It was one of the most curious episodes I have ever watched in an Assembly of any kind.

That is, in brief, the story of the resolution which is being called everywhere the Churchill Resolution, although, in fact, Mr. Churchill was responsible only for a portion of it. In these circumstances it is hardly to be expected that any of the Governments concerned will regard it as a serious practical proposal. And, indeed, were it to be so regarded, it must be at once rejected. For it would involve — despite its appearance of urgency—considerable and dangerous delay in the organization of the defences of Europe.

◇ ◇ ◇

A VERY considerable amount of work has already been done since the Brussels Treaty and the Atlantic Treaty were signed. Strategic plans are being worked out. Supply organizations are being created. The problem of welding national armies into a balanced integrated force is being tackled. And so on.

The work which the Assembly rightly wants to be done is, in fact, already being done by various organs of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The pace may be too slow. The organization may be capable of improvement. But that is another matter. What is certain is that if we were now to scrap the work that has been done and the organization that has been created, and to start all over again to build some new organization on entirely new lines, the effect could only be to delay achievement by months or even years.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE weakness of the European defence today is not in fact so much a structural as a material one. And it is not to be cured either by the creation of new ministeries or by the formal and titular unification of armies. The trouble is a shortage of men and a shortage of equipment. And nothing in the "Churchill Resolution" would provide a single additional gun.

That must be done by the governments and parliaments of the associated countries. The Government of the United Kingdom has given a bold lead in what the Times calls a "great new effort to put actual guns and bayonets behind the plans that are being perfected in Lord Montgomery's headquarters at Fontainbleau".

If the Strasbourg Assembly's resolution is interpreted as a call to national governments and national parliaments to increase and speed up this effort, then its effect can be exceedingly good. But if it were to create the impression that the need is not so much for men and guns as for new organization and that Europe's defence problem could be solved by the appointment of some supranational superman, then it could do great harm. The essential thing is that we should concentrate on the essential task: and the essential task is to create not new Ministers but new divisions.

Wooden Ships and Iron Men

(EDMONTON JOURNAL)

ONE of the curiosities of the Chinese civil war is the extraordinary comeback of the wooden sailing ship. For almost a century, sailing vessels of all sorts have been considered entirely obsolete in naval warfare—almost in the same class with the bow and arrow on land. But the "navy" of the Chinese Communists consists almost entirely of a great fleet of wooden junks, some with auxiliary engines and some dependent entirely on sails.

The old-fashioned armada has given a remarkable account of itself. At the capture of Hainan and other former Nationalist islands, it carried the invasion armies to their landing-places despite the opposition of Chiang Kai-shek's fleet. If the attack on Formosa materializes, the junks will be in the forefront.

The Nationalist navy—with a number of relatively modern destroyers and smaller craft, mostly of Japanese and American manufacture—has found the junks extremely hard to deal with. These square, heavily-built wooden craft, constructed of 12-by-12 timbers, resist gunfire surprisingly well, and, because of their buoyancy and stability, are harder to sink than metal ships of corresponding size. There is an instance of one destroyer pounding a junk for six hours without sinking it. Attempts have been made to ram the wooden craft, but the encounter has usually proved more damaging to the steel vessels.

The Communists have shown their customary skill in improvization in handling their primitive navy. Holes made by enemy gunfire are quite successfully plugged with canvas. Tackles have been simplified so that, if necessary, three men can sail the ship even if the rest of the crew is disabled. Field guns, mounted on the deck, enable the junks to give a good account of themselves at close quarters. Thus an individual ship can keep going in spite of severe damage, and the big fleets—300 were used in the Hainan invasion — have been remarkably successful in forcing their way through screens of hostile warships.

Of course, the acid test of this antique navy will come if and when it tries to invade Formosa. In that venture, it will have to cross 100 miles of open water, which will be increasingly stormy as summer ends and autumn begins. More important, it will have to face U.S. Seventh Fleet which President Truman has assigned to guard Formosa, and which will certainly be a much more formidable opponent than Chiang's navy. The outcome of this encounter will decide how far the current revival of "wooden ships and iron men" is to go.

The Comics' Influence in Korea

(NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE)

BECAUSE sixty-five million copies of books are reported as crossing newsstand counters in the United States each month, this childhood eingrossing literature continues to be an adult subject of debate, a problem and industry of increasing dimensions. Sensational, adventurous and glamorous, the comic book, which has lately embraced Shakespeare as an author, finds both attackers and defenders among educational psychologists and legislators. It finds nothing but buyers among children. And if the comics contribute to juvenile delinquency the trail is hard to follow among thickets of heredity, environment and a psychiatrist's syllables.

One thinks of these things in reading that out in San Diego last week the Marine Corps, through the American Red Cross, is appealing for contributions of mystery and comic books. These are to be used to help troops pass tedious hours on transports headed for the Korean war zone. Here is the comic book getting into the service and accomplishing a good deed to which it cannot be tied invidiously. Critics of comic books have said, rightly enough, that they leave their readers "inactive, passive and physically unreleased." But if there is any one of these qualities visible in marines landing in Korea, it is not likely to be noted by the enemy. The physically unreleased trail of the comics will, we feel certain, never be harmfully traced in any future advance of our troops. It seems quite possible that the far from passive exploits of a six-foot four-inch marine with a new bazooka might be equated to a very reasonable extent with that of Superboy or Superman by delinquent Reds started north.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Hast thou not known? hast thou not heard, that the everlasting God, the Lord, the Creator of the ends of the earth, fainteth not, neither is weary? there is no searching of his understanding. He giveth power to the faint; and to them that have no might he increases strength. Even the youths shall faint and be weary, and the young men shall utterly fall:

But they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk and not faint. (Isa. 40:28-31.)

Now there is at Jerusalem by the sheep market a pool, which is called in the Hebrew tongue Bethesda, having five porches. In these lay a great multitude of impotent folk, of blind, halt, withered, waiting for the moving of the water. For an angel went down at a certain season into the pool, and troubled the water; whosoever then first after the troubling of the water stepped in was made whole of whatsoever disease he had.

And a certain man was there, which had an infirmity thirty and eight years. When Jesus saw him lie, and knew that he had been now a long time in that case, he saith unto him, Wilt thou be made whole? The impotent man answered him, Sir, I have no man, when the water is troubled, to put me into the pool; but while I am coming, another steppeth down before me.

Jesus saith unto him, Rise, take up they bed, and walk. And immediately the man was made whole, and took up his bed, and walked. (John 5:2-8.)

Argonauts Get New Face-Lifting

By WILFRED GRUSON

TORONTO, Aug. 23 — (CP) — Toronto Argonauts, completely revamped after two dismal seasons, could turn out to be the surprise of the Big Four football union—or a big flop once more.

The Argos have torn apart the team that won three straight Dominion football championships and then collapsed. With the face-lifting job, they hope they're on the road towards producing another powerful gridiron machine.

The task has been given to an American coach, Frank Clair. He succeeds Tedds Morris who failed to get the Scullers into the Big Four playoffs the last two seasons after winning the Grey Cup in 1945-46-47 with all-Canadian teams.

Clair, former professional player with Washington Redskins and coach of the University of Buffalo the last couple of years, has merged several new players with some old Argo stars.

A lot will depend on what the Argos' seven American imports show. It could be another disastrous season such as last year when most of the Scullers' imports turned out to be duds. Last season was the first year the Argos used Americans.

Down To 32 Men

By the time Argos plays their first league game—at Montreal Sept. 2—Clair expects to have cut his squad to 32 players. Ten imports are working out; six appear to have won the first-string berths.

The six are headed by assistant coach John Kerns, 265 - pound middle and former star with the professional Buffalo Bills. Buckets Hirsch, a teammate of Kerns with Buffalo.

Three imports are slated for the halfline with Al Dekdebrun at quarter and speedy Ulysses Curtis and Billy Bass, both Negroes, as halves. Dekdebrun played last year with Hamilton Wildcats and before that with Buffalo and Cornell University. Curtis performed previously with Florida A and M and Bass played for Montreal Alouettes in 1948 after coming from Chicago Hornets.

One of the outside wing berths has been clinched by lanky Bob Heck, who also once played for the Hornets.

Outstanding Halfbacks

Clair has several outstanding halfbacks from among his Canadians, including veteran Joe Krol, Byron Karrys, Don Smylie and Ted Toogood and Ed Huycke. Among them also available for the halfline is Frank Gnup, Hamilton Wildcats' coach last year, who, because he has been a Canadian resident for four years, no longer is claimed as an import.

The familiar figure of Royal Copeland, a star for several years, will be missing. Copeland, who along with Krol was the Argus' one-two punch in their sweep of three straight Canadian titles, switched this season to Calgary Stampeders for a salary reported close to $10,000.

Besides Copeland the Argos lost several other players, notably linemen Don Durno, Frankie Morris and Bill Briggs and halfback Doug Pyzer. They were all lured away to line up with Edmonton Eskimos.

GOLF CHAMPION—Murray Tucker, 26-year-old former R.C.A.F. pilot, blasted his way to the Ontario Open Golf championship in a dramatic upset at Toronto's St. George's Golf and Country Club. Tucker posted 215 for 54 holes on the par-72 course and edged out his former instructor, Gord Brydson, of Mississauga, by one stroke. Brydson, who hired and taught the London Sunningdale pro, said he was "glad." Tucker won the title.

15 Intermediate Clubs

TORONTO, Aug. 23 — The Ontario Rugby Football Union will have 15 intermediate teams this season, six more than last year, convener Bill Fry said yesterday. The added starters are all from the Toronto area: Parkdale Lions, Malton A. V. Roe and four in an East York group.

Groups and teams:

Western—London, Sarnia.

Niagara—Niagara Falls, Dundas, Oakville, Parkdale Lions, Malton.

East York—Dentonia Dreadnaughts, East End Rockets, North Toronto Panthers, East York Kitchener Blues.

Eastern—Oshawa, Orillia, Cobourg, Peterborough.

Robinson Wants Lamotta Fight

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 23 (AP) —Sugar Ray Robinson, tuning up for a defence of his Pennsylvania-version middleweight title, let it be known today that he wants to beat Jake Lamotta for the world championship with his fists and not by default.

The Harlem dandy said he understands Lamotta's National Boxing Association middleweight championship might be taken away from him.

"I hope not," Robinson said. The hard-hitting slugger figures he can dethrone Lamotta easily in the ring, although as of now no concrete steps have been taken to line up a Robison-Lamotta fight.

Robinson indicated he'd surrender his world welterweight championship when and if he gets a chance at Lamotta. "I can make the welter weight once a year to defend the title," Robinson said, "but I'm a natural middleweight."

The Sugar has what may be a tough scrap on his hands Friday night against Jose Basora of Puerto Rico. The two fought once before and the bout ended up in a 10-round draw. Robinson still rates that as perhaps his toughest fight.

Robinson arrived at Scranton Tuesday and went through two fast rounds against Rego Dell of Scranton . He looked sharp. Basora is scheduled to work out today.

Here And There In Sports . . .

Frank Stranahan and Willie Turnesa squirmed past rugged opponents Tuesday to join defending champion Charles Coe in the third round of the Golden Anniversary United States amateur golf tournament at Minneapolis.

Young Gerald Kesselring of Kitchener, joined the veterans in the third round by easily disposing of Russell Brothers of Nashville, Tenn. 9 and 8. The Canadian junior amateur champion was two below par for the 10 holes he needed to crush Brothers.

Stranahan, twice British and once Canadian amateur champion but never a major titleholder in his own country, defeated James McHale of Bethlehem, Pa., 1 up after reaching the turn all even.

Turnesa, whose game supposedly is made to order for the 6,655-yard Minneapolis Golf Club course, burst the bubble that was Richard Allman of Philmont, Pa., 3 and 2. Allman, who Monday eliminated Dynamite Goodloe of Valdosta, Ga., was six down at the turn.

Coe, despite some poor putting and the strong winds that swept over the par 35-36—71 course in the morning mastered Al Clasen of St. Paul, 3 and 1.

The 14th annual Ontario seniors gold championship will be staged over the Westmount golf course at Kitchener Friday.

The tournament, for golfers over 50, will comprise 18 holes medal play. Entries are divided into three age groups, 50-59, 60-69, and 70 and over.

The championship was won last year by A. R. Wilson of Montreal Summerlea who fired a 73. Len Biddell of Toronto Islington trailed with 76.

Seven members of the British Curtis Cup golf team arrived in New York Tuesday aboard the liner Caronia.

"We are not making any predictions, but we are hopeful," said Mrs. Diana Fishwick-Critchley, the team captain.

The British team meets the American Curtis Cuppers at Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 4-5. The visitors will play a Canadian team at Toronto Sept. 20.

One thing the exhibition tour of the Dominion football champion Montreal Alouettes has done is strengthen Grey Cup aspirations of football fans in two western Canada cities.

Calgary Stampeders and Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Conference gained prestige and the mighty Als of yesteryear lost a bit—or now do not seem so formidable. Fans here and in Cal-

Oshawa Turns Back Petes To Lengthen League Lead

Downing the Petes 7-4 here last night, Oshawa Merchants moved five games ahead of the second-place locals in the Viaduct Baseball League. A big crowd saw an interesting duel under the arcs, with the Merchants bunching blows to get their runs in the fourth, fifth and sixth frames. The Petes' runs came one at a time. On earned runs it was 5-3, with both sides leaving seven runners stranded.

FASHION NOTE — Gorgeous Gussie Moran of lace panties fame has something new this season—embroidered togs. The California miss introduced them in the National Doubles at Longwood, Brookline, Mass.

Paul Michael went the route in fair fashion for the victors, keeping nine hits pretty well scattered, but walking four and hitting two. His support was a bit better than that given Lefty Bill Dadson. The latter was nicked for 14 blows, a number of them scratchy infield ones, pitching good ball the first and last three innings but being bingled freely in the middle chapters. He whiffed five and walked but two.

Four In Four

Jerry Creasy smashed out four in four tries to top Oshawa at bat, Bitman having two in three, including a double. Michael's two hits also included a double and Hill had a two-bagger and a single in five. Bud Harrison hit a triple and two singles in four appearances for the Murphyites, and Pat Wilson had a three-bagger and single in three. Menzies doubled, while Stewart and Brown each had one hit in two official trips. Neat catches were pulled off by Hill, Bitman, Harrison and Wilson, and a long throw by Brown and stretch catch by Stewart were all effective features, as well as two Oshawa double plays which helped their cause.

Manager Sherry Rowland of the Merchants was ousted in the sixth inning by Umpire Pat Calladine for arguing too strenuously on a second strike, Davidson replacing him. There were plenty of arguments and some crabbing by the Merchants the first half of the game as the old rivals played a close contest until Oshawa pulled away in the fifth frame.

Two U.S. Women Title Prospects

ST. CHARLES GOLF COURSE, Winnipeg, Aug. 23—(CP)—The gallery is murmuring about an all-American final in the Canadian Women's Open golf championship. But the 12 Canadians left in the running have different ideas.

After two hot performances Tuesday in the first round of match play leading to the title, Grace De Moss, of Seattle, defending champion, and Dot Kielty, of Los Angeles—in different halves of the draw—are being picked by the experts as the "girls to beat."

Miss De Moss advanced to the 16s with an easy 7-and-5 triumph over Mrs. Ray Gibson, of Winnipeg. Miss Kielty, Tam O'Shanter amateur champion, hung a 7-and-6 defeat on Mrs. A. Hay, of Winnipeg. Both Americans displayed a world of shots as they blazed over the 6,516-yard, par-76 St. Charles layout.

Two other Americans also found little difficulty in knocking off less-experienced Canadians. Mrs. Eddie Bush, of Hammond, Ind., won 5 and 4 over Catherine Helleur, of Toronto, and Edean Anderson, of Portland, Ore., defeated Mrs. E. B. Osler of Winnipeg, 6 and 5.

Why I Believe in God

As a young medical student, Dr. A. J. Cronin was an unbeliever. He considered the human body no more than a complex machine—and he couldn't find an immortal soul in any autopsy.

In September Reader's Digest (now on sale) the now famous author reveals how experience and the strong faith of others finally brought him to the firm belief that there IS a God.

East City Gets 1st Over Mutuals

Haddy Eakins and Bob Greenlaw hooked up in a rare pitching duel at the Bowl last night as East City edged Mutuals 2-1 to open the men's senior city softball finals—best-of-seven series—for the Taylor Trophy.

A good sized crowd, despite cool weather, saw Eakins blaze his fast ball past Mutuals' best hitters, allowing but five hits in a great display, with Greenlaw scarcely less effective, over the route. It was real playoff ball from every standpoint with good fielding by both squads.

Scored Early

East City scored their only runs in the first as Skeeter O'Heron singled, was forced on Sullivan's infield rap, Red scoring on Jaquith's double; Cournyea walked and Wade singled to score Jaquith. Mutuals tallied in the eighth as Leether walked, Carpenter's attempted sacrifice went for a safety and Crowe singled to fill the bases. Dalton flied to third but Leether scored after Spinner Spencer caught Greenlaw's long fly off the fence. Foster lined to Jaquith before further damage was done.

Carm Jaquith shared top honors with Eakins and had an unassisted double play to end the game. He poked out three solid hits, including two doubles. O'Heron and Spencer starred afield, the former getting two hits as well. For Mutuals, Pryde had two safeties. Hawkes and Leether fielded well and of course Greenlaw was superb.

Every man on the Tiger lineup except goalie Doug Favell picked up scoring points, with Jack Dorney scoring three and Les Digby, Tony Capula, Barney Welsh and Bill Love firing two apiece.

For the losers, lefty Chard banged home three, and Bob White had two.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

An uncle from Detroit was in town the other day and we were discussing sports. He was surprised to learn OLA senior games here drew 2,000 or more. And we were surprised he thought it was still field lacrosse which was played! No, indeed, the streamlined boxla variety is nearly 20 years old in Ontario now. We suggested that he stay around till Friday and see St. Kitts and the Petes clash at Miller Bowl. Too bad the game isn't played more in the States, as Americans who have viewed it here invariably like the rugged action of this Canadian sport. Petes play Toronto in Oshawa tonight and end the schedule Saturday in St. Catharines Playoffs next week.

* * * * * *

Three ball trophies to be decided upon pretty soon here. The Fred Craig Trophy is for the player in the City Baseball League judged most valuable to his team, and in recent years this decision was left with Alex Kay, minor ball commissioner of the city. The Peller Trophy is for the most valuable player in the men's City Softball League, the loop executive and this scorer voting on that each fall. And the Jack Legris Trophy was put up a year ago for the most valuable player on the Petes' senior ball club. Judges of that item are Alex Kay, Ray Pammett and this scribe. We're not open to small bribes, either!

Should Be Washed Out

It is doubtful if New Toronto's protest of Saturday's ball game here will stand up. The incident came in the sixth when Fred Garvey's high pop fell in front of the plate, with three on and less than two out, but was untouched and bounced foul. Umpire Pat Calladine maintains that he called the infield fly but, when he saw it go foul untouched, he ruled it as just a foul-ball. Billy Evans backs up the decision in his "What's What in Baseball", in this question and answer: Q. "If umpire ruled infield fly, only to have the ball drop to the ground without being touched and then roll foul before passing first or third, what would he do?" A. "The umpire would have to reverse himself, because what seemed to be an infield fly turned out to be merely a foul ball."

The Petes play Toronto Dovers at 8.45 tomorrow night in Riverside under the lights. Another Viaduct Baseball League postponed game which has to be caught up this week as the schedule finishes Saturday with New Toronto here in a twin bill. The men o' Murphy presently are sitting cozily in second place, four games back of Oshawa, one and a half in front of New Toronto, and two ahead of Aces. Dovers come next with Staffords in the cellar. By the end of this week, it'll be seven games for the locals in eight days, with playoffs looming next week. Ah, well, it's good clean fun.

Bingles By The Bushel

Hits of all descriptions dotted the scenery in floodlit Riverside Park last e'en as Oshawa beat the Petes 7-4. There were dinky little rollers beaten out, pop-ups that fell safely, and there were ringing smashes up against the outfield fences. Oshawa got more of the bingles in the right spot to get the verdict. Apart from bunched blows off him in a couple of stanzas, Bill Dadson pitched better than Paul Michael over the route, but the latter got the win. Creasy hit four for four, and Bud Harrison and Pat Wilson continued to maul the melon for the Petes. A big crowd on deck and lots of arguments as the Merchants always kick plenty on balls and strikes. Manager Rowland got the gate for crabbing too much

East City edged Mutuals 2-1 at the Bowl last night to open the men's softball best-of-seven city finals. Haddy Eakins and Bob Greenlaw both hurled fine ball in a neat number. Jaquith led the winners at bat with three, two of 'em doubles, as O'Heron and Spencer shone afield. Pryde topped Mutuals at bat, and Hawkes and Leether were strong defensively. They go again tomorrow night at 7.15 sharp. Also, this Saturday night sees OASA senior "B" playdowns open here with an 8.30 touch at the Bowl, Kingston playing East City to open the best-of-three series. Mutuals are in Oshawa in intermediate "A" on Friday and back here next Tuesday. Although we understood the King and his Court (that amazing four-man softball team) were playing the local all-stars here that night as part of sports centennial week.

Lacrosse Club Given Suspension

TORONTO, Aug. 23 (CP)—The Ontario Lacrosse Association Tuesday announced suspension of the Owen Sound junior club for the balance of the season for failure to show up on time Monday night for a playoff game with Toronto Maitlands.

Secretary Chuck Rowan said the Owen Sound team was more than an hour late and did not send word to Maitlands about the delay. Each team had won one game in their best-of-three playoff series. The Owen Sound suspension sends Maitlands into the OLA junior D finals against Peterborough, a best-of-five series opening at Peterborough Thursday night.

Red Wings Trip Maple Leafs 7-5

By The Canadian Press

Rochester Red Wings are riding high in the International League, leading the pack by eight games, but a battle for second place is shaping up.

Wings added another vic- sday night, downing Toronto Maple Leafs 7-5, thanks to third-baseman Don Richmond's four-run homer. Meanwhile Montreal Royals crept to within half a game of the second-place Baltimore Orioles, whose game with Springfield Cubs was rained out.

The Royals smacked four Buffalo pitchers for 19 hits, including three homers, to blast out a 13-4 victory. Johnny Welaj and Jack Lindsey, who crashed two homers in a string of four safeties, rammed over 11 of the Montreal tallies. The former drove in six on a home run and three singles.

Jersey City and Syracuse divided a doubleheader, the Chiefs taking the opener 6-4, but the Little Giants rebounding in the nightcap 7-1. Both games went eight innings, the latter being halted by rain.

Disastrous Day For Detroit Yanks Club Tigers 13-6

By JOE REICHLER,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Today could be described as D-day in the life and times of the turbulent Detroit Tigers.

Another loss today on top of Tuesday's 13-6 beating by New York Yankees might mark the beginnings of the end of the great Detroit pennant dream. The outlook for the third and last of the three-game set at Yankee Stadium is far from bright. Then come Boston Red Sox.

Up to now Red Rolfe's pennant hungry league leaders have been able to win all the "big" ones. Well, today's second clash with the Yankees is the biggest one of all. The Tigers say so.

Rolfe is banking all on his ace, Art Houtteman. The young right-hander and veteran Dizzy Trout are all that's left of the once-mighty Tiger pitching crew. Hal Newhouser and Fred Hutchinson have been in and out all year. Virgil Trucks and Ted Gray are laid up with sore arms. Hal White was pounded black and blue Tuesday and Trout worked the day before.

Houtteman (16-9), has beaten the Yanks four times in six outings. Veteran Vic Raschi (15-8), his opponent, owns a 1-2 season record against the Tigers.

Big Gamble

After Houtteman—who? Newhouser, Hutchinson or Hank Borowy—each is a big gamble. So everything is up to Houtteman. Either he wins or the Tigers are faced with the probability of having their 3½ game lead of Tuesday cut to a mere half length when they depart Thursday night for Boston.

The Yankees were simply merciless on three Tiger pitchers on Tuesday. Led by catcher Yogi Berra, they clubbed out 14 hits, including two doubles, a triple and three home runs. Berra batted in six runs. Even Allie Reynolds, who won his first game of the season from Detroit, got a double. Reynolds' pitching was only fair, giving up 11 hits and five walks, but he didn't have to be better.

Disastrous Day

It was a disastrous day all around for the Tigers as Cleveland Indians and the Red Sox also won. The second-place Tribe whipped Washington 5-1 and the Red Sox walloped St. Louis Browns 9-5 to climb to within 5½ games of the top.

Philadelphia's furious Phillies retained their 5½ game margin in the National League, edging the Reds 4-3 in Cincinnati. Brooklyn Dodgers outslugged the Pirates in Pittsburgh, 10-8, and Boston Braves took third place from the Cardinals with a 5-1 triumph in St. Louis.

New York Giants made it 16 victories in 19 games with the Cubs, winning in Chicago 6-5 in the National's only afternoon contest. Philadelphia and Chicago in the American League were rained out.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press.

Batting: Yogi Berra, Yankees — hit two singles, triple and home run, driving in six runs, to lead New Yorkers to a 13-6 romp over Detroit.

Pitching: Vern Bickford, Braves—hurled Braves into third place with a six-hit, 5-1 victory over Cardinals.

PRINCESS MARGARET recently turned 20 amid a crop of romantic rumors. She was born at Glamis Castle, Scotland, and folklore in the district says that girls born there must choose a husband before their 20th birthday. Many are wondering whether the princess has made her choice, while those in society circles figure that the man in Margaret's life is the Earl of Dalkeith, who will one day inherit one of Britain's largest fortunes. His parents own six mansions and more than 500,000 acres of land. The princess celebrated with her parents at a small party at Balmoral Castle.

Wants To Try Novel Stage Productions

TORONTO (CP)—Thomas Reid ("theatre-in-the-round") Burnett is in Toronto to sell his novel stage productions to Canadian audiences.

Born and educated here Burnett has had plenty of press notices in New York where he has presented his experimental theatre.

"Arena plays" have been introduced here on an amateur basis by Toronto producers. Burnett is rarin' to go with the idea in professional terms.

As the name theatre-in-the-round suggests, a platform about 25 feet square, is surrounded by rows of chairs, seating 500 people. An advantage over the usual type of theatre is that the theatre-goer can have dinner before the show in the same hotel with the audience completely surrounding the stage.

Burnett can quote batteries of figures to demonstrate the economy of his type of production. Costs in relation to the conventional theatre have risen to such astronomic heights that there is an increasing reluctance to launch a play of any proportions, he says.

At present he has three ideas for presentations in mind. He would like to do some of Christopher Fry nd Jean Paul Sartre's plays, some Menotti operas and stage some guest appearances by Canadian artists.

Jon Halls Choose To Live In Florida Home

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 23—(AP)—If this be treason, California, make the most of it: Frances Langford and Jon Hall are making Florida their official home.

The news, however devastating to the local ego, is true. When I found Actor Hall on a movie set, he confirmed it. And he told me why:

"Our main interests now lie in Florida. We have bought a large ranch with 8,000 citrus trees, a beautiful home and a resort at Jensen Beach, not far from Palm Beach. It was silly to go down their just for visits. So we sold our house in Hollywood and will make our headquarters in Florida."

"Mind you, we're not giving up California. We'll come here to make pictures and do radio. It's only 12 hours by air, and we have our own plane. When we're not working, we'll spend the time looking after our Florida property."

Hall will have to return to Smogland-on-the-Pacific two or three times a year to fulfill his Columbia contract. He is currently enacting a Colonial Indian friend of young George Washington in something called "When the Redskins Rode". He is probably the first film Indian with curly hair, knee britches and lace.

Short Shorts

Gregory Peck takes two vacations after he kills off a few more Indians in the frontier drama, "Only the Valiant." He plans to fish on the Rogue River in Oregon, and visit Mexico. Then he'll return to star with Susan Hayward in "David and Bathsheba," which may be 20th-Fox's answer to "Samson and Delilah." It's a Biblical tale and will be filmed in Beverly Hills, not Palestine as originally planned. William Holden will be in two Academy contenders this year, both "Sunset Boulevard" and "Born Yesterday." Long overdue for Oscar consideration, Bill should get a mention this time.

KOREA'S PRODUCTS

Korea produces rice, barley, wheat, beans, chemicals, fertilizers, cement, gold, iron, coal and manufactured materials.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Daily Visits to Neighbours Turn Woman Into Pest, Bore

DEAR MISS DIX: Is every day too often to visit a neighbor? I have had several friends whom I used to stop in on every day and they always seemed glad to see me, but I do not want to overdo things and wear out the welcome on the doormat. Neither do I want to shut myself in like a hermit and stay at home all the time. Do you think this tends to end friendship?

Dorothy Dix

MRS. FRED

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I think any woman who went to see her neighbors every day would soon come to be regarded as a pest. Of course, when you go to see people politeness compels them to pretend to be glad to see you, but you can bank on it that they are not overcome with joy at having to swallow a daily dose of your society. Just consider the subject dispassionately and you will be bound to realize that you interfere with their work or their plans.

In Midst of Job

They are in the midst of some job that has to be done but that they have to stop in order to gab for an hour with you, and this disarranges their whole schedule for the day. Or they were about to go downton shopping or to the movies and had looked forward to a pleasant and exciting afternoon, but when you drop in they have to sacrifice the anticipated pleasure and listen to you repeat for the thousandth time all about Sally's beaux or the baby's new tooth. For no person can possibly think of a new and thrilling conversational line for every day of the year.

Or they were going to read a new book they have been hungry to get at, or they were tired and were just about to lie down for a little restful nap, when in you came and they have to get up and thrash over the same gossip you have winnowed over a hundred times before.

There is no affliction worse than the everyday visitor. She wastes our time. She interferes wit hour pleasures. She knocks our plans galleywest. She invades our privacy. And she bores us stiff.

The old proverb that says that "short visits make long friends" should be amended to read 'infrequent visits make for enduring friendships." For it is the essence of friendship that we should have enough of it to flavor life, but not so much of it that it sickens us.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Some of us girls got into an argument about going with boys Should we accept invitations from boys whom we care nothing about just for the sake of having lots of dates andgoing places? One girl considered it two-faced and hypocritical to give a boy encouragement by going out with him when at heart she cared nothing for him. Also, should a girl be satisfied with a boy she can have, or should she sit at home and wait until one she likes happens along?

M. C. M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It is perfectly ridiculous to think that a girl has to be in love with a boy before she can go to the movies or around the corner to a drugstore for an ice cream soda with him. Social life isn't run on a heartthrob basis. It is a matter of convenience and congeniality and give-and-take-a-little-pleasure.

Unless a youth has specifically declared his feelings a girl may take it for granted that he is no more in love with her than she is with him. He just likes her and finds her a jolly companion with whom to spend an evening. He likes to dance with her and she helps him have a good time when they step out together. And that's all there is to it.

I am a great believer in both girls' and boys' going around with as many other girls and boys as possible because this gives them a chance to look 'em over, to get acquainted with different types and find out how they react to them, and to test out their own feelings. Thus they will be able to make a much better choice of husband and wife than they would if they had only gone with some one particular girl or boy.

As to your second question: A wise girl takes what she can get in the way of attentions from boys while she is looking for what she wants because that keeps her in circulation, so to speak. In these days you have to go out and look for Prince Charming. He will never know you are even alive if you sit at home.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX—I've been married to a man for twenty-five years who has beaten and mistreated me in every way and whom I have had to support and who is now gone off and left me. Do you think I should stand such treatment any longer?

A PERSECUTED WIFE.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER—I think you are a glutton for punishment to have stood it this long. And isn't it rather superfluous to talk about leaving him when he has already left you? But anyway, you can keep him from coming back as he is sure to do when he gets hungry. And if you don't shut the door in his face and bar it good and tight you deserve all you get.

Dutch Teacher Surveys Canada For Immigrants

REGINA —(CP)— Miss Anne Prinsen, a home-economics teacher from The Hague, is touring Canada to talk to Netherlands housewives and get information helpful to future emigrants.

Men coming to Canada learn from experts about Canadian farming, she says, but so far no one has given their wives any advice. Her survey is being made for the Women's Institute in southern Holland.

"I've not seen an unhappy Dutch family since I arrived and the children are doing awfully well," she said in an interview. "Here even the 12-year-old boys drive the tractors. Their fathers wouldn't have allowed it back home.

"And the youngsters speak English fluently in a couple of months.

"It is the freedom here that they all like. For instance, there are no forms to fill in every time they buy or kill a hog."

Living Costs Lower

Miss Prinsen has been to the west coast and will return to the Netherlands in October after visits to Winnipeg, Ottawa and the Maritimes. She will speak to dozens of women's meetings at home.

She says she will tell her audiences that the cost of living is lower in Canada and that after a year most immigrants can have such labor-saving devices as washing machines — something only the wealthy have in the Netherlands.

And she will tell them that hand-knitted underwear, brought by many earlier emigrants, is not required in Canada; and that farm wives had better learn to bake bread and pies.

"The sunshine and the long distances amaze me," she says. "And I think I prefer the traffic here. The drivers seem more careful."

JACOBY ON CANASTA

Mrs. Abe Goodman of Memphis, Tenn., writes as follows: "Is it wise to meld cards your opponent has already started? Say they have three aces, or three queens and you have a pair with a deuce or joker of their suit?"

Like most questions on the play of Canasta, the answer is both "yes" and "no." For example, both sides need 50, one of your opponents melds A-A-2. You might meld A-A-2 also. Your side will have just as good a chance to make a canasta in aces as the opponents, and if you simply refuse to meld the aces, there a good chance that your partner may be hanging on to two aces also.

Or it is late in the game, you are playing for out, you have a deuce and two queens, the opponents have melded queens. If you don't meld your deuce and two queens, you just aren't able to go out. However, if you are not playing for canastas and the opponents have several queens melded, it might be well to add your deuce to some other meld and forget about melding the queens at all.

Then there are situations where it is the height of folly to waste one of your wild cards in order to make a meld in the same rank as your opponents. Both sides need 120. Your opponents have taken the discard pile several times and are having a good time. Your partner now melds four kings and a joker and three tens. You hold a couple of wild cards, and several pairs that your opponents have melded.

It would be just stupid to waste those wild cards making new melds. The proper place for them is with your partner's meld of four kings and a joker. This will give you a canasta and make it possible for your partner to hold out and stop the slaughter.

When you can make a natural meld in the same rank that your opponents have a meld, it is usually good tactics to do so. I say usually, for here again there are plenty of instances when it is definitely wrong play. For example, suppose that your opponents have three sevens and a lot of other melds on the table. The player in back of you holds a lot of cards and your partner and the man in front of you are down fairly low.

If you can freeze the discard pile, your sevens will become safe discards, and you will take the pressure off your partner. However, if you are foolish and meld the sevens you will not be able to freeze the discard pile and play on safely.

Polio Cripple Radio Operator

GERALDTON, Ont. —(CP)— Handicapped by crippling effects of infantile paralysis, Jean Calder is an efficient radio operator for the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests here. She walks with the aid of two canes and works a daily eight-hour shift.

Now 25, Miss Calder was born at Kintore, near London, and when only 18 months old was stricken with poliomyelitis.

Undaunted by her disability, Jean was driven to school for seven years and when 18 obtained her senior matriculation at London Central Collegiate. Her graduation was "the most wonderful moment" of her life.

For some time she was engaged in life insurance work, but developed a liking for radio and as a ham operator was introduced to Elliott Davis, chief of the radio division of the Department of Lands and Forests. A year later the department offered her a job at Geraldton and she has worked here ever since.

George McAdam, her boss, is enthusiastic about Jean's work. "Her sunny disposition goes a long way in our office," he said. "We are fortunate in having an operator of her calibre."

Co-Ops Ask Surpluses Not Be Taxed

OTTAWA, Aug. 23 (CP)—The federal government was urged Monday by the fourth conference of the French-speaking Co-operatives to exempt surpluses of co-operative movements from taxation.

Closing a two-day meeting, the conference adopted a resolution urging the Canadian Council of Co-operatives, in co-operation with the Co-operative Union of Canada, to continue to press the federal government to free co-operative surpluses from income taxes.

Another resolution proposed that provincial councils be organized in provinces where none now exist.

The 100 delegates, coming from Quebec, Ontario, the Maritimes and as far west as Saskatchewan, re-elected last year's slate of officers.

Three Men Held For Car Theft

COBOURG, Aug. 23 —(ENS)— Cyril King, James Brant and Joe Swan, who were arrested at Colborne over the weekend by provincial police investigating a stolen car from Cobourg, were charged with car theft Monday and remanded for one week. They are alleged to have stolen a car owned by Mrs. Hilda Roy of Cobourg, which was abondoned at Colborne.

Three juveniles, charged with breaking into a local upholstery plant in Cobourg, were remanded in order that two could be given a mental examination. The other was mentally examined on the occasion of another break-in some months ago.

Five youths from Smiths Falls and district, who attended the railway picnic last Saturday, appeared in court on liquor charges. Donald Farrow, Mitchell Malton, John McLean, each paid $10 and costs for being drunk. L. Dixon paid $100 and costs for having liquor illegally.

Lloyd Scott, another picnicker who was charged with having liquor illegally and who was fined $100 and costs, told the court that somebody slipped a bottle of wine into his hands before he realized it and he was standing there when the police took it away from him.

Chief W. J. Carey testified that he didn't see how Scott could have been given the wine just before he was picked up, because Scott was busy having a fight with an elderly man at the time.

Gerard Martineau, Montreal, pleaded guilty to obtaining lodging unlawfully and was remanded for a week. Chief W. J. Carey told the court that Martineau had been taking orders for a photo finishing firm and was collecting from customers in advance. Police told him to send for his credentials from his company but instead of doing so, Martineau tried to hitch-hike a ride out of town but made the error of hailing the police car. He was driven back into town and locked up.

Aitchison's father and grandfather were former Hamilton fire chief. His grandfather was killed here in almost identical circumstances in 1905 when his horse-drawn fire wagon crashed into a monument of Sir John A. Macdonald.

It was the second lunge of the day for Smoke, who earlier caught a 15 pounder.

Joseph Smith Dies In Toronto

COBOURG, Aug. 23 (ENS). — Joseph Smith, former mayor of Cobourg, died suddenly in the private patients' pavilion of the Toronto General Hospital Tuesday night. A week ago he entered the hospital due to a heart condition. Recently Mr. Smith returned from a trip to England. His health during that time impr[illegible] but has deteriorated since his return.

Born near Cobourg, Mr. Smith travelled extensively in the United States and Europe. After serving in the First World War he was employed as a talent scout for Madison Square Garden in New York. While in Europe he took a number of English hockey teams on tours throughout the continent.

Mr. Smith returned to the Cobourg area in 1945 when he bought the estate of Senator Bennett Oliver. It was destroyed in 1946 by fire. He was mayor in 1948 and resigned in 1949.

Surviving are his mother, two sons, John and Cecil of Cobourg, and a brother Paul, managing editor of the San Francisco Chronicle. His wife predeceased him three years ago.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

gary look with new respect on their teams because both tossed the 1949 champs for a loss.

Saturday the Stamps, 1948 Dominion champions who lost the Grey Cup to the Als last fall, took the steam out of Lew Hayman's men 19-7. Then last night the Esks, pretty feeble also-rans last season defeated the Alouettes 11-6.

In two games against their western hosts, the defending titlists marked up only 13 points.

The victory for the Esks of coach Annis Stukus was doubly sweet as the former Toronto Argo's masterminding career is said to hinge on the performance of his charges this year. Big Stuke personally kicked four decisive points.

Athletes of 23 countries are all set to go for the European games which start today in the Brussels Heysel Stadium.

Chief interest for an expected crowd of 70,000 will be the performance of the Soviet team of 19 men and 16 women in rare appearance outside the iron curtain.

The track and field meet in which Europe's best will compete finishes Sunday.

Scheduled for the opening day is the 26¼ mile marathon, the hop, step and jump, javelin, shot putt and heats in the 110 metre hurdles, 110 metre dash, 400 metres, 800 metres, 400 metre relay and the 10,000 metre race.

For the field events in which the Russian athletes are expected to excel especially manufactured javelins and hammers have been brought into Brussels by the organizers of the games — the Royal Belgian Athletic League.

SOME IDEA of what the South Koreans and U.S. troops are up against in their fight against Communist forces in Korea is furnished by this picture. Despite modern weapons and transport, the terrain is often such that natives have to act as bearers to carry rations, water and ammunition up mountainsides to front line fighters. South Koreans above are supplying U.S. 24th Division soldiers holding the line on hills overlooking the Naktong River.

Visiting Cadets Cheer Sick Pal

LONDON, Aug. 23 (CP)—Visiting Canadian air cadets counted up shillings and pence today to buy a gift for an ailing member of the party, Fl. Sgt. Lorne Bethune of Provost, Alta.

Bethune was up and around again, nearly recovered from an appendix operation early this month at an RAF hospital near Cambridge.

His fellow cadets decided a small gift would be in order as a consolation for having missed most of the three-week exchange visits, which included a trip to the royal castle at Balmoral and a three-day tour through Wales.

The cadets go home tomorrow on the same aircraft which yesterday flew here with British cadets who had made a similar swing through Canada.

An informal opinion poll among the 24 members of the Canadian party showed the majority considered the prime minister of Northern Ireland, Sir Basil Brooke, as the outstanding personality they met.

The visitors stayed in private homes almost everywhere. A senior officer who accompanied them said their reaction to the trip could be summed up in the words of WO. Roy Nevin of Toronto: "It was real swell."

Third Of Steel Earmarked For War

NEW YORK, Aug. 23—(AP)—A third of all American flat-rolled steel production will be earmarked next year for hot and cold war and esential civilian use, the Iron Age says today.

The Metalworking Weekly says the weight of the defence program will be on plates and sheets, and on some tubing for rockets and other weapons. The Iron Age sees it this way:

On a tonnage basis, defence and essential civilian needs will take only 15 per cent of next year's American steel output. But demand will be concentrated on certain products, so that some steel users will be more affected than others.

To meet this emphasis of demand upon some steel products rather than others, the Iron Age says, "to some extent steel producers can alter their product-mix to make more of some items and less of others, but this is limited by the flexibility of the company's finishing facilities."

Driver Acquitted After Conflicting Evidence Heard

Gerald Hill, Codrington, was found not guilty Tuesday in police court on a charge of careless driving following an accident on Highway 7, July 23, about two miles east of Havelock, in which Hill lost his left arm from his elbow down.

Hills arm was badly mangled when his car collided in a side-swipe with a car driven by George Cameron, Toronto, that the arm had to be amputated. His left shoulder had been also pulled out of its socket.

Hill told the court he had been driving from his brother's farm about three miles along the highway, part of which was under construction. He said there was heavy traffic both ways.

He was travelling west about 200 to 300 feet behind another car, driven by Charles Head. He saw Head's car suddenly swerve on the highway and then he was met by a "blast of headlights" coming right at him. He said he swerved his car to the north and was hit the same instant.

He had been driving with his left elbow out of the window His arm was dragged out and mangled between the two cars He said the approaching car had been well over on the wrong side of the road.

Three young women, driving in a car in the same direction as Hill, said they saw Hills car before the accident, being driven about 20 miles an hour from side to side on the highway in an erratic manner.

Passed Hill Car

Driver of the car, Miss Fern McPhee, Southampton, said she had followed Hill's car about one-quarter of mile on the road under construction before passing it by driving over on the shoulder of the ripped up road. She said the road was not particularly bumpy and she did not have to weave from side to side to avoid holes.

After passing Hill's car and driving for about two miles, reaching smooth pavement, Hill's car passed her again although she was driving about 45 miles an hour. She said the car nearly hit her as it passed and continued weaving up the highway.

A short time later she saw a cloud of dust ahead which she took to be caused by the accident. Reaching the scene, she saw Hill lying in the back of another car and saw Hill's car in the south ditch.

Corroborate Evidence

Miss McPhee's passengers, Miss Stella Rowntree and Miss Alice Lambe, both of Toronto, corroborated her evidence. Miss Lambe said Hill's car didn't leave her sight until it disappeared in a cloud of dust caused by the crash.

They saw Cameron's car at rest on the wrong side of the road. They saw a woman with a baby running up the road. Each testified that she believed there were two women, one or both of whom may have been a teen-aged girl in the rear of Hill's car.

Hill and his wife testified Mrs. Hill had been riding in the front with him and four of their five children were in the rear. The eldest, an eight-year-old boy. Mr. and Mrs. Hill both said they neither passed a car nor were overtaken by any car while on the highway.

Heard Crash

Head testified he had been driving west on the highway with another car some distance behind him. He saw Cameron's car approaching him and it seemed to be angling over the centre white line. He swerved his car half off the highway and back to the pavement and then heard a crash. He pulled his car off the highway and went back in a couple of minutes to the scene of the accident.

A doctor arrived in a minute or two and dressed Hill's arm while Hill remained seated in the car. It was about 20 minutes, said Mrs. Hill, before her husband was moved to another car.

Defending Hill, T. J. Carley, K.C., argued that the car the young women saw was not Hill's car, but another old model car. He said they must have arrived at the scene some little time after the accident and mistakingly concluded Hill's car was the one they saw weaving on the road.

"I don't feel there is sufficient evidence to convict the accused," said Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C. "I am giving him the benefit of the doubt. The evidence is so contradictory, it is difficult to understand."

Falls Off Hay Mow

Five Historical Personages Cast In Centennial Play

Early settlers of Peterborough who have long been in their graves will appear again in "At My Heart's Core," the Centennial Play which will be presented by the Centennial Committee, in co-operation with the Summer Theatre, in the Queen Mary auditorium during the week August 28 to September 2.

Although the cast of the play consists of only eight characters, five of these are historical personages. The Hon. Thomas Alexander Stewart was one of the earliest Irish gentlemen to settle in this district, and Auburn, the third of the houses of that name which he built, may still be seen on the River Road Mr. Stewart was deeply impressed by the landscape of the country to which he had come. Rice Lake, he wrote to his wife, was "as beautiful as Killarney"—high praise indeed from an Irishman. His letters, and later those of his wife, are full of the beauties of the Peterborough district. It was Mrs. Stewart who suggested that the name of the new settlement be changed from Scott's Plains to Peterborough.

The scene of "At My Heart's Core" is the first Auburn—the log dwelling to which the Stewarts first came on February 10, 1823. It was here that they settled with their dog Cartouche, and their cats, Adam and Eve—the first cats in Douro.

Play Part of Thomas Stewart

In the play the role of Thomas Stewart, who was described as "uncommonly lively, of an energetic disposition, genial, affable and highly honourable," will be played by Donald Glen. His wife Frances will be played by Brenda Davies. Mrs. Frances Stewart was a naturalist of unusual ability, and all her life was a correspondent of literary people in England and Ireland. Her friend Maria Edgeworth, the Irish novelist, described her as "a lady brought up in all the refinements of high cultivation." A collection of Mrs. Stewart's letters was published under the title "Our Forest Home"; she was a letter writer of unusually vivid and lively style.

As well as the Stewarts two of the Strickland sisters, Mrs. Susanna Moodie and Mrs. C. P. Traill are characters in the centennial play. Mrs. Moodie's volume of reminiscence "Roughing It In the Bush" is well known. Mrs. Traill wrote "The Female Immigrant's Guide" (a best-seller in its day), "Canadian Wild Flowers," and several volumes of stories for children. Not only were these ladies pioneers in the backwoods; they were pioneers of Canadian literature, as well. The part of Mrs. Moodie is played by Clarine Jackman; that of Mrs. Traill by Kate Reid.

The Man of Mystery

The fifth historical character is Mr. Cantwell, of whom little was known in his day. Mrs. Stewart mentions him in a letter as a man of mystery; "he has lived a great deal in Ireland, passed a part of his life in France, is well acquainted with literature and has a fund of anecdote and conversation . . . he is intimately acquainted with Lord Rossmore." In "At My Heart's Core" this mysterious gentleman is played by John Primm.

The imaginary characters in the play are three. One is Phelim Brady (so named from the Irish ballad "The Bard of Armagh") who is an Irish story-teller who has fallen on evil days among the thriving, industrious Irish settlers of Peterborough. Frank Perry plays this part, and Patricia Atkinson appears as his foster-daughter Honour. The cast is completed by the Stewarts' Indian servant, Sally, played by Marjorie Root.

The play relates the imaginary events of a single day in December, 1837, during the Mackenzie Rebellion. It is upon that day that the three ladies whose husbands are with the loyalist forces discover the dangers and temptations which lurk in the forests of Upper Canada. It is these unexpected dangers which provide the plot of this comedy of pioneer life.

PETERBOROUGH WORTHIES of more than a century ago come to life in Robertson Davies' new centennial play At My Heart's Core, opening at the Queen Mary auditorium next Monday. In this supper table scene from Act 3, the romantic intruder Edmund Cantwell (played by John Primm) LEFT is about to be given the gate of the Stewart home, situated north of the present city boundaries. Around the table from him are opinionated authoress Mrs. Moodie (played by Clarine Jackman); her gentle sister Catherine Parr Traill, writer of Our Forest Home (played by Kate Reid); the gallant Thomas Stewart himself (Don Glenn), and Mrs. Stewart, played by Brenda Davies.—(Parks Studio Photo)

Charge Scientist Stole Plutonium

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 23 (AP) —A slight, smiling young research scientist was jailed Tuesday on charges that he robbed the Los Alamos atomic project of plutonium—a vital atom bomb component.

Sanford Lawrence Simons, 28, was held in default of $10,000 bond to await trial under the Atomic Energy Act—with conviction carrying a maximum penalty of five years' imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

Russell Kramer, agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, said the stolen plutonium was recovered intact from a hiding-place under Simon's Denver home. He said it was in a small glass vial, but declined to disclose the quantity or the value—adding he had heard reports of the worth varying from $500 to $200,000.

No Trains Running Poor Dog Frustrated

WINDSOR, Aug. 23 (CP)—The daily routine of two Windsor animals—a rabbit and a dog—have been sorely interrupted by the strike which has halted trains on Canada's railways.

The rabbit is a pet of a CPR freight employee, and for four years has been riding the Windsor-to-London way freight. His owner lingered in the rail yards after the strike deadline Tuesday to make sure that the pet would be cared for.

The dog is named Ebony, and his great joy in life has been to point his nose to the skies and howl whenever he hears a locomotive whistle.

Now that the strike has stilled the howling of train whistles, Ebony has also gone off the air. Now he sits mournfully atop his dog house at the home of Silas Collard here and waits for the trains that are silent.

To Hold Meeting

TORONTO, Aug. 23 (CP). — The Joint Advisory Council of the Ontario Government and Ontario Civil Service Association will meet August 25, Chairman C. J. Foster announced Tuesday. The association's regular officers resigned last month over a dispute with the government on admission of Secretary Don G. McMaster, a paid employee of the association, to talks between the parties.

BRUSHING TEETH RIGHT AFTER EATING WITH COLGATE DENTAL CREAM HELPS PREVENT TOOTH DECAY!

2 Years' research by LEADING UNIVERSITIES proves that test groups brushing teeth right after eating with Colgate Dental Cream showed amazing reduction in tooth decay!

Under the direction of eminent dental authorities, one group of college men and women always brushed their teeth with Colgate Dental Cream right after eating—while another group followed their usual dental care. The average of the group using Colgate's as directed, and using Colgate's exclusively, was a startling reduction in the number of new cavities—far less tooth decay. The other group developed new cavities at a much higher rate.

Research shows that decay is caused by mouth acids which are at their worst after meals. When you brush your teeth with Colgate's right after eating, you help remove mouth acids before they can harm enamel.

FURTHER PROOF FROM SCHOOL CHILDREN

Leading Canadian dentists examined and directed over 8,000 school children in corrective dental habits. In addition to diet changes where required, the children were asked to brush their teeth after each meal.

The results! 16% fewer children with tooth decay!... Cavities dropped from an average of 5 per child to just over 3! ... 53% more children received dental care that prevented either loss of teeth or serious dental troubles later in life! ... The number of children with no defects—increased by 200%!

CLEANS YOUR BREATH AS IT CLEANS YOUR TEETH!

Scientific tests prove that in 7 out of 10 cases, Colgate's instantly stops bad breath that originates in the mouth! Colgate's active penetrating foam gets into hidden crevices between teeth—helps clean out decaying food particles—stops stagnant saliva odors—removes the cause of much bad breath!

HELP YOUR CHILDREN AVOID TOOTH DECAY!

Insist that your children always brush their teeth right after eating with Colgate Dental Cream. They'll love Colgate's delicious double-minty flavor, so it's easy to get them to use Colgate's correctly.

Labor Council Plans Parade On Labor Day

Once again trade unionists in Peterborough are preparing to mark Labor Day with a program that includes children's sports, a parade, and labor speakers.

But this time the sponsor will be the newly-formed Peterborough and District Labor Council (CCL) that represents 12 unions claiming a total membership of 4500 workers.

A parade headed by the Havelock Pipe band and the CGE Pipe band will start off from the CNR station (Charlotte and Aylmer Sts.) at 1 p.m. And it should reach Riverside Park 30 minutes later.

Besides the bands the parade will consist of children from eight city playgrounds and, following them, the member CIO-CCL locals.

Two pennants will be awarded by the Labor Council; one to the playground with the most points during the day-long athletic competitions; the other to the playground with the best turnout in the parade.

Some 250 crests will be distributed among individual winners in the events.

Sam Baron to Speak

One of the big events of the day will be the address by Sam Baron, Canadian director of the Textile Workers Union of America (CIO-CCL). Other speakers will be Mayor Max Swanston, Gordon K. Fraser, MP, and the Hon. Harold R. Scott, Minister of Lands and Forests.

They will be heard in Riverside Park, shortly after the parade disperses, that is, about 1.30 p.m.

There will be plenty of attractions for local residents who care to stroll around the park. Besides the four speakers there will be the playground athletic events and a first-rate carnival—games of chance such as bingo, over-and under, and horse racing.

If it can be arranged there will be a girls' softball game later in the day but a final decision on this has not yet been made.

Last event of the day will be the lucky draw for an electric cookstove and a three-speed record player and radio. Proceeds will go toward defraying the cost of sponsoring the children's sports.

None Interested In Buying Old Hospital

When the old Nicholls Hospital becomes vacant it will be consigned to some wrecking crew if the City Council does not receive an adequate tender of purchase.

That was the opinion of the property committee Monday, meeting with Ald. E. C. Braund presiding, and Aldermen Dodds, Sands, Burrows and Mayor Swanston present.

Estimates of present values of the hospital building, nurses' residence and Queen Mary Isolation Hospital were received from realtors. City Clerk Outram reported that recent advertisements placed by the committee in Montreal, Toronto and Peterborough had failed to attract an enquiry.

The advice of the real estate men coincided with the views of the committee to the effect that the hospital building would soon fall into disrepair when occupation and use ended. In that prospect it was believed that demolition would be preferable to gradual dissolution.

The hospital is still partly in use in the present period of transition of treatment of patients from the old to the new location.

The information received by the committee is being sent to the board of governors.

A Belated Request

A Havelock man realized recently he had sold a car to a used car dealer in Peterborough and had left some clothes in the back seat.

He wrote to the city police this week to ask them if they could help him get his clothes back. He had sold the car to the dealer in 1946.

Driver Freed From Blame In 3-Car Crash

Charged with careless driving as a result of a three-car accident July 12 on Highway 7 three miles east of Peterborough, Frederick McMillan, Havelock, was found not guilty in police court Tuesday.

Evidence was that while driving east toward his home in the evening, McMillan, a retired farmer, hit a parked car partly on the highway and an instant later was hit by another car travelling west.

No one was hurt seriously by the double crash.

Edward J. Milligan, a former provincial constable who has since left the force, reported McMillan's car had skidded 64 feet in a straight line on the concrete highway before hitting the parked car.

Driver of the parked car, half on and half off the pavement, was Roger Begin, Levis, Que. Driver of the west-bound car was William May, 191 Antrim St.

The Quebec car ended up about 200 feet along the highway, leaving no skid marks, indicating the brakes had not been on. McMillan's car was sitting across the centre line of the highway surrounded by a large area of dirt, broken glass and other debris from the crashes. The May car came to rest 18 feet south of the highway.

About $800 damage had been done to the right front fender and left rear fender of McMillan's car; about $400 to the left rear fender and trunk of the Quebec car; and about $300 to the left front fender and running board of the May car.

In describing how the accident happened, McMillan said he rounded a curve about 500 or 600 feet from the scene of the accident, at about 45 miles an hour and saw the headlights of an approaching car. He turned down his lights and the oncoming car did the same. As the other's lights flickered down, McMillan saw a car parked partly on the highway little more than 60 feet away.

"I jammed on the brakes and took a good hold of the wheel," McMillan said.

Mr. and Mrs. George Martin passengers in McMillan's car, both corroborated his testimony. Defending McMillan, T. J. Carley, K.C., argued the crash was caused by a car parked illegally on the highway and not by any negligence of the accused.

Children Ready For 'Ex' As Soon As Gates Open Judges Start At Daybreak

The sun shone on the first day of the Peterborough Exhibition—Children's Day. The sun shone, too, on a number of children who began to come through the gates at 9 a.m. Before the gates opened, a few waited outside, peeking through cracks in the fence, and waiting. Afternoon busses were thronged with youngsters and mothers, headed for the Big Show. Judging of some exhibits began before the gates opened to the public and a few classes were completed before noon. Horses, which were due in by 11 a.m., were still being put in stalls at 11.30. Entries of horses were lighter than last year.

Once inside the gates, the crowds of children broke up into groups of three and four, some seeking out the yet unopened midway, others making a bee-line for the cattle and horse barns.

A few wandered up toward the grandstand to watch trotters and pacers warming up for the races which start tonight.

A brisk southwest wind was whipping dust off the track and blowing it over the rest of the grounds. Flags and pennants cracked in the breeze and tents bulged with it.

While the youngsters watched, workmen were finishing off minor jobs, preparing the grounds and buildings and exhibits for the four-day show. Outside the cattle sheds, heavy-necked bulls and solid beef animals were getting a final shampoo before the judging.

On the track in front of the grandstand, a few road horses were going through their paces, working any kinks out before some of them became a chosen few.

The weather was good for the fair. The weatherman's prediction of rain this evening seemed far off as the ferris wheels began to turn and the automatic music from the merry-go-round started to play.

By noon there were only scattered crowds on the grounds, but downtown streets were busy, and prospects were good for heavy evening and afternoon attendance.

Trucking Cement To Meet Builder Demand

Work on Peterborough's new city hall building will not be hindered because of the present railway strike.

That was the cheering report given today by the Eastwood Construction Co., contractors for the $643,000 building.

"We managed to get a car of cement in before the 6 am.. deadline Tuesday," said a spokesman today. "So we'll be alright for a while."

Cement is being poured every day at the site as work on the foundations proceeds.

Like other contractors and builders they normally get their cement by train but now new arrangements must be made to bring it in by truck. At least one other local company has been unable as yet to make these necessary arrangements.

In short, cement is scarce, but Peterborough's No. 1 civic project seems secured against shortage.

Local gasoline dealers are not too concerned at present over the railway tieup. British American Oil continue to bring in their supply from Clarkson by truck—their usual method of transportation.

McColl - Frontenac ordinarily bring their supply straight from the refinery in Toronto by tank car. Now that method is out they have arranged for tank trucks to do the job. Night gangs are working to speed the supply.

"We don't expect a shortage," is their verdict. "Not for a while anyway."

Switch To Trucks

Cities Service caution buyers to "keep their feet on the ground and don't try hoarding."

"If people get greedy and start buying up gasoline they'll force a shortage," said a spokesman. Like most of the other companies they generally use rail transport but the strike has forced them to switch to trucks.

Imperial Oil are the least inconvenienced. They continue their usual method of importing gasoline: pick it up by truck in Cobourg where it has been left by boat.

Peterboro' MP Has No Call To Parliament

Gordon K. Fraser, Federal Member of Parliament for Peterborough West has been surprised to read reports of members rushing back to Ottawa for a special sitting of Parliament to consider the emergency caused by the rail strike. "I have had no word of a special sitting" he told the Examiner today, while busily engaged in helping in the Home Department building at the Peterborough Exhibition.

Mr. Fraser says the Prime Minister has not yet decided when Parliament will reassemble. "How would we all get there and what about getting somewhere to live?" Mr. Fraser asked. "The Chateau Laurier in Ottawa is not receiving any more guests and anyway, how would we travel there?"

Mr. Fraser hasn't made any plans for the next few days, except to help at the Exhibition with his wife, who is chairman of the general committee of the Home Department.

LONDON, Aug. 23 (Reuters)—Herbert Gunn, editor of Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard, has relinquished his appointment and resigned from the Beaverbrook group of papers. Gunn, editor of the Evening Standard for the last six years, said in a statement Tuesday night: "There were differences with Lord Beaverbrook over questions of policy in relation to the Evening Standard."

Travellers Aid Bobby Clark

A contribution of $25 for the Bobby Clark fund was received Monday from Mr. E. T. O'Brien, president of the Peterborough club of the Associated Canadian Travellers. Its secretary is W. A. Luckhurst.

"The travellers are not a service club," Mr. O'Brien said to The Examiner when he presented the cheque on behalf of his business associates; "but we have a little money on hand and we like to use it where we think it will be a real help.

"This case of Bobby Clark appealed to us, and we decided to give $25 to the fund the Women's Institute of Warsaw are collecting. We would like Bobby to know that he has our best wishes."

The cheque from the travellers is the largest gift the fund has received. It is a joint gift from the men of the Travellers' Club.

Other contributions received by The Examiner today are: Mrs. A. E. Nelson, $2; Mrs. James Longmuir, $1; Bert Jones, $2; a sufferer, $1; and one who sympathises, $1.

The first gift of all was tendered by St. Mark's Anglican Church, Otonabee, who sent $10 directly to Mrs. Clark.

Hay Locked In Express Shed Misses Chances of 'Ex' Prize

Two bales of hay were held out of competition at the Exhibition this morning, locked in the C.P.R. express office by the railway strike. "There may be three, but we know of two," Alex. Huston, director, informed the Examiner. "It's too bad, but there was nothing we could do about it."

This special class for which the first prize is $100 and the second $50, attracted 27 entries. Most of them were from Peterborough, Durham and Victoria counties. Two bales were from Leitchcroft Farm, Gormley, and the farthest was from Renfrew. Prof. W. O Kennedy of the staff of O.A.C. arrived at noon to judge forage competition.

Ken Fallis of the Ontario Department of Agriculture has a pictorial display of grasses and legumes that should catch the eye of farmers. He will be here all week to discuss pasture questions. The hay tent is immediately south of the flower show building.

Youngsters At The Ex May Use Playlot

Among the features at the Ex is the model playground set up by the Recreation Commission to demonstrate the kind of activities going on during the summer at the various city playgrounds. This demonstration lot will be staffed from the city playgrounds each day during the Ex.

Alex Sinclair, recreation director, says that any child old enough to engage in supervised play will be welcomed at the demonstration lot during the Fair, but he reminds parents that it is not equipped as a baby pen, and tiny toddlers should not be left there while mothers and fathers wander off to see the show. However, older youngsters will be cordially received by the supervisors, if they want to take part in the activities of the model playground.

BARBER SHOPPERS PARADE

Members of the Peterborough chapter of the SPEBSQSA will attend the barber shoppers' parade at the CNE Saturday night. The Buffalo Bills, the Four Chorders of London, the Kernels of Omaha, the Tun Twisters and the Torontones of Toronto, the Inter-Chapter Four of Brantford (three blind), the Royal City Four of Guelph and the Toronto Chorus were invited by the CNE to perform a concert in the Coliseum from 8 until 10 p.m., Saturday.

Work At Quaker Slowed Down

A few employees of the Quaker Oats Company have already been laid off as a result of the railroad strike and the plant is operating on a gradual slow down this week, said Reg. Faryon, president of the company here today.

If the strike continues to the end of the week, 85 employees will have been laid off. If the strike continues on into next week, 300, or about half of their staff will be without employment.

With freight cars stranded by the railroad strike, the Quaker Oats can neither get grain shipments in, nor their products out.

Former Lumberman James H. MacKay Dies

PORT ARTHUR, Aug. 23 (CP)—James Hugh MacKay, 64, of Toronto, connected with the lumber industry for many years, died here Sunday a few weeks after being taken ill while prospecting near Long Lac, Ont. During recent years he was associated with the Brampton Pulp and Paper Co. Ltd.

Born in Nova Scotia's Picton county, he worked throughout the Western Canada with lumber companies. For many years he lived in Winnipeg and Vancouver. Recently he formed a partnership known as the Two Macs Long Lac Gold Mine.

CHARGED AS DRUNK

John Williams, New Brunswick, was charged today in police court with being drunk and was remanded by Justice of the Peace Vincent Eastwood to Thursday. Albert Halbert, no fixed address, was also remanded to Thursday on a charge of vagrancy.

Beats Off Driver Giving Her A Lift

TORONTO, Aug. 23 (CP)—A 16-year-old mother of one child told police Tuesday that she beat off a truck driver who attacked her after giving her a lift in his truck.

Four hours later, Clarence Brooks, 27, was arrested and charged with indecent assault.

The girl, whose name was not made public, told police she was hitch-hiking to Chatham when the driver picked her up. He offered to drive her to the transport depot where another truck would take her to Chatham but, instead, drove to an east end beach and assaulted her.

CONDITION UNCHANGED

William, five, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Jones, all of whom were in an accident at Scott's Corners Sunday, is still in a semi-conscious state this morning. Mr. and Mrs. Jones are progressing favorably, and the other children, Harry and Annabelle, will soon be discharged.

Bus Lines Handle All Extra Traffic

Although bus traffic is heavier than usual, the Colonial Bus Lines reported today that "everything is under control." Extra buses are standing by ready to accommodate any overflow of passengers on any of the trips.

People have already started to make reservations for the week-end travel. Some passages have been set aside for the Peterborough-to-Toronto travel during the next four days. At least one person believes the rail strike will last until September, for a reservation was made Tuesday for a bus to Toronto on September 2.

Niagara Fruit Comes By Truck

Fruit from the Niagara district and from the farms around Peterborough will continue to come into the city at the normal rate despite the railway strike, it was learned today.

But imported fruit coming from California, Texas and Florida may not get through.

Joseph Asta, who supplies most of the city's fruit stores with produce from the Niagara district, operates a daily transport truck service as far as St. Catharines to pick up fruit from growers.

But imported fruit is normally brought as far as Toronto by train and trucked out to towns and cities from there. So far the strike has had no effect on this supply, but the future is doubtful.

Fruit from the area around Peterborough will continue to be brought in by farmers and wholesale fruit trucks which go out to the farms.

Plowman Finds Graveyard Of Buffalo

CALGARY, (CP).—"We're in a graveyard," a startled plowman exclaimed to H. Barley when the two men began to break land for a garden in suburban Calgary.

A graveyard it was—the graveyard of thousands of Buffaloes.

With each furrow made by the plow hundreds of bones ranging from large skulls to small ribs were turned up. In clearing the three-quarter acre garden, Barley collected 2,600 pounds of Buffalo bones which he sold to a fertilizer concern for $15 a ton.

About 75 years ago Barley's garden was one of the many pounds where Indians and white men wrote one of the blackest chapters in the history of the west. It was here that Buffaloes were slaughtered by the thousands.

Barley's garden lies at the base of a steep cliff. The buffalo were stampeded on the plains above so that they thundered straight for a funnel-shaped corral constructed so the narrow end opened at the top of the cliff. In the fall from the precipice they were either killed or made easy kills for hides.

The towns of Dog Pound and Jumping Pound in the Calgary district derived their names from similar Buffalo killing grounds.

Nile Claims Annual Sacrifice Of 'Bride' In Ancient Ceremony

By IRIS RAGHEB

CAIRO, Aug. 23 (AP)—Today is the wedding day of the Nile—a ceremony performed each year as the mighty 3,850-mile river approaches its summer flood stage.

An ancient pagan sacrifice, the wedding ceremony goes back 7,000 years.

But today a modern age pays homage to the sacred river of the ancients in its own way.

Tradition has it that the priests of 5,000 B.C. offered a beautiful maiden to the river to win its blessings of abundance and fertility. The bride was chosen from the ranks of nobility. Garbed in white and amidst great ceremony she was thrown into the arms of her lover—the river.

Things are different today.

There's still a wedding-of-the-Nile ceremony. The Nile is still the life blood of an almost-rainless country. Today, however, the mud-charged, purplish stream is placated with an official paper document—a certified report that on this day the Nile reached initial flood level.

Draws Big Crowd

The ceremony, annual attended by large crowds, is held at suburban Roda, upstream from Cairo. It is preceded by a reading of the Koran in a spacious tent spread with lavish oriental rugs.

The wedding date changes yearly, but it follows by about two months what is known as "leilet el nuktah" (the night of the drop).

Tradition has it that on that night a miraculous drop from the heavens falls into the river, causing it to begin to rise.

When the Moslem Arabs conquered the Nile kingdom in the seventh century, a fearful populace, it is said, begged the new ruler to sacrifice a virgin in the tradition of the past.

Successful Move

Their request followed a three-month period when the Nile failed to rise as usual and they feared the wrath of the river god.

The ruler, Amr Ibn El Aas, consulted the Khaleefeh, or supreme religious leader.

He was advised not to follow the pagan custom, but to throw the following note in the Nile:

"From Abd Allah Omar (the Khaleefeh), prince of the faithful, to the Nile of Egypt: If though flow of thine own accord, flow not; but if it be God, the One, the Mighty, who causeth thee to flow, we implore God, the Almighty, to make thee flow."

Amr did as he was told. The Nile, so the story goes, rose the following night.

Man Refuses To Work Jailed Two Months

BIRMINGHAM,, England, Aug. 23 — (Reuters). — Edwin Skinner, 48, Tuesday was jailed for two months for refusing to work.

Skinner, described as a complete idler and scrounger, was found guilty of "persistently neglecting to maintain himself." He is a competent chef, authorities say.

The charge—first of its kind in Britain — was brought under a section of the National Assistance Act introduced by the Labor Government.

Skinner was said to have been admitted to a Birmingham centre for the homeless and destitute 129 times in the last 22 months.

Reconsider Scheme

HARROW, Ont., Aug. 23 (CP) —District potato growers are reconsidering the present new-potato marketing scheme Stanley R. Bailey, chairman of the Harrow Potato Pool, said Tuesday. He said the local board has met a group which is circulating a petition through the potato-growing area, seeking farmer support to have the Ontario Minister of Agriculture revoke the present scheme.

Increase Fair's Usefulness For the Practical Farmer

The $100 prize for the best bale of hay at the Peterborough Exhibition this week is significant of the desire of directors to increase the show's usefulness to the practical ends of profitable farming.

It is unlikely that the allotment of prize money for a future forage class will be on that generous scale, with $50 for second quality bale, $25 for third, and back of that place is a ten dollar bill for each of the next twelve bales.

The hay competition starts with a calculated bang. This is the first class for livestock provender in the prize list of the Exhibition since its small and obscure beginning more than 100 years ago. That top award of $100 is a measure of its basic importance in present day agriculture.

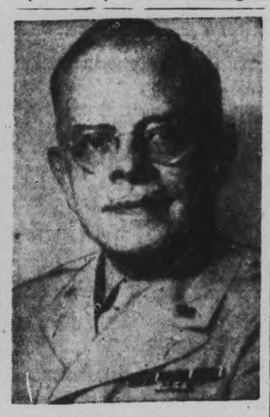
The Exhibition is conceived ideally as the show window of the farm products of its associated community. It brings together the firstlings of flocks and fields for appraisal and determination of the order of their quality by competent judges. The more expansive the community from which entries are attracted, the more value attaching to the ribbons distributed with the prize money, and denoting rank of merit.

There is education and publicity for the breeder depending upon the rating of the arena in which he shows his stock, and other products. That has been an essential purpose of the agricultural fair for centuries, and it remains effective today whether at the CNE, the Royal, and down the line through London, Ottawa, Peterborough, Kingston, to the ultimate township show.

But, the Second World War did something to farming and to farmers that has wrought many changes of thinking and method. Stripped of the usual supply of man power, they were forced into a new independence on their own resources in the work they had to do. Those resources included a vastly extended use of new mechanical equipment, and a deeper appreciation of the aids of science.

Profitable Farming

Cheap labor was gone, costs of living mounted all around them, and refinements of living became so general that farmers naturally reached out to them for their share. There has been a sharper emphasis on profitable farming in the necessity of economic survival.



DR. GORDON S. SEAGRAVE, known as the "Burma Surgeon," who has been arrested by the Burmese government on suspicion of aiding Karen rebels.

Rural directors of agricultural fairs have been turning over a confronting question of how they can practically co-operate with the farming community in their changed practices.

They will retain the most conspicuous place on the grounds for the horse show, although the utilitarian tractor has displaced the horse in the work on the farm. Younger farmers who are star performers at tractor rodeos have grown up with little interest in the hackney and carriage horse.

Poultry and hatchery farmers are concerned about the practical factors of production rather than the general standards of perfection of breeds that continue to be listed in fair prize lists.

Cross-breeding has developed to quite a large extent in the poultry business, but how are the directors of an agricultural exhibition to convert their agency to practical ends of production of eggs and meat?

The swine section of Ontario fairs is mostly confined to the Yorkshire breed, and exclusively so in most places. The Tamworth, the Berkshire and the Poland China breeds have not been seen for many years at local shows. Breeding for the British export market settled on the Yorkshire pig, and it is an easy matter for fair directors to shape that section of their show to the practical and profitable purposes of farming.

Production Requirements

Planning the exhibition for its primary aim of usefulness to the farmers is not the easy repetition of prize lists from year to year that it used to be. Here and there are many gaps between show standards and the requirements for economic production that are challenging directors. One of their objectives is to get producers into the show ring for their own good, as they say, but the farmer who has to be concerned about profits and has not time for fitting his livestock for show ring competition is content to remain a spectator.

On the other hand the separate breed shows, the Black and White Days of the Holstein clubs; the Red and White of the Ayrshire breeders; the Parish Shows of the Jersey breeders, have all assumed in recent years an importance and popularity that are proof of the individual member's readiness to line up his stock against the animals of his associates.

There is no static phase of farming today. Probably the question might even be asked about the extent of effect of artificial breeding in the dairy cattle show ring. Here again is a new practice, steadily expanding, and motivated largely by the economics of farming. Empasis has usually been placed on th. herd, from sire and dam to calves, and is bound to continue among breeders with established lines and types.

The park of farm implements at the exhibition of today is a vastly expanded feature, and not the least of the indications of trends and the mirroring of a community' agriculture.

Ideally, again, the district exhibition would accomplish its fullest purpose if it could be a composite of all the breed shows, including the Yorkshire Breeders' Club, with horse show, seed fair, implement demonstration, Grassland Day and so on. Toss in the harness horses and vaudeville roundabouts for the young people; provide ample space for the industrial displays, flowers and art, and the products of domestic science; sprinkle with pop, popcorn and hot dogs; exclude the gimmick fraternity, and drape the whole show with sunshine, and you have the realization of the fair directors' dream.

And all of it, not in the desired fullness, you will see at the Exhibition these days and nights, even to the baled hay from the grasslands.

Bossy Is Now Being Milked On The Assembly Line

Farming 1950 style is one of the main attractions at the opening day of the 1950 Peterborough Exhibition, today.

Tuesday was a field day for the youngsters who swarmed over the exhibition grounds and headed straight for the tractors. There wasn't a tractor on the grounds that wasn't supplied with a youthful driver going through all the driving motions without the motor turned on.

The assembly line has been introduced into farming. Cows will have something new to face when the new type of milking machine on display goes into operation. Equipped with gates at both ends, bossy will have to wait her turn in line, pass through the entrance, be milked and then proceed out.

Also for the dairyman are the latest in cream separators.

The tractors are equipped with plows, cultivators and weeders. Insulage cutters, manure spreaders, binders, corn harvesters are just a few items that make up this farm implement display.

The farm implement companies with equipment on display are: Ford, Massey-Harris, International Harvester, McCormick-Deering, Cockshutt, Minneapolis Moline, Ferguson, Case and DeLaval.

The Peterborough Farm Service Co-Operative also has a tent on the grounds.
